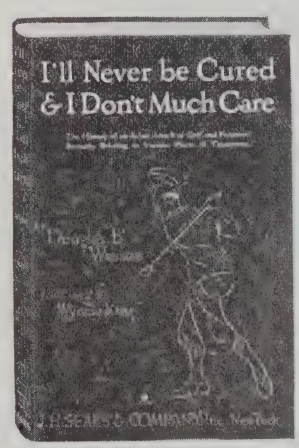
TRAVEL AND ADVENTURE



I'LL NEVER BE CURED AND I DON'T MUCH CARE

By DOUGLAS B. WESSON

Illustrated by WYNCIE KING

The history of an acute attack of Golf and pertinent remarks relating to their various places of treatment

This book relates the humorous, serious, thrilling experiences of a golfer making his first trip abroad, and playing the famous golf courses of England and Scotland. It abounds in humor and wit, but at the same time it sows the seed of desire in the mind of the reader—the desire to play these famous courses himself.

PLEASANT DAYS IN SPAIN

By NANCY COX-McCORMACK

With Reproductions, by special permission, of paintings by the famous Spanish painter, Lopez Mezquita

Nancy Cox-McCormack, famous American sculptress, is the only person who has modeled the busts of both Mussolini of Italy and Primo de Rivera of Spain.

Her book is an unhurried, delightful, informal account by a woman who looked upon Spain with the sensitive, beauty-appreciating eye of the artist, and one who has the talent of describing it so as to give unusual delight to her readers.

BAGHDAD AND POINTS EAST

By ROBERT J. CASEY

All the romantic thrill that was yours, when as a boy or girl you first read the stories from the Arabian Nights, will come back to you when you read Robert Casey's gorgeous book of his adventuring in the Far East. Casey is, himself, a figure of romance, a wanderer, in its rare corners. Wherever he is at this moment, he is finding romance, experiencing it, just as he makes the reader experience it, who reads his book, "Baghdad and Points East."

SAVAGE ABYSSINIA

By JAMES E. BAUM

Containing over 100 illustrations

This book tells of the expedition into the heart of Abyssinia by the Field Museum of Chicago. It affords a remarkable picture of Abyssinia, its people, its government, its topography, the animals found there, its economic situation, and customs. The fascination of this book lies in its uncovering to the world a land of which we have known comparatively little before.

As this book is the account of an expedition sent out under the distinguished auspices of the Field Museum of Chicago, it has deep scientific interest.

Octavo, 360 pages, pictorial jacket, Price $5.00

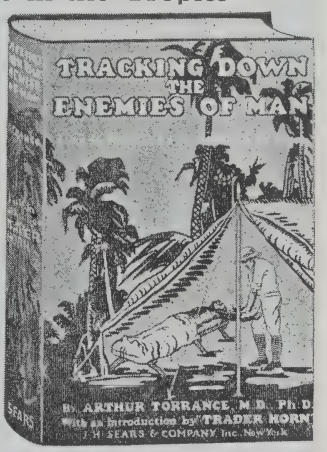
TRACKING DOWN THE ENEMIES OF MAN

Being the Romance of a Doctor's Life in the Tropics

By ARTHUR TORRANCE, M.D., Ph.D.

Fellow of the Royal Society of Tropical Medicine and Hygiene

With an introduction by "Trader Horn"



The so far unconquered enemies of man are neither wild beasts nor criminals. They are the tse-tse fly, the malarial mosquito and other flying insects and microscopic germs which carry disease. Dr. Torrance has spent many years in the tropics of Asia and Africa, and he tells how he and other medical adventurers have tracked down these greatest of all enemies. This is a romantic story of bravery, fortitude and courage.

NEW TRAILS IN OLD SPAIN

By VERNON HOWE BAILEY with 48 drawings by the Author

If at any time during the past two years you had encountered in a remote Spanish inn, a voluminous and smiling man in knickerbockers, you would have been justified in saying, "How do you do, Mr. Bailey," for it most certainly would have been the artist. There's scarcely a roadway from San Sebastin to Granada that Vernon Howe Bailey has not passed along. He writes with rare literary charm of his adventures, and reveals their scenes with his swift, unerring pencil.

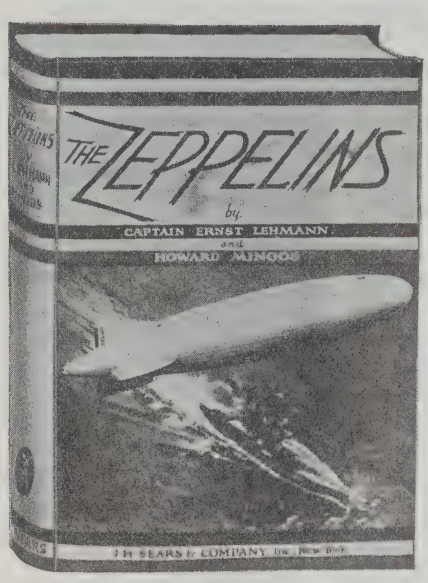
AERONAUTICS



THE ZEPPELINS

By CAPT. ERNST LEHMANN and HOWARD MINGOS

Containing 75 Illustrations

This is the story of the development of the airship, including a complete description of the Zeppelin Air Raids during the War, with many anecdotes and stirring tales of the experiences of the crews never before told. The romance and tragedy which follow the great birds is here vividly recounted. It is an authoritative work of great permanent value on the development, history and construction of the Zeppelin.

It is written by the man who was in charge of their construction and management, and who is the greatest authority on the Zeppelins.

WIT AND HUMOR

NEW TEETH IN OLD SAWS

By WAYNE G. HAISLEY

Illustrated with 250 Drawings by James Rawls

This is a book of amusing wise cracks, clever sayings, smart paraphrases of old proverbs and axioms, or, in short, old saws with new teeth. They are done with a smartness in the modern key by probably the leading writer today of this type of humor. They snap, they sparkle and sizzle with a fresh originality. There is a hearty laugh on every page and a commendable abandon in the 250 smart-alec pictures. A deliciously humorous book for skeptics.

WAR DIARIES

WINE, WOMEN AND WAR

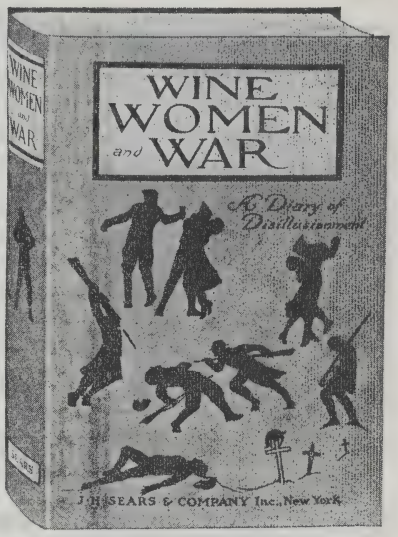
NECESSARILY ANONYMOUS

This is an authentic, actual diary of a soldier in the Great War. It depicts in day by day entries actual war—its very essence as it was fought in France by our soldiers.

This is the diary of a young officer, intelligent, keenly alive, and sensitive to all that is going on around him, graphically revealing what he saw, he felt, he suffered.

This diary paints a vivid picture of the soldiers in the training camp, in their billets. Here is war with its ripe profanity, with morals shoved to the background, with refinements laid aside for the time being. This is a diary of laughter—but laughter with a touch of irony.

Octavo, 321 pages, jacket in colors, Price $2.50



P. S.

By the Author of "Wine, Women and War"

A Post-War Diary

The officer who wrote that unique best seller, "Wine, Women and War" returns to France, the scene of his earlier diary, ten years after the war. This is not, however, another journal of a war veteran, but the human appraisals of a philosopher, a thinker, a traveler, a writer. It exhibits a sabre-like quality, cutting through hypocrisy, a cynicism, an incisive quality of observation, and above all else, a delightful humor.

Octavo, 288 pages, Jacket in colors, Price $2.50

THE CANNONEERS HAVE HAIRY EARS

ANONYMOUS

The Fighting Man in Action

This volume is a vivid record of the artillery in the Great War. Rough, frank, pungent, it portrays the real War in the front trenches.

This might be considered a companion volume to "Wine, Women and War" (which is still a best seller) although not written by the same anonymous author. "Wine, Women and War" was a disillusioned diary of life behind the lines, while here is a heart-rending view of the soldier who faced death every hour of the day.

ONE MAN'S WAR

The Diary of a Leatherneck

By CORPORAL J. E. RENDINELL and GEORGE PATTULLO

This is the diary of a boy from a small Pennsylvania town, who fought with the marines during the War. It is the natural, ingenuous story of this boy's experiences through the terrific fighting in which the marines took part. His diary, ungrammatical, illiterate, with spelling often incorrect, has in it a simplicity, a majesty and raw drama that is remarkable. It is the personal touch applied to history.

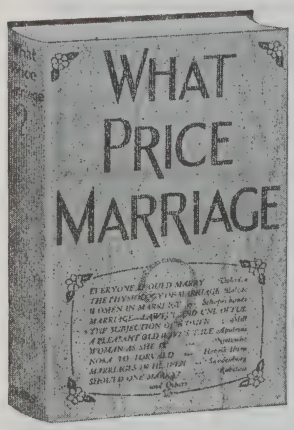
BELLES LETTRES



WHAT PRICE MARRIAGE

Marriage was a fruitful subject of discussion in the Roman Forum, in the Medieval castle halls, in the French salons, and it is equally as fresh and interesting a subject today. Wherever the discussion leads, whatever the conclusion is upon marriage, these great selections have one common quality, that of brilliance and absorbing interest.

Nearly every writer in literature has had something to say upon the question of marriage. In this book are found, among others, brilliant selections by Voltaire, Balzac, Pepys, Lamb, Tacitus, Schopenhauer, The Koran, Dostoieffsky, Ibsen, Swift, Nietzsche, St. Augustine, Rabelais.

DESTINATIONS

A Canvass of American Literature Since 1900

By* GORHAM B. MUNSON

Gorham B. Munson, one of the most virile of the younger literary critics, sums up the destinations at which our contemporary American writers have arrived. He concludes that the dominant writers of this generation, Dreiser, Anderson, Mencken, Brooks, have failed because they have not aimed high enough but he finds himself defending Paul Elmer More, Irving Babbitt, Kenneth Burke, Hart Crane, Jean Toomer and others. This is a source book for critical thinking on American literature.

WHAT I KNOW ABOUT YOU

By* ARTHUR SOMERS ROCHE

With an Introduction by George A. Dorsey, Ph.D., LL.D.
Author of "Why We Behave Like Human Beings"

This volume is written by one of our famous American authors, and is the result of his study of the human mind and its portrayal in his stories. It is a remarkably fascinating, original book of philosophy for every man—the philosophy of his work, his leisure, of his home, his hopes, his likes and dislikes. It has humor, deep common sense and inspiration.

WITH BYRON IN LOVE

Byron was the passionate lover. Women inspired much of his greatest poetry. But Byron's love was not confined to women. He loved companionship, nature, art, liberty, his country and expressed himself as emotionally in these as in his love for women.

This book becomes a real contribution to Byronic literature. It includes not only his poems but his letters and memoranda, which constitute some of the finest examples of passionate prose in literature. In this collection we see Byron when his genius rises to sublime heights.

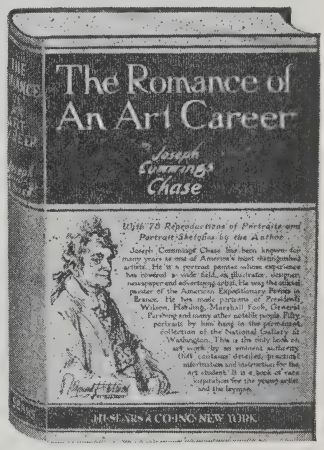
ART AND LITERATURE

THE ROMANCE OF AN ART CAREER

By JOSEPH CUMMINGS CHASE

With 78 Reproductions of Portraits and Portrait Sketches by the Author



Mr. Chase is one of America's most distinguished artists, and writes, therefore, with great authority on art as a career. His book gives detailed practical information and instruction to the art student, telling the requisites of success in illustration, design, portrait painting and advertising art. He illustrates with numerous pictures the information given in the text.

Mr. Chase writes engagingly, mingling humor and reminiscence, of his experiences with the many famous people whose portraits he has painted.

THE WAR PAINTINGS OF CLAGGETT WILSON

With Appreciations by Alexander Woollcott and Henry McBride

American war pictures have ranged all the way from the bright, implausible musical comedy soldiers who defied the enemy on the magazine covers to these twenty-four paintings by Claggett Wilson, which have a concrete assured veracity. These pictures are great because they bear the marks of authenticity. They are unquestionably the most remarkable drawings that have yet come out of the war.

THE STORY OF LITERATURE

By SIDNEY GUNN, A.M.

Professor Gunn tells the story of literature from the earliest times through its development in all the nations of the world to our present day. He presents literature as one of the chief possessions of the human race for entertainment, amusement and education. He tells how the immortal writings came into existence, the distinctive marks of genius which they bear. He sketches the lives of their creators.

Dr. Gunn writes interestingly of those pieces of great literature of the Orient, Persia, China, of the great writers of Greece and Rome, of the immortals of the nations of western Europe and of America. He writes with a critical faculty and a well-balanced judgment, but always entertainingly. This book is singularly interesting to every reader.

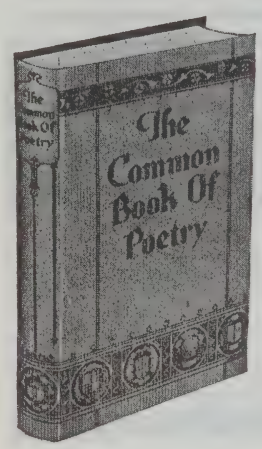
POETRY

THE COMMON BOOK OF POETRY

Edited by HAMBLEN SEARS



A collection of poetry becomes distinguished in proportion to the wisdom and discrimination displayed in the selection of its contents. We believe that The Common Book of Poetry is as good a book as any man or woman could desire. The selected poems included in it are not only amusing and interesting from their variety, but they include all the fine and familiar things the English speaking people love and read over and over again.

AMERICAN STUDIES

THIS AMERICAN WORLD

By EDGAR A. MOWRER

Edgar A. Mowrer, the brilliant American correspondent, through living in Germany and with his detached point of view of our country, its people, its civilization, is able to observe our economic, political, artistic tendencies, and contrasts them rather sharply with the same tendencies in Europe and the rest of the world. He finds America leads the world in wealth and energy, but her tendencies today are toward a vast "mediocracy" in all lines of thought and endeavor.

"A summary of America quite free from the cant of the debunkers, sane, well-informed, sympathetic. His chapter on the essence of America is worth a great deal."—Simeon Strunsky in the NEW YORK TIMES.

DOG AND DOGS

By JOSEPH EDWARD HARRY, Ph. D.

This book traces the history of the dog from the very earliest times that he was known to man, and tells of his development down through the ages to the present day. It tells the story of the dog in religious worship, in politics, in story and in song. This book comprehensively takes into consideration and describes various breeds of dogs, tracing back the intermingling of breeds and the source of the different breeds.

An unusual feature is the great number of dog stories from the literature of the world, both ancient and modern.

PENNAGAN PLACE

By ELEANOR CHASE

A novel which is an epic of the Middle West. The story of a family—three generations of them living together. Giles Pennagan, the grandfather—millionaire, builder, autocrat, rough-customer—who rules his whole brood with an iron hand. Pride of family, contempt for the usual morals, creative, real people, all of them, who live, laugh, curse and love, not over-wisely, through the pages of this amazing novel.

SAMSON

By ROBERT COLLYER WASHBURN

The modern story of an ancient hero who was strong enough to conquer men and ignore the laws of God. With men, Samson was hard. He ruled or slew them as he choose. With women he attempted the same degree of confidence. He did not know how unrelated are the lips with which they speak to the lips with which they kiss. A passionately human romance, alive with beauty and sudden humor.

SECOND CHOICE

By ELIZABETH ALEXANDER

Valerie Grove and Owen Mallory make a spite marriage. Each for the other was distinctly a second choice. But Valerie was singularly attractive and clever; Owen likewise was a man who never ran second in any man's race. And so a marriage which seemed destined quickly to crash to earth was sustained by real love and understanding. This is a novel that paints a powerful picture of life in smart society with its characters drawn straight from real life. A glorious romance for those who believe in love.

THE GHOST HUNTERS

A Thrilling Mystery Story

By COLLIN BROOKS

That astute detective, Raeburn Steel, did not believe in ghosts. Neither did his pretty, musical comedy, partner-wife. But nevertheless they met with eerie experiences among the ruins of an ancient priory and nunnery in North England that chilled their blood. The story rushes with weird fascination to its climax, in which Steel reveals a diabolical plot and cleverly works out the solution to the mystery.

DAWN

A Biographical Novel of Edith Cavell

By REGINALD BERKELEY

In preparing the scenario for the now world-famous picture, "Dawn," which deals with the last days and execution of Nurse Edith Cavell, Capt. Berkeley, because he is primarily a novelist, saw the whole drama in the form of a biographical novel. Hence, the novel developed and was written by him concurrently with the picture. The story is an appalling indictment of war—a heart-rending tale done in simple, emotional style.

THE SCREAMING PORTRAIT

A Mystery Murder Story

By FERRIN L. FRASER

This is a thrilling mystery story laid in England, with the action in and about an ancient manor house. The plot turns around the portrait of a woman which hangs over a bed in one of the rooms. A series of murders have taken place in this room, accompanied always by a feminine scream. The story is breathlessly told with a fine sympathy that holds tenseness of interest to the very moment of the mystery's solution.

A MARRIAGE WAS MADE

By ELIZABETH STERN

This is the newest novel by Elizabeth Stern, who wrote "This Ecstasy." It is an impressive story of a girl who is ever pushed forward by an ambitious mother, trying to make for her daughter a great career and finally arranging for her "a proper marriage." The struggle of this mother living her life in that of her daughter is profoundly impressive. This book contains much drama, emotion and subtle lights of comedy and sentiment.

THIS ECSTASY

By ELIZABETH STERN

A Story of Human Character in the Making

To those who drink deep of life—its passions, its emotions, its romance, its struggles, its disappointments, its victories—to them life is "this ecstasy."

"This Ecstasy" is an odyssey of life, surcharged with humanity. It portrays the story of a man who takes from life all it can give, and gives in equal measure. It is utterly sincere, fervent.

MOVE OVER

A Novel of "Our Better Classes"

By E. PETTIT

A lovely daughter of one of America's wealthiest families marries a plain young man from the Middle West, unaccustomed to society's ways. He is dazed by the loose morals and mad whirl of social activity. The author dips her pen in vitriol, writing with a whip-lash satire and sharpness of wit. A smart, clever story with the verve and dash of sophistication.

12mo, 352 pages, jacket in colors, Price $2.50

FAR GOLD

By ARTHUR HUNT CHUTE

This is a throbbing story of a race halfway 'round the globe for buried treasure. A man and woman, the last to seek it, see their hope for its recovery fade forever as the tip of the volcanic island sinks from view. But in the end comes romance. A story which sets the germ of adventure coursing through a man's blood.

12mo, 315 pages, jacket in colors, Price $2.00

CHINESE WHITE

By DAVID CALDER WILSON

This powerful novel is laid in modern China amid its revolutions and civil wars. It is a vivid, living tale redolent with action. Thrills, mystery, adventure race headlong across its colorful pages. Against the background of inscrutable cunning of the slant-eyed Oriental there blossoms a refreshing, appealing romance between a tall chap and a lovely flashing-eyed girl.

12mo, 320 pages, jacket in colors, Price $2.00

THERE AND BACK AGAIN

The Story of a Family

By MARY CROSBIE

This is a subtle and powerful study of family relationship. It is the story of the development of the character of a woman, emotionally constituted; of her married life in which she was able to love but little, and paradoxically wanted to love fervently. It is told with lavish use of drama, tragedy and the lighter tints of romance and humor.

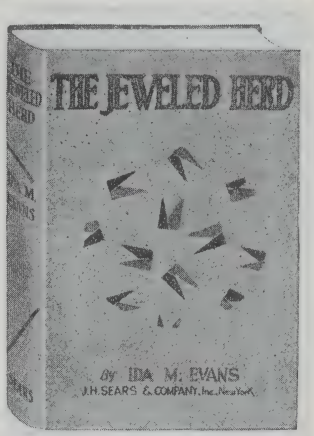
THE JEWELED HERD

By IDA M. EVANS

A Story of Clever Satire and Ready Wit



This light, sparkling novel of New York life, tells of the gullibility of society in being taken in by every new fad. A young couple, facing financial disaster, found a cult which the jeweled herd of wealthy dowagers adopt with enthusiasm. Success overwhelms them and they lose their heads. But finally their equilibrium is restored among the Apple Orchards of Oregon.

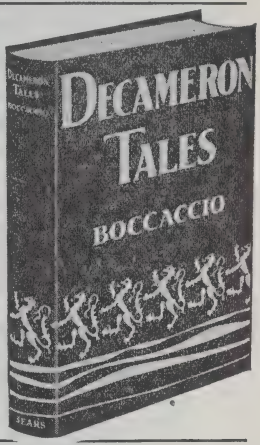
DECAMERON TALES

By GIOVANNI BOCCACCIO



Delicious stories are the Decameron Tales. They embody romance, an exotic flavor, with delights even unto thrills and breathless suspense. They faithfully portray human character, even if sometimes we find Boccaccio writing with his tongue in his cheek. Here are the thirty-odd stories of the one hundred which made Boccaccio's name, and they are clean even according to our modern standards. Their piquancy, tang and freshness never fail to make intriguingly entertaining reading.

GREAT LOVERS

This book gives the reader in charming form the famous love stories of the ages, which are properly famous because they were written by the great writers of the last thousand years. It becomes a modern classic the day it is published because its contents has the stamp of centuries of approval, and because it has been brought out in a form as new, as bright and as attractive as the most modern novel.

This volume is a modern classic of romance and contains the stories of Paul and Virginia, Abelard and Heloise, Pyramus and Thisbe, Romeo and Juliet, Paolo and Francesca, Aucassin and Nicolette, Orpheus and Eurydice and others.

Extraordinary Value

THE FAMOUS ROYAL BLUE LIBRARY

New Price 50 Cents Per Volume

Four years ago, we introduced the Royal Blue Library, the greatest value ever offered in the history of the book making industry, to sell at 75 cents a volume. Its quality was quickly recognized by the trade and public and it became one of the best selling libraries of the classics on the market. Its success has allowed us to manufacture in ever increasing quantities and has made possible a reduction in price to 50 cents per volume. It is the old economic principle of quantity production, which is as true of books as it is of automobiles or any other commodity.

At a fifty cent retail price, no book compares with it in quality of binding, press work and handsome appearance. Its range of titles (there are now 64 volumes) include all classes of literature —French, English and American classics, Biography, Poetry, Plays, Short Stories, etc. New titles are in preparation, which will be added from time to time until within this library will be found all of the best selling worthwhile books in the English language. Now more than ever before, the Royal Blue Library, in its fine, limp leather style, will appeal to trade and public as the most overwhelming value ever put forth by any publisher.

These volumes of the Royal Blue Library are printed on the highest quality of white book paper from new plates with a finely proportioned type page and wide margins. Each book measures 5 x 7¼ inches and contains approximately 250 pages. The covers are semi-flexible allowing the book to fit comfortably into the hand. The stamping is in genuine gold leaf. It is bound in a blue artificial leather with a fine pin seal grain. The artistic jacket is in blue and Chinese yellow.

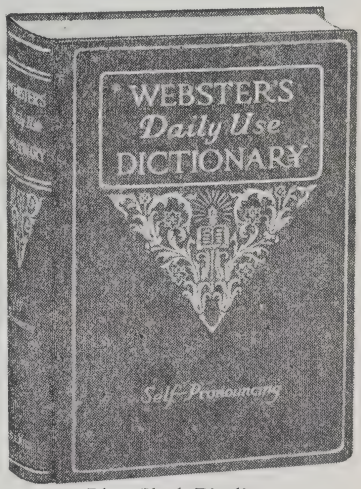
WEBSTER'S DAILY USE DICTIONARY

35,000 Words — 800 Pages — New Plates



Blue Cloth Binding

This new Revised Edition of Webster's Daily Use Dictionary is the product of more than two years of constant work by a highly experienced editorial staff. Extensive additions have been made to the general vocabulary to include all words which have come into the language since the first edition was issued. The plates of the previous edition were discarded, and this new edition has been printed from new plates.

The Revised Edition of Webster's Daily Use Dictionary contains many exclusive features, which make it the best of all dictionaries for every general daily use in office, home and school. Included in its 35,000 words are 5,000 radio, medical, aviation and other scientific words, expressions and popular phrases in general use; the 4,000 most essential words in the English language, selected by the New York State Department of Education as a basis for its immigration and citizenship tests; the 10,000 words listed by Prof. Thorndyke of Columbia University in his authoritative "Teachers Word Book" as being the most widely used words in the English language.

Its definitions are in synonym form, affording a quick and concise route to correct English. It is self-pronouncing, the pronunciation of each word indicated by phonetic spelling and diacritical marks. A newly compiled appendix furnishes valuable information of genuine literary merit. Contents of both bindings exactly the same. This dictionary is printed on a high quality of white paper in large, well-proportioned type. Size 5½ x 7¾ x 1¾ inches.

SEARS JUVENILE CLASSICS

Here is an edition of standard Juvenile Classics which will fascinate the younger reader. These 42 volumes are just what boys and girls want their books to be—bright, cheery and clever. The titles have been selected with much care and embrace a fine range of the widest selling and the best liked of the famous classics for children and young people.

These volumes have a brilliant jacket printed in four colors, depicting the familiar and beloved characters of famous children's stories passing in review. This pageant idea has been carried out with much originality, and is a most effective piece of pictorial jacket work. This picture is found again in a rich duo-tone sepia as end sheets in the front and back of each volume. This picture, which has proved of much interest to children, is thus preserved as a permanent feature of the book. In the panels on these end sheets are appropriate children's verses.

The covers of the volumes have an all over design stamped in red and deep bronze blue on a light tan cloth, making an unusually attractive combination of color values. This design is in keeping with the best taste in the finer books for children. The volumes are bound in sturdy, stiff covers, and will stand the hard usage a child gives to books. They have brilliant red stained tops. Each book is printed in large type from new plates on a fine quality of heavy white book paper. The volumes are a full standard 12mo in size, measuring 5⅛ inches wide by 7¾ inches high and 1 inch thick. Each book contains about 256 pages.

SEARS ILLUSTRATED JUVENILES

Last year we offered 15 titles in these large size illustrated juveniles. So popular were these books, that we have added this year five new titles of wide appeal.

These books are illustrated by distinguished artists. They have border pictures in color on every page which are different in each book. Each volume also has an individual pictorial jacket and frontispiece in gay colors, the designs of which are reproduced below. They also have pictorial end sheets and decorated title pages.

The volumes are bound in a fine quality of pattern cloth of different colors on heavy boards, with colored inlay pictures on the front cover. The title on the front cover and backbone and the ornamental frame about the inlay are stamped in gilt. They are printed on a heavy white paper in large type from new plates. THE FATHER AND SON LIBRARY

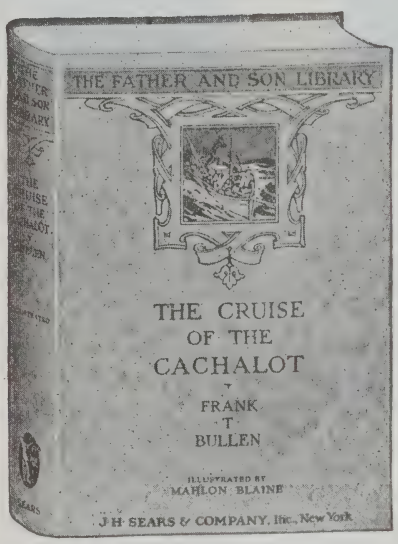
Registered Trade Mark

"My Boy's Book and Mine"

The Greatest Value in Books for Boys



During the past few years there has arisen a fine movement which will have the greatest importance to the coming generation. This is the "Father and Son" movement, and we find "Father and Son" golf tournaments, "Father and Son" boat races and "Father and Son" scout dinners. Father and son playing together promotes companionship between them, and breaks down the barriers of the respective generations. But nothing can weld so strong a bond between father and son as the reading of good books together.

Such is the idea behind this interesting Father and Son Library. Into this library will go those great classics of youth which tower high above the rest of literature for boys. The titles in this library are those which are not too young for the father to enjoy reading, and not too old to interest the boy.

These books have six full page halftone pictures, specially drawn for each of the titles by the best American artists. The volumes are bound in a high quality of cloth with an attractive design on front cover and backbone. They are printed in large, clear type from new plates on an excellent quality of book paper. They are full 12mo. in size, measuring 5½" x 7¾". They have handsome colored jackets and stained tops.

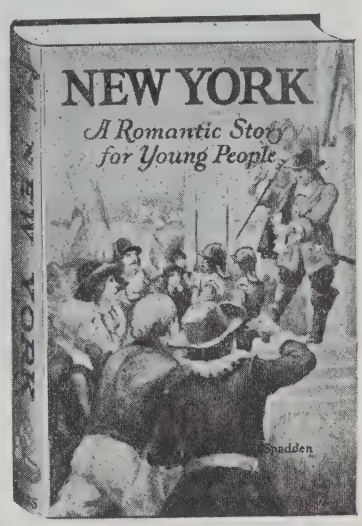
THE ROMANTIC STORIES OF THE STATES FOR YOUNG PEOPLE

By J. WALKER McSPADDEN
Illustrated by HOWARD L. HASTINGS

This series presents a new and exceptionally interesting idea in books with an historic background for young people. With the events and facts of history thoroughly accurate the author at the same time writes with a keen sense of the story teller and stresses to the fullest the romantic and dramatic possibilities of his theme. The result is a group of books dealing with the history of the states in story form which are approved of by educators and which for their interest and fascination, will be hard to equal.



An old trapper or an old settler tells the stories and tales of adventure which are the important turning points in each state's history, while the young people sit about, ask questions and listen. For each of the original thirteen states, the story is told from the time the first white man put foot within its territory until the Revolutionary War. For the other states, the story is brought down to the state's admission to the Union.

Each volume has a four-color jacket by the well known artist, Howard L. Hastings, picturing a significant historic event in the story of the state. These volumes are also illustrated with twenty black and white full page and half page pictures, together with a decorative title page by the same artist. The end sheets are a reproduction of a hundred year old map showing the original trails, forts, etc.

These books are bound in a fine quality of green pattern cloth with a pictorial inlay on the front cover. The ornamental design and title on the back of the books, together with the frame around the inlay are stamped in gilt. They are printed on a good quality of white paper in large, readable type from new plates. Each book measures 5¾ x 8¼ inches and has a bright stained yellow top.

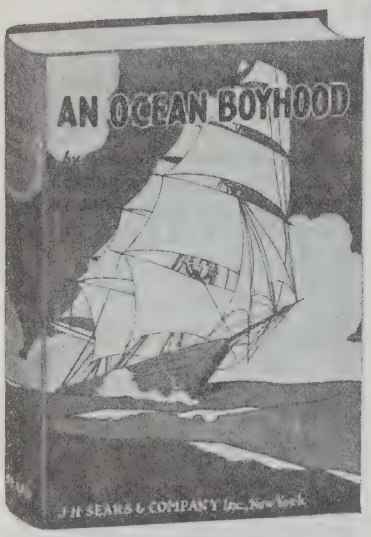
BOOKS FOR BOYS



AN OCEAN BOYHOOD

By ARTHUR MASON

The Tale of a Boy Who "Went to Sea"

Six Full Page Illustrations by Harry H. A. Burne

This is the story of a boy's adventures on the seven seas. The boy describes his duties aboard ship, how a sailor lives and works. His seamanship is put to many a brilliant test. There are battles with mutinous crews, with storms that threaten to overwhelm the ship, with hidden reefs, cannibals and other savages in far-off islands. It is a fine, healthy tale of the sea.

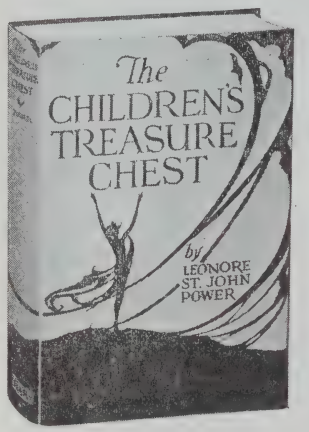
BOOKS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS

THE CHILDREN'S TREASURE CHEST



Compiled by

LEONORE ST. JOHN POWER

This volume contains a collection of the greatest stories for children—stories which are universally loved by children in each succeeding generation.

This collection differs from other volumes of children's stories in that each of these stories is intensely interesting, yet at the same time they fire the child's imagination and develop a love of justice, honesty and heroism. In other words, these stories are the Inspiration of Youth, without the boy or girl being made to realize unduly that they set forth the cardinal virtues of life.

This collection is the outgrowth of the vast experience of Miss Leonore St. John Power, who, as the children's librarian of one of the large city libraries, has had the rare opportunity of knowing first hand just what appeals most to the youthful mind in prose and poetry. The stories she includes in this volume are chosen as a result of her wide and authentic knowledge of children's reading.

Among the famous stories in this book are Dick Whittington and His Cat; Jackanapes; Mondawmin; Sir Patrick Spens; The Man Without a Country; Casabianca; St. George and the Dragon; The Red Shoes; The Magic Fishbone, Horatius at the Bridge, Men of Valor, Six Men of Indostan and others equally fascinating.

The STORY LADY'S NURSERY TALES

By GEORGENE FAULKNER

"The Story Lady"

With eight full page colored illustrations by Milo Winter and fifty black and white illustrations by Charlotte Becker

Here are the famous nursery tales of many countries retold for children by Georgene Faulkner, the "Story Lady."

"The Story Lady" has become famous in her talks in the "Childrens' Hour" over the radio and at entertainments, because she has that unusual gift of speaking to the children in their own language, and creating for them an enchanting Storyland.

This book contains twenty-five famous nursery tales. Among these are The Gingerbread Boy; Chicken Little; The Little Red Hen; The Cat and The Fox; The King of the Birds; The Elves and the Shoemaker; Wee Robin's Yule Song; The Little Pine Tree; The Straw, The Coal and The Bean; The Iron Goat; The Feast Day; Father Bruin in the Corner; The Travels of a Fox; Little Tuppens; The Sausage, The Bean and The Mouse; The Cat and the Mouse in Partnership, and others.

This book has an attractive four-color jacket and decorative end papers. It is bound in a fine pattern cloth with colored inlay and is printed in large type from new plates. Size 6½ by 9 inches. It contains about 256 pages.

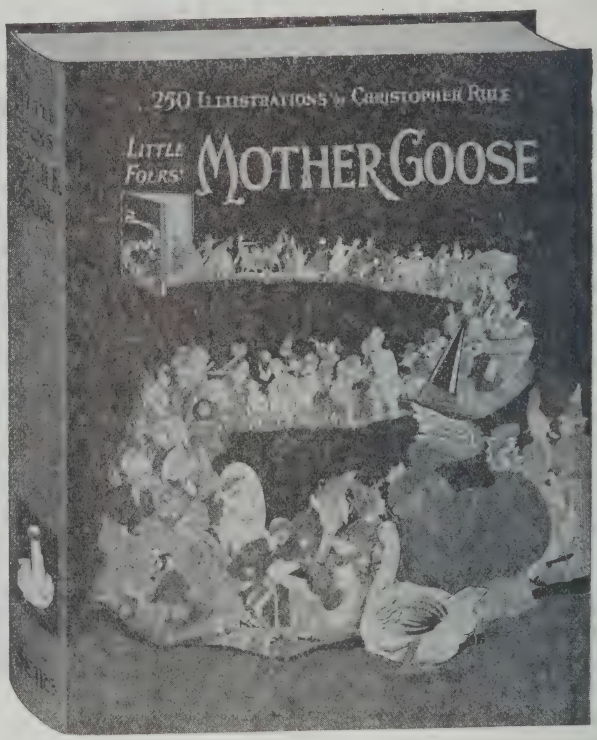
LITTLE FOLKS' MOTHER GOOSE



With 250 Illustrations by Christopher Rule

This beautifully illustrated edition of "Mother Goose" brings fresh and startling delights to boys and girls. This edition has been compiled with much care, and it will prove most satisfying in its arrangement, wording and editorial qualities.

This edition is made the more charming and delightful to the child because the pictures are drawn with a new cleverness. These illustrations have the appeal of the old famous editions, and at the same time they are modern in style and belong to the present day. There are 250 pictures in this fine book, many of them full page drawings. These were drawn specially for this edition by the well known artist, Christopher Rule.

A particularly attractive feature of this edition is its handsome jacket printed in four bright, contrasting colors. The artist has cleverly shown in this picture the beloved characters of "Mother Goose" marching by in pageant array. The child will pore over this picture with the greatest fascination, picking out the seventy-five familiar characters on this jacket.

This picture that appears on the jacket is found again in its same brilliant colors as the inlay on the cover. This beautiful edition also has colored pictorial end papers and a decorative title page.

This volume is bound in a red pattern cloth which handsomely sets off the inlay. The book also has a brilliant red stained top. It is printed on unusually good paper from new plates. The type has been chosen for size and style so as to be easy and pleasant for the child to read. This is an extra large book, measuring 9½" wide by 11¾" high. The rule around the inlay on the front cover and the design and lettering on the backbone is stamped in gilt.

This book contains probably more pictures than have ever been put into a volume of "Mother Goose" to sell at this price. It will prove the outstanding edition of "Mother Goose" in its attractiveness to children.

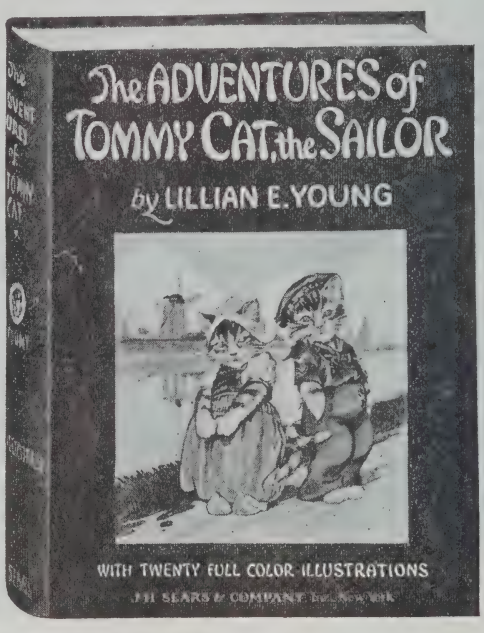
THE ADVENTURES OF TOMMY CAT, THE SAILOR

By LILLIAN E. YOUNG

Illustrated with 21 full-page, four-color pictures by the author and 11 facsimile letters from Tommy Cat to His Mother



The Cleverest Book of the Season for Children

Tommy Cat lived on the New York waterfront. Naturally, therefore, he was ambitious to go to sea. He shipped as an able seaman on board "The Scat" and sailed off for many ports. He visited in turn Holland, England, France, Spain and Japan. He had marvelous, exciting adventures, and he wrote home to his widowed mother the most fascinating letters, which are reproduced in this book in Tommy's own handwriting and spelling, with the stamps in colors.

The twenty-one four-color, full-page pictures show Tommy Cat in many of his amusing experiences in the ports he visited. The author has an unusual gift in catching the cunning attitudes and expressions of cats. The pictures are most unusual and delightful, and are full of interest for the children.

This book has an attractive four-color jacket, decorative title page and end papers. It is bound in blue pattern cloth with colored inlay. It is printed in extra large, clear type from new plates on a very fine quality of book paper made especially for this book. Large quarto, measuring 7¼ x 9¾ inches, with bright colored top.

from THE INNER SANCTUM of

SIMON and SCHUSTER

Publishers · 37 West 57th Street · New York

Candor-carried-to-the-point-of-indiscretion has usually characterized the confessions, aspirations, hopes and fears of The Inner Sanctum. Now, on the occasion of launching our Fall list, we plead for a similar frankness on the part of our readers.

Despite occasional rumors to the contrary, publishers are human beings, endowed with the normal appetite for appreciation and with the normal respect for honest, articulate criticism.

If, therefore, you personally didn't read Trader Horn with the same relish with which The Inner Sanctum published it; if in your heart of hearts you preferred Transition, A Mental Autobiography to WILL DURANT's more colossal success, The Story of Philosophy (perhaps, after all, one million readers can be wrong); if, with all respect to Messrs. BURANELLI, HARTSWICK, TUITE, LENZ and WEBSTER, you shun cross word puzzles, auction bridge and poker like the plague; if you question the greatness of ARTHUR SCHNITZLER and FRANZ WERFEL; or if, by some miracle, you share any or all of these enthusiasms, plus the new raptures promulgated in this catalogue,—in any case, please be assured that The Inner Sanctum would like to know all about it.

This is not an over-modest plea for crank letters or a vain-glorious bid for fan mail. It is simply a forthright seeking for our old friend, the customer's viewpoint.

The Inner Sanctum has no illusions about the importance of a publisher's catalogue, or the potency of a list qua list. People do not buy their books by job-lots, simply by following the Fall announcement or a striking colophon. Each book is an adventure all its own, and, in the main, an independent enterprise.

Nevertheless, with the march of the years, a distinctive atmosphere must gradually—sometimes even rapidly—surround a given imprint. Without that faith no self-respecting publisher could long endure the kaleidoscopic contrast of high elation and melancholy heartbreak which constitute the day's work in the species of gambling which we dignify with the name of publishing.

Frankly, as this Fall 1928 catalogue goes to press, The Inner Sanctum is in a buoyant and soaring mood. It is not entirely due to the atmosphere of a group of best-sellers that have out-topped our rosiest hopes and the most ambitious quotas. They have helped, of course, and thrilled. But deeper than that delight is the glow of vindication for a private acclaim—as in the case of Will Durant, Arthur Schnitzler, Alfred Aloysius Horn, Felix Salten, and a few other convivials. And deeper still is the inner confidence in our latest array of "fewer and better books" which, even in the turbulent throes of jacket-writing, lay-out supervision, proof-reading, follow-up fulminations, and catalogue-making, seem inviting, interesting and important.

A more cruel test than this it would be hard to fashion for any book: after you have fought, bled and died with it through the lofty peaks and sloughs of despond between the initial idea and the finished opus, does it still seem alluring? . . . . With one definite exception and a second partial one, The Inner Sanctum can honestly state that all of the new books in this announcement have met that test with banners flying.

The Inner Sanctum's policy of a small list upon which we can effectively concentrate our personal attention, has not only been retained but strengthened, as will be visible, we hope, by an inspection of the following pages.

BAMBI

By FELIX SALTEN

Translated from the German by WHITTAKER CHAMBERS

Foreword by JOHN GALSWORTHY

Octavo Illustrated July 6 $2.50

BAMBI is the name of a deer whose career we follow from birth to a magnificent antlered old age. The story is set in the Austrian woods where the author has his hunting lodge—a background subtly changing as the four seasons follow one another.

Though Bambi has been enthusiastically compared with KIPLING'S Jungle Book, it is far more than an animal story. Bambi stands for the inquisitive child; his wood by the blue Danube is the universe of mystery; his life a veiled and uninsistent allegory of the life of man.

The atmosphere is timeless. SALTEN'S understanding of animal life is intuitive. Already a classic in Germany and Austria, Bambi is published here in a first edition of seventy-five thousand, with enthusiastic tributes from such eminent critics as WILLIAM ALLEN WHITE, HENRY SEIDEL CANBY, JOHN GALSWORTHY, HEYWOOD BROUN, DOROTHY CANFIELD, and CHRISTOPHER MORLEY.

This exquisite idyll of animal life introduces to America the work of FELIX SALTEN, Viennese novelist, poet and playwright. In the words of JOHN GALSWORTHY: "Bambi is a delicious book."

TRADER HORN—VOLUME TWO

HAROLD THE WEBBED or THE YOUNG VYKINGS

By ALFRED ALOYSIUS HORN and ETHELREDA LEWIS

Foreword by WILLIAM MCFEE

Octavo June 8 $3.50

LIKE its celebrated predecessor, which is still an outstanding best-seller and is rapidly approaching its third hundred thousand, this new book is a compound: TRADER HORN's Vyking tale of the dawn-light of England and the adventures of the young truant, Harold the Webbed, is interwoven with page after page of the Trader's salty and astonishing philosophy. His own shrewd comments on such subjects as Prohibition, America, Old England, and Evolution have a savour all their own.

The story itself, that of a boy who ran away to fight the legionnaires of Julius Caesar on the South Coast of England, reveals a glamourous picture of early Britain, Ireland and Norway against a background of the sounding sea.

The extended introduction by ETHELREDA LEWIS discloses further details about TRADER HORN's personality—how he came to write his books by candle-light in a Johannesburg lodging-house, and how he reacted to his world-renown. This memoir teems with those memorable conversations between The Ancient Mariner and his editor-discoverer, who bought a gridiron she didn't need and gave fame as a price.

HEARST

AN AMERICAN PHENOMENON

By JOHN K. WINKLER

Octavo, Illustrated Already Published $4.00

IN Hearst—An American Phenomenon, JOHN K. WINKLER provides the first attempt at a comprehensive survey of an astonishing personality.

Here is a critical appraisal as well as a human document, painstakingly accurate and impartial, checked and double-checked by a trained investigator and a vivid reporter. This book tells—

How HEARST began his journalistic policy of "comforting the afflicted and afflicting the comfortable."

How HEARST provoked the legend about the famous telegram to Remington ("You supply the pictures, I'll supply the war.")

How HEARST offered the populace "Eight pages of iridescent polychromous effulgence that make the rainbow look like a lead pipe!"

How HEARST used the $7,500,000 check which he got on his 32nd birthday.

How HEARST began a crusade against polygamy ("Crush the Harem, protect the Home!")

THERESA

THE CHRONICLE OF A WOMAN'S LIFE

By ARTHUR SCHNITZLER

A novel translated from the German by WILLIAM A. DRAKE

12mo September 28 $2.50

THE publishers take great pride in presenting ARTHUR SCHNITZLER's first full-length novel in twenty years, a mature work of permanent literary quality. It will consolidate and enlarge the eager audience which has acclaimed his brilliant novelettes—Fräulein Else, Rhapsody and Daybreak.

This tender and grave chronicle of a woman's life has been called a Viennese Jane Eyre, since Theresa becomes a governess and since her milieu resembles that of her more respectable and less courageous English counterpart.

SCHNITZLER unfolds, as only SCHNITZLER can, the story of Theresa Fabiani from her first love affair at the age of seventeen to her death at the age of forty. Through the shifting tides of her pitiful destiny, Theresa's soul moves nobly, without shame, in a continual quest for love and refuge.

Theresa is the masterpiece not of SCHNITZLER the raconteur but of SCHNITZLER the creative artist, filled with a mellow and tender apprehension of his world. It is one of the most substantial and most moving narratives of an incomparable story-teller.

The Tender and Ironic Disclosure of a Woman's Soul.

EROICA

THE LIFE OF LUDWIG VAN BEETHOVEN

By SAMUEL CHOTZINOFF

Octavo October 26 $3.50

IN A biographical novel fittingly entitled Eroica, SAMUEL CHOTZINOFF, the renowned music critic of The New York World, traces four influences in BEETHOVEN's life.

1. The refining influence of Madame Von Breuning and her family when the composer was an uncouth young man in Bonn.

2. His passion for the Immortal Beloved. We see the composer cheated of normal life, grasping at the shadow of love.

3. His affection for his nephew, whose ultimate worthlessness turned the composer's interests inward.

4. His deafness, contracted from an illness early in life. It accounts for his hostile attitude toward women, and his Comstockian interference in the lives of his friends and relatives.

Out of these four important influences BEETHOVEN emerges as a man: one hammered by life into the proper instrument for the musical expression of the loftiest feelings of civilized man.

Himself a musician and scholar of eminence, SAMUEL CHOTZINOFF combines with his expert knowledge a literary grace and dramatic power that make the colossal subject an understandable human being.

JOHN WESLEY

A PORTRAIT

By ABRAM LIPSKY

Octavo September 14 $3.00

THIS is not so much a detailed biography, as a definitely behavioristic portrait of JOHN WESLEY, the founder of Methodism. Here is the strange and burning personality which revitalized the conscience of England, led the first fight against the saloon, and drove profanity out of social intercourse into literature. Here is the man who preached 40,000 sermons for fifty years to a population which idolized highwaymen, baited bears and consumed seven million gallons of gin in a twelvemonth; here is the man who laid the foundation for Victorian morals, who preached in two continents and traveled 225,000 miles in the process, sent enormous audiences into fits of hysteria, was tormented by his love for half a dozen women, sailed the Atlantic in small boats, and risked his life a hundred times while preaching the Word.

Of absorbing interest to American readers is the account of WESLEY's hitherto unemphasized adventures and love affairs during his stay in colonial Georgia.

The appeal of this portrait ranges far beyond the special interest in Methodism. This is a personality in action—one of the most colorful personalities of all time.

The Story of a Man Who Saved Souls En Masse.

MOTHER MARIE

A NOVEL

By HEINRICH MANN

Translated from the German by WHITTAKER CHAMBERS

12mo November 2 $2.50

HEINRICH MANN is the older brother of the author of The Magic Mountain, and is the celebrated German novelist acclaimed by ARTHUR SCHNITZLER, LUDWIG LEWISOHN and EMIL LUDWIG. He is now introduced to the American public for the first time.

The bare outline of the narrative suggests a sensational thriller, just as the skeleton synopsis of a Dostoievsky masterpiece might suggest a dime novel. Underneath the intrigues and splash of pretentious profiteers and their villas and mistresses, giving meaning to the romantic details of lost rubies and runaway motorcars, is the moving story of a genuinely interesting woman and the record of stupendous upheavals in an imperial civilization. We see Mother Marie rise from the lowliest environment to affluence and disenchantment. Her central passion is for her abandoned son. The story sounds depths of renunciation and spiritual transition that are memorable.

The publishers are proud to present this distinguished German novelist to the American reading public. The public which hails ARTHUR SCHNITZLER, FRANZ WERFEL and THOMAS MANN will doubtless be enthralled by the exciting and tender story of Mother Marie.

A Magnificent Passion in Post-War Berlin.

THE TWILIGHT OF THE AMERICAN MIND

AN INVESTIGATION OF THE DILEMMA OF THE INTELLIGENT CLASSES

By WALTER B. PITKIN

Octavo September 28 $3.50

THE astonishing thesis of this book is certain to grip the imagination and excite the controversy of thinking Americans. Its general theme is the future of the super-intelligent American citizen, the top one percent of the population. Its attack is directed against the eugenists who would aim to increase the number of super-intelligences. Its conclusion is that a great increase of high-grade intelligences will precipitate a crisis of the first magnitude—and that that crisis is now on its way. There is no room for them in the present mechanical order of things; the present tendency toward trustification and mechanization will eventually throw the top one percent out of jobs—and there will arise a general psychosis. In order to make clear his thesis, WALTER B. PITKIN, who is a Columbia University professor and an editor of The Encyclopedia Britannica, engages in a bold survey of the various trades, industries, and profession of America, in an endeavor to discover exactly how many super-intelligent men each one can use. The result is a realistic, unprejudiced—and thrilling—summary of an America which is rapidly going HENRY FORD.

DEPARTURE

A NOVEL OF TRAVEL

By ROLAND DORGÈLES

Translated from the French by PAULINE RUSH

12mo October 26 $2.50

AGAINST an exotic background of the romantic Indian Ocean, languorous heat, improbable cities like Penang and Colombo and Port Said is staged the love drama and tragedy of Jacques Largy, a handsome, moody and attractive member of an opera troupe en route from Marseilles to the Orient.

This novel by a distinguished author-traveler and Prix Femina winner has been a distinguished best seller abroad, having sold 150,000 copies in France alone. Jacques Largy is the Werther of the company and Florence Bernard, a loving and weak-willed woman, plays his Manon. Jacques is under the shadow of a crime. At Penang and at Colombo he attempts to leave the ship, by this time a network of intrigue and drama. But he is checkmated by his weak mistress, and a pair of unscrupulous and wealthy bankers on board (who are as amusing as they are sinister). This bare sketch of the plot gives no idea of the dramatic conclusion and languor, the reverie, the brilliance of the total effect, though the atmosphere of the book and its startling characters unite to make it a work of permanent literary quality.

An Exotic Romance of Oriental Setting and French Wit.

THE STORY OF GILBERT AND SULLIVAN

By ISAAC GOLDBERG

Octavo Illustrated August 17 $5.00

THIS 'Compleat' Gilbert and Sullivan is the first attempt, by an authority equally versed in literature and music, to treat fully the most famous collaboration in the modern theatre. The individual development of GILBERT from low burlesque to the famous series of the Savoy; the swinging of SULLIVAN between church and stage; their union in a venture that blended their antithetical personalities and won a genuine victory over Victorianism—these are the chief lines of a chronicle and commentary that ramifies into numerous fascinating by-paths of English humor of the nineteenth and early twentieth century.

In this scholarly and racy opus the biographer of H. L. MENCKEN, HAVELOCK ELLIS and GEORGE JEAN NATHAN reconstructs a period, interprets its representative jesters and throws, upon this source of not always innocent merriment, the light of intelligent appreciation

BIOGRAPHY

FASCINATING WOMEN

SACRED AND PROFANE

By FRANZ BLEI

Translated from the German by GUY ENDORE

Octavo Illustrated September 14 $3.00

THESE twenty-five biographical studies by a brilliant European journalist range in time from the fifth century (the Byzantine Empress Theodora) to the War (Mata Hari). Some of these brilliant figures (Theodora, Ninon de Lenclos, Madame Du Barry), pursued the oldest calling in the world; others were as passionately devoted to the worship of God (Matilda of Magdeburg, St. Theresa, Renée of France); others were simply magnificent eccentrics like Christina of Sweden and Madame du Deffand.

BLEI's vigorous pen has succeeded in rescuing these and others less known from the sand heap of pedantry; he interprets his galaxy of ladies with sympathy, freshness and humor.

Both on the Continent and in England the reviews of this biographical study have been extremely laudatory. The subjects have been selected with a shrewd eye for contrasts and colorful effects, and portrayed with swift strokes.

This book is not offered as an array of the most interesting women of all time. Some are sacred; some are profane; all are fascinating.

Isn't that enough?

A Breviary of Passion and Piety.

THE ART OF THINKING

By ABBÉ ERNEST DIMNET

Octavo October 19 $2.50

AVERY witty, a very kindly, a very wise continental gentleman, with a hint of VOLTAIRE about him, talks informally with the reader and gradually awakens in him an enthusiasm for thinking straight. This is not a treatise or an essay but a genial and illuminating conversation with the imaginary reader, colored and deepened by a host of amusing allusions. Though by a Frenchman, this book is written in English so clear, so delightful, so humorous that it enthralls the imagination and tickles the palate of the mind.

This is a popular book, aimed simply at intelligent people, in which M. DIMNET indicates a method by which clear, productive and pleasant thinking can become a part of one's life. It is decidedly not a text book, although in this volume the educator, the school teacher and the parent will find much to interest them.

The author sets forth definite helps to thought which in his long career as scholar, writer and preacher, he has found useful. By clearly showing us how to arrange the data in our minds, the author gives us a real recipe for becoming as happy as—and perhaps much wiser than—kings. The final chapter contains a brilliant discussion of the nature of creative thought. Though we may never set pen to paper we may all of us be more or less creative in our mental processes. When the last page of this fascinating book is turned, the wings of ambition have been attached to the reader's mind.

Provides the Pleasure of Discovering Your Own Intellect.

THE FRIEND OF JESUS

By ERNEST SUTHERLAND BATES

6x9 September 21 $2.50

THIS is a profoundly moving tone-poem. In a diction that is worthy of its majestic theme, the drama of both the Old Testament and the New Testament is restated from the point of view of a modern in love with life. Adam and Eve rejoice in their nakedness; Delilah is pictured as a noble, self-sacrificing woman; and Abraham is seen as a notable fool.

Judas himself tells the story. We hear of his early life, of the teachings of Satan, of his meeting with Jesus, and finally of the preaching, the trials, and death of the Christ.

As the prose-poem mounts to its stupendous and glorious climax, the force of evil is represented throughout by Jehovah, a god who craves flattery and demands worship, first from Israel, and later from the world. Satan is simply a wise being.

The picture of Jesus is one of a fine and pure young man who begins his career as a physician and a preacher of truth. By his trials in the wilderness, by his baptism at the hands of John, but most of all by his faith in Jehovah, Jesus is finally misled into preaching not his first yea-saying vision, but the gospel of the very Jehovah he had originally attacked. We see Jesus in a light both old and new. He is a Jesus we must love in a deeply personal way, a Jesus capable of passion, of fear, of intense self-righteousness, of a love embracing all humanity, and particularly the friend who betrayed him for the love of truth.

The Passionate Testimony of a Modern . . .

THE TECHNIQUE OF THE LOVE AFFAIR

By A GENTLEWOMAN

Square 12mo. October 5 $2.50

PRACTICALLY all women can carry on love affairs successfully if they know how to go about it. This book tells how.

The author (who is perhaps quite justified in preserving her anonymity) claims that Nature alone can never be employed in the starting, continuance and conclusions of love affairs. In the first chapter the reader overhears a conversation between The Gentlewoman and her inexperienced friend, in which the former promises to write a series of letters describing the wiles necessary in obtaining power over men.

These letters cover a multitude of important subjects, among them: the folly of romantic love (along with some sage counsel against the writing of love letters) the subject of flattery (which forms to cultivate and which to avoid) methods of approach to be used on meeting men who appear worthy of conquest, the most correct procedure for severing unsatisfactory relationships, advice on the confession of former gallantries, how to deal with husbands, lovers and admirers in relation to one another.

The book stresses no moral note, and is not concerned with the man's point of view, on the theory that the man can, ought to be able to, and is able to take care of himself.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT

By ROBERT L. RIPLEY

6x9 Illustrated September 21 $2.00

ROBERT L. RIPLEY, whose signature "Rip . . ." is known to over 10,000,000 newspaper readers as a sport cartoonist, is more than that; he is an amazing traveler who has traversed fifty-three countries for the unbelievable material now incorporated in this book.

He can prove every statement he makes, as three thousand skeptics found out when they tried to controvert Rip's startler: Lindbergh was the 67th man to make a non-stop flight over the Atlantic Ocean. He tells incredible stories of trees that eat men, snakes that fly, the river that runs backward; of the land where rain has fallen for a million years; he introduces you to a woman who has 63 husbands, one who had 69 children and a wholesale father who was the proud possessor of 548 sons and 340 daughters! Sport enthusiasts will prick up their ears at the queer tales told by the man who it is said can answer more questions on sports than any other living man. AND—all these marvelous adventurings into the countries of fantastic truth are lavishly illustrated with those vivid cartoons which are followed eagerly every night in the New York Evening Post and other newspapers.

You will find some old favorites—and many new strange tales now uncorked for the first time. Believe It Or Not—this volume contains a thousand new things under the sun!

A Wonder Book by the Marco Polo of Our Time!

THE FIRST HUNDRED MILLION

By E. HALDEMAN-JULIUS

Octavo September 21 $3.00

NINE years ago E. Haldeman-Julius began his publishing career with a reprint of The Rubaiyat—and an idea. Today this famous series includes 1260 titles and has sold over 100,000,000 copies.

Here is the story behind the Little Blue Books. It is more than a record of the unparalleled success of one individual and one idea. It is more than the chronicle of an amazing experiment, comparable to Ford's, in mass production. It is essentially a significant commentary on the psychology of the American people.

What do people read when they have their choice for a nickel? What is our attitude toward sex? How popular are books on free thought? Do we want to be debunked? Will there ever be a large number of well-read Americans? Can the classics be rejuvenated?

The people of America have recorded their answers in the form of 100,000,000 book-ballots. Haldeman-Julius's story of a great publishing adventure charts their startling replies. It is a story told honestly and without reserve, for the failures among the books are as significant as the successes. Out of the humming pressroom of a gigantic commercial enterprise comes a startling analysis of the American mind.

BUSINESS BUILDING LEAFLETS BY WILLIAM T. NASH

The leaflets and other publications of which Mr. Nash is the author, and The Spectator Company the publishers, are now regarded by company officials, agents and life insurance men generally as being business builders and business conservers of almost inconceivable value. Since agents are writing millions of new business and companies are holding and reclaiming millions of tottering old business, all through the wide distribution of these publications among prospects and policyholders, their value cannot well be overestimated. The life insurance man who is not using these human, true to life and most effective appeals to the uninsured and the under-insured, would do well to begin now by placing his order with The Spectator Company. Send for the Business Builders Service, a folder listing this series of leaflets and describing how to use them effectively.

UP-TO-DATE LIFE INSURANCE LEAFLETS

THE WELL KNOWN BUSINESS BUILDING PUBLICATIONS
By William T. Nash. The leaflets and other publications of which Mr. Nash is the author, and The Spectator Company the publishers, are now regarded by company officials, agents and life insurance men generally as being business builders and business conservers of almost inconceivable value. Since agents are writing millions of new business and companies are holding and reclaiming millions of tottering old usiness, all through the wide distribution of these publications among prospects and policyholders, their value cannot well be overestimated. The life insurance man who is not using these human, true to life and most effective appeals to the un-insured and the under-insured, would do well to begin now by placing his order with The Spectator Company. Send for the Business Builders Service, a folder describing how to use the Nash leaflets effectively.

LEAFLETS FOR CREATING PROSPECTS

BUCK ADAMS' WILL
This fascinating and touching little story is particularly adapted for distribution among college students and others whose parents are denying themselves to give their sons a start in life. It is a wonderful first lesson on life insurance for the young man and just such a lesson as parents would wish their boys to learn early in life. Prices, sample copy, 10 cents; 50 copies, $4.50; 100 copies, $7.50; 500 copies, $30.00; 1,000 copies, $50.00; 5,000 copies, $200.00; 10,000 copies, $375.00.

THE COST OF DYING
It is safe to say that no other life insurance leaflet ever produced has been the means of selling a greater number of large policies. It deals with the inheritance tax and other death demands upon the estate. Many policies ranging in amount from $25,000 to $200,000 have been written simply by giving a copy of this booklet to a prospect to read. Prices, sample copy, 25 cents; 50 copies, $8.50; 100 copies, $15.00; 500 copies, $60.00; 1,000 copies, $100.00; 5,000 copies, $400.00

DOES A YOUNG MAN NEED LIFE INSURANCE?

GETTING THE MOST OUT OF LIFE
A leaflet pointing out the great advantages of life insurance as furnishing a relief from the worry of duty possibly unfulfilled and a thorough knowledge that the breadwinner's loved ones will not suffer in case of his premature death. Prices, sample copy, 15 cents; 50 copies, $2.75; 100 copies, $5; 500 copies, $20; 1,000 copies, $35; 5,000 copies, $140; 10,000 copies, $265.

GIVING THE BOY A CHANCE
A leaflet that makes a strong plea to parents in behalf of the future welfare of their sons. Shows logically and effectively, facts in figures that education counts as a factor in success and urges that provision be made to insure success in a business or profession. Prices: Sample copy, 15 cents; 50 copies, $4.50; 100 copies, $8.00; 500 copies, $32.00; 1,000 copies, $55.00; 5,000 copies, $220.00; 10,000 copies, $380.00.

HOW MUCH LIFE INSURANCE SHOULD A FARMER CARRY?
This leaflet gives the farmer who keeps putting off taking life insurance, or who thinks that a $1,000 or $2,000 policy is enough insurance for him to have, something to think about. It wakes him up. If you doubt this, just try it on your farmer prospects. Prices, sample copy, 10 cents; 50 copies, $4.00; 100 copies, $7.00; 500 copies, $28.00; 1,000 copies, $45.00; 5,000 copies, $180.00; 10,000 copies, $335.00.

MOTHER AND SON
Portrays graphically a son's practical method of expressing his affection and gratitude to his Mother by providing for her future in case of his premature death. The leaflet is strikingly illustrated by a photographic reproduction of a young man presenting a life insurance policy to his Mother. Prices: Sample copy, 10 cents; 50 copies, $2.50; 100 copies, $4.50; 500 copies, $18.00; 1,000 copies, $30.00; 5,000 copies, $120.00; 10,000 copies, $225.00.

NOT JUST NOW
This leaflet combats in forceful fashion this evasive answer so often given the agent. It is the story of the sufferings of a frail little woman whose protector had repeatedly put off the agent with Not Just Now, until it was too late. This leaflet is suitable for most prospects and is a good closing appeal. Prices, 50 copies, $4.75; 100 copies, $8.00; 500 copies, $35.00; 1,000 copies, $60.00; 5,000 copies, $240.00; 10,000 copies, $450.00.

ONE BUSINESS MAN'S EXPERIENCE WITH LIFE INSURANCE
This is a most fascinating story of how life insurance gave a young man his first start and later on saved the large business he had established. Every man who really is anxious to make the most of his opportunities should read this leaflet. Prices, sample copy, 15 cents; 50 copies, $4.75; 100 copies, $8.00; 500 copies, $35.00; 1,000 copies, $60.00; 5,000 copies, $240.00; 10,000 copies, $450.00.

ONE DOCTOR'S EXPERIENCE WITH ENDOWMENT INSURANCE

This interesting and instructive leaflet relates the experience of one doctor who learned early in life that life insurance, particularly the endowment plan, is the only really suitable investment for one of his profession. He admits that doctors are "easy marks" for promoters and explains why they are. This is a wonderful leaflet to use among physicians, dentists and those of every other branch of the medical profession and also among lawyers and other professional men. Prices, sample copy, 10 cents; 50 copies, $4.75; 100 copies, $8.00; 500 copies, $35.00; 1,000 copies, $60.00; 5,000 copies, $240.00; 10,000 copies, $450.00.

ONE FARMER'S EXPERIENCE WITH LIFE INSURANCE

The thousands of agents who have been using this leaflet for years will testify to its great value to the agent whose work is among the farmers. It is the experience of one farmer and shows what life insurance had done for him as well as for some of his neighbors. Then this farmer cites other cases showing what hardships had been suffered by the families of other farmers who had put off life insurance until it was too late. This leaflet is one of the strongest appeals to the farmer ever written. Prices, sample copy, 10 cents; 50 copies, $4.00; 100 copies, $7.00; 500 copies, $28.00; 1,000 copies, $45.00; 5,000 copies, $180.00; 10,000 copies, $335.00.

ONE SALARIED MAN'S EXPERIENCE WITH LIFE INSURANCE

There has been great need for this sort of leaflet for salaried men; one that would say just the right thing and say it in the right way. Here it is. It is instructive as well as entertaining to the salaried man and is a business getter for the agent who will use it among his salaried prospects. Prices, 50 copies, $4.75; 100 copies, $8.00; 500 copies, $35.00; 1,000 copies, $60.00; 5,000 copies, $240.00; 10,000 copies, $450.00.

ONE SELF-SUPPORTING WOMAN AND HER LIFE INSURANCE

Describes vividly the personal experience of one woman who learned the value of life insurance. The liberal distribution of this leaflet among the great army of well-paid women is certain to bring results to the agent who will follow them up properly. Prices, sample copy, 15 cents; 50 copies, $4.75; 100 copies, $8.00; 500 copies, $35.00; 1,000 copies, $60.00; 5,000 copies, $240.00; 10,000 copies, $450.00.

ONE YOUNG MAN'S EXPERIENCE WITH LIFE INSURANCE

It is doubtful if there ever has been written anything on life insurance that has made a deeper impression on the young man. Many agents have been using this leaflet for years and with most gratifying results. Prices, sample copy, 10 cents; 50 copies, $4.00; 100 copies, $7.00; 500 copies, $28.00; 1,000 copies, $45.00; 5,000 copies, $180.00; 10,000 copies, $335.00.

PARTNERS AND LIFE INSURANCE

Shows in a forceful manner the value of life insurance to business partners and their families; also to a one-man business. It is as suitable for use among small storekeepers as among the largest merchants. The agent who will use this leaflet will not be disappointed. Prices, sample copy, 10 cents; 50 copies, $2.75; 100 copies, $5.00; 500 copies, $20.00; 1,000 copies, $35.00; 5,000 copies, $140.00; 10,000 copies, $265.00.

REAL REASONS FOR LIFE INSURANCE

Showing in short, terse paragraphs the many uses for life insurance. The insured who believes he has all the life insurance he needs is very likely, after reading this leaflet, to realize that he is very much under-insured. Prices, sample copy, 10 cents; 50 copies, $4.00; 100 copies, $7.00; 500 copies, $28.00; 1,000 copies, $45.00; 5,000 copies, $180.00; 10,000 copies, $335.00.

SATISFACTION OF KNOWING, THE,

A short graphical leaflet bringing out the value of a monthly income policy. (In Press.)

SENSE OF SELF PRESERVATION, THE

A leaflet laying stress upon the importance of taking out life insurance while one's health is in first class condition. Prices, sample copy, 15 cents; 50 copies, $3.50; 100 copies, $6.00; 500 copies, $25.00; 1,000 copies, $40.00; 5,000 copies, $160.00; 10,000 copies, $300.00.

SOME DON'TS OF LIFE

An effective array of arguments in favor of life insurance protcetion. The briefness and directness of each "Don't" makes this an excellent piece of life insurance propaganda. Prices, sample copy, 10 cents; 50 copies, $2.50; 100 copies, $4.50; 500 copies, $18.00; 1,000 copies, $30.00; 5,000 copies, $120.00; 10,000 copies, $225.00.

WIFE'S INSURANCE, THE

It is well known that the average man when left without means and with a family of young children to care for, is quite as helpless as would be the mother herself. This leaflet makes it clear that the wife also should have some insurance for her children. As an example of what this leaflet will do, a certain agent sent a copy to each of his policyholders in one little corner of a farming county and a few days later began following them up. He wrote $51,000 in one month on the wives of these policyholders. Prices, sample copy, 10 cents; 50 copies, $2.50; 100 copies, $4.50; 500 copies, $18.00; 1,000 copies, $30.00; 5,000 copies, $120.00; 10,000 copies, $225.00.

LEAFLET FOR MONTHLY INCOME PROSPECTS

A LOT OF MONEY

To those who may not fully appreciate the value of a small monthly income to their families, this leaflet should be given. It has been the means of agents securing many applications for monthly income insurance. Prices, sample copy, 10 cents; 50 copies, $3.50; 100 copies, $6.00; 500 copies, $25.00; 1,000 copies, $40.00; 5,000 copies, $160.00; 10,000 copies, $300.00.

INSURING YOUR INSURANCE

This is for the larger insurer and explains why the proceeds of life insurance should be left with and distributed by the insurance company rather than by a trust company. This is a valuable leaflet in all such cases. Prices, 50 copies, $4.50; 100 copies, $7.50; 500 copies, $30.00; 1,000 copies, $50.00; 5,000 copies, $200.00; 10,000 copies, $375.00.

JOHN APPLEGATE'S INSURANCE
If every man could have the problem of providing for his wife and children after his death as clearly brought home to him as it was to John Applegate, there would be much more monthly income life insurance written. Every life insurance company and agent will find it serviceable in convincing prospects of the desirability of income insurance. Prices: Sample copy, 10 cents; 50 copies, $2.50; 100 copies, $4.50; 500 copies, $18.00; 1,000 copies, $30.00; 5,000 copies, $120.00; 10,000 copies. $225.00.

ONE WOMAN'S EXPERIENCE WITH A MONTHLY INCOME
This interesting story relates the experience of a woman who was left a comfortable fortune and a $50 monthly income. The latter she regarded only as "pin money" but finally it was her all. This is a most instructive and convincing leaflet on monthly income insurance. Prices, sample copy, 15 cents; 50 copies, $4.75; 100 copies, $8.00; 500 copies, $35.00; 1,000 copies, $60.00; 5,000 copies, $240.00; 10,000 copies, $450 00.

OUT OF THE MOUTHS OF BABES
An impressive story of how a little child "opened Daddy's eyes to the necessity of an income for Mamma." Try this with your monthly income prospects. Prices, sample copy, 10 cents; 50 copies, $2.75; 100 copies, $5.00; 500 copies, $20.00; 1,000 copies, $35.00; 5,000 copies, $140.00; 10,000 copies, $265.00.

SAVING WHAT YOU LEAVE
A six-page folder showing in brief, pungent sentences the necessity of leaving a fixed monthly income for dependents. The proper use of this folder has resulted in many applications for large amounts. Prices, sample copy, 10 cents; 50 copies, $2.50, 100 copies, $4.50; 500 copies, $18.00; 1,000 copies, $30.00; 5,000 copies, $120.00; 10,000 copies. $225.00.

WHEN SUCCESS IS A FAILURE
In this effective leaflet are set forth the pitiable circumstances in which several inexperienced women formerly having had reasonably successful husbands are now situated because of their being left outright sums in cash, instead of having been provided with regular monthly incomes by means of life insurance. Prices sample copy, 10 cents; 50 copies, $2.75; 100 copies, $5; 500 copies, $20; 1000 copies, $35; 5000 copies, $140; 10,000 copies, $255.

LEAFLETS FOR THE INSTRUCTION OF THE AGENT

A GREAT FUTURE
Showing in a most forceful and interesting manner the advantages of life insurance salesmanship as a business. No Home Office or General Agency is fully equipped to deal with prospective agents or to properly impress agents already in the field with all the advantages of their chosen business without a supply of this booklet. Any agency man who will take the time to carefully study this booklet will readily understand why it should be an agent getter, a time saver and money maker for his office. Prices, sample copy, 20 cents; 50 copies, $8.50; 100 copies, $15.00; 500 copies, $60.00; 1,000 copies, $100.00; 5,000 copies, $400.00; 10,000 copies, $750.00.

CHARLIE FERRELL'S DEAD BOOK
Points out advantage of keeping records of prospects who have died after postponing taking of life insurance. Such a list is very useful as canvassing document. Prices, sample copy, 15 cents; 50 copies, $5.00; 100 copies, $9.00; 500 copies, $37.50; 1,000 copies, $65; 5,000 copies, $260; 10,000 copies, $475.

METHODS THAT WIN SUCCESS
Three stories from actual experience, either one of which should be worth to any agent many times the cost of all three. Price, sample copy, 10 cents; 50 copies, $4.50; 100 copies, $8; 500 copies, $35; 1,000 copies, $60; 5,000 copies, $240; 10,000 copies, $450.

SERVICE AND ITS REWARD

STORY OF ED REDLICH, THE
The company that has not put this story in the hands of its agents should do so. It describes in detail the methods used, not by one of the few phenomenal writers, but by a successful average life insurance solicitor. Every agent and every agent's life should have the opportunity to read The Story of Ed Redlich. Price, sample copy, 10 cents; 50 copies, $4.50; 100 copies, $7.50; 500 copies, $30; 1,000 copies, $50; 5,000 copies, $200; 10,000 copies, $375.

CONSERVATION LEAFLETS TO REDUCE LAPSATION

AT THE END OF THE ROAD
Makes a profound impression upon the reader. It proves by those who watch at the bedside of the dying that a man's last thoughts are not of himself but of his family. GIVING YOURSELF A CHANCE

There is no excuse offered which is more familiar to the agent than is expressed in these words, "I can't afford it." Giving Yourself A Chance opposes this excuse perhaps more effectually than anything ever before written on the subject and hundreds of thousands of this small publication are being used for this purpose. Prices, sample copy, 10 cents; 50 copies, $2.50; 100 copies, $4.50; 500 copies, $18; 1,000 copies, $30; 5,000 copies, $120; 10,000 copies, $225.

HOW HOPES ARE SHATTERED

A new leaflet designed for enclosure with premium notices to prevent the lapsation of a policy. Several touching instances are given where the lapse of a policy has meant great hardship to the dependents of the assured. Price, sample copy, 15 cents; 50 copies, $3.50; 100 copies, $6; 500 copies, $25; 1,000 copies, $40; 5,000 copies, $160; 10,000 copies, $300.

WIDOWS AWAKENING, A

A folder impressively portraying the sad awakening of a widow to the fact that the policy she though was in force had been lapsed. Designed for inclosure with premium notices to prevent lapsation. Prices, sample copy, 10 cents; 50 copies, $2.25; 100 copies, $4.00; 500 copies, $15; 1000 copies, $25; 5,000 copies, $100; 10,000 copies, $185.

WHY WE DON'T LIVE FOREVER

It is not necessary here to more than mention this well-known folder for the keeping of business in force, and of which millions of copies go out with premium notices. It is also effectively used by many agents in soliciting. Prices, sample copy, 10 cents; 50 copies, $2.25; 100 copies, $4.00; 500 copies, $15.00; 1,000 copies, $25.00; 5,000 copies, $100.00; 10,000 copies, $185.00.

CONSERVATION LEAFLETS TO REDUCE LOANS

BORROWING FROM MARY

While this is not a canvassing leaflet, it should be read over and over again by the agent, as well as by every policyholder. The purpose of the leaflet is to discourage a policyholder from borrowing on his insurance and also to induce him to repay any loan he may previously have made. Hundreds of thousands of this leaflet are sent out by companies to their borrowers and policyholders and with surprising results. Prices, sample copy, 10 cents; 50 copies, $2.50; 100 copies, $4.50; 500 copies, $18.00; 1,000 copies, $30.00; 5,000 copies, $120.00; 10,000 copies, $225.00.

BORROWING ON YOUR LIFE INSURANCE

A new leaflet pointing out the fallacy of making a loan on a life insurance policy. An excellent leaflet for use to discourage applicants for a loan and for enclosing with premium notices. Prices: sample copy, 10 cents; 50 copies, $2.50; 100 copies, $4.50; 500 copies, $18.00; 1,000 copies, $30; 5,000 copies, $120; 10,000 copies, $225.

HAVE YOU A LOAN ON YOUR LIFE INSURANCE?

This leaflet points out the great abuse of the loan privilege by policyholders, showing it to be detrimental to the interests of the insured, the beneficiary and the cause of life insurance generally. This leaflet will assist a company in collecting policy loans outstanding and as the author well says "Life Insurance is too vital and too holy a thing to be pawned or hocked, as though it were some common chattel." Prices: Sample copy, 10 cents; 50 copies, $2.50; 100 copies, $4.50; 500 copies, $18.00; 1,000 copies, $30.00; 5,000 copies, $120.00; 10,000 copies, $225.00.

CLEVELAND'S LAST MESSAGE: LIFE INSURANCE AND ITS RELATIONSHIP TO OUR

People. Written especially for THE SPECTATOR by the late Grover Cleveland, ex-President of the United States. Mr. Cleveland says that American life insurance "stands before the country in a stronger position to-day than ever before," and that to avail of the protection of life insurance "is but to discharge a duty imperatively suggested by intelligent foresight and wise precaution." Published in 1908. Price, per copy, 10 cents; 100 copies, $4.00.

CONFIDENTIAL NOTES

This is a striking leaflet with a cover of solid green in fac-simile of a memorandum or note book. The reading matter depicts an interview with a supposedly rich man showing that he wanted $25.000 of life insurance, but was too busy to close just then. A subsequent notation shows three days later Mr. Brown was killed by an automobile and his supposed wealth was all "on paper." An excellent leaflet for closing prospects. Prices: Sample copy, 10 cents; 50 copies, $2.75; 100 copies, $5.00; 500 copies, $20.00; 1,000 copies, $35.00; 5,000 copies, $140.00; 10,000 copies, $265.00.

Foreword

Stanford University Press greets the growing number of readers to whom its books have gone in the past year. The present catalogue represents its progress thus far in its purpose—to make good books, worthy of the University whose imprint they bear. The interests of the Press are as varied as those of the University; its offerings range from an informal narrative of the national parks to an edition of Boswell's essays; from the Russian famine to ichthyological studies. It is in part through these volumes that the voice of Stanford reaches beyond the campus, beyond the state, beyond the nation, as human knowledge outruns geography.

When thirteen university presses joined hands last spring in the publication of a joint catalogue, Christopher Morley was persuaded to write the introduction. His words apply as well to this 1928 catalogue of Stanford Books:

"It was long a sadness of mine that the general republic of readers should hear so little of the thrilling books being published by the learned print-shops. Why, I have often ejaculated, should the Professors have all the fun? . . . . It is true that university press books are occasionally (and unavoidably) expensive; yet there is an appetite for these things that is greater than one might imagine. There is an enormous eagerness of questioning in the air, and it is no longer necessary for a university press to publish its works almost as surreptitiously as The President's Daughter . . . .

"Those who manage university presses lead the happiest lives, I imagine, for they are little hampered by mean consideration. Better than most they play their part in the long work of collating human knowledge and human surmise. The books they issue were written, edited, printed, bound, with small thought for anything but honest human wit. Now, perhaps more clearly than before, these presses have felt that it is also a part of their job to try to let more people hear about the things they have to offer. Their books push off from the wharf and cry, Shelfward Ho!"

ART PRINCIPLES IN HOUSE, FURNITURE, AND VILLAGE BUILDING

By Arthur Bridgman Clark

A sympathetic non-technical guide for the home planner, builder, or teacher of graphic art. With generous explanatory illustration throughout, the author emphasizes the all-importance of basic harmony of design and fitness of design to size, location, and grounds. Furniture design is also considered, as are city planning and the development of new residential sections. The material used is purposely familiar to the extent that it becomes comprehensible to everyone.

1921. Illustrated. Postpaid, $3.50

THE CLASSIC MUSIC OF ARABIA AND SPAIN

By Julian Ribera, translated by Eleanor Hague and Marion Leffingwell

Histories of music have heretofore left something of a hiatus in our knowledge of the art between the classical period and the age of the troubadours. This translation of Julian Ribera's work supplies much of the wanting material. It includes information upon medieval musical development gleaned from thirteenth-century manuscripts set aside by earlier scholars as unintelligible. There is revealed Spain's anticipation of the rest of Europe in achieving a high degree of musical excellence through development of early Arabian, Moorish, Byzantine, and Persian music.

LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTURE: A Series of Letters

By Stephen Child

Twelve typical problems, calling forth a clear interpretation of the ideals of landscape planning, are discussed by the author in a series of letters, addressed by the landscape architect to his mythical client. A proper and harmonious treatment for home grounds, gardens, neighborhoods, hotel grounds, and village and city improvement and design are suggested, with clear and concise explanatory cuts and drawings. The type problems are set forth in logical order, free from technicalities, with solutions based on the fundamental principles of scientific landscaping.

NATURAL CONDUCT

By Edwin B. Copeland

In the determination of those choices which man in his freedom must exercise, Dr. Copeland resorts to the systems of nature and the revelations of modern biology. He ignores in his treatment conventional metaphysical analyses, theological inheritances, and exaltations of tradition and taboo. The conclusions are a striking commentary on Emerson's dictum, "Hitch your wagon to a star!" in its original significance, that of the essential oneness of utility and righteousness.

"OH, RANGER!" A Book about the National Parks

By Horace M. Albright and Frank J. Taylor

Two men who for years have been in close contact with the national park service have here written its first complete record. They have gathered together both the written and the unwritten lore of the parks and have woven into this material the adventures of the rangers, dudes, and sagebrushers. Stories about the beginnings of the service, about the scenic attractions offered by the parks, about bears, Indians, fishing, trail clubs—everything pertaining to these national vacation areas is included. Generously illustrated with full-page photographs and humorous pen sketches by Ruth Taylor White.

*THE GENERA OF FISHES

These volumes constitute a definite contribution to the stability of scientific nomenclature. The science of ichthyology, to which the present series of papers offer a key, is the work of many scholars, each in his own field, each contributing a series of facts, a series of tests of the work of others, or else some improvement in the method of arrangement. In so far as these papers assume to decide questions of nomenclature, they follow strictly the rules agreed upon by the International Commission. The most vital of these is concerned with the rigid enforcement of the law of priority.

ILLUSTRATED FLORA OF THE PACIFIC STATES

BY LEROY ABRAMS

The aim of this work is to furnish an authentic reference book that will be of greatest service not only to the trained botanist but to everyone interested in the native plant life of the Pacific States. Every species of fern, flower, tree, and shrub known to grow wild in the Pacific States is illustrated and described. In the preparation of the illustrations, drawings have been made either from fresh material or from herbarium specimens, and under the direct supervision of the author or the special contributor.

PERSONAL HYGIENE FOR WOMEN

By Clelia Duel Mosher

"Being a woman is no reason for not being perfectly well." With this line of reasoning as her theme, Dr. Mosher builds her health suggestions around the idea that women have the ability to do efficient work at all times. She combats the age-old tradition of feminine incapacity with well-tried measures of relief, and offers to the public the practical results of years spent as medical adviser to women at Stanford University. In the opinion of Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association, "It is the best brief book of advice for women ever written. Its pages," he says, "will answer ninety per cent of the questions asked by the average woman in regard to her health." The book is a model in its avoidance of complex and highly technical medical terms.

*A STATISTICAL STUDY OF THREE THOUSAND AUTOPSIES

By William Ophüls

A careful survey of post-mortem examinations made by Dr. Ophüls, dean of the Stanford Medical School, and his associates during the years 1900 to 1923. Most of these autopsies were performed at the Stanford Hospital or the Municipal Hospital of San Francisco.

Findings of this survey are of immediate significance in considering the death-rate and relative frequency of various diseases and abnormalities. This study considers complete autopsies only. The patients represent nearly every group of society.

*THE STATUS OF HYGIENE PROGRAMS IN INSTITUTIONS OF HIGHER EDUCATION IN THE UNITED STATES

By Thomas A. Storey

This report is based upon an appraisal of hygiene programs maintained in 422 American institutions of higher education. Of all the agencies engaged in combating health ignorance, Dr. Storey finds the combined physical education and hygiene programs of these institutions by far the most powerful. More or less united upon common ideals, they may realize common purposes in health education.

JAMES BOSWELL'S "THE HYPOCHONDRIACK"

Margery Bailey, Editor

The London Magazine for the years 1777–1783 carried a series of anonymous articles under the title of "The Hypochondriack." These articles, edited with notes and a critical introduction by Dr. Margery Bailey, provide the material for these volumes. Boswell, the author of the series, is revealed herein as a character infinitely less trivial than previous writers and critics would have us believe. The book gives us many new glimpses of his great master, Dr. Johnson, as well as a kaleidoscopic cross-section of the late eighteenth-century London life in which he moved.

The Hypochondriack is printed in Caslon Old Face type with tied letters, on a high grade of antique laid paper. The binding is black silk-finish cloth, silver stamped, to convey as nearly as possible the flavor of the original.

1928. Two volumes, boxed. Postpaid, $15.00

*LIFE AND TIMES OF APOLLONIUS OF TYANA

Rendered into English, from the Greek of Philostratus, the Elder, by Charles P. Eells

The pungent biography of one of the most absorbing Greek philosophers of the early Christian era. A follower of the austere philosophy of the Pythagorean school, Apollonius traveled the length and breadth of the known world during the first century A.D., spreading his beliefs through the example of his own strictly-lived life. This story is the most striking and comprehensive presentation of the daily life of this period that has come down to us.

*MUCH ADO ABOUT NOTHING

PARALLEL-PASSAGE EDITION, EDITED BY ALPHONSO GERALD NEWCOMER, LATE PROFESSOR OF ENGLISH, STANFORD UNIVERSITY; COMPLETED BY HENRY DAVID GRAY

In an attempt to clear up early obscurities and the precise determination of shades of meaning in the works of Shakespeare, the late Professor A. G. Newcomer of Stanford University began this parallel-passage edition of the less understood plays. The work on the first play being cut short by Dr. Newcomer's death, Professor H. D. Gray has completed this section of the proposed study.

ONE WORD MORE ON BROWNING

BY FRANCES THERESA RUSSELL

With the passage of a quarter of a century since the end of the Victorian era the growth of a proper perspective has demanded a definite reappraisal of some of its most familiar figures. In the light of the newer and stricter standards of criticism Browning is re-evaluated. Mrs. Russell has enumerated the lasting qualities of the man and his work in this series of stimulating essays.

"A collection of spirited and scholarly essays whose connecting links make them an excellent guide-book for the intelligent reading and study of Browning. The bibliography attached to this book would in itself make it indispensable to the student."—Saturday Review of Literature.

THE WAY: Christ and Evolution

By Princess Eleanor (Calhoun) Lazarovich-Hrebelianovich, with a foreword by David Starr Jordan

A study in play form of the bearings of scientific discovery on the interpretation of Christ: a theory of life submitted as a basis of organized human development. The author would have science and religion combined as running-mates in the development of humanity. Her drama is an appeal for the eventual friendly union of these two civilizing forces.

*STANFORD SPANISH SERIES

Aurelio M. Espinosa, General Editor

A series of low-priced, carefully-edited school texts dealing for the most part with contemporary Spanish and Spanish-American literature, though containing some selections from the classic period. They are prepared, written, and edited by men whose classroom teaching experience has made them familiar with effective methods of subject presentation. This series offers to teachers the opportunity of creating in the student an interest in Spanish literature at the same time that they are mastering the details of the language.

LECCIONES DE LITERATURA ESPAÑOLA

By Aurelio M. Espinosa

This first book of the series, by Professor Espinosa, gives an introduction to the great literature and writers of Spain and at the same time provides reading practice for upper high-school and first-year college classes. An attempt is made in the book to present the main facts of Spanish literary history and the works of the great masters in direct relation to political history and general cultural development. Contains thirty Lecciones with questionnaires and an adequate vocabulary.

1927. Illustrated. Cloth, postpaid, $1.40

A BRIEF ANTHOLOGY OF MEXICAN VERSE

By S. L. Millard Rosenberg and E. H. Templin

A selection of Mexican lyrics intended to introduce to the American student a field of Spanish-American letters that has so far had but scant attention in American textbooks. The poets considered begin with Francisco de Terrazas, the first native poet of Mexico, mentioned by Cervantes in his Canto de Calíope. From Terrazas the list runs with a representative inclusiveness down to Rafael Lopez of the modern period. Among the marked advantages of this Spanish-American study is the fact that it brings the student into contact with the literature of a neighboring nation, more or less familiar to him.

1928. Illustrated. Cloth, postpaid, $1.50

A BRIEF ANTHOLOGY OF MEXICAN PROSE

By S. L. Millard Rosenberg and E. H. Templin

The third book of the Stanford Spanish Series also concerns itself with Mexican literature. The body of the text matter is composed of extracts from the work of the outstanding prose writers of Mexico. Arrangement of the extracts is chronological, beginning with names from the earliest days of Mexican literary history and continuing through to the modern period. The section devoted to each author is preceded by a short biographical sketch and an estimate of the contribution which his work makes to the whole of Mexico's literature. Edited with notes and vocabulary.

It will be prepared with introduction, notes, and vocabulary, and a set of direct-method exercises. [In preparation]

STANFORD SPANISH TESTS

BY AURELIO M. ESPINOSA AND TRUMAN L. KELLEY

These tests have been prepared as measures of general achievement in high schools and colleges. The objective character of the tests, their validity, and their reliability have been worked out carefully after much experimentation. They offer to teachers of Spanish accurate measures of achievement in Spanish grammar, vocabulary, and reading. They may be used either as placement tests at the beginning of any school term or as general measures of actual achievement at the end of the term. To this end the tests are prepared in two alternative forms, A and B, each form containing three parts, covering Grammar, Vocabulary, and Paragraph Meaning. Reliability results have been most gratifying, the reliability of a single grade being uniformly high (.90) throughout the high school and the university.

The tests are sold in package lots only, at the following prices:

25 copies of a single test, complete $0.80
25 copies of three tests, Form A or Form B $2.25

*CUENTOS POPULARES ESPAÑOLES

BY AURELIO M. ESPINOSA

The most important and abundant single collection of Spanish folk-tales ever published, the three volumes containing 280 popular tales collected by the author in Spain in 1920. This was done under the auspices of the American Folklore Society and the Junta para Ampliacion de Estudios of the University of Madrid. The collection contains tales from all parts of Spain, all printed in the original dialectic versions as recited by the people.

Volumes I–III of the collection give the texts of the tales in their various versions. A comparative study of the materials, now in preparation, will be published as Volume IV.

*ANALYTICAL PRINCIPLES OF THE PRODUCTION OF OIL, GAS, AND WATER FROM WELLS

By Stanley C. Herold

"This volume represents the first attempt to state the fundamental laws governing fluid delivery from oil and gas wells, and it will prove to be the foundation for further advances of knowledge.

"The problems of mutual interference of wells, spacing of wells, recovery of oil and gas drainage of a pool by a well or a group of wells, and other important problems that have confronted the industry, the judiciary, and the government can only be solved by the application of the theory expounded in this treatise."—C. *CROSSROADS IN THE MIND OF MAN: A Study of Differentiable Mental Abilities

By Truman L. Kelley

This study is an experimental attempt to determine what mental traits present throughout life act independently of one another. Dr. Kelley's chief concern is with the establishment of a technique for testing the agreement of any postulation of independent mental traits with observed facts.

The determination of these traits, of their laws of functioning, and of adult activities demanding them should, for the sake of eugenics, be a prenuptial concern; should, for efficient nurture, be a matter for continual note in the rearing of the individual; should, for social efficiency, be a determining influence in the choice of a vocation.

EDUCATION FOR WORLD-CITIZENSHIP

By William G. Carr

In the belief that local citizenship is no longer adequate to meet the needs of modern living, the author presents this book as a means of introducing training for a larger usefulness. These means take the form of an organization and a presentation of the aims, methods, and subject-matter of training for world-citizenship as an addition to the aims, methods, and subject-matter of purely local or national civic training.

It includes a logical extension of the program of civic training already in effect to include the wider aspects of citizenship. This proposed program would have as its object the promotion of a sympathetic, peaceful co-operation among all peoples, based on democracy.

*THE JUNIOR COLLEGE: Its Organization and Administration

By William M. Proctor and Others

Eleven men, each in close touch with the junior college movement, tell in this book what they know of the subject, unfavorable as well as favorable. It presents an inside view of the junior college in actual operation. In a single volume a variety of topics are discussed as affecting various types of junior colleges—city, large rural, small union, teacher's college, etc. It answers concisely and definitely questions of the functions, purposes, and organization of the junior college, and develops the relation of the college to the state, the student, the high school, and the university. In the words of the Sierra Educational News, it is a study "of real importance to the educational world."

*GENETIC STUDIES OF GENIUS

Lewis M. Terman, Editor

Under the series title Genetic Studies of Genius are presented the results of a continuing scientific study of the origin of genius, its natural development, and the environmental influences which may affect it. The study, one of the most comprehensive ever attempted, is being carried on at Stanford under the leadership of Dr. Lewis M. Terman. The value of the work lies not alone in the conclusions reached, but also in the opening of what may be declared practically a virgin field of research. The workers aim to establish means whereby unusual ability may be recognized in the child and, once recognized, developed to its highest point of usefulness both to the individual and to the world.

VOL. I. MENTAL AND PHYSICAL TRAITS OF A THOUSAND GIFTED CHILDREN

BY LEWIS M. TERMAN AND OTHERS

The first volume of the series is concerned primarily with the nature of genius, in so far as this is indicated by the mental and physical traits of intellectually superior children. The particular purpose has been to determine in what respects the typical gifted child differs from the typical child of average mentality.

The work is based on an exhaustive study of 1,400 school children, each ranking well within the top 1 per cent of the unselected school population. Over a period of years data were collected covering the mental and physical equipment, tastes, and habits of the group tested.

"The report brings out points of great interest in psychologic, biologic, and educational fields, and should be read and studied by all who are interested in such problems."—Journal of the American Medical Association.

VOL. II. EARLY MENTAL TRAITS OF THREE HUNDRED GENIUSES

BY CATHARINE MORRIS COX

Early Mental Traits of Three Hundred Geniuses aims at characterizing, with respect to certain mental traits, a group of youths who later became eminent. The study was based on historical records of the childhood and youth of 301 of the world's most eminent men and women living in the period 1450–1850.

The characteristics and native abilities which marked these youths for future greatness are here examined and evaluated. The group studied is so representative that conclusions must hold true for geniuses in general, while no work dealing with the early years of such divergent figures as Napoleon and Pasteur, Lincoln and Mozart, can lack interest and vitality. This study of the traits of genius should prove of inestimable value to those responsible for the welfare of children.

STANFORD EDUCATIONAL APTITUDES TEST

By Milton B. Jensen

The Stanford Educational Aptitudes Test is a comparative measure of special ability in the individual for teaching, for research work in education, or for school administration. It offers reliable estimates of the field or fields in education in which one may reasonably expect to do his best work. Its aim is that of a guide both to the student and to the teacher-training institution.

VOCATIONAL INTEREST BLANK

By Edward K. Strong, Jr.

"Men engaged in a particular profession have a characteristic set of likes and dislikes which distinguish them from men in other professions." These interests, which are not materially altered by technical training and professional experience, are measured and established by this blank. Scoring scales are now ready for lawyers, certified public accountants, advertising men, ministers, architects, psychologists, chemists, journalists, school teachers, and engineers. Several others are in preparation.

*HISTORY OF THE ORIGIN AND ESTABLISHMENT OF THE INQUISITION IN PORTUGAL, BY ALEXANDRE HERCULANO

Translated by John C. Branner

Dr. Branner's translation of Herculano's book gives the English language not only the history of a particular epoch in Portugal's past, but a worthy addition to the literature of tolerance. The text is not only historically exact but achieves as well the characteristic fluid literary style of the translator.

*LAW AND PROCEDURE OF INTERNATIONAL TRIBUNALS

By Judge Jackson H. Ralston

Here is a résumé of the decisions of arbitrators of the past century on questions arising under the law of nations, providing a handbook of international law, the only English work of its kind. The convenience of the work for quick reference, its authority as a critical digest, and its unique quality recommend it to all who are concerned with affairs beyond their own national boundaries.

ON THE TRAIL OF THE RUSSIAN FAMINE

By Frank A. Golder and Lincoln Hutchinson

This book gives us a truthful and simply told narrative of events and conditions during the Russian famine years of 1921–1923. Devoid of one-sided political or social considerations, it is a clear-cut story of a starving Russia during the early years of her readjustment, and of America's part in relieving her stricken people. The authors were American Relief Administration investigators, both unbiased students of Russian history and institutions. "No one interested in the changes that are going on today in Russia can afford to neglect this volume."—New York Sun.

*THE POLITICAL CAREER OF STEPHEN MALLORY WHITE: A Study of Party Activities under the Convention System

By Edith Dobie

A record of the late Stephen M. White's career is significant not only as an account of the activities of a prominent party leader, but because it presents to us a representative cross-section of the larger political scene which was his background. This book is a study of representative and responsible party organization.

*FORMS AND SUGGESTIONS FOR CALIFORNIA PRACTICE

By William Brownlee Owens

This work occupies a unique place in the law library; it makes readily available the forms most frequently used in California practice, without blanks, exactly as they should be typed, thus giving the stenographer an accurate guide both as to substance and appearance of the forms. The 1928 edition is printed in two volumes for convenience in office use, on a high grade of bond paper. It embodies changes made in the code by the 1927 legislature. Each volume is tabbed for quick reference, and each carries a complete index.

Third (1928) edition. Two volumes. Postpaid, $30.00

Food Research Institute Publications

The Food Research Institute of Stanford University was established in 1921 jointly by the Carnegie Corporation of New York and the Trustees of Stanford University, for research in the production, distribution, and consumption of food. Directors: Carl Lucas Alsberg, Joseph Stancliffe Davis, Alonzo Englebert Taylor. Its special publications, orders for which will be accepted by the Stanford University Press, include Wheat Studies, Fats and Oils Studies, and "Miscellaneous Series."

WHEAT STUDIES

Wheat Studies are issued monthly, except in April and October, beginning with December 1924. Each annual volume contains a comprehensive review of the world wheat situation during the preceding crop year, three careful surveys of current developments, and six special studies bearing on the interpretation of the wheat situation and outlook, or upon important problems of national policy. Examples of special studies are Canada as a Producer and Exporter of Wheat (Vol. I, No. 8, July 1925), The Decline in Per Capita Consumption of Flour in the United States (Vol. II, No. 8, July 1926), and The McNary-Haugen Plan as Applied to Wheat (Vol. III, Nos. 4 and 5, February and March 1927). Subscriptions and bound volumes, $10.00; review numbers, $2.00; survey numbers, $1.00; special studies variously priced.

FATS AND OILS STUDIES

Fats and Oils Studies are issued irregularly, beginning in 1928, in the form of books and pamphlets of varying length. Individual studies ordinarily deal with particular fats or oils, which are numerous and to a high degree interchangeable in uses. Economic aspects are emphasized, but with due reference to technical knowledge. Published studies are The Fats and Oils: A General View, by Carl L. Alsberg and Alonzo E. Taylor, Copra and Coconut Oil, by Katharine Snodgrass, Inedible Animal Fats, by L. B. Zapoleon, and The McNary-Haugen Plan as Applied to Corn and Hogs, by Alonzo E. Taylor. Prices vary from $1.00 to $2.00.

MISCELLANEOUS SERIES

This series, issued irregularly, consists of books or pamphlets on miscellaneous subjects related to food production, distribution, or consumption. Examples are The American Baking Industry 1849–1923, as Shown in the Census Reports, by Hazel Kyrk and Joseph S. Davis, Combination in the American Bread-Baking Industry, with some Observations on the Mergers of 1924–25, by Carl L. Alsberg, and Farm Cost Studies in the United States: Their Development, Applications, and Limitations, by Merrill K. Bennett. Prices range from $1.50 to $3.50.

EXTRACT FROM "WE GO FOXHUNTING ABROAD"

(Privately printed)

By CHARLES D. LANIER, Sec'y and Treas. of the Review of Reviews

"In intervals of R. L. S., we read the galley proofs of Harry Worcester Smith's forthcoming book describing his sporting invasion of Westmeath, in Ireland, in 1912, when he took over his American hounds to hunt that country as Master—the only instance, I think, of the use of American hounds in the United Kingdom. He had thoughtfully sent us these advance proofs and they are worth mentioning because the very detailed and voluminous account of his Irish experiences form excellent instruction for any American foxhunter to hazard the Irish banks.

"The volume is always keenly enthusiastic and full of details useful to a sportsman, with now and then a story carrying the true Irish tang."

THE LOW COUNTRY SPEAKS

A Review of "Laguerre, a Gascon of the Black Border," "With Aesop Along the Black Border," "The Captain, Stories of the Black Border"

Hervey Allen, Co-Author of "Carolina Chansons," in The Saturday Review of Literature

The day when even the cultivated reading public confidently expected "The Great Comprehensive American Novel," which was to express the spirit of all these states, has probably passed along with other adolescent literary aspirations. Instead, and in spite of our ruthless standardization, America has wakened to herself by geographical sections. New England, The Hoosier County, and the various divisions of the West can now be dignified by author, book, and dialect. To these the development of the last half-decade has added another section, distinguished in cultural traditions and peculiar to itself ethnically and historically. This is the strip of territory stretching along the South Carolina sea-coast from Georgetown south of Beaufort, into Georgia, penetrating roughly a hundred miles inland, and known locally as the "Low Country." A section which Mr. Ambrose E. Gonzales of Columbia, S. C., whose books we are considering here, has aptly termed the "Black Border."

This romantic and unique section is now thoroughly vocal and awake to its literary possibilities. Some years ago Mr. Heyward and myself in the preface to our collaboration "Carolina Chansons" called attention to its inherent values. Since then, John Bennett writing from Charleston, has contributed his "Madame Margot," a legend of old Charleston, probably still the most colonial city in America; Julia Peterkin writing from Lang Syne Plantation near Columbia, S. C., has given us one of the best and most sympathetic studies of negro plantation life in a generation; Eola Willis has recently added her study of the "Charleston Stage in the 18th Century," replete with the facts and romance of the early American drama; DuBose Heyward in "Skylines and Horizons" has added worthily to his poetical interpretations of his native soil,—and Ambrose E. Gonzales in a series of four rapidly written books, "The Black Border," "The Captain," "With Aesop Along the Black Border," and "Laguerre, a Gascon of the Black Border" has reproduced the strange life of the Low Country with its peculiar and difficult Gullah dialect in a collection of pleasantly humorous stories of Negro characterizations, full of sympathy and pathos.

"Laguerre," the last of the series, may be taken as more or less typical of the others. "A gallant soldier of the Confederacy, formerly a wealthy Sea-Island cotton planter he (Laguerre) lived until about twenty years ago in a cottage on a war-ruined but once splendid plantation; planting a little, hunting now and then. . . . Educated in Paris before the war, and of distinguished Huguenot ancestry, he passionately loved France . . . and in his sensitive honor and courtly manners, and the great blond moustache and imperial worn à la Napoleon III, brought to Toogoodoo a touch of the second empire." Under the greenwood tree, the magnolia and the moss-draped live-oak, Laguerre set up his rural court, and as Justice of the Peace with a grand Gascon manner dispensed a lordly but withal kindly justice to the surrounding Negroes, finding in this compensation for the poverty and restrictions of his environment. The circumstances of the trials, conducted in Gullah, provided characters, jests, and plots for the author. And it is not straining a point to say that these are invariably whimsical, unexpected, and delightful.

"Aesop" and "The Captain" are also collections of short stories about the Negro, all written in the Gullah dialect of the Low Country, which is at once the joy and stumbling block of the reader. Gullah, probably a corruption of Angola, whence many of the Carolina Negroes were brought in the days of the slave-trader, is a pot-pourri of African, French, and English,—all of which have gone the way of least resistance in their reshaping on the thick and lazy lips of the blacks. It is a dialect in the true sense of the word, distinguished by a guttural-quacking sound, and the use of a flat "A." Yard, for instance, is pronounced like "Y" placed before "add." There are also many distinctive words.

Mr. Gonzales is peculiarly fitted to write of the Low Country and about its people in their own patois. He has long lived among them in intimate contact with both Blacks and Whites as editor and owner of The State, one of the few newspapers of his section that has fought consistently for better social, political, and literary standards, even when their upholding meant personal danger. His volumes are published by the State Company of Columbia, S. C., and are well printed, carefully proof-read, well bound, and furnished with attractive wrappers.

Even at this writing it is safe to say that Mr. Gonzales' books are next in order of literary succession to "Uncle Remus" in the plantation tradition and they seem destined to take a by no means dusty place upon the shelf of Americana.

THE BLACK BORDER'S HISTORIAN

HERSCHEL BRICKELL in the New York Evening Post Literary Review

To those who read Mr. Gonzales' delightful book a year or two ago, "The Black Border," the news that he has carried on the tradition to the extent of three more volumes will be most welcome. I know of no one living who can surpass this South Carolinian as a writer of Negro dialect, and he is master of a lingo that would stump any one but a born philologist.

The Negroes in his stories are Gullahs, Gullah probably being a corruption of Angola, whence the forebears of these blacks were brought to the Carolina and Georgia lowlands and the islands that lie off the coast of the two states. The Gullah speech is at once the chiefest charm of Mr. Gonzales' stories and the greatest barrier to their general enjoyment. It presents difficulties that may be surmounted, however, with a little patience and the copious use of the excellent glossary which is a part of "The Black Border."

Once the key is found, the way is open to the enjoyment of some of the most genuinely amusing stories that have ever been written of the Negro race in America. Mr. Gonzales writes mostly of other days when the plantation tradition had not been modified by the hard demands of a mechanistic civilization; he recreates with astonishing verisimilitude the life and times of the post Confederate war period.

When he is not using the Gullah dialect, a speech as rich in quaint turns and picturesque, racy, homely phrases as any I know, he gives us a prose as mellow, as gracious and as rich in color as the Southern autumns of which he writes so happily in "Laguerre."

In this book his central figure is a justice of the peace of Huguenot lineage, who likes nothing better than the sound of his own sonorous voice as he lays down his rough and ready law to the Negroes in his woodland court. Around this temple of justice, roofed over with the blue sky, and around the domestic and social difficulties of the Gullah folk under Laguerre's jurisdiction, Mr. Gonzales has woven one excellent story after another, amusing in no artificial way, but each a genuine study of character in a natural setting.

In "The Captain" are more tales of the Gullahs, in particular one connected story of the parceling of a large plantation among the Negroes which contains the detailed account of the building of a log cabin, a priceless bit of architectural lore. This story is an epic of man's battle with nature and his gradual victory, the fruits of which were lost in this case because the Negroes were lured away by the prospect of work in phosphate mines.

"With Aesop Along the Black Border" is made up of the familiar fables in the Gullah dialect, and very fresh they seem in their new garments. Here, as elsewhere, Mr. Gonzales displays a really amazing grasp of a strange patois, which he writes naturally and fluently.

The Black Border is indeed fortunate to have so fine a historian as Mr. Gonzales. These tales, which he tosses off with such apparent ease and with very evident pleasure to himself, will become in time invaluable records of a vanished period and a passing people.

ALL THE CRITICS ACCLAIM EOLA WILLIS'S PREMIERE

It is not often that a book so much needed comes so aptly and so satisfyingly to meet the distinct need as was the case with this work on "The Charleston Stage" by Miss Eola Willis.

As indicated by the full title—"The Charleston Stage in the XVIII Century, With Social Settings of the Time"—the book is not confined to telling the story of the Stage in Charleston for a crowded century of its course. Its writing, with all the tremendous and pains-taking labor of gathering and ordering its vast details, would have been fully justified, however, even had it been limited to the story of the Stage alone. For in this century were the true beginnings of our national theater, the period in which were laid the solid foundations for all the brilliant and brave achievements that have followed. This alone would make an engaging story—and this story is to be found fully and adequately narrated in Miss Willis's picturesque handling of her large "argument" and intricate scene.

But over and beyond this interest in the Stage, Miss Willis has told us much of the story of the community and port of Charleston and the Carolinian Colony. The "Social Settings of the Time" have been drawn with the eye and brush of the fine painter that she is. She has thus combined the technic of two arts to make her book on the Stage of Charleston in Charleston's most roaring and glowing century a work of enduring value as history and of lasting appeal as picture and story.

The reader gets new views and values of Charleston and the young Colony, working out their own destinies, almost cut off on a vast continent of wilderness, sundered in almost every respect from the Mother Country by the then "estranging sea." Here was rapidly developing—with of course, assistance and inspiration drawn from England and France and from wherever help and inspiration were to be found—a new art of the theater in a new environment and under the most alien conditions, as it seems to us of today, and making a marvelous success of the fine adventure.

This small but vivid colonial city, the capital of a British Province, had something of the importance and vital energy of a Greek colony of the days of Syracuse and Kerkura and Massilia, when the daughter carried to distant shores the best spirit, art, and energy of the Hellenic mother. Charleston was never a "small town," but, from its very beginnings, she was the germ of a large city-ideal, a capital and metropolis in embryo. There was not, therefore, that rawness and crassness of the frontier that would have been fatal to the founding of a Stage worthy the race of Congreve and Shakespere.

But, with the young energy and enterprise of her redundant source, Charleston built theaters, summoned from England and France actors and actresses of the greatest art and reputation to her "boards," and ambitiously essayed new plays and "First Nights" rivaling those of the London of her day.

Miss Willis dramatizes for us the Charleston of her prime, of this, her most brilliant era of art and, perhaps, of civilization at its most spirited hour. Her book may, therefore, be consulted by students of history and of the Stage, for the life of Charleston and kindred cities of the seaboard had tremendous influence upon the life of their hinterlands, in the region of the plantations and of the yet unborn States beyond, for here may be found, for that era, the customs and the manners that make States and communities not less than men.

The value of the book has been very greatly increased by the voluminous and meticulously prepared Index which makes it easy to refer to any incident, record, custom, character, or play that is mentioned in its pages. Attention has been paid in this Index to the value of the book as a true segment of the history of Charleston and of South Carolina.

The critics and reviewers have been very friendly to and appreciative of this work by Miss Willis. Most of them seized at once the chief value of the story of the Stage in Charleston—as history, as chronicle, as memoir. In the few extracts reproduced below from journals, and periodicals, one finds such expressions as:

"A monumental and serviceable volume," says The Outlook.

"A notable contribution to the history and literature not only of Charleston but of the American stage as well," writes The News and Courier of Charleston.

"This book," says Stark Young the well-known dramatic critic, is crowded with interesting contributions to the history of the American theater and with proud pieces of Charleston glory."

"Miss Willis," says the reviewer in the Theatre Arts Monthly, "has compiled an invaluable record of one of the earliest and most interesting theaters in this country."

"An immense amount of careful research work has gone into the making of this ample volume which offers a real contribution to the history of the stage in the United States . . . A source-book interesting alike to students of the earliest days of the American theater and delvers into the ever-alluring story of social manners and customs of the early decades of the country," comments The New York Times.

Cloth, 496 pages, illustrated. Price.....$2.00

Harman, H. E.

COLLECTED POEMS and THE WINDOW OF SOULS

The author has put into this book of verse the soul-work of ten years—the very joy of living. These poems were written in the idle moments of a very busy period, caught, as it were, from the spirit of inspiration that came unheralded, amid the almost incessant cares of a business career. The volume includes three stories under the general title, "The Window of Souls." Octavo, bound library style, 300 pages. Price.....$2.00

A BAR OF SONG—Poems

Bound in grey cloth with attractive cover design and numerous illustrations. Octavo, 124 pages. Price $1.50

Heyward, Jane Screven

BROWN JACKETS—Character Studies of the Carolina Coast Negro

These sketches of the Gullah Negro, a number of which have been given publicly in the author's readings, are not so much pieces of her own creative writing as they were a collaboration written out of the experiences of many friends, white and black. They carry no propaganda, unless it be the unconscious desire to present a sincere impression of the attitude existing between the two races in the Carolina Low Country. Bound in boards, 64 pages, with portrait of the author.

Price $1.00

Hyer, Helen Von Kolnitz

SANTEE SONGS—Poems

This book of verse by a well known young Charleston woman will be of peculiar interest to every one familiar with the landscapes and moods of the low country. Mrs. Hyer has wisely chosen the Santee country, which perhaps more than any other section of the Carolina coastal region may be termed "characteristic" for the background of her poems, as the title indicates. Boards, 52 pages, decorated cover.

Price $1.00

Jervey, Theodore D.

THE SLAVE TRADE—Slavery and Color

This work constitutes an attempt to put within short compass the main causes of the shifting sectionalism of the people of the United States. Full cloth, 344 pages, with maps and other illustrations. Price.....$2.00

Willis, Eola

THE CHARLESTON STAGE IN THE XVIII CENTURY

The claims of Charleston, S. C. to a prominent place in the earliest history of American drama have generally been overlooked, mainly because of the difficulty of obtaining the necessary information. The history of the Charleston stage has not only now been written, but it forms so important a part of the annals of the American theatre, that the latter are incomplete without it, for it furnishes a connecting link, hitherto lacking, in the chain of earliest plays in this country. Regular 8vo., full cloth, gold titles, 500 pages and illustrations. Price $5.00

BOOKS
STUDY OF LANGUAGES ARE OUR SPECIALTY

The value of business libraries, for large as well as for small organizations, is now universally recognized, language books necessarily forming an important part of them, and of private libraries as well.

Facilitating business and social correspondence with other countries, time and effort spent in the study of foreign languages are sure to bring valuable returns, and as our stock of books in this line is unsurpassed, we invite inspection or correspondence regarding the same.

Due to present conditions, prices are subject, more or less, to fluctuations and we therefore refrain from submitting here our full price-list of language text-books, dictionaries, grammars, conversation-books etc. in foreign languages. Copies of this catalogue, our No. 17c, will be mailed gratis on application, and quotations (in conformity with the prevailing rate of exchange) for such items as may be specifically indicated by our correspondents will be cheerfully given. Our long established reputation for fair dealing makes the invariable securing of quotations before purchasing needless, as our customers may depend upon our filling all orders at the lowest prices compatible with conditions existing at the time,

From among the multitude of languages, represented by books in our stock, we would call attention especially to the following, our assortment of which is exceptionally comprehensive and up-to-date, the individual tongues also appearing in various combinations:
Czechoslovakian, Danish, Dutch (Hollandish), English, French, German, Hungarian, Italian, Portuguese, Roumanian, Russian, Spanish, Swedish.

Of the more important of these languages we always carry in stock technological and other scientific dictionaries containing the most modern terms employed in the arts and sciences.

We also beg to call attention to our large supply of text-books in Universal Languages, such as Esperanto and Ido, to which we are continually adding new publications.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF
E. STEIGER & CO.

ESTABLISHED 1864 — 49 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK — P. O. BOX 905, CITY HALL STATION

As a result of our foresight in having acquired considerable stocks of paper etc before the excessive rise in prices began, we have been able to maintain the original pre-war list prices on the language text-books of our own publication and also the trade discount of 33⅓ % on same for several years, and while we still allow the special trade discount of 33⅓ %, we regret to state that increased costs of production have obliged us to revise our price-list.

In consequence of the unsettled conditions in foreign exchange, and the lack of uniformity with which the various foreign publishers make their prices, it is not, at present, possible to quote fixed prices on all publications to be imported, but purchasers may rest assured that any order with which they may favor us will be filled as expeditiously and at as low a figure as circumstances permit.

We shall be glad to mail available prospectuses and catalogues of imported books and periodicals, and to give quotations on the same.

Having continually enlarged our department for kindergarten material and kindred school supplies, we are particularly well equipped to fill large or small orders promptly.

Estimates on School Board Contracts cheerfully furnished to the Trade.

AHN'S NEW AMERICAN INTERPRETER

For Learning the English language by Self-Instruction

Ahn's

Neuer Amerikanischer Dolmetscher

für Deutsche,

zum Erlernen der Englischen Sprache ohne Lehrer.

This is an up-to-date edition at a very low price, of our Interpreter which has been so favorably known throughout the United States and Europe, for decades, in consequence of its great practical value for Germans intending to emigrate to this country and also for immigrants not yet conversant with the English language.

The first portion of the book is devoted to the essentials of English Grammar, a thorough perusal of the remaining pages soon enabling the student to express himself properly in English and to acquire other valuable information, relative to corresponding, advertising etc.

Considering the durable binding, good quality of paper and clear type throughout its 331 pages, the price is considerably lower than that at which other, similar publications are selling.

ANDERSON, A. J.

THE JOYOUS FRIAR. A fascinating biography of Fra Filippo Lippi, the Florentine painter and Carmelite friar. The narrative deals with the love affair which developed between him and the lovely novice who was his model during the painting of the Madonna for the Convent of Santa Margharita. The story of their love and all the subsequent unhappiness which the world knows, is told with the high tensity of a novel. 8 illustrations from paintings of Fra Lippo Lippi. Cloth, 8vo.....$3.00

ANDREWS, William, and LANG, Elsie M.

OLD ENGLISH TOWNS. Charming descriptive and historical accounts of forty-three important English towns—a book for the general reader as well as the student who delights in the picturesque past. With frontispiece in color and 31 halftone illustrations. Cloth, 4to $4.50

ANDREWS, William Elliott

*IMAGINE MY SURPRISE! There is not a dull moment in this travel-diary of a flapper-philosopher. Diane, pretty and clever, romps through Europe with a party of girl friends, Aunt Maude, and a long-suffering guide. Any reader who has traveled abroad, or who is planning to do so, will find Diane's experiences delightful. With twenty humorous illustrations by Agnes Sims. Cloth, 12mo. $2.00

ANGELL, Norman

*THE STORY OF MONEY. What is money? How did it originate? What have been our chief mistakes about it? What are its underlying economic principles? Norman Angell answers these questions in a plain story for the everyday reader, telling in interesting manner the main facts of man's experience in the use of money. Fully illustrated. Cloth, large 8vo.....$5.00

ARABIAN NIGHTS ENTERTAINMENTS, THE

An admirable selection for young people of the famous 1001 tales of the Princess Scheherazade. With a preface by Frederic Taber Cooper. (Stokes' Gift Book Series.) With 12 illustrations in color. Cloth, 8vo. $3.00

ARNOLD, T. W. (Translator)

THE LITTLE FLOWERS OF ST. FRANCIS OF ASSISI. An unusually beautiful edition of the famous episodes in the life of St. Francis and his followers through which one can see the Saint and his friars as vividly as did the people of Umbria and Tuscany who actually beheld and loved them. With 32 illustrations in color and black-and-white. Cloth, 8vo. $3.00

ASHTON, Mary Grace

*RACE. Unanimously acclaimed by English reviewers as a remarkable and brilliant first novel, "Race" deals straightly with a poignant problem—marriage between Jew and Christian. It tells with deep insight the story of the love of Ivan Schenstein, half Jew and half Christian in love with Anne Hurst, a Catholic. Cloth, 12mo.....$2.50

ASQUITH, Margot (The Countess of Oxford and Asquith)

*OCTAVIA. Margot Asquith's first novel—strong, brilliant, marked by the same vivacity and indefinable quality that have made her earlier books the most-discussed volumes of their season. The scene is laid in one of England's historic country houses. Cloth, 12mo.....$2.50

ATHERTON, Gertrude

SLEEPING FIRES. Mrs. Atherton's striking plot is laid in San Francisco and New York in 1870. "An extraordinary story, that moves swiftly, even breathlessly, developing a situation so unusual that it borders on nightmare."—Hildegarde Hawthorne, N. Y. Times. Cloth, 12mo.....$2.00

Frederick A. Stokes Company, New York

†THE SISTERS-IN-LAW. A brilliant novel of two women and a man in San Francisco Society and out of it. "Mrs. Atherton has never done a finer novel . . . never put more into one volume . . . a deep, rich, searching book."—Charles Hanson Towne, in N. Y. Herald. Cloth, 12mo.....$2.00

BINDLOSS, Harold

*MYSTERY REEF. A tale of intrigue and adventure on the Caribbean Sea. A young man undertakes, single-handed, to solve a mystery and redeem the honor of his house. It is filled with the tang of the out-of-doors which distinguishes all of Bindloss's novels. Cloth, 12mo.....$2.00

*THE LONE HAND. Mark Crozier sets himself the job of ferreting out the cause of his brother's mysterious death. The exciting search for clues takes him from his marshy sheep meadow to the Canadian wilderness as an amateur lumberjack. Cloth, 12mo..$2.00

†THE DARK ROAD. Carthew, an impoverished English naval officer, engages in a last desperate attempt to make his fortune and provide for his daughter. An American manufacturer finances the search for a valuable gum in the forests of the Mexican Gulf—partly in order to give his erring son a chance to prove his worth. The dark forest hides a vivid and stirring romance, full of fierce emotions and breath-taking situations. Cloth, 12mo. $2.00

THE GHOST OF HEMLOCK CANYON. Floods and frost and forest fires are tangible disasters and can be coped with, but there are more sinister things that lurk in the virgin wilderness north of Vancouver, and one of these forms the undercurrent of this unusual story. The howling of wolf-packs, the snapping of the lonely camp-fire form an elemental background to this tale of love, fear, and great courage. Cloth, 12mo. $2.00

THE BROKEN TRAIL. A mysterious international thief, a breathless journey from Canada to the Scottish border, dark tactics, scuffles, appalling secrets unearthed, and a glowing romance make a narrative in Bindloss' best vein.

PINE CREEK RANCH. Love, intrigue and adventure interwoven in a novel of the Manitoba prairies. A picture-wife sailing out to Canada encounters situations of great hardships and surmounts them only through her pluck and ingenuity.

PRAIRIE GOLD. The prairies and the timberbelt of Manitoba are the setting for this stirring novel. Filled with action, quick-moving, it is a tale of love and adventure and great achievement.

CROSS TRAILS. From the wilds of British Columbia to thrilling adventure on the Scottish Border; from a shipwreck at sea to bootlegging off the New Jersey Coast,—all culminating in two charming romances—these are the background for one of Bindloss' most absorbing tales.

BROMFIELD, Louis

*THE STRANGE CASE OF MISS ANNIE SPRAGG. A story that concerns the lives of a dozen characters, each seized at a moment of crisis on the night when Annie Spragg died in a Florentine Palace under miraculous circumstances. The background is Florence, London and the prairies of the Middle West. Cloth, 12mo.....$2.50

†A GOOD WOMAN. This novel completes Bromfield's study of one phase of American life. It slips into place as the keystone of an arch constructed of "The Green Bay Tree," "Possession" and "Early Autumn." "A Good Woman" is the human and moving story of Philip, a missionary who lost his faith and had to begin life over again; of his wife, Naomi; and of Mary Conyngham. But it is in the end the story of his mother, Emma Downes, because it is her shadow which lies across the lives of all three. Cloth, 12mo.....$2.50

†EARLY AUTUMN. Winner of the 1926 Pulizer Prize. This third "panel" in Mr. Bromfield's notable series of novels dealing with modern American life, tells of a New England family, outwardly rich and flourishing, but decayed at the heart. Into the unhappy tangle of their lives comes Sabine Callender and her daughter Therese. It is the patriarch of the family and a young, vigorous American boy (the son of Lily Shane) who, with the aid of the cynical Sabine, precipitate the solution of the intricate puzzle. Cloth, 12mo.....$2.00

†POSSESSION. An essentially American story and a remarkable picture of modern society, whose heroine is Ellen, cousin of the lovely Lily Shane of "The Green Bay Tree." Beginning life in a mill town of the Middle West, Ellen, without friends, money or influence, acquires in the end those things her nature demands—wealth, power, fame. Her progress takes her through many experiences in America and in Europe. But when she reaches the peak of her own building she stands there magnificent—and alone. Cloth, 12mo.....$2.50

THE GREEN BAY TREE. Is it true that no one of us ever knows the other? No husband his own wife? No mother her own daughter? It is this idea upon which this novel is built. It tells the story of two American sisters—one beautiful and lawless, the other her opposite. The setting is largely a great American steel town of the Middle West. "Rises at times so near to the proportions of a great American novel that one is tempted to describe it thus in precise terms."—E. W. Osborne, N. Y. World. Jacket in color. Cloth, 12mo..$2.00

Frederick A. Stokes Company, New York

BROWER, Harriette

*DOCTOR DOLITTLE IN THE MOON. During his active efforts in pursuit of science, Doctor Dolittle journeys to the moon on the back of a giant moth. His interests are now extended to the vegetable kingdom and its strange languages. The moon, he finds, is populated mainly by vegetables and insects, quite as fascinating in their way as animals. With 2 illustrations in color and 70 in black and white by the author. Cloth, 8vo...$2.50

Frederick A. Stokes Company, New York

†DOCTOR DOLITTLE'S GARDEN. In the garden lives a host of creatures who have naturally gravitated to the little animal doctor, and it is the insects that play a large part in his new adventures. When the good doctor sets out to discover all there is to know about insects, many of the small creatures eagerly tell him their life stories and finally he learns of a giant race of moths. The Dogs' Museum also figures largely in the new book, one of whose choicest exhibits was that of bones chewed by famous dogs! Mr. Lofting has added many of his own amusing illustrations. Cloth, 8vo. $2.50

DOCTOR DOLITTLE'S CARAVAN. The Doctor's amusing adventures with an animal theatrical troupe and the canary opera. Canaries carry the solos while the choruses are recruited from other bird families. The orchestra consists of a sewing machine, a harness chain, razor strop and a hammer. The text is fully as delightful and the illustrations as humorous as those of the earlier books. Fully illustrated in color and black-and-white by Mr. Lofting. Cloth, 8vo. $2.50

†DOCTOR DOLITTLE'S ZOO. From running a circus the good Dr. Dolittle is drawn farther into the business of entertaining, and with Dr. Dolittle's Zoo, the Canary Opera, and the Puddleby Pantomime, he and his animal friends find fresh adventures on their travels. New characters appear in this volume, as individual and attractive as the original Dab-dab, Gub-gub, and Polynesia. Profusely illustrated in Mr. Lofting's inimitable style. Cloth, 8vo.....$2.50

†DOCTOR DOLITTLE'S CIRCUS. This book takes up the tale of the lovable little doctor at the point where "The Story of Doctor Dolittle" left off, and tells all that happens after the Doctor arrived from Africa with the grateful monkeys' gift of the Pushmi-pullyu; how they join Blossom's Circus and how the Doctor achieves a triumph in the sawdust ring and engineers a thrilling escape. They have many adventures and earn more than enough to pay the Doctor's debts, while the Doctor wins the love of all the circus animals by seeing that justice is done them. Profusely illustrated. Cloth, 8vo.....$2.50

†DOCTOR DOLITTLE'S POST OFFICE. Doctor Dolittle discovers that there is not only an animal language but animal writing as well. So it doesn't take him long to see the immense possibilities in a mail service for the birds and animals. This book tells all about this fastest mail service in the world—in Hugh Lofting's own inimitable style. With frontispiece in color and 76 black-and-white illustrations by the author. Cloth, 8vo.....$2.50

†THE VOYAGES OF DOCTOR DOLITTLE. It is Tommy Stubbins, the cobbler's son, who tells this story of Doctor Dolittle's wonderful voyage to Spidermonkey Island. "Not since Lewis Carroll has an author responded to an encore more successfully than Hugh Lofting. . . . The sterling qualities of the Kindly One, as the good doctor is dubbed, shine undimmed through the adventurous pages of the Voyages."—Atlantic Monthly. With many humorous illustrations in color and black-and-white by the author. (Winner of the John Newbery Medal for the "most distinguished contribution to American literature for children in 1922.") Cloth, 8vo. $2.50

†THE STORY OF DOCTOR DOLITTLE. A tale of the animal's own doctor and his amazing adventures. Hugh Walpole, in a delightful Introduction says, "Without being at all an undue praiser of times past, one can say without hesitation that until the appearance of Hugh Lofting, the successor of Miss Yonge, Mrs. Ewing, Mrs. Gatty and Lewis Carroll had not appeared. . . . This book is a work of genius. . . . There it is—the first real children's classic since 'Alice.'" With colored frontispiece, 33 unique illustrations in black-and-white and decorative initials. Cloth, 8vo.....$2.00

SAME. Popular Edition, containing the complete story and the Introduction by Hugh Walpole, but no color work. It has all but three of the notable illustrations. Cloth, 12mo. $1.50

†THE STORY OF MRS. TUBBS. The creator of the famous Doctor Dolittle has originated another character sure to be liked by little children in Mrs. Tubbs, whose story and that of her dog and her duck and her pig, is told here. A simple little tale, printed in large type and just enough on a page to make easy reading. There are many inimitable illustrations in color and black-and-white by Mr. Lofting. Cloth, oblong, 12mo...$1.25

†PORRIDGE POETRY. A little book for little folk—forty-five inimitable drawings by Hugh Lofting, each illustrating a ridiculously funny original rhyme which will delight the child's heart. MILLS, Lady Dorothy

THROUGH LIBERIA. An account of the most adventurous of the author's solitary journeys. Liberia is that romantic West African republic which was founded by American philanthropists for repatriated negro slaves. Through the trackless interior, Lady Dorothy Mills pushed her way to places which no white woman had ever seen, exploring the country of the "Human Leopards," one of the few remaining cannibal districts. With 38 illustrations and a map. Cloth, 8vo.....$3.00

MILN, Louise Jordan

*THE FLUTES OF SHANGHAI. The old China—gorgeous, quaint, exotic—meets the new in the absorbing love story of a brilliant and lovely Chinese girl, main support of a family of blind flutists. Cloth, 12mo...$2.00

*RED LILY AND CHINESE JADE. Three dramatic chapters in the Chinatown life of Donald Martin, M.D.—the story of Red Lily, brought from a Chinese Garden to London Limehouse; of Wan See, the hunchback; of the tiny child-widow, Tee Ping. Cloth, 12mo. $2.00

†IN A YUN-NAN COURTYARD. For sheer beauty of scene and luxuriance of color this story is surpassed by none of Mrs. Miln's earlier Chinese love stories. So Wing—soldier, trader, lover, musician, bandit—moves gallantly through the tale. A veritable Chinese Robin Hood, he has it in his power to make or mar the double romance which is unfolded in a series of thrilling events. Cloth, 12mo.....$2.00

†IT HAPPENED IN PEKING. The quaint old city of Peking and the Boxer rebellion are the background of this new story of China, with an American business man and an English girl as the central figures. NORWAY, Arthur H.

NAPLES PAST AND PRESENT. A picturesque and romantic description of Naples, telling its history, its traditions, and giving a wealth of information hard to obtain in other volumes. Compact in form, with 25 pages in color, it fills in the countless gaps that the guide-books leave. Cloth, 8vo, $3.50

NOYES, Alfred

†DICK TURPIN'S RIDE: And Other Poems. Recalling Noyes' earlier ballads, the title poem of this new volume is a rollicking narrative of the famous English highwayman of the 18th Century and of his marvelous ride from London to York. The other poems of the collection are now published in this country for the first time. Cloth, 12mo. $1.50

†THE BOOK OF EARTH. The second volume of the poet's great trilogy. "The Torch-Bearers." In the present book Mr. Noyes deals with the epic story of the earth as unfolded by great discoveries from the time of the Greeks down to the modern evolutionists. The poem opens and concludes with scenes in the Grand Canyon. Cloth, 8vo. $2.50

†WATCHERS OF THE SKY. The first volume of a trilogy under the general title of The Torch-bearers, which paints in narrative verse a vivid and mighty picture of the march of science through the ages. This first volume deals with the astronomers. "Passages which come to life and lift one high among those stars and planets. . . . A noble thing to have done."—N. Y. Tribune. With notable jacket and cover inlay in full color by Spencer B. Nichols. Cloth, 8vo, $2.50

†SOME ASPECTS OF MODERN POETRY. The well-known poet deals with the essential principles of English poetry from Shakespeare to the present day, approaching many of the poets from an entirely new angle. The standpoint of his essays is not that of the Victorian period or of the last decade, but of the period upon which criticism is now entering. That is, Mr. Noyes regards the 19th century poets in their historical perspective, as the future will regard them, not as the antagonists of contemporary ideas. Cloth, 8vo. $2.50

THE HIDDEN PLAYER. A group of unusual short stories, some humorous, some tragic, which show that the famous poet can write vivid, imaginative prose as successfully as poetry. One of the stories is laid in the Painted Desert of Arizona and another on the California coast. Cloth, 12mo..$2.00

Fiction

Strictly Private
Being the Intimate Diary of a Medical Practitioner
Maurice Chideckel, M.D.

The tragedies and the comedies that are being daily enacted at the bedside, in the wards and in the dispensaries, in the insane asylums and behind the doors of the consultation room, are depicted with vivid realism in this book. The human soul, as well as the body, is exposed and dissected. The tragic and the comic side of love, of sterility, of impotence, of the lure and the glamour of sex, of perversion, of the youthful Romeo and the ancient Lothario, of the flapper and the spinster, of withered youth and sturdy old age, of submerged lives and of unsalvaged wrecks that once were men, are entertainingly described with pungent detail.

Laugh and learn. Follow the doctor on his daily rounds. Watch him examine his patients and listen to their secrets—secrets they would not dare to divulge to anyone else. Plunge with him into the jakes of society and behold the abnormal human. Meet some feminine gentlemen and masculine ladies. Also a number of other rare specimens of various nationalities. Above all, meet the doctor's wife! $2.50

The Isle of Lost and Found
Florence Rook MacConnell

Is it possible for a young woman, raised in the lap of easy luxury, social extravagance, modern conveniences, with wealth at her beck and call, to remain true to the inner delicacy and nobility of her nature when tossed into the maelstrom of primitive life?

In this book, Barbara Drulard—a modern girl who still clings to the old-fashioned traditions of idealism—awakens too late to the realization of the gross materialism of her husband's money-bound soul. Fate, in the guise of death, typhoons, shipwreck, a lonely desert island, the slow deterioration of civilized man to primitive beast, the terror of tropical fever and a love barred by honor—are the tests of her belief in God and man.

Throughout the story seeps the insidious lure of the tropics, the hypnotic mystery and enchantment of the South Seas and the heart-breaking beauty of nature's paradise. $2.00

American and Arabian Love
Wilfred J. Angers

A colorful story of an American swordsman, Nelson Carew Gilbert. He rescues a famous dancer from a drunken rogue in New Orleans, falls in love with her and marries her. As he is under age, his father annuls this marriage, leaving Nelson an embittered and disappointed man.

Later he is sent to Morocco as a French Legionary to cement a friendship between the two countries. Speaking Arabic and resembling a Berber he has no trouble in making his way. His skill with weapons and in horsemanship win him admiration, which leads to his marrying an Arabian Princess.

Nelson's father dies a desolate, regretful and broken-hearted man, leaving his wealth to his grandson. Ahmet Ben Gilbert (Nelson's son) leaves for America to claim his inheritance, and while in this country he falls in love with a renowned singer only to learn that she is—the reader had best find out for himself. $2.00

To Market
Harvey J. Sconce

This is a story of modern transportation, dramatized by the effect it brings about in connection with the Agriculture and Commerce of the Middle West.

The Mississippi Barge Line System and the railroads afford the two separate means of transporting the country's commodities, and the author has attempted to prove that the two systems working in unison and harmony would revolutionize the present system and excessive cost of transportation and marketing.

The human interest portion of the novel is beautifully carried through the story by two young men who, being college trained, have striven to carry out their ideals in the most logical way. Human conflict occurs with a powerful eastern magnate and his son, and the love element is woven throughout sympathetically and understandingly by a girl whose ideals rise higher than material things. $2.00

The Passion of the Beast
Joseph Lamarre

A tremendous story of a mystery and Vendetta—not between Man and Man, but between Beast and Man. It it an epic of the Brute which has turned against Man, its overlord and destroyer. Driven by a blind instinct of Justice, the Beast asserts a cruel mastery over the Man it has chosen as the symbol of oppressive humanity: Hippolyte Dumesnil, French aristocrat, traveller, hunter and scholar. In the drama which evolves round this amazing theme are involved Yvonne, the daughter of Hippolyte Dumesnil, Armand, his son, and William St. Clair, an American whom blind chance has thrust into the centre of the stage.

The setting of the story begins with Paris, shifts to the famous garden city of Juvisy—once the pleasure haunt of the Great Monarch—and then, for the denouement, changes to an abandoned castle in the bleak Pyrenees.

From beginning to end of the book the unique and mysterious theme is carried along by a series of swift and unexpected events, till, in the last pages, the situation finds an unforeseen solution.

This is a book which no reader will ever forget. $2.50

C'est La Guerre
The Best Stories of the World War
Edited by James G. Dunton

The stories which make up this volume, are, of course, but one man's selections from a crop of short War fiction. However, a score or more of national publications were canvassed before these selections were made, and they represent the results of a sincere effort to gather into a single volume those stories which seemed most worthy of rereading and most worthy of being preserved in permanent form. The stories included in this volume are:

"Balm of Bar-Le-Duc" by Stephen Morehouse Avery, "Belated Evidence" by Elliott White Springs, "Bo'sun Magee Discovers a War" by R. DeS. Horn, "The Captain's Shower Bath" by John Farrar, "Fear" by James Warner Bellah, "Good Morning, Major" by J. P. Marquand, "Hands Across the Sea" by Victor Rosseau, "Happy Birthday" by Carl Detzer, " 'Hard Luck' Lowery" by Eugene Cunningham, "Mademoiselle From Armenteers," by Stephen Morehouse Avery, "Martinet" by Ared White, "The Phantom Major" by Larry Barretto, "Protect-Your-Men" by Ben Ames Williams, "Souvenirs" by William Hazlett Upson, "The Spy" by Llewellyn Hughes, "The Unconquerable Jennings" by J. D. Newson. $2.50

Cleopatra's Private Diary
Henry Thomas

The keynote of this fascinating volume is struck in the preface, in which Cleopatra states that her revelations are what "one lady of refinement may say to another lady of refinement when there are no gentlemen present."

The story is "intimate" to the extreme, not only in the disclosure of the secret thoughts of "the greatest vamp in history" but in the details of the wild life in Rome into which she was thrown on her visit to Caesar. Looking at life through Cleopatra's whimsical eyes, the reader will get a picture of Rome in its most exotic mood, while learning for the first time what Cleopatra thought of the world, not what the world thought of her. It is one of the most entertaining, brilliant and humorous volumes that has been published in many years. $2.00

One of the finest books of the century.—Benjamin de Casseres.
Keen pungency, finish and observant satire.—Edward J. O'Brien.

The Mating of Doris Dinsmore
Catherine Bement

This novel relates the unusual experiences and strange romance of a college girl who is the daughter of a country doctor. It describes her meeting with Raymond Travers, a young gentleman of leisure, their hasty marriage, the mysterious disappearance of the bridegroom on their honeymoon, the complications caused by her meeting his twin brother, the clearing up of the mystery involving the absent husband, and other striking incidents. It is a story which will pique your interest and arouse your curiosity. $2.50

The Rancho of the Twelve Apostles
Forbes Heermans

This is a fascinating story about the life in New Mexico as it was a good many years ago—with its romantic glamour.

The plot of the story is based upon the long feud that has existed between the Spanish-Mexican race and the Americans along the border of the Rio Grande River, and goes back to the days when Texas declared itself

The Lone Star State in 1836; and continued through the Mexican War in 1846-47, when the United States seized the immense territory now embraced in the states of Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, Utah, Colorado, parts of Wyoming, Montana, Idaho, and all of California. $2.00

Best Short Stories of the World
Edited by Konrad Bercovici

All the stories in this book contain that mysterious something which has enabled their authors to get into the hearts and libraries of every generation. What is that universal quality that has made these stories immortal? Read them and see for yourself.

Among the stories are:

"The Procurator of Judea" by Anatole France, "A Passion in the Desert" by Balzac, "Bontje the Silent" by J. L. Perez, "The Birthday of the Infanta" by Oscar Wilde, "The Lost Words of Love" by Catulle Mendes, "I'm a Fool" by Sherwood Anderson, "The Easter Torch" by I. L. Caragiale, "Makar Chudra" by Maxim Gorki, "What Men Live By" by Leo Tolstoi, "Life of Ma Parker" by Katherine Mansfield, "Madame Tellier's Establishment" by Guy de Maupassant, "Lazarus" by Leonid Andreyev, "The Gentleman from San Francisco" by Ivan Bunin, "Saidjah" by Multatuli, "Montes the Matador" by Frank Harris, "The Gold Bug" by Edgar Allan Poe, "The Party" by Anton Chekhov and "The Fourth Nail" a gypsy legend as told by Murdo to the author. $2.50

The Girl From Grand Pre
William Miller Bartlett

This is the story of the varied experiences of a country girl who went to New York to live with her rich aunt. Because of her beauty and charm, she made many friends and was much fêted by the most exclusive society. How she married the scion of a wealthy family and yet became a penniless widow, and how she ultimately found her true love and regained happiness is all told in an interesting style. $2.00

Concerning Martha
Charlotte L. White

A wholesome love story about the kind of people one meets every day. It carries the reader through the period of Martha's rather pathetic childhood, through her discontented womanhood, when she marries in haste to escape boredom and repented at leisure for some time afterward. It tells of her battle with conditions and with herself—when she came to realization of her faults,—and of the loyal, tender, determined Aaron, who fought for her and with her to bring about a happy solution of her difficulties. $2.00

A Son of the Nile
Simon Robert Hoover

"A Son of the Nile" gathers the romance and glamour of the ancient valley of the Nile, with its mysterious power to charm all generations and races, and sets them forth in a modernized story of intrigue, treachery, faithfulness, superstition, lofty ideals, big game hunting, ambuscades, battles, ambition, passion, courage, love and attainment. To put it briefly, it is a cross-section of life as it was lived in the land of the pyramids and sphinxes a generation after the time of Tutankhamen. The partially obliterated sculptures of the obelisks and the temple walls and pylons are brought to life, and the characters over whom antiquarians have puzzled for centuries walk, speak, live, fight and love as they did in the days of Pharaoh Rameses the Great, who ruled at the height of Egypt's golden age. $2.00

Animal Nature and Other Stories

Stanton D. Kirkham

A group of stories by naturalist and psychologist embracing striking tales of the lives of wild animals, moral crises in the lives of men, psychic changes involving amazing situations, told with dramatic power and much charm. Illustrated. $2.00

Snappy Western Stories

Elois F. Elden

A group of tales of typical western life of California and New Mexico. These are pictures of market streets in San Francisco, the cowboy life in southern California, of the little main street in Santa Fe and other fascinating corners of the West, written by a Western author. 75c

Ralph 124C 41+

A Romance of the Year 2660

Hugo Gernsback (Editor of "Amazing Stories")

Not since the publication of the imaginative romances and stories of Jules Verne, has there appeared a book of this character. Against an amazing background of mechanical, electrical and chemically altered life of mankind there is set a brilliant and colorful romance in the life of the greatest living scientist of that age. Ralph's love for the beautiful stranger, his conquest of his rival, and the worsting of the great saturnine Martian, culminating in a running fight in space with tragedy and terror conquered by almost unbelievable and incredible weapons make one of the most interesting and gripping stories ever told. Illustrated. $2.00

The First Estate

Charles A. L. Reed

A realistic novel of American life. The central character, John Maitland, goes out to teach a strange, new philosophy underlying human behavior. What happens when he gets to the plain people with his ethics, what the churches and schools do to him and what he does to them, make up the rapidly succeeding situations. $2.50

The Greatest Good

Belle Willey Gue

This novel deals with the Civil War. Many actual incidents, some of which have never been related, are recorded in the course of the story, and much light is thrown on the causes that brought about this war as well as the reasons for its continuance.

The nature of the work that was daringly undertaken and bravely accomplished by Abraham Lincoln is plainly shown all through the unwinding of the plot of this book, and the simplicity as well as the grandeur of this man, who devoted all of his energies to—and gave his earthly life for—"the greatest good," is distinctly and reverently set forth. $2.00

Mary's Secret

Harriet S. Collins

An absorbing novel concerning a strange secret of the parentage—one that will hold the reader fascinated through the story of a young girl's romance and its surprising climax $2.00

Autobiography

The Struggle of a Mind to Be Free

Eugene Milne Cosgrove

This is an intimate and human story of a serious-minded youth who found himself too confined in the theological world of his childhood and who set out in his early manhood on the Ulyssean quest of a more abundant life. The way of his traveling leads him through many colorful adventures on the great plains of Western Canada, through the experiences of a great American university and the disciplines of the Ministry where he ultimately finds himself and his life task in the virgin wilderness on the Roof of the World. Illustrated. $2.00

History, Biography and Travel

The Student Abroad

John W. Brennan, C.Ss.R., B.S.Scr.

In this book the author has reproduced the outstanding features of Rome, particularly during the Jubilee Year, and southern Italy, Greece and Constantinople, Syria, Palestine, Egypt and much of Europe. He distinguishes between the student traveller and the mere tourist; the man who wishes to learn from life and the man who wishes merely to gaze on it and criticize. Furthermore, he has found that many of the people who travel desire a source of information not so general and superficial as some of the books offered and yet not so laden with minute points as a Baedecker. With that in mind, he has combined the interest of a more general account of lands abroad with enough information to make the reading of this book instructive as well as interesting. Illustrated. $5.00

Joseph Warren Fordney

An American Legislator

John Andrew Russell, A.M., LL.D.

This book is primarily a life of the principal author of the Fordney Tariff Act of 1922.

In addition, as a background to Mr. Fordney's career as a member and Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee of Congress, the author gives a brief history of the growth of the power of the Committee; also a group of interesting thumbnail biographies of the earlier chairmen, most of whom, though forgotten now, were leading men in their day. Incidentally, George Washington was the first chairman in Continental Congress times.

Among the backgrounds is an historical sketch of the timber trade in the Great Lakes area, in which Mr. Fordney began his career. The tariff discussions and changes of the last quarter century, Mr. Fordney's differences with Presidents Roosevelt and Taft on the Cuban sugar tariff, the financing of the World War, and the revolutionary structure of the Fordney-McCumber Act are told and analyzed.

The concluding chapter is an estimate of Mr. Fordney by the late Chairman Madden, of the Appropriations Committee. $3.00

The Story of a Terrible Life

Basil Tozer

Mr. Tozer has in the course of his wanderings come upon a woman who was one of the most notorious procuresses in Europe. A clever and experienced newspaper interviewer, he succeeded in worming out of her, bit by bit, the whole story of her atrocious career, and in this book he sets down all that she told him.

She revealed the methods which are still employed to entice away girls and young women without chance of their ever afterwards being traced; the secrets and secret organization of the modern maisons de tolérance in different parts of the world; the wiles to which male and female blackmailers and others have recourse, and much else that is of absorbing interest concerning this social evil.

This book, while extremely outspoken, is in no way pornographic. On the contrary it will be instrumental in setting on their guard all those who read it. $2.50

The World's Debt to the United States

Chesla Sherlock

This book is an answer to those who apologize for the contribution of the American people to world civilization.

In the first part the author gives a graphic picture of the discovery, the settlement, the struggles and defeats, the conflicts, the victories—the youth and the maturity of America and the American Idea.

In the second part of the volume the author discusses in complete detail the contributions the American people have made to world civilization in every department of human endeavor, such as religion, literature, plastic arts, painting, music, etc., not forgetting the material contributions the United States has made in industry, in manufacturing, in business organization, in marketing and distribution, all of which have elevated the standards of living of the masses of people beyond any point ever known in history.

The author answers for all time the charge that the United States is merely a materialistic, dollar-chasing nation, and shows that if the great Book of Fate were closed today, it would be found that the United States had contributed as much to world civilization as any other race of people. $3.50

The Gary I Knew

Arundel C. Cotter

Author of "The Corporation With a Soul"

Mr. Cotter, as a member of the staff of The Wall Street Journal, came into close contact with the late master of the United States Steel Corporation almost daily.

In "The Gary I Knew" Mr. Cotter sets forth an intimate personal portrait of Judge Gary. It is more than a biography, it is an intense analytical study of one of the greatest captains of industry that ever lived.

In Mr. Cotter's remarkable volume are shown Gary's personal attitude toward the shareholders of the United States Steel Corporation, his attitude toward Unionism, his position in the Government attack on the Corporation, his masterly policies that raised the Corporation whose destinies he directed to the position of supreme importance in the industrial fabric of the country.

For sixteen years Mr. Cotter had an opportunity to study Judge Gary, both as one of the country's greatest executives, and as a friend. What he learned makes reading more interesting than fiction. Illustrated. $2.00

See India With Me

Jane A. Tracy

This is the story of a journey through mysterious and fascinating India—beginning at Bombay and ending at Colombo and covering a distance of 10,000 miles and five months of time—with constant sightseeing. It is the only complete contemporary guide book of India extant. It, moreover, reveals certain portions of this most colorful country in a manner that has never been done before. The wealth of data which the author gathered during the journey, her experiences and impressions, form the basis of this book, making it of special value to prospective travelers in India, and of interest to all readers. Illustrations and a map. $3.00

Cardinal Newman

George J. Donahue

The purpose of this book is a plea for greater interest in Newman on the part of Catholics in general, and Catholic boys in particular. The author has sketched the career of this genius and has pointed to a few high lights of his consistent career.

Apart from truth, to which Newman dedicated his life, when a king of modern Oxford passes from Protestanism, with a sharp bias against Rome, to embrace Catholicism ultimately, to say the very least you have a fascinating instance of high romance. $2.00

Between Two Wars (1861-1921)

Professor James Mark Baldwin, Ph.D., D.S., LL.D.

This is a book of Memories and Opinions by the American philosopher, James Mark Baldwin, former professor at Princeton and Baltimore, now of Paris.

The first volume is filled with anecdote and illustration, these chapters discuss Princeton, Johns Hopkins and American Education in the 80's and 90's; then life in Oxford and England where relations were established with scholars and public men.

In the second volume the author has gathered together selections from his war papers and addresses, all inspired by enthusiasm for the Allied Cause, dating from 1914 when Professor Baldwin belonged to the group of men who publicly condemned the policy of neutrality.

Possibly the features of the entire work which will be of greatest interest apart from the chapters on the war are the writer's frank and deliberate characterizations of Woodrow Wilson and William James.

$10.00

The World's Debt to the Irish

James J. Walsh, M.D., Ph.D., Sc.D. Author of "The "World's Debt to the Catholic Church," "What Civilization Owes to Italy," "Eating and Health," etc.

A search, by one of the most brilliant writers of the country into the achievements of the Irish race. The book is written after an intensive study of other periods and other races besides the Irish, so that it represents the value of comparative researches in the history of civilization, on a background of broad familiarity with what is best in the history of humanity.

Among the subjects discussed are: Missionaries of Christianity and Culture—England; Scotland—Continental Europe, Asia, Africa—America; Great Irish Literature; Influence of Irish Literature on World Literature; Irish Music; The Invention of Rhyme in Poetry; Beautiful Book Making; Irish Jewelry; St. Patrick; The Round Tower and the High Cross; Depth and Breadth of Irish Education; Ancient Irish Medicine; St. Bridget and Her Companions and Successors.

The book has an appendix, giving some fascinating sidelights on The Irish Brogue Shakespeare's English; Irish Initiative and Inventive Genius, and Modern Irish Missionaries of the Spirit. There are also copious notes to go with the text. $2.50

An interesting contribution to the study of racial endowments and racial factors in world achievements.—New York Times.

Bolivar
Henry Rowan Lemly

This is the first detailed history published in English of Bolivar, "the Washington of South America," and of the 15 years' War of Independence of five Spanish-American colonies. Because of America's commercial, and even political concern in the 20 republics south of the Rio Grande, this work should prove of especial interest to American libraries, schools, students and business men, combining, as it does, information never before available in our own language. A map and 22 excellent illustrations lend charm to the volume, which was compiled by the author during his twelve years spent in Venezuela and Colombia. $4.00

The Gift of Black Folk
W. E. Burghardt Du Bois, Ph.D.

This book sets forth more clearly than has hitherto been done the effect which the Negro has had upon American life. Its thesis is that despite slavery, war and caste, and despite our present so-called Negro problem, the American Negro is and has been a distinct asset to this country. Dr. Du Bois reveals the fact that the Negro came with the first explorers and helped in exploration. He shows what the Negro has contributed to labor, militarism, literature, music, etc. Finally, that the Negro has played a peculiar role in America as a sort of living, breathing test of our ideals and as an example of the faith, hope and tolerance of our religion. $2.00

The Doughboys' Book
Carty Ranck

Here we have a dramatic portrayal of America's role in the World War. It is not a "ward book" in the conventional style. It is a straightforward account of our doughboys' activities from the time they arrived in France until they delivered the solar plexus punch that made Germany take the count. The author has—in this book—visualized for the reader the viewpoint of the fighting doughboy. He has shown us the humor, tragedy, pathos and pugnacity that made up the daily life of our doughboys in France. He has proved his contention that the spirit of 1776 was the spirit of 1918. Mr. Ranck is proud to admit that he was "press agent for the American Army" in France, and, "for the first time on any page," the doughboys' own story is presented to American readers. $2.00

The World's Debt to the Catholic Church

James J. Walsh, M.D., Ph.D., Sc.D.

Not in any single volume has there been compressed so much information about the enormous debt the world owes the Catholic Church throughout the ages. It shows how the Church has developed the sense of beauty, strengthened man's realization of his duty, cultivated his love of philosophy and literature, spurred him on in sculpture, architecture, music, literature, painting and in the arts and crafts. A book of genuine inspiration for both the clergy and layman, it is conceded by thousands to be one of the greatest and most brilliant of Dr. Walsh's works. It is the complete answer to those who would destroy religion. Both in America and abroad, the book has been proclaimed the greatest Catholic book published in recent years, not alone for the great amount of information it contains, but for the concise and comprehensive manner in which it is presented.

$2.00

There can be no question that Dr. Walsh deserves the congratulations bestowed upon him for his success in compressing within a volume of moderate size such a large amount of information which redounds to the glory of the Catholic Church.—Boston Transcript.

Tall Timbers

Chesla C. Sherlock

The stories of eight great giants in early American History responsible for the ideals which established the Republic, and guided it safely through the middle period marked by the Civil War. The author has delved deep into the history of these great men, bringing many new facts to light and presenting the more intimate sides of their natures. In this volume Mr. Sherlock contrasts Mason and Franklin, Washington and Jackson, Hamilton and Madison, and Jefferson and Lincoln. An invaluable volume for the student, teacher, librarian, home-maker, and—most of all—for the American. Illustrated. $3.00

Our Missions in India

Rev. E. Morris Wherry

A volume of one of the famous missionaries in India, an author of many authoritative works on Christianity in India, especially in Punjab. The volume begins with a thrilling story of pioneers and details the development of the missions in the Punjab and other portions of India, punctuated with the high color tragedy and dominant courage that accompanies the success of the establishment of these missions. $4.00

What Civilization Owes to Italy

James J. Walsh, M.D., Ph.D., Sc.D.

Italy's gift to humanity,—its contribution to the world's mental and spiritual treasure-house, its supreme achievements in the fields of religion, sculpture, painting, architecture, music, poetry, surgery, inventions, etc., —this, in brief, is the subject of Dr. Walsh's most interesting and scholarly work. The book is embellished by a number of beautiful illustrations. $5.00

The Log of a Circumnavigator

George A. Johnson

In this book the author recounts the outstanding features of a year's continuous travel through Hawaii, Japan, China, Straits Settlements, Ceylon, India, Egypt, France, Germany, the Low Countries and England.

The tales are unique in their frank observations on the human characteristics of the various peoples with which Colonel Johnson came in contact, and the scenic attractions of these far off lands. The yarns are spun in a happy, conversational manner, and will provide several hours of rare entertainment for the reader. Illustrated. $2.00

The Last Cruise

Mrs. Louise K. Sparrow

The story of the heroism of Captain Sparrow on the last cruise of the Tacoma told in a compilation of thrilling records, letters and intimate observations revealing the character and personality of a hero of the nation. A story of love, courage and self-sacrifice. Illustrated. $3.00

Garden Books

More Aristocrats of the Garden

Ernest H. Wilson, M.A., V.M.H., Keeper of the Arnold Arboretum of Harvard University

Mr. Wilson presents in "More Aristocrats of the Garden" an entirely different group of plants to those discussed in his volume on the same subject, "Aristocrats of the Garden."

In "More Aristocrats of the Garden" Mr. Wilson has been most specific. The book is practical from Preface to Epilogue. It deals with the question of suitability of plants for certain locations to a degree attempted in no other volume.

In various chapters on individual groups, the matter of climate, soil, and other things necessary to the well-being of these plants is discussed authoritatively, and with the background of abundant practical experience.

This volume adds hundreds of new Aristocrats available for American gardens that have been selected on the basis of tests covering a long period of time. The number of Aristocrats that you may plant in your garden, described in detail in this volume is tremendously expanded.

One of the most interesting chapters is the Epilogue, containing the answer to the question that has been hurled thousands of times at Mr. Wilson in the past few years—Where and How to Get the Aristocrats. 300 pages—43 full page illustrations. $5.00

Aristocrats of the Garden

Ernest H. Wilson, M.A., V.M.H., Keeper of the Arnold Arboretum of Harvard University

"Aristocrats of the Garden" is valuable to both the amateur gardener and the professional.

In this volume will be found the origin and history, names and idiosyncrasies, propagation and development, usefulness and beauty of those plants which it is the hope and desire of all garden-lovers to see growing in their own gardens—the Aristocrats.

Each group has a chapter to itself, in which the author has packed the wealth of information gathered in a lifetime of pioneering in strange places, and of practical experience in the great gardens of the world, particularly in America's Greatest Garden, the Arnold Arboretum.

The book includes: The Story of the Modern Rose—Consider the Lilies—Midseason Flowering Trees and Shrubs—The Best of the Hardy Climbing Shrubs—Ornamental Fruited Trees and Shrubs—Broad-Leaved Evergreens for Northern Gardens—New Chinese Trees and Shrubs for the Pacific Slope and Other Favored Regions—Early Spring-Flowering Trees and Shrubs—Japanese Cherries and Asiatic Crabapples—In Lilacdom—New Herbaceous Plants from China — Hardy Rhododendrons — The Story of the Davidia. Profusely illustrated. $5.00

Plant Hunting

Ernest H. Wilson, M.A., V.M.H., Keeper of the Arnold Arboretum of Harvard University

The publishers consider this is Mr. Wilson's greatest book. It reveals, for the first time, how strange parts of the world were combed by intrepid explorers for beauties that grace American gardens.

Here are two volumes, filled with adventure, glowing with the ardor of the explorer. Mr. Wilson has made seven plant hunting trips — to Africa, the Tropics, Australia, New Zealand, China, Korea, Japan, India, the East Indies, and other lands, penetrating into the secret places from which he has gathered more than 2,700 horticultural specimens for American gardens.

The details of his own explorations, and one of those hardy pioneers in plant hunting, form a bright page of history and adventure. As Keeper of the Arnold Arboretum, Mr. Wilson is the highest authority in this country and one of the world's greatest horticulturists. Packed in the volumes is a wealth of information of immense value to the professional horticulturist and a source of never-ending delight to the amateur.

The book is published in two handsomely bound volumes, boxed, and is of de luxe character. It contains 128 beautiful full page illustrations, most of which are from photographs taken by Mr. Wilson and have not heretofore been published. Autographed edition, boxed. $15.00

America's Greatest Garden

Ernest H. Wilson, M.A., V.M.H., Keeper of the Arnold Arboretum of Harvard University

Mr. Wilson's world-wide fame as a plant explorer is equaled by the fame of his writings. In "America's Greatest Garden" Mr. Wilson is at his best. Love of his subject is evident on every page. The style is easy and the whole work is rich in charm. In language that is simple and brilliant he tells the story, or rather sings the song, of beauty in flower and fruit, in bud, leaf and bark.

The book is a compendium of the Arnold Arboretum's experience in the acclimatization of tree, shrub, vine, conifer and broad-leaf evergreen, which all who garden may use for their own guidance and advantage.

In all there are eighteen chapters and fifty beautiful full page illustrations, a preface, and a frontispiece portrait of Prof. Charles S. Sargent, the man whose genius made America's Greatest Garden.

The book is handsomely bound in dark red cloth covers stamped with gold design and contains fifty beautiful illustrations. $3.00

Gardens All the Year

Ida Withers Harrison

The keynote of this book is that there are gardens somewhere all the time, and if we cannot visit them in the flesh, we can make excursions to them in the spirit. We can look backward to them, or forward with dream gardens to those that are to come. Or, we can use memory gardens. The true garden lover finds no end to love of flowers and interest in all things growing, defying all limits of time and space, and must be a true lover of the world. $1.50

Science, Politics, Economics, Sociology

Bats, Mosquitoes and Dollars

Dr. Charles A. R. Campbell

An authoritative and exhaustive study of the relationship of bats, mosquitoes and malaria, presented by one who through long years of experience, writes whereof he knows. The best way to exterminate malaria, as the author has conclusively proven through his long years of study and experimentation, is through the breeding of bats. This book shows just how the breeding of bats can best be accomplished and how malaria can thus be rooted out. Illustrated. $3.00

The Demonstration Work

O. B. Martin

This book tells the story of a reformation on American farms and in American homes.

The author, Oscar Baker Martin, has been for a long time connected with this work through the United States Department of Agriculture, and is at present at the head of the demonstration work in the South. It is a distinct contribution to the literature of agriculture, home economics and education. $2.00

Geology in Its Relation to Landscape

Junius Henderson

Mr. Henderson's book reveals the fundamental causes of various sorts of scenery. No other book in the English language, if in any other, handles this particular subject as this one does. The discussion includes erosion and transportation of sediments; the rise and fall of continents; the wrinkling and breaking of the earth's crust; waterfalls, lakes, mountains, volcanoes and earthquakes; the work of frost, wind, streams, glaciers and the ocean's waves in producing and modifying scenery; the influence of geological phenomena upon the distribution of plants and animals, and how they, in turn, affect geological processes and conditions, the effect of geological phenomena upon man and his industries, civilization and history. Illustrated. $2.50

Essays, Text and Health Books

The Rural Schools of Norway
Arne Sigurd Jensen, Ph.D.

The purpose of this book is to trace the development of modern rural education in Norway, to describe its organization, administration and present problems and tendencies. $2.50

Sexual Apathy and Coldness in Women
Walter M. Gallichan

The author of this book has made a long and comprehensive study of the various causes and factors of an abnormality which is said to be increasing in the Western nations. Sexual apathy and coldness have far-reaching social consequences, and are the root-cause of much matrimonial unhappiness, separations, and divorce cases. This emotional resistance to conjugal love is chiefly the result of the misguidance of young women in the art of living, and of the lack of knowledge of the scientific bearings of sex, which is deplored by many leading thinkers and physicians of Europe and America. This volume is sympathetic in tone, and contains much valuable counsel for married persons. $2.50

Eating and Health
James J. Walsh, M. D., Ph.D., Sc.D.

A plain, common-sense volume for those who want to be healthy and stay healthy.

It's for the heavy and the light, the stout who want to lose weight and the thin who want to fill out.

It's for the mother who wants good, strong, healthy children.

It's for the overfed, the underfed, the poorly fed and the richly fed.

It's for everyone, because in the daily food and its simple regulation lies HEALTH. $1.50

Practical Health Talks
H. E. Gehman

Six essays, the underlying principle of which is that the basic is the physical element in man, and that the health and vigor of the body leads to mental and spiritual happiness. The data used in this book to defend the principle set forth, to clinch the argument used and to prove the theory advanced, is taken from a large collection of material gathered by the author through years of experience, observation, reading and investigation. The language is simple, so that it may be read by any person of average intelligence; its nature and character hygienic, economic, educational and inspirational; its tone moral, social and religious. $1.00

Opposite Borders
Clark R. McClelland

"Opposite Borders" is what the title implies. It is a series of sketches dealing with opposites: youth and old age; boys of yesterday and boys of today; industrial centers and the great open spaces of the west; the man who sees and the man who sees not; the intelligent, reliable horse and the outlaw. It carries you from coast to coast and from Canada to Mexico. "Opposite Borders" is a challenge to face the facts without simulation or dissimulation; to teach our children to stand on their feet; to set them a worthy example. It is facts—and facts are more interesting than fiction. $1.50

Books and Their Spiritual Value

George J. Donahue

For the general reader, this volume points to the beauty of books and the obvious joy of reading them. It pleads especially with Catholics to realize that the age is one of books. The author states that in some leaden or gray hour, a good book may prove for some of us "a very church, with angels lurking among the leaves." This is what he means by their spiritual value. 50c

The Poetry of the Mass

George J. Donahue

This book accentuates the contribution of Holy Mass to art. Hillaire Belloc says he knows no more cultural way of beginning each day than by hearing Mass. The author of this book states that Catholics do not go to Mass for artistic reasons, but that it may be an innocent aid to their faith and devotion to remember that the Mass is full of culture because full of grace. 50c

Editorial Silence

Robert T. Morris

Mr. Morris in his characteristic brilliant and vigorous style unmasks the forces behind the suppression and publication of news, especially in the "yellow" press. The author sees the press as a force for evil, where it might readily be a force for good. The book takes the reader behind the scenes of newspaper publication, revealing the sources of the filth that finds its way to the breakfast table every morning. The book is filled with incidents from a reporter's notebook, and represents an intensive study of a growing menace to our civilization. $2.50

Kismet

Alice May Youse

This book consists of love letters revealing a true romance of rare devotion and pure, ardent passion—an exaltation and renunciation possibly unexcelled in literature. "Kismet" is a vital factor in the consideration of one of the most important problems of the day—Modern Marriage (true mating, chastity, marital unrest). Illustrated. $3.00

Pathways to Success
Harvey A. Morrison

Stories of young people whose apparent opportunities were not equal to the average and who were inspired by the author to make their own chances. These graphic stories will grip the interest of the reader, opening up to him his own possibilities and inspiring him to put forth the effort necessary to accomplish them. $1.25

Half Hours With College Students
William A. Millis

A collection of essays by the President of Hanover College, Indiana, to help students in arriving at a consistent adjustment of their conflicts of thought, written in a direct and sympathetic manner. $2.00

Fundamental Principles of a Systematic Diagnosis of Dental Anomalies
Dr. Paul W. Simon (Translated by Dr. B. E. Lischer)

This book is a fundamental contribution to the subject of orthodontic diagnosis. It is a logical, scientific analysis of the art of differential diagnosis as applied in dental orthopedic practice. Illustrated. $5.00

Electronomy
T. B. Edgington, LL.D.

The general principles of Electronomy. The manner in which physical phenomena illustrate, sustain and establish each other so as to constitute one great harmonious body, constrains the author to consider Electronomy a discovery of the causes of the great body of physical phenomena and not a mere hypothesis concerning them. In this book he has shown that Electronomy reverses the existing order; that it builds from the bottom upward; that its reasoning is from cause to effect and not from effect to cause; that it has for its basis the recent discoveries in physical science; and that it gives to mankind a new heaven and a new earth. $2.00

How Popes Are Chosen and Other Essays
Fr. P. H. Gallen

An unusually interesting collection of essays, including: How Popes Are Chosen—Modernism—Father Cheverus in Northampton—The Gentle Art of Eating — The Pussy Cat of the Baby Jesus — Eve and Her Daughters—The Resurrectionists—The Ancient Harp of Erin—Cursory Notes on Swearing. $1.50

Messages of Music
Henry Brenner, O.S.B.

This volume consists of explanations, in story form, of three hundred compositions of music. These stories are written with the particular purpose of enabling music lovers and musicians to enter into the correct mood-atmosphere of the compositions in question. The author has had the advantage of being reared in an atmosphere of artistic beauty by relatives of highly musical aspirations. These circumstances awakened those sympathies with the beauties of nature that have since spurred him on to spend the time and labor necessary for the completion of so practical and thorough a book as "Messages of Music." $5.00

Lessons From the Out-of-Doors

Ida M. Folsom

This book is the result of years of natural science teaching, and answers many questions which keen-eyed children and thinking adults are asking about common, every-day phenomena. It contains suggestions for the teaching of natural science, a carefully prepared list of questions often asked by children, a thoughtful suggestion of projects, and fifty well planned and carefully worded lessons, together with hints for the selection and use of the materials to be presented with the lessons. While it is especially designed for the use of teachers, "Lessons from the Out-of-Doors" will appeal to all nature lovers. Illustrated. $2.00

Juvenile

Youth's Enchantment

Suzane Taylor

Illustrated by Jacques Souriau of Paris

These delightful verses will give entertainment and pleasure to children from three to ten years of age. $1.50

Moonbeam and Starlight

Florence E. Eakman

Of these poems the author writes: "I have tried to depict in simple, easily understood verse the daily occurrences of every child's life. I am sure there is no one who has not loved to make mud-pies or dress their dollies in hollyhocks. Then, too, I think we have all been shut-ins from an attack of mumps, or a victim of toothache. And how many times we have been discouraged at our inability to find a suitable 'piece' to speak in school. It has been great fun to write the many little poems in my book and I hope if my little friends enjoy them they will write and tell me so." Illustrated. $1.50

Philosophy and Religion

A Catholic Looks at Life
James J. Walsh, M.D., Ph. D.

Life is a kaleidoscope of many colors. No two people interpret it in quite the same way, each one's outlook being colored by his race, profession, political affiliations, religious convictions, etc. In recent years we have had a panorama of present day life reviewed by a physician. Now comes Dr. Walsh, the eminent Catholic writer, and reviews life from the Catholic standpoint. And what a fascinating review it is! At the present time, when Catholicism is being re-examined both from within and from without, this book should have a universal appeal. $2.50

The Beautiful Sunset of Life
J. G. Waggoner

This book leads the reader through the earlier years to mature old age. It will relieve the depressing influences of the weight of many years, with suggestions of intelligent activities and the enjoyment of the genuine comforts to which he is entitled.

It is a book that may be read with profit by people of any age, but it is a gem of blessing to those in life's evening. $1.50

God? or Lucifer?
Cecil Doyle

This book is a lay and scientific explanation of the struggle between Right and Wrong from the dawn of Creation until the present time, treating at intervals with questions which confront mankind in general.

The author shows what conditions were just before Adam's sin and what they have been since the fall of Adam from God's Friendship. That ever since Adam's day Lucifer has tried to cause the damnation of every soul, and that unless a soul is helped by God it will become a slave of Lucifer.

"We must either obey God or obey Lucifer," says the author. If humanity obeys Lucifer, the time will come when the world will become so sinful that God will destroy the universe; then the General Judgment will take place which will sentence every soul to its eternal reward. $5.00

The Agnostics' Anthology
Clarence Darrow and Wallace Rice

"The Agnostics' Anthology" has been compiled and written by Clarence Darrow and Wallace Rice, and contains copious selections from the writings of the great scientists who first adopted the name of Agnostic to define their attitude towards human research and knowledge, supplemented by numerous and varied excerpts of all ages, both ancient and modern, the compilers themselves contributing.

This pleasant and thoughtful volume has full tables and indexes.
$3.50

The Ten Commandments Today

Frederick David Niedermeyer

Are the Ten Commandments binding today?

This is a question frequently asked, and to which Dr. Niedermeyer gives an answer in his book.

The main purpose of this book is to set forth the meaning of the Ten Commandments, and to make such applications as are pertinent to present conditions. $1.50

According to John Through the Loud Speaker

Fernand E. d'Humy

In order that the busy person may easily understand the lesson which the author believes John intended to transmit, the author has slightly modified and amplified the language of the King James translation of the Fourth Gospel without altering the meaning.

The author has also extracted from each chapter a valuable lesson which he aphorically gives accompanied by an appropriate illustration.

This work should be of material help to all readers, especially to those interested in metaphysical subjects. 22 illustrations. $2.50

The Essentials of the Christian Faith

Hugh R. Magill

The vital and indispensable elements of the Christian faith as gleaned from the authenticated records of the life and teachings of Jesus Christ and His apostles.

The author demonstrates that God is, and that He is infinitely supreme in all the universe. He states that there is no caprice with God; that He had a purpose in creating man; that this purpose is fully revealed and effectuated through Jesus Christ, God's Son; and that Christ is the "express image of the divine substance," the one perfect expression of God known to men. $2.00

The Son of the Living God

Reuben Nordsten

A view of the Meaning of the Life and Teaching of Jesus Christ.

The author explains who Jesus Christ was, and what His relation to God and to humanity was and is, in order that we may fully appreciate the life of Jesus and the value of Christianity. $2.00

Transcendent Evolution

Oscar Francis Broman

The author's main object in writing this book is to point out the interrelationship that exists between Science and Religion, both having a common origin. He shows that this interrelationship can be appreciated only by a full understanding and evaluation of both these subjects.

Nothing is set forth which can be construed as being antagonistic to either Religion or Science, but the former is brought down to humanity's level and the latter is made to assume a greater dignity. $2.00

Tradition and the Church

George Agius

The task that the author has undertaken in this book is to interpret the Tradition of the Church in such an unmistakable manner as to bridge the age-long chasm between the various sects of Christianity. It is the author's contention that the doctrines of the Apostles and of the first Christians must be accepted as final, and that, if these doctrines are thus accepted, there will no longer be any ground for dispute among the adherents of the various Christian denominations. $4.00

Great Sermons of the World

Compiled and Edited by Rev. Clarence E. Macartney

"How can I get the most interesting material for my next sermon or lecture?"

This is the question which confronts every preacher and speaker continually. And the most obvious answer to this question is:

By reading and digesting and making your own the "Great Sermons of the World."

Here is what Henry Ward Beecher said on this subject:

"I was a great reader of the old sermonizers. . . . I received a vast amount of instruction from those old sermonizers who were as familiar to me as my own name. I preached a great many sermons while reading these old men, and upon their discourses I have founded the framework of my own."

There is no better way to gather the material and to prepare the presentation of a sermon than by assimilating the best sermons that have been preached in the past, and that still have a vital and never-ending appeal.

These great sermons of the world are collected in this volume. Each sermon is preceded by a brief biographical sketch about the preacher of that sermon. $3.50

Nothing finer has been printed for many years. The jacket of the book is of gold paper. But the content is of genuine gold.—New York Times.

Adjustment of Law to Life in Rabbinic Literature

Solomon Zucrow

In this book the author indicated the methods by which Judaism has always safely adjusted itself to the demands of life. By following a proper historical perspective we find an unfailing guide, enabling us to harmonize the fundamental tenets of our ancient faith with the requirements of modern life. To all thoughtful Jews it must be obvious that American Judaism manifests a most serious maladjustment between life and religion. Even the professing Orthodox Jew must admit that between the demands of religion and the call of modern American life the chasm is widening daily. Can this discrepancy be remedied? $1.50

The Problem of Jesus

Clyde L. Kuhn, Minister of the First Congregational Church, Strongsville, Ohio

A book of life for all who live.

A book boldly setting forth things known and experienced and charmingly inviting to experience and knowledge.

A biography of Jesus in the life of today compared with his biography fifty years after his crucifixion.

Sin, salvation, prayer, faith, personality, psychic and factual reality, the mystery of life, the church, the origin, teachings, hard sayings, rejection, crucifixion and eternal life of Jesus, God with us and God beyond us,—these are the themes of this book. $3.50

Chats on Christian Names

Rev. A. M. Grussi

Each of these chats gives the signification and a historical account of a Christian name. A practical application is made of the meaning (or meanings) of the name according to the teachings of the Catholic faith.

These articles will furnish wholesome, instructive and interesting reading to all who value the Christian names by which they are called, whether the readers be Catholics or not. However, the book is intended chiefly for daily spiritual reading—not only in the home, but in parochial schools, colleges and academies. $3.00

Before, Behind (and Bigger Than) the Bible

Samuel Hamill Wood

In this book the author expresses the idea that some kind of intelligent power, in the affairs of the universe of which this world is only part, is far older than the Bible: that this power is not merely older than the Bible, but that it is also greater than any other power in the universe; and that the Bible, in any language, becomes for us the greatest book in the world for the study of this eternal power of God, if only we use not knowledge but wisdom in its study. By retelling such familiar Bible stories as those of Jacob and Esau, Moses, the Book of Esther, etc., the author brings out the fundamental ideas as expressed above. $1.50

The Prophet Jonah

Rev. G. E. Hageman

An unusually interesting exposition and interpretation of the major event in the life of this minor prophet. Originally delivered as eight sermons, the work is unique for its wealth of detail and its excellent interpretation of one of the most remarkable of Biblical stories. Dr. Hageman has in this book made a complete revelation of the true meaning of the first punishment of Jonah for his disobedience to the commands of the Lord, and his second punishment for his subbornness. This work of Dr. Hageman is remarkable for its thoroughness, its depth of thought, and its strength of religious feeling. $1.25

War Against War or the Joys of Peace

Daniel Allard

A clear and honest description of the greatest character in the New Testament. The author is convinced that no man—rich or poor—can really find a lasting peace or hope without Jesus, Who, he claims, has helped him in his struggles against his biggest sins, and as a sinner who believes in Jesus he knows how to describe the Prodigal Son, Mary Magdalene and other sinners. $1.50

The Problem of the Christian State

John A. W. Haas, President of Muhlenberg College

This book deals with the problem of the state and the relation of Christianity to it. After a historical review of many theories and actual situations, through the selection of the outstanding political thinkers and leaders, modern difficulties which hinder the Christian ideal of the state are outlined. The suggestion is finally made that we need a new theory of the state based upon the ideal of the Kingdom of God. $2.00

Assisi of Saint Francis and Other Essays of Italy

Joseph F. Wickham

This book presents Assisi and its saint in a most fascinating manner. The spell of the Umbrian hills and valleys has touched the author's soul with a poet's rapture, and he writes his essays with a blended insight and fancy that makes his words alive with vividness and his idylls of Italy a story of sheer beauty. Assisi is the title-essay; but the author is equally happy in his interpretations of other places in Italy—Perugia, Siena, Florence, Ravenna, Bologna, Verona, and Lake Como. $2.00

Reason and Religion

Dr. H. Cerf Straus

The purpose of this book is to bring about a better understanding of both religion and science; to place them both on such a plane where they can and will co-operate with one another, yes more, that they will each strengthen the arguments of the other. All this is done without undermining in the least manner the true significance of or belief in either one, but rather to bring into their realms the loftiness, the purity, and the wholesomeness of each other. $1.00

Whence Comest Thou? Whither Goest Thou?

Rev. Leonard W. A. Luckey, Ph.D.

An exceedingly honest, interesting and helpful account of the Creation of the Universe and the Genesis of Man. A faithful representation of the true dignity and distinction of man, showing the great difference between the human and animal creation, and noting the reasonable evidences for the human immortality. $2.00

A Treatise on Conscience

Charles Scaer, A.M.

The book is based upon the logic of moral and mental science, yet in harmony with the Bible.

The author says "The various and wrong conceptions of the term Conscience, and the indifference toward its functions in practical life has induced me to write and to have published this treatise." 50c

Christ at the Phone

Charles A. Jenkens

A book unique in its subject matter and treatment. It discusses the life to come, the experience of death, the passage to Paradise, and the wonders met there. It also has much to say on the questions of the hour. $2.00

Jesus Himself Drew Near

Carrie Adams Berry

In "Jesus Himself Drew Near" various modern types, from the little child to the sophisticated man of the world, from the discouraged and skeptical to the humble saint and the successful preacher are granted a vision of the Christ and hear from Him the words most suited to their needs. These words are all quotations from Christ, recorded in the four gospels. $1.25

The Problem of Evil and Sufferings

Jeremiah Zimmerman, D.D., LL.D.

A Solution and the Antidote

The author's supreme motive in writing this book has been to inspire faith in God, by justifying the ways of God with man. He states that the antidote for all the evils of life is to seek the kingdom of God and His righteousness, and ever to keep Christ in view. $2.00

Vital Modifications of Religious Thought

Granville Ross Pike

In "Vital Modifications of Religious Thought," the most vital is its demonstration that religion rests upon deep and universal foundations. This enables the reader to unify its divergencies, discover common ground in its varied manifestations, and recognize science itself as a true revelation, declaring unto religion a fuller understanding of that God—often ignorantly—Whom it has always worshipped. The author has, in these pages, sought to describe a world-wide quickening of religion in terms of accepted scientific thought, by showing what is becoming effective by making the church an agency in ministering to the diverse needs of modern men. $1.50

Church Quarrels: How Ended

Ezra P. Giboney, D.D.

This book deals with the controversies that arise in the administrative work of our American Protestant churches. The author approaches these questions from the practical view-point and speaks out of a wide range of personal experience. The book will prove useful in the hands of young pastors and church officers as they study how to maintain the peace and harmony of the congregations under their care. $1.50

Monkeys and Myths

S. E. Busser

An endeavor to reconcile Science and Christianity and to outline the future of a Christian evolutionist. The author endeavors to make a plain statement of the situation as it stands today with respect to Christ, the people and scientific investigation. $2.00

The Chums and Their Powwows

Rev. Richard B. Hassell

This is a suitable and helpful gift book for a young man. In it a small group of young men, who are about to enter upon the serious studies and important duties of life, meet together informally and usually with their chummy friend, the secretary of the Y. M. C. A. Their discussions of the problems, in thought and conduct, which confront a young man today will be found interesting and inspiring. It is a fine appeal to manly endeavor.

The author has always been in intimate, friendly touch with young people. He has himself traveled the splendid, onward road and sympathizes with—and understands—the heart of the youthful entrant upon it. $2.00

Under the Ban

Alonzo Robert Love

This book is an exhaustive treatise of twenty subjects, beginning with the Creation and closing with Heaven. The intervening chapters deal with Immortality, Evolution, The Millennium, and other religious matters.

The author has accomplished a monumental work in incorporating into one volume such an accumulation of facts and quotations. The book is a veritable encyclopedia of opinions and expressions and is the result of years of reading, study and research. $3.00

The Three Eee's

A Treatise of New Thought

Rev. Clement D. Brown, M.A.

This treatise is a protest against so much guesswork that is written under the name of Science. The author states that the world is "flooded with the stuff"; that almost every day some new wonderful discovery is chronicled as having been made in one part or other of the country; that pre-historic skeletons of animals that are supposed to have lived, not only before all history, but millions and millions of years ago, are exhibited by men who know nothing about them. The book is divided into three parts, entitled "Earthy," "Ether" and "Evolution" respectively. It shows that all the guesswork produced in the name of Science does not affect true religion. $1.00

Poetry

Dreams of Love and Life

John W. Boldyreff

A collection of striking poems of love and life written in distinctive style. A number of these have a fascinating exotic setting. $1.50

Contemporary American Poets

Edited by H. C. Baker

A collection of distinctive poems written by the present day poets of America. $3.50

Poems on Chicago and Illinois

Horace Spencer Fiske

This is an artistic, illustrated volume of poems, celebrating the spirit and achievement of the indomitable City by the Lake, and opening with a song to Illinois. Chicago, so long represented as a city given over to commercialism, is shown to be alive with poetic suggestion. $1.50

These Things I Love

Mary Wentworth King

These little songs would sing to the reader of the sweet gladness and deep pulsings of the earth. $1.50

For You

Jennie M. Tabb

The poems in this book are simple in subject and in structure. There are little quatrains that speak of dear home ties and the bonds of friendship, a few sonnets that reach the heart in various moods, and a few songs and poems in a lighter vein. One of the chief attractions of the verse of Father Tabb (the author's uncle) was its brevity. In this characteristic these poems resemble his—they are so short and so simple that they are easily impressed upon the reader's memory. $1.00

Gleanings of the Seasons

Eulah E. Hannah

The poems in this volume are gleanings of thought blending in local color, revealing a few of the mysteries that the author feels may be hidden beneath the force and order of things. She has also voiced a few sentiments of the great out-doors. Each poem in turn changes in style suiting the rhythm and metre to the nature of the poem. Illustrated. $1.00

Along the Trail

Ulmer S. Bird

These poems deal mainly with western and college life. The verse forms are varied, simple and breezy—with a western freedom of expression. Illustrated. $1.50

Adolescent Thoughts

Jerome Haskell

The youthful author writes of this volume of poems: "I cannot but feel that these poems are extremely diversified, but, at the same time, it should be remembered that the mind of youth is fickle and dreams several dreams at once." $2.00

Hawaiian Days and Holidays and Days of Long Ago

Mary Dillingham Frear

In this book of poems the author has etched her lyrical days on the opulence of Hawaii with blitheness and sincerity. The volume is profusely illustrated by Jessie Shaw Fisher. $1.50

Many Moods

Marjorie Louise Wolfe

These poems, which contain many a human as well as fanciful touch, will stimulate the reader or make him feel mentally relaxed. $1.00

Lines of Thought

Charles William Hetzler

This book is marked by compact thought, keen insight and vivid imagination. The philosopher speaks in most of the lines, and yet it is a philosopher who never for a moment forgets that he is a poet, too. Throughout the verses, unique thought is wedded to beautiful expression. For example, note the line in the poem, To the Kingfisher: "Thy landscape is thy literature."

It is for such intuitive glimpses in the realm of hidden thought, so beautifully expressed, that this book is especially remarkable. $1.50

Voices Underneath

Ernestine Cobern Beyer (Maria Conde)

A collection of verses covering a wide range of expression, but all marked with originality and freshness. They vary from the subtly humorous to the lightly serious and include a few poems of a reverential character.

Mrs. Beyer's verses have a rhythmical and alliterative quality which makes them particularly adaptable to music, and a number of them have been so arranged by well-known composers. In fact, Mrs. Beyer (or Maria Conde, as she is known on the operatic and concert stage) finds the writing of lyrics merely "another way of singing." $1.50

Poems of Everyday Life

Camet B. Cox

This collection of poems deals with plain, humble life. It touches upon a number of experiences which have loomed up on the horizon of the writer's mental visage. The tiny threads of thought contained in each of the poems, when woven into one continuous fabric, will give a conception of the author's idea of man and his place in the world. $1.00

Branches to the Sky

Sylvia Bateman

This is a collection of charming poems, with youthful verve, balanced by a fine philosophy and deep thinking. The poems are short, finely polished and moulded with concise thoughtfulness. Spring, budding time, trees, sea and mountains, music and friends are among the subjects. $1.50

Forget-Me-Nots

Eleanor Dollyvarden Bell

The author of this book sees God in His heaven, beauty even in sorrow, and good in everything. These poems are a pure expression of her faith. Her very soul is mirrored in the quiet sincerity of these simple and sweet forget-me-nots. $2.00

The Eight-Barred Gate

Dayton Thomas Gould

These poems represent the conclusions of one well seasoned in the school of experience—set to verse and illustrated to represent the mental picture of the event as seen by the writer. Every subject has the atmosphere of one who views life from the summit of eighty years. The tone of the book is distinctly religious without being morbid, and the hymns (of which there are three) are filled with an unshakable confidence in an all-surrounding and loving Providence. Illustrated. $2.00

Will-O'-The-Wisps

Emma Peirce

These poems are veritable gems, through which the author shows us the beauty and grandeur of Nature. Every Nature lover will find joy in these poems. $1.50

Miscellaneous

An-nik'-a-del'

Dr. C. Hart Merriam

These stories constitute the religious beliefs of the Pit River Indians. They introduce the reader to unknown deities and demons conspicuous among whom was An-nik'-a-del', a kindly divinity who went about through the air on missions of good will, discovered another world, was killed, and came to life again.

They tell also of Edechewe the Traveler, who toward the close of the astonishing career vanquished the demons of the air — The Thunder Brothers, the Lightning Brothers and the Whirlwind; of Ahmahl the Flower-maiden, a fragile creature made of the shadow spirits of flowers; of Kwahn the Silver-fox-man and Walow'tah the Cloud-maiden; of Ja'mul the Coyote-man, a great chief gifted with amazing powers of magic and accompanied on his travels by the Raven Doctors who, whenever he was killed, brought him back to life by pecking at his eyes.

These and many other myths go to make up this unique book. $2.00

Robert Edward Lee

R. Alexander Bate

The purpose of this tragedy is to give an epitome of General Robert E. Lee in the Confederacy—one that will maintain a concrete conception of his work and the ways of his people.

The argument of this play is based upon Thomas Nelson Page's Robert E. Lee, Man and Soldier, "the exquisite style and expression of which unconsciously develop rhythm." $1.50

King or Shepherd?

By W. M. Forrest, Professor of Biblical Literature, University of Virginia

Here at last is something new under the sun. The gorgeously beautiful Song of Songs, which has been so bafflingly obscure, is now made clear to the understanding of every reader. This book presents the Song as a complete drama, which moves along from first to last in a delightful sequence of parts, with its characters all named, and its plot skilfully unfolded. What was lacking before has been supplied, and what was formerly in confusion has been clarified.

This book will prove a new revelation to the Bible reader and will delight the lover of poetry and drama and pageantry. $1.00

NEW BOOKS OF 1927

To Be Uniform With "It Can Be Done"

The Light of the World

Poems of Faith and Consolation

Collected by JOSEPH MORRIS
and
ST. CLAIR ADAMS

READY
AUG., 1928

This book—the fourth in the series of which "It Can Be Done," "Facing Forward" and "Silver Linings," are the preceding volumes—is intended as a cap-sheaf for the set. The poems are at once higher and deeper than those in the previous books—higher in that they express the innate longing in the hearts of men for a rational and beneficent Deity, and deeper in that they plumb the mysteries of human life.

The poets have always been the world's true prophets. Here they have written of God as revealed in nature, as affirmed by the intimations of the divine in man, as holding forth the hope of immortality. In addition, many of the poems inculcate the Christian virtues of love and service.

While this book is frankly spiritual, it is in no wise sectarian nor denominational. Its purpose is to foster a satisfying faith in God and to bring consolation to those who have suffered, and abiding peace to those who have known life's deepest sorrows. To all these it would proclaim this message: I am the Way and the Light, and I am the Comforter.

Supreme Letter Writer

A Complete Guide to Letter Writing for Ladies and Gentlemen

By CAY VERNON

READY
AUG., 1928

The use of a Letter-Writer has hitherto been confined to a small number of people, who, unable to construct an intelligible sentence for themselves, turn gladly to a handbook of examples whenever the necessity of writing a letter arises. But it is indisputable that there are many others who find themselves at a loss when called upon to deal by correspondence with some subject new to them.

This book contains over 300 model letters for correct invitations, acceptances, regrets, announcements, condolences, appreciations, hospitality and every kind of social correspondence, including examples of modern up-to-date business letters for ladies and gentlemen. With forms of address of executives of state and church dignitaries.

A Thousand Interesting Questions Answered

By GEORGE W. STIMPSON

An amazing compilation of authentic answers to unusual and interesting questions which daily arise in the minds of people in all walks of life. It gives hundreds of legends, traditions, superstitions and misconceptions their proper status in respect to established facts. He who reads this book will be well informed and always supplied with fascinating topics for conversation. It is an ideal work for debaters, lecturers, ministers and other public speakers. Leaders in social clubs and religious and political organizations will find it indispensable. With it teachers can hold their pupils spellbound. Those who write or aspire to write should not be without this volume. An editor's or lawyer's library without it would be incomplete. "Nuggets of Knowledge" is the result of years of painstaking research. Thousands of authorities and original sources were consulted in its preparation. The Departments, Bureaus and Commissions of the Federal Government at Washington; the leading libraries and museums in the United States, as well as many abroad; the archives of many State and foreign governments, and most of our important historical, scientific and industrial institutions and organizations—all have contributed toward making this the most remarkable and authentic book of interesting information ever compiled. It states scientific and technical ideas in plain, concise and understandable language. A thorough index makes everything in the volume readily accessible.

Schermerhorn's Stories

1500 Anecdotes from Forty Years of After-Dinner Speaking

All have been applause-picked and laughter-tested by the compiler and classifier, the founder and former publisher of the Detroit Times, and America's foremost after-dinner favorite.

James Schermerhorn knows his anecdotes. For long he has regaled his readers and convulsed his hearers with them. He inclines to the Lincolnesque use of parables to illustrate a thought, point a moral and adorn a tale.

Just as much as Aesop's Fables and Poor Richard's Almanack, he feels these merry quips should live because their ministry of mirth is for all time.

Topical groupings make the stories instantly available for speakers and writers who would pass on the joy of them to others.

Paris With the Lid Lifted

By BRUCE REYNOLDS
Author of "A Cocktail Continentale"

THE REAL PARIS—

Paris, France.
Not Paris, America.
Paris with the Lid Lifted.
Paris Pipin' Hot.

The peppy, purplish, palpitating Paris that all true joy-seekers yearn to see. There is

NONE OF THE "HIGH BROW" IN THIS BOOK

What this book tells you is, "How to Have a Good Time" in Paris, and not only How, but Where and When, and all you need is Money and Alibis. (Alibis for the wife, if you couldn't leave her at home.) The money you must scrape together, yourself, but on a certain page herein, you will find a list of 10 Alibis that have been tried and tested, and are guaranteed to work.

This, a book for that congenial, convivial, liberal-minded, liberal-pursed person, who believes that pleasures were made to grasp and not to reject; who knows how to take hold of a good time and wring it dry; and who doesn't quibble over pennies.

In short, who comes to Paris to enjoy Paris; to play in Paris; to love Paris.

In here you will see Paris, as Paris is. We pull back the curtain, call a Spade a Spade. What is written here, is Truth.

If you are one of us—come along.

If we understand each other and you want to go to Paris and Play, and just live life at its peak, and see everything and do everything, and you have the liberal mind to take it as it is—and the money to buy it, and if you want Paris, inside-out, "Paris—with the Lid Lifted"—you are now going to get it. But this trip is not for Goody-goods, or crepe-hangers, or hard-shells, or nose-tossers. We must all be great friends and all enter into the spirit of the party, with a snap. There will be no place for slow-movers. Now—off we go to take a fast, furious, fun-packed Joy Ride through Paris.

House of Happiness

By B. Y. WILLIAMS

FIRST COLLECTION IN BOOK FORM of poems by B. Y. Williams, well-known writer of verse for magazines and periodicals in America and Great Britain. Many of these poems have been made into songs, some have been used for pageants, some are favorites with public speakers, and all find their way to the heart of the reader.

This author's work has the unusual combination of singing beauty and popular appeal that entitles it to rank among the year's really successful books. One of those rare books of verse wherein one loves to read every poem for its pleasing technique and literary art, every word for its poignant picture and tender charm.

Sometimes startling in clear-cut delineations of life's situations as in "The China Tea Set," sometimes compelling in gentle humor as in "Bedtime Stories," sometimes vibrant with tenderness as in "I Know a Friendly Maple Tree," but carrying always the note of inspiration sounded by the title poem, "House of Happiness."

Every lover of poetry will enjoy and value this book.

Flutes of Childhood

By THOMAS EMMET MOORE

Emerson Venable, noted Shakespearean scholar, and author of the widely known critical anthology "Poets of Ohio" (which includes a biographical sketch of Thomas Emmet Moore, with selections from his verse), writes the following appraisal of the volume "Flutes of Childhood": " 'Lo, here a little volume but great book!' The poems in this collection not only sustain the reputation of their author as an accomplished lyricist, but establish his place in that beloved company of singers who, with voices ever young, chant the undying melodies of youth and childhood. Not since the passing of Eugene Field has there been breathed into song so tender a plea as is heard in these haunting flute-notes of Thomas Emmet Moore."

Lovers of children will rejoice in the reading of these poems, for the reason, above all, they possess that human quality that goes direct to the heart.

We feel the gladness of the little soul and with it something of the ache of the departed magic, which from us, who have known those marvelous days, has been transferred to the generation now playing at our feet. For all who fondly cling to the sweet visions of youth, these poems must ever point the glimmering road to childhood, white under the summer moon.

Twenty Different Adventures of

Cohen on the Telephone and other samples of Hebrew Humor

Written and Compiled by JOE HAYMAN

This book has been compiled for "laughing purposes only" and it must not be accepted as a serious literary effort.

The author is the originator of the "Cohen on the Telephone" series of gramaphone records. His "Are you dere" has been a catchword on this side ever since his records were first made and over one and a half million "Cohen" records have been sold in the United States alone.

His book is this year's best seller in London and although it was only published a few weeks ago, it already is in its fourth edition.

Principles of

Auction and Contract Bridge

By BERNARD BROWN

Philadelphia Expert and Radio Broadcaster from Station W.I.P.

A new simplified presentation of bridge and contract bridge, authoritative, up-to-date and complete. Arranged in orderly sequence from the easiest understood principles to the most difficult, illustrating all of these with actual hands, compiled from years of experience. Finessing, stripping, quick tricks, convention of bidding, doubles, rule of eleven, correct first leads, advanced plays such as the squeeze play are all explained in untechnical language. The rapidly growing contract bridge is fully analyzed. The new official laws of bridge and contract are included. A short cut to good bridge, unusually clear to the average player, a special part included for the beginner, and a fine collection of hands for the expert.

Your Face Is Your Fortune

By DEAN BRYDEN

A short-cut to character reading. As simple as A. B. C., and as fascinating as black magic! One just reads the questions, classifies the features and turns to the answer in the back of the book. Nothing to study! Nothing to memorize! Nothing to get wrong! As a party stunt it can't fail until human beings cease to be human.

As a book to give a friend starting on a journey, it can scarcely be surpassed. For how can one be bored while one holds in one's hand the key to the character of every interesting stranger one meets?

The Riddle of the Irish

By J. CHARTRES MOLONY
Author of "A Book of South India"

In this book the author gives an impartial and suggestive account of Irish life, history, politics and religion. He neither threatens the reader with the shillelah of the frenzied southerner, nor wearies him by beating the big drum of the northerner. Irishmen of every opinion and creed should read this book —it will give them something to denounce. The average person will find in it the truth, lightened by humor.

In the Wake of the Wind Ships

By FREDERICK WILLIAM WALLACE

Author of "Blue Water," "Captain Salvation," "Wooden Ships and Iron Men," etc.

In this volume Frederick William Wallace continues and completes the fascinating history of maritime shipping so well begun in "Wooden Ships and Iron Men." Born of seafaring folk, raised in an atmosphere of ships and salt water, this Scotch-Canadian has acquired an expert's knowledge of what Old Ocean holds in its depths, as well as a varied acquaintance with the ways of craft and sailormen. He knows the merchantmen of sail and steam; he is a "Banksman" of practical experience who has endured the hazards of the life; he has designed fishing vessels and commanded them, in addition to heading expeditions for the working of far-off fishing grounds.

Milly-Molly-Mandy Stories

Written and Illustrated by JOYCE LANKESTER BRISLEY

These stories, for children between the ages of five and ten, first appeared in the "Christian Science Monitor." Their success was such that countless letters were received by the editor from young readers in all parts of the world saying how much the stories were appreciated and asking for their publication in book form. Miss Brisley's illustrations are as apt and attractive as the homely touches in her tales, and there is a delightful map of the village where Milly-Molly-Mandy lived that must endear itself to all children.

Umingmuk of the Barrens

By FRANCIS DICKIE

Here is a real discovery—a delightful book of animal stories that challenge comparison with the nature stories of Ernest Thompson Seton. Umingmuk was a young musk ox who saw his herd trapped into captivity and found himself alone in his freedom. He lived to fend for himself in thrilling adventure, and finally to make his way into a stranger herd. His story is full of Nature lore and the drama of the wild. There are others, mostly dogs; an Airedale who overcame his great fear of water; a black fox, reared by a man, an appealing mixture of wild and tame; an eskimo dog, torn between his instincts for the wild and the defense of man; a fox terrier who fought a rattlesnake gamely to a finish. These stories are the work of a real lover of animals, handled with an appeal that gets right home.

It Can Be Done

Poems of Inspiration

Collected by JOSEPH MORRIS AND ST. CLAIR ADAMS

Selections from the best poems of Edgar A. Guest, Robert W. Service, Walt Mason, Sam Walter Foss, Rudyard Kipling, Edmund Vance Cooke, Ella Wheeler Wilcox and Everard Jack Appleton, James Whitcomb Riley, Frank L. Stanton and others.

There is more optimism and inspiration crammed between the lids of this book then we have seen in print anywhere. If it is true that "a friend doubles our joys and halves our sorrows," this book should become a real friend. It is so intensely human that continued reading of it will make its pages more than paper and ink—its courage and faith and cheer will become a living part of the reader, and the world will be better, our friends happier, and we stronger because of our belief that what should be done can be done. Public speakers will find this volume well-nigh indispensable.—From The Lookout, January 1, 1922.

Facing Forward

Poems of Courage

Collected by

JOSEPH MORRIS and ST. CLAIR ADAMS

Compilers of "It Can Be Done," "Book of Baby Verse," "Book of Mother Verse"

This book, having for its theme courage, is issued as a companion volume to "It Can Be Done," Poems of Inspiration. This compilation has been done with all the conspicuous merit that has made the former book the best selling collection of poetry since Palgrave's "Golden Treasury." Not a single poem is duplicated, but such popular authors of the former volume as Kipling, Wilcox, Guest, Mason, Foss, Appleton, Stanton, Riley and a host of others are again represented. Its binding and type are identical with the previous volume, and every person who has bought "It Can Be Done" will want this new book by the same compilers.

With such a theme as courage, the poets have indeed written well. That indomitable power that has carried mankind over all its trials and difficulties is here given noble expression; and with a reading of this book you will face forward with a faith that will overcome obstacles before you, that will brighten the darkness that sometimes gathers round you, that will help bring you the rewards of the man who marches valiantly onward.

Silver Linings

Poems of Hope and Cheer

Collected by

JOSEPH MORRIS and S. CLAIR ADAMS

Compilers of "It Can Be Done," "Facing Forward," etc.

This book, having hope and cheer for its theme, is issued as a companion volume to "It Can Be Done" and "Facing Forward." The present compilation has been done with the same conspicuous merit as distinguished the two previous volumes. The compilers have studiously avoided the duplication of any material in these three volumes, although, as in the two previous books, poems from popular writers of the day—as Riley, Foss, Wilcox, Foley, Stanton, Braley, Kiser, Gillilan, Mason, and many others—are combined with selections from the older authors. The distinct feature of the former anthologies, the headings to the poems, has been retained. Biographical material is given about each author.

This collection of verse is permeated with a healthy and sensible optimism—that optimism which contributes so much to making the world a better place to live in. It is a book to pick up when days are unavoidably dark, when the spirit is trailing in the dust. The poets here represented have sung with a belief in the sunrise; and their sturdy notes of hope and cheer will ever be a tonic to the soul.

A Little Book of Friendship

Collected by JOSEPH MORRIS and ST. CLAIR ADAMS

Here are assembled in convenient form the great prose writing on friendship by the outstanding authors on the subject: Cicero, Montaigne, Francis Bacon, Jeremy Taylor, Joseph Addison, Eustace Budgell, Samuel Johnson, Ralph Waldo Emerson, Henry David Thoreau, Hugh Black, and David Grayson. The selections are prefaced with full introductions which discuss and contrast the writer's views on friendship, and give the background for a literary appreciation of the essays. At the back of the book are extensive biographies of the writers, and there are eight full-page pictures of the leading essayists on the subject.

This book brings together material hitherto scattered in various volumes, and some of it, such as that by Taylor, Addison and Budgell not easily accessible.

The Book of Friendship Verse

Collected by Joseph Morris and St. Clair Adams

There are few words that kindle a more ready response than the word Friendship. As one well-known man has said, "The very page on which it is printed seems warmer and more cheerful." Such is the power of Friendship to transfer its lambent glow even to cold print.

This book aims to be a representative collection of the poems on this subject. There are selections from the old and honored names in English and American literature, but along side of these are verses by many popular, present-day writers. Along with Shakespeare and Tennyson the reader will find poems by Eugene Field, James Whitcomb Riley, and Edgar A. Guest.

Some of the best things written about Friendship is in prose. That is, it is prose in form, but in essence there is much poetry in the famous essays on the subject. The compilers feel that the book would be incomplete withtout some representation from the essays of Cicero, Montaigne, Thoreau, Emerson, and a few others. Accordingly some of this material has been added in the latter part of the book. At the very back of the book will be found the best quotations and sayings on Friendship.

The Book of Baby Verse

Collected by

Joseph Morris and St. Clair Adams

Compilers of "It Can Be Done"

Van Dyck's world-famous picture "Baby Stuart" in original colors, serves as a frontispiece for the volume.

This book brings together the best poetry written about babies. Breadth of appeal has been attained by including verse ranging from the distinctly classical poems of William Blake to selections of such beloved modern writers as Riley, Field, Wilcox and Guest.

The book makes an ideal gift to the young mother. In its pages she will find the deep and beautiful things she feels about her baby, said as only the poets can say them. It gives poetic expression not only to the beauty, innocence, and spiritual meaning of a baby, but to its joys at playing peek-a-boo, its playthings, its attempts at utterance, its first step, that wonderful first tooth, all the little incidents in a baby's life that are watched and talked about by its parents.

The Book of Mother Verse

Collected by Joseph Morris & St. Clair Adams

Compilers of "It Can Be Done," "Book of Baby Verse," "Book of Friendship Verse."

This book brings together the best poetry written about mothers and motherhood—poems that express the love she evokes and the still greater love she bestows. Some of the pieces represent high literary excellence, but alongside these are many whose chief commendation is their long and sure appeal to the human heart. Among the many writers represented the reader will find such universally esteemed names as Riley, Field, Guest, Mason, Foss, Braley, Stanton, Appleton, Kipling, and Van Dyke.

This book makes an ideal gift to one's mother, for her birthday, for Christmas, or for Mother's Day. It will say for you as only the poets can the deep and tender feeling you have for your mother in remembrance for her love, her patience, and her sacrifices for you.

Mother's Baby Book 1926

This book is something really different. The best poems about babyhood are brought between its covers—poems that give poetical expression to the beauty, innocence and spiritual meaning of a baby, as well as to such momentous events in its life as its first step, its first tooth, and all the little incidents of its opening personality. The poems have great breadth of appeal. Such classical writers as Blake, Wordsworth, Tennyson, Lowell and Swinburne, as well as such popular authors as Guest, Fields, Riley, Stanton and Dunbar are included.

In the front of the book are pages for keeping the baby's record—not the old stereotyped forms of most baby books, but pages on which to preserve a human record of the baby. All the cherished little details about the baby's life may here be set down—details which must otherwise be lost with the passage of time.

One Hundred Famous Love Lyrics

Compiled by Harvey Hamlyn, M.A.

In this volume has been brought together the "literary gold" on the subject of love. These poems which represent three centuries of the best English and American writers, treat every phase of the subject, from its light-hearted gayety to its soul-moving passion.

The manufacture of the book is in keeping with the high standard of its contents. It is bound in gray boards, and is printed on fine rag paper with deckle edges. The pages have unusually wide margins. Throughout, the aim has been to make the volume exquisitely delicate and beautiful.

This book is intended both for the general reader of cultured tastes and as a gift volume for "the lover and his lass." It would be difficult to imagine a more appropriate token of affection than "One Hundred Famous Love Lyrics."

The Harvey Hamlyn Books

In "The Harvey Hamlyn Books" we offer to the public a series of little volumes, attractive in appearance and size, diversified in titles, and unusually interesting in contents. Each volume is made up of both poetry and prose, and the selections vary in length from sentence quotations to poems of a page or more. Diversity is further attained by the inclusion of both standard and present-day writers. Another outstanding characteristic of this series is the absolute avoidance of any duplication of material in the different volumes.

To My Pal

Poor indeed is the man or woman, boy or girl, who has not a real pal—another self—with whom to share the joys and intimacies of life. For those who are chums and have chums, this volume gives expression to their deep and enduring friendship. It says what all would say if they could speak with the voice of master writers.

The Bright Side o' Things

Every one is helped by a cheerful philosophy, and it is the purpose of this volume to show that even dark clouds have their silver linings. It is a book for gay days and for gray days, in fact, all days, for the tonic of a bit of cheer is always in season.

Others: A Book of Service

This book is for all those who would lead a life of broad vision, a life that looks out not in, up not down, ahead not backward. Its spirit is that of unselfishness, of service, of love for those about us—a spirit that finds its most universal expression at Christmas.

The Joys of Fellowship

Compiled by HARVEY HAMLYN

The spirit of good fellows gathered together is expressed in "The Joys of Fellowship." We may do many things alone—many great things—but when we want to have a good time we instinctively seek the association of companions. This may be on a quiet tramp into the country, or around a campfire in the woods where the souls of men revert to their pristine simplicity, or in the cozy corner of a club midst the fragrance of good cigars. The book is infused with the spirit of conviviality, for it is always fair weather when good fellows are together.

Love Conquers All

Compiled by HARVEY HAMLYN

"Amor vincit omnia" were the words on the brooch worn by Chaucer's dainty Prioress: "Love conquers all." Indeed, love does conquer all, but it is such a delightful master that millions are willing to be its "slaves." Love is as old as the world, and as new as the kiss stolen last night along lover's lane—it is the center of all things human. As an expression of sincere love between men and women, this volume makes an ideal gift.

A Cocktail Continentale

By Bruce Reynolds

Here is a book of travel with the narrative so pronounced and interesting that the volume almost might be classed as a novel. Certainly it can be read with more enjoyment than most novels.

"A Cocktail Continentale" is side-splitting in its humor. Reynolds enjoys fun of every description; he never misses the grotesque in every situation; and yet through it all is the sanest of good sense and good taste. In a word: here is a travel book in jazz time for clever, "modern" people who want to know more about Europe than Aunt Prudence Heckleberry would tell them.

The author "did" Europe in a way that has never been written of before. He saw all the usual sights, and then he saw all the unusual ones. He peeped behind the scenes of all the "live" places in Europe, and with honesty and candor he tells what is there. It is an hilarious account of one who "went the pace" night and day. Europe has nothing too good or too bad to interest Reynolds. He did more things per minute than it is almost possible to believe. He visited twenty countries; he traveled by every means of conveyance, including the airplane; he lived hard enough to put most men in a sanitarium for the rest of their lives. And he tells it all with a staccato. dynamic style that reads like a whirlwind.

The book has a jacket in four colors, and is illustrated with many black-line drawings.

Glorious Day

By S. E. Kiser

The key-note in this collection of poems is inspirational. A determination to press onward bravely and cheerfully in spite of all hindrances is to be discovered almost wherever the book may be opened. Here and there is a touch of sentiment, and now and then there is a selection that is couched in what usually is called the Lighter Vein, but in most of the poems a hopeful acceptance of the opportunities that come with each Glorious Day, and a dauntless intention to be guided by the spirit of good sportsmanship in every effort that circumstances impose will quickly be observed.

There is no sniveling in courage, and no bitterness in bravery. You will not find in these poems of courage and inspirational devotion to the advancement of good-fellowship any cynical wailing against the manner in which the Universe has been created or is being managed. There are wrongs that can be righted, there are in the world many imperfections that may be mended, and these facts are neither ignored nor passed over too lightly here, but the message the poems in this volume are intended to convey is a message of friendly, cheerful, helpfulness.

'Round Home—(Verse)

Charles S. Kinnison

Home life—its love, its pathos and its humor, are pictured in these verses. The tender charms of little folks; the sweetness of Man and Wife relations; rich recollections of childhood, from bare-foot fun and school days, to the joys of youth and first love; then—home and the babies, the bills, friends at the fireside; a complete picture of home and home life by a man, of whom Edgar De Witt Jones says: "Charles S. Kinnison has something of the whimsicality of Eugene Field, the tenderness of a Riley, and the home-spun philosophy of a Sam Walter Foss. Yet, withal Kinnison is himself, possessing a gift, all his own."

Gems from the Classics

SELECTED BY ALBERT E. PADDEN

It would be a mistake to think of this book as a mere collection of quotations. True, it is made up of "gems" from many great minds, but these selections are unified into a composite whole by their underlying moral and spiritual value.

They were gathered much like bees gather honey, a little here, and a little there. They were picked from the flower of best thought and contain only that which is good. Emersons says. "A certain awkwardness marks the use of borrowing thoughts, but as soon as we have learned what to do with them, they become our own." We shall do well if we ponder these thoughts daily, and make them our own. They, indeed, express such a noble philosophy of life that we should do more than know them. We should live them.

Tad Lincoln

BY WAYNE WHIPPLE

The author, during a score of years of intimate acquaintance with the life of Abraham Lincoln, writing, school histories and moving pictures, has made the best of his opportunities. The account of the boyish vengeance visited by Tad upon Stanton, the great War Secretary, is described by the young White House guard (afterwards a Cleveland physician) who took part in that adventure. The story of Tad's devotion of the young girl in Germany who afterwards married the Czar of All the Russias was related by the brother of the American dentist's daughter whom Tad preferred. Even the Hon. Robert Todd Lincoln, Tad's older brother, had never heard of these escapades and experiences.

Red Letter Days in Europe

With a Glimpse of Northern Africa

By VIKTOR FLAMBEAU

This book is based upon the experiences and observations of the author's six visits to Europe. Having letters of introduction from foreign embassies and legations in Washington, he met unusual people and received courtesies not often accorded American travelers.

In this book the reader travels with him on these journeys, and learns of the most worthwhile sights of present-day Europe and Northern Africa. He witnesses a Spanish bullfight, sees King Manuel's deserted palace near Lisbon, and camps out under the stars on the Desert of Sahara at Biskra.

Besides the pleasure of travel, Viktor Flambeau does not overlook its educational advantages. Especially timely are his observations on how the countries of Central Europe are meeting their after-war problems.

Here is a book for those who would have a bird's-eye view of Europe. Not only is the writer an experienced traveler, but he is the author of a treatise on art, "The Study and Enjoyment of Pictures," as well as a lecturer and teacher of note. For several years he has been the editor of the art department of a Washington newspaper, besides being one of the well-known art critics of that city.

Wooden Ships and Iron Men

By Frederick William Wallace

Author of "Blue Water", "The Viking Blood", "The Shack Locker" and "Salt Seas and Sailormen." Illustrated with rare photographs and sketches by the author.

The story of the square-rigged marine of British North America, the ships, their builders and owners, and the men who sailed them.

"There she goes—a ramping, stamping, hard-driving Bluenose—wooden ships with iron men commanding 'em." Thus commented the seamen of olden days when the big square-riggers of British North America were flying the Red Ensign on every sea and when the ship-builders, ship-owners and ship-masters of the Eastern Canadian Provinces were building, maintaining and sailing a merchant marine which in the 'seventies ranked fourth among the world's tonnage. In this volume the great sea-writer has delved deep into the past and has succeeded in recording some rare and delightful incidents in the history of the ships, their passages, mishaps and adventures, as well as numerous accurate portrayals of the seamanship and characteristics of those unsentimental and exacting seamen—the Bluenose master and mate. A book man and boy will cherish.

"A Character Building Psychology"

Practical Psychology

By BURT B. FARNSWORTH

International Y. M. C. A. College, Springfield, Mass.

Professor Farnsworth is one of the best known lecturers on psychological subjects in the United States. The present book is based upon a course of psychology he has taught for a number of years. The author is interested primarily in the applications of psychology; he avoids much of the useless theoretical discussion; he writes in clear, simple language. The book presupposes no previous knowledge of psychology on the part of the reader. It is an introductory text. It explains to the reader the working of his own mind; it helps him to improve his thinking and his work; it makes it possible for him to understand others and get along well with them.

Practical Psychology is adaptable for individual reading and for class use. The book was originally, privately printed for the author's own classes. In this new edition several chapters have been added, and at the end of the volume are questions on each chapter bringing out its salient points. The book is now supplied with a full index.

It was of Professor Farnsworth's text that Edward W. Bok wrote:

"I think that Mr. Farnsworth in his 'Practical Psychology' helps us on the road to a better understanding of ourselves and other men, and, what is so important, he tells us what he has found out and experienced in a way that all can understand. His 'Practical Psychology' is, essentially, a book for the people at large to reach a clearer understanding of themselves. I like particularly, the stress which Mr. Farnsworth lays on the importance of thoroughness before speed, and accuracy before skill. Here he puts his finger on what is, if there is such a thing, the secret of success."

Keep Smiling

By Joseph Craigen

"Keep Smiling" is a book with a real message, written by one who is well known for his lectures on applied and practical psychology.

The spirit of "Keep Smiling" is one of cheer, happiness, courage, health and optimism, and will inspire one to do things.

It is written in a straight-forward manner, as one friend would talk to another, and will become a "close friend" to many in need of cheer, courage and the spirit to go ahead.

Such a book is indeed welcome, for all men and women can afford to learn to smile—and Keep Smiling.

The Road To A Loving Heart

Compiled by Helen M. Winslow

Here is a companionable little volume made up of verses and prose selections from recent periodicals and books. There are poems by such well-known writers as Herman Hagedorn, John Oxenham, Edgar A. Guest, Ella Wheeler Wilcox, as well as many fugitive pieces by lessor known writers—pieces, however, that have a gem of thought, the perfect expression of an idea, or a moment of penetrating vision.

The material in this book is especially adapted to the person who has but a few minutes now and then for inspirational reading. It is a book for those who would acquire success in their undertakings, happiness in life, and depth of personality and spirits.

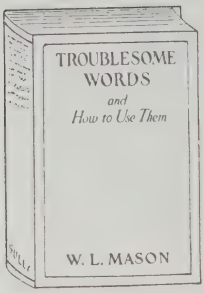
Troublesome Words

AND HOW TO USE THEM



By W. L. Mason

This is a popular handbook for people of all ages and classes containing words which are commonly found troublesome or perplexing as to spelling, accent, syllabication, pronunciation, or use.

It is intended as a handy reference book for the busy man or woman; as a desk companion for the stenographer; as an aid to the teacher in and out of the class room; as an indispensable adjunct for any one who writes.

The words are arranged in forty groups, bringing out clearly the peculiarity of all the words in every group, presenting the word first in its ordinary form, then showing it properly syllabized and accented, followed by a clear and concise definition, accompanied by a sentence illustrating its correct use, and with all of this, a note pointing out the perplexing part of the word, and showing how to overcome it.

The distinguishing feature of this book, which causes it to differ from all other similar works, is that it not only designates the "catch" in every troublesome word, but shows the user of the book how to avoid the difficulty, and to remember always to spell the word correctly.

At the end of the book a complete index gives every word in alphabetical order, with the pages and group where it can be found.

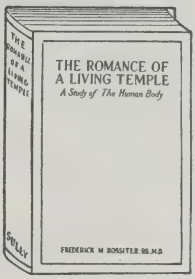
The Romance of a Living Temple

A STUDY OF THE HUMAN BODY

By Frederick M. Rossiter, B.S., MD., I.R.C.P., Lon., M.R.C.S. Eng.



This volume is really an innovation in books of physiology. By considering the body as the temple in which we live, Dr. Rossiter has brought forth its beauty and its nobility. No one can read this book without a feeling of the sanctity of his own body; and he will realize as never before its startling marvelousness.

The organs of the body are explained from a new viewpoint; their care and healthful preservation are urged; and with extraordinary force the effect of our thoughts and actions in the building of our characters is emphasized.

This book will serve admirably as a supplementary reader in all school courses in physiology; libraries will find it a most valuable addition to their children's rooms; churches and Sunday schools will especially desire this book because of its insistence upon the human body as the masterpiece of the Great Architect; and the general reader will find here an account written by an eminent physician, told with none of the dryness and pedantry of the old books on physiology.

The First Principles of Astrology

By WILBER GASTON

This book offers a clear and broad interpretation of the subject of Astrology, and explains how the principles of this ancient science may be applied to present-day life and modern affairs.

The person who knows little or nothing about Astrology will learn, through this book, just what astrology really means; and its conveniently divided chapters will enable the reader to cast an accurate Horoscope without the necessity of mathematical calculations. Every part of the book is interesting and easily understood; and each chapter is complete in itself. While this volume is intended primarily for the beginner, even advanced students will obtain from it a fresh viewpoint upon the vital points of the subject.

"The First Principles of Astrology" gives more than a general summary of characteristics; it furnishes specific and detailed information, based entirely upon the date of birth. The book is at the same time simple yet comprehensive; the chapters dealing with the influence of Heredity and Environment explain many principles that have never before been expounded.

It is a book that everyone can read and enjoy.

Fun With Cards

Solitaires, Tricks and Fortunes

By DEAN BRYDEN,
Author of "Palmistry for Pleasure"

Just the sort of book to give a friend starting on a journey or to give an invalid or to keep on hand for one's own amusement. Fun with Cards tells how to play thirty games of solitaire—how to perform card tricks—and how to tell fortunes with cards.

The solitaire games range from the very simplest to the most complicated so that everyone from the seven-year old child to the mathematical "shark" can be sure of finding several congenial varieties. In addition to complete directions for thirty games there are helpful suggestions for winning. And in the case of the more difficult forms of solitaire, the whole game is played out move, by move.

The second section consists of mystifying card tricks which are never-the-less very simple when you know how.

Some of the methods of fortune telling are old favorites while others are now being published for the first time.

Throughout the book are plentiful diagrams and all the explanations have been made so simple that they detract nothing from your pleasure in using the book.

Palmistry For Pleasure

By Dean Bryden

This handbook on palmistry gives a simple and logical treatment of the subject. The fundamentals are adequately explained, but confusing and unimportant details are excluded. From this simplicity even the casual reader can gain an amazing grasp of the subject. From the logical arrangement of the material the inter-relation of all the principles is readily understood. In this book is none of the helter-skelter hodgepodge of the usual treatises on the subject.

There are ten careful diagrams of hands and lines, and actual photographs of a man's and woman's hands. In the two chapters which are devoted to "Reading" these two typical hands, the author places in parentheses the palmistry signs which indicate the traits as he ascribes them to the hands. Another unusual feature of this handbook is a section devoted to applying palmistry to human problems, such as mating and the training of children.

A knowledge of palmistry is an excellent social asset. At any gathering, the person who can read palms skilfully and entertainly becomes the center of an admiring and wondering group. This book offers to anyone who will study it but slightly the opportunity of being "the fun of the party." To those who wish to take palmistry more seriously, it offers sound and established principles of hand-reading.

The Science of Numerology

What Numbers Mean to You

By WALTER GIBSON

This volume is issued in response to a demand for an authoritative book on one of the most interesting subjects of the day. The science of numbers is as old as mankind, and the relation of numbers to the lives of men has been a matter of investigation since the days of the Greek philosophers, centuries before Christ. It is only recently, however, that this absorbing science has again been applied the affairs of men.

While this book is authoritative and adequately complete in its treatment of numerology, it is simple and easily understood. The material is logically arranged. First the numbers and their meanings are taken up, and then the laws by which they are applied to the individual are explained. Several typical "readings" are given, and one chapter is devoted to an amazing account of the relation of numbers to the lives of many great men. A table of the combinations of numbers governing outstanding human characteristics is given, and the best numbers for many professions and occupations are listed.

Numerology, as explained in this book, is immediately applicable; after half an hour's study the reader can begin his fascinating work with numbers. Not only is it the easiest of the so-called occult sciences to learn, but it is the most adaptable to social gatherings. Any person with a reasonable knowledge of the subject will readily become the center of an interested group.

The conundrums contained in this book are culled from the best of the old collections and the best of the new, and from historical and mythological sources. They deal with a variety of subjects, are arranged for ready reference, and contain allusions to several literatures, including Biblical. The introductory essay defines the place of the conundrum in literature and life, and gives the story of the origin of several famous ones.

A well chosen collection, including the best of the old familiar conundrums and many that are new. Its special merit is in its topical arrangement, which will enable the hostess to find quickly riddles for special entertainments and individuals."

The Art of Speech Making

By NATHANIEL C. FOWLER, JR.

12mo. Cloth. . . . . net, $1.00

This book, like all of Mr. Fowler's works, is intensely practical. He deals with facts and information, not with theories. He analyzes every form of speech or address, from the oration of the great statesmen to the everyday "remarks" of after-dinner speakers and others who address the public formally or informally. He gets down to the very bottom of speechmaking, and gives information which has not been printed in any book, and which can not be obtained in any other way.

"An excellent book for the man who doesn't know how to make a speech and wants to know."—North Carolina Education.

Fortunes and Dreams

By ASTRA CIELO

Cloth, 12mo, colored wrapper, net, $1.00

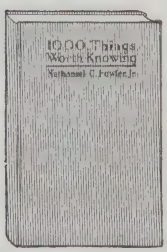
A practical manual of fortune telling, divination and the interpretation of dreams, signs and omens.

This book has been compiled for the use of intelligent people who desire to know the various ways in which events have been prophesied by occultists the world over, and who wish to test their own faculties and consult the "Book of Fate" in their own behalf. The various methods and tables are offered to the reader at their own value, without any special claim for their accuracy or efficacy. Each inquirer must determine for himself in how far he may trust the oracle that he has consulted. Some of the material is new and is not to be found in modern books of this nature. Most of the tables have been gleaned from very old authorities.



1000 Things Worth Knowing

By NATHANIEL C. FOWLER, JR.

Revised edition

Cloth, 12mo, colored wrapper, net, $1.00

The book is not an ordinary cyclopedia or mere book of tabulated information. It covers a thousand subjects which should be known, and which are not generally known, to the average reader. The book may be called an education in itself, so completely does it cover the information everybody needs.

"A reference manual of decided appeal to literary workers."—The Dial.

"Not an ordinary cyclopedia or a mere book of tabulated information. It covers a thousand subjects which should be known to the average reader."—Omaha Bee.

The Art of Letter Writing

By NATHANIEL C. FOWLER, JR.

Cloth, 12mo, colored wrapper, net, $1.00

"The Art of Letter Writing" is not an old-fashioned collection of stilted forms of epistles for all occasions, but is a series of instructions as to titles, addresses and all the details of preparing letters, with directions as to letters of especial character, as those of condolence, congratulation, of introduction, etc. Outline forms of letters applying for a position are given among others. There is a brief chapter on paragraphing and one on punctuation. Much information as to postage rates, the parcel post, etc., is included. It is a practical and useful book and one that might well be in the hands of every boy and girl."—The Indianapolis Star.

"We know of no better book to recommend on this subject."—The Boston Herald.

Stories and Toasts for After Dinner

By NATHANIEL C. FOWLER, JR.

Cloth, 12mo, colored wrapper, net, $1.00

This volume should not be confused with many similar books upon the market, which contain "Dried" toast and stories of prehistoric vintage. It is bright, breezy, and up-to-the minute, containing a wealth of matter for instantaneous use.

"This book contains more illuminating matter regarding the duties of a toastmaster and the material for him to use than we have seen for some time. The author gives some very necessary suggestions which if followed would make many a dinner a success.—The Bulletin, Portland, Oregon.

Signs, Omens and Superstitions

By ASTRA CIELO, author of "Fortune and Dreams."

12mo. Cloth. . . . . net, $1.00

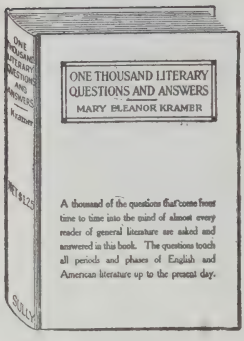
There are few persons no matter how rational or level headed who are not given to superstition in some form. With some there is a deep-seated belief that evil will result from an infraction of a rule. With others an amused idea that if a ceremony does no good it can do no harm, and so to be on the safe side they carry out some Mummery.

It is the object of this book to review the subject of superstition without prejudice or condemnation, but to present the data and explain their origin wherever possible, leaving it to the reader to reject such beliefs as seem absurd and irreconcilable with modern culture.



One Thousand Literary Questions and Answers

By Mary E. Kramer

12mo. Cloth. . . . . net, $1.00

Revised edition, containing an additional index by title which enables one to find any quotation if the author's name is not known.

A thousand of the questions that come from time to time into the mind of almost every reader of general literature are asked and answered in this book. The questions are stated as briefly as they arise in conversation,—now a detached name of some character or book or author, again a line of poetry or the first words of some saying that has clung to memory quite unassociated with a name. The questions touch all periods and phases of English and American literature up to the present day, and are such as may reasonably be asked of any intelligent reader.

"A worth while volume for the instruction of the general reader, full of data relating to literature of many sorts and answering some of those puzzling inquiries with which the 'Want to know, you know' puzzle newspaper people."—Detroit Free Press.

Homans' First Principles of Electricity

By J. E. Homans

12mo, cloth, fully illustrated . net, $1.00

As either a primer of electrical science, or as a handbook of fundamental principles that would be appreciated by an advanced worker, this little book is in a class by itself. The author starts with the assumption that the reader, although, perhaps, unlearned in the science of electrics, really desires the information that one would expect in a book with such a title. He undertakes, therefore, to treat of the principles of the science, from the ground up, passing in review all the matters necessary to constitute a fundamental knowledge of all forms of electric current, with singularly lucid explanations of obscure points.

Homans' Automobile Handbook

By J. E. Homans

12mo, cloth, fully illustrated . net, $1.00

This book is a wonderfully complete summary, within the limits of a volume of moderate size, of the principles of construction and operation of a gasolene motor car and engine. Like other books produced by its author, it is distinctly readable, and characterized by lucid and thorough explanations of matters unfamiliar to the average reader. Few books that have appeared of late are better calculated to inform, also to interest, while imparting information.

"A handy book for any owner who looks after his own machine."—New York World.

"No finer book to study on wet days in the garage, or to have on hand in case of difficulties."—Montreal Weekly Herald and Star.

The Art of Story Writing

By NATHANIEL C. FOWLER, JR.

12mo. Cloth. . . . . net, $1.00

The author has covered everything which the story writer or would be writer of stories needs to know.

It covers both the financial as well as the technical side of writing, and presents to the reader everything which he should be familiar with before he attempts to enter a literary career.

"The author has covered at least in some degree, about everything that the story writer needs to know, and much of his information is precisely that which the young author has hitherto looked for in vain."—Boston Evening Transcript.

The Handbook of Quotations

By EDITH B. ORDWAY

New and Enlarged Edition

12mo. Cloth. . . . . net, $1.00

A treasure-book of gems of thought. The cream of English literature, in terse, pithy expressions, and clear, striking fancies, is here given under a form of reference which makes each quotation readily available. It is an invaluable assistant to the writer or speaker who wishes an apt and notable quotation to drive home a point. The best of thoughts on subjects of universal human interest are here presented in a single handy volume.

Getting a Start

First Aids to Success

By NATHANIEL C. FOWLER, JR.

12mo. Cloth. . . . . net, $1.00

This book contains about a hundred articles, which appeared in the leading newspapers of the United States and Canada, and were read by millions. They attracted world-wide attention, and were acknowledged to be the best inspirational "short talks" ever written.

"There is a good deal of Benjamin Franklin's epigrammatic snappiness and common "horse sense" about Mr. Fowler's aid to "intelligence."—Boston Transcript.

"If you know of a young man who does not have confidence in his own abilities give him this little book and ask him to read it. The advice it contains should change his life for the better and make a real man of him."—The Portland Oregonian.

Beginning Right

How to Succeed

By NATHANIEL C. FOWLER, JR.

12mo. Cloth . . . . . net, $1.00

The articles comprised in this publication are in no sense duplicates of those contained in "Getting a Start." They are written with all of Mr. Fowler's usual keen insight and common sense, and they cannot fail to be of assistance, not only to young people just entering business life, but also to experienced travelers along the same road.

"Like all good advice all that is needed here is the disposition to take and use these suggestions."—The Detroit Free Press.

Grasping Opportunity

By NATHANIEL C. FOWLER, JR.

12mo. Cloth. A companion volume to "Getting a Start" and "Beginning Right." . . . . . net, $1.00

"Grasping Opportunity" is the Laboratory of Business in book form. It contains a large number of dialogues, covering every phase of clerical work, and each character acts his part as is done in the counting-room and office.

The book shows what business actually is, what the employee should do to better his condition, to gain promotion, to receive an increase of salary. It is a composite affair, presenting the best ideas not only of the author but of eminent business men and their associates. It not only tells one how to achieve success in business, but warns the reader of the many pitfalls which are likely to work to his detriment.

It is a volume for anyone, man or woman, boy or girl, earning from a few dollars a week to several thousand a year.

"An exceedingly practical volume of helpful hints which should be of great aid to the man who wants to succeed in his business."—Boston Globe.

"It is a book which each young man and woman should read and endeavor to follow."
—St. Louis Post Dispatch.

The American Cook Book

Revised Edition—1926

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill Editor American Cookery

Cloth, 264 pages, illustrated, net, $2.00

A compilation of the best of Mrs. Hill's recipes that have appeared in The Boston Cooking-School Magazine and American Cookery. This book is for everyday use. For the most part the recipes are simple and concise, and just such as will be of assistance in preparing the regular family meals, but scattered through the book are a few recipes for choice dishes that will grace any feast. Each recipe has been tried and tried again, and is absolutely right. The directions are complete and easily followed. Using this book you are sure of success every time.

The Modern Priscilla Cook Book

One Thousand Home Tested Recipes

This is a book many women have been waiting for. In it will be found 1000 recipes that have passed the critical test of the well-known Priscilla Proving Plant, where results gained by trained workers in the kitchen must stand or fall on the verdict which comes from the varied group that gathers around the family dining table. Besides recipes, you will find here much that other cook books lack—some things never before included in any cook book. Time required for cooking, temperatures, approximate number of servings per recipe, explanation of cooking terms, things to remember when cooking different kinds of dishes, rules for quantity cookery, balanced menus for the family, menus for special occasions, correct table setting and service—all this and much more is contained between the washable oil cloth covers of this excellent book.

The Stranger Star

By Allen Crafton

"The Stranger Star" belongs to that rare class of children's books that interest grown-ups as well as younger readers. The child will not have to "beg" its parents to read this story: the mother or father will be as engrossed in it as the child.

A most delightful and chatty old owl tells two children a story in which the whole sky is the playground. The stars and planets are the actors, and they are made such interesting and human creatures that they are as real as playmates. And wonderful things happen in the heavens —a little stranger star comes to the Moon-Mother's nursery, and after a long service of drudgery in making beds for all the stars when they retire during the day and shining up their clothes so they can twinkle at night, she gets a wonderful reward.

While enjoying a most interesting story, the reader becomes acquainted with the names of many of the stars; something of the great forces that revolve the heavens is portrayed; and incidentally the idea of service is inculcated without any offensive moral attached.

After reading the story, every child will vote Professor Owl, who taught mathematics to a myriad of little Star Children, one of the best story-tellers he ever heard about. This story is destined to take its place among the classics for children, and little ones enjoying it today will be reading it to their children a generation hence.

Tobytown

By Chandler A. Oakes

Formerly Assistant Pastor to the Late Rev. T. DeWitt Talmadge, Brooklyn Tabernacle

A story of an imaginary town, the population of which is composed of dogs, birds, and other animals Although the story does not deal with fairies, it is a fairy story in its atmosphere of wonder, the extravagances of its imaginations and the simplicity of its telling. The characters are interesting and their stories have the usual setting of the life of their species, in spite of the absurdly human twist given to them. In this mixture is the charm of the book.

Red Lynx

By Captain Charles Gilson

A stirring tale of the Rockies and the prairies in the early days, when the Indians raided the scattered settlements of the pioneers, burning their homes and pillaging their farms. Red Lynx, the white trapper, was the only scout equal to the Indians. As a marksman he had no peer in the West, and it was through his skill and bravery that the settlers were saved. The story of his prowess and deeds are the material Captain Gilson has used in writing this splendid story that every red-blooded boy will enjoy. The book is illustrated with half-tones and a full-colored frontispiece; it also has a colored wrapper.

A collection of delightful stories by a writer who from experience knows what children like best in the story line. While editor of the Children's Page of a New York newspaper, Mr. Cory was able to ascertain from letters written to him by the juvenile readers what kind of stories most interest them, and in the Jumble Book will be found stories that will delight every boy and girl. Over one hundred black and white illustrations by Aspel, E. J. Babcock, Jas. Freixas, Van Vredenburgh.

Helen's Babies

By John Habberton

Illustrated, 12mo, cloth. Net, $1.25

Interesting! Entertaining! Amusing! It is safe to say that no book, illustrating the doings of children, has ever been published that has reached the popularity enjoyed by "Helen's Babies." Brilliantly written, Habberton records in this volume some of the cutest, wittiest, and most amusing of childish sayings, whims and pranks, all at the expense of a bachelor uncle.

Anne, Princess of Everything

By Blanche Elizabeth Wade

12mo, cloth, illustrated and with wrapper in full color . . . . . net, $1.00

Anne Lane goes with her aunt upon an ordinary shopping trip in New York City. A touch of magic comes into her life, starting her upon the way to become a real princess. The story gives a glimpse of the stolen princess and a peep into Gerbenstein, a preposterous "Kingdom Without a Country." There is a mingling of the real and the unreal in the tale.

It is a story for girls of all ages, from little, golden-crowned Princesses to Queens of the Silver Crown.

A PRELIMINARY STUDY OF THE SIGNIFICANCE OF PARTIAL TONES IN THE LOCALIZATION OF SOUND. By JAMES R. ANGELL. 12 pages, 4to, paper $0.25

EDUCATION IN A DEMOCRATIC WORLD. By ERNEST D. BURTON. 165 pages, crown 8vo, paper boards 2.00*

Gathered together, these fugitive utterances of a great educator are of the greatest importance to the progress of educational theory and practice.

LAW AND FREEDOM IN THE SCHOOL. By GEORGE A. COE. 134 pages, 12mo, cloth 1.75*

A critique of our present educational methods and a formulation of a progressive philosophy of education and an analysis of the part played by law in the project method.

THE CHILD AND THE CURRICULUM. By JOHN DEWEY. 40 pages, 12mo, paper 25

PSYCHOLOGY AND SOCIAL PRACTICE. By JOHN DEWEY. 42 pages, 12mo, paper 25

THE SCHOOL AND SOCIETY. By JOHN DEWEY. 164 pages, 12mo, cloth 1.25*

This standard work by so well known an authority as John Dewey needs no introduction to the teaching profession. It is often used as a text in normal schools and departments of education, and is on the reference shelf of thousands of teachers.

THE PLACE OF INDUSTRIES IN ELEMENTARY EDUCATION. By KATHARINE ELIZABETH DOPP. 270 pages, 12mo, cloth 2.00

NET

VISUAL EDUCATION: A COMPARATIVE STUDY OF MOTION PICTURES AND OTHER METHODS OF INSTRUCTION. Edited by FRANK N. FREEMAN. 392 pages, 8vo, cloth $3.50

Much is expected from the new methods of visual education. Educators are told that these will speed up education tenfold, making it fascinating, easy, and permanent, and that they will displace the teacher and the textbook. Visual Education tests these claims, and weighs the possibilities of the new methods.

STATISTICAL TABLES FOR STUDENTS IN EDUCATION AND PSYCHOLOGY. (Revised edition.) By KARL J. HOLZINGER. 74 pages, 8vo, flexible 1.50

Most handbooks of calculating tables have been too elaborate to be of any great use to beginning students in educational or psychological statistics. This manual greatly simplifies calculation in averages. dispersion, correlation, and uses of a normal curve.

THE ELEMENTARY COURSE IN ENGLISH. By JAMES FLEMING HOSIC. 150 pages, 16mo, cloth 1.00

A working theory in outline form of elementary English. There are selected references to the recent literature of the subject and graded lists of material for reading and study.

PURPOSE THE VARIANT OF THEORY. By JULIUS T. HOUSE. 80 pages, paper 1.25

HUMAN BEHAVIOR. (General Psychology, revised.) By WALTER S. HUNTER. 340 pages 2.00*

This book has been psychologically organized for the benefit of the student. Concrete facts are presented at the beginning of the book. The author has taken care that the student will have a broad conception of the whole field of psychology so that he will have an adequate background for further work in the science.

WILLIAM JAMES AND HENRI BERGSON. By HORACE M. KALLEN. 248 pages, 12mo, cloth 1.50

THE PSYCHOLOGY OF CHILD DEVELOPMENT. By IRVING KING. 266 pages, 12mo, cloth 1.50*

TEACHING IN THE ARMY. By JAMES C. LEWIS. 64 pages, paper, small 16mo 50

LITERATURE IN THE ELEMENTARY SCHOOL. By PORTER LANDER MACCLINTOCK. 306 pages, 12mo, cloth 1.50*

Clear and practical expression of a fundamental idea: that literature for children should be chosen for its excellence as literature and for its fitness for the children concerned.

THE DEFINITION OF THE PSYCHICAL. By GEORGE H. MEAD. 38 pages, 4to, paper 50

THE PLATONISM OF JOACHIM DU BELLAY. By ROBERT V. MERRILL. 150 pages, royal 8vo, cloth 1.50

NET

A HISTORY OF EUROPEAN THOUGHT IN THE NINETEENTH CENTURY. By JOHN T. MERZ. Four volumes per set $15.00

By special arrangement with Blackwood and Sons, England, we are able to offer this new edition to the American public. Dr. Merz has followed closely the history of thought, especially scientific thought, during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries.

THE PRACTICE OF TEACHING IN THE SECONDARY SCHOOL. By HENRY C. MORRISON. 661 pages, 8vo, cloth 4.00*

This book shows the way of escape from stereotypes in teaching. Indicating how to avoid the pitfalls of "lesson-teaching" and believing that education must be organized to teach directly the true learning products, Professor Morrison develops methods by which performance and the learning of lessons may be subordinated to mastery and the attainment of genuine adaptations in the pupil.

William McAndrew, Superintendent of Schools, Chicago, Illinois, says: "I can't pose as an authority on all the books of our calling but I can say for myself that not since I was stirred by Herbert Spencer's arousing work Education have I met anything that meets present-day demands like this."

THE THEORY OF EDUCATION IN THE "REPUBLIC" OF PLATO. By R. L. NETTLESHIP. 144 pages, small 8vo, paper 50

READINGS IN GENERAL PSYCHOLOGY. By E. S. and FLORENCE RICHARDSON-ROBINSON. 675 pages, cloth 4.00

The selection of readings has been made specifically to meet undergraduate needs. On disputed issues, articles written from different points of view give the student experience with the conflicts of psychology, and offer the instructor an opportunity to emphasize, by judicious selection, certain facts and theories.

THE DEMOCRATIC WAY OF LIFE. By T. V. SMITH. 211 pages, small 12mo, cloth 1.75*

"Here is a book worth reading—a book which in spirit, style and insight escapes the saccharine sentimentality, the unreality, the conscious or unconscious insincerity which I have grown to associate with most speaking and writing in praise of democracy."—NORMAN THOMAS, New Republic.

THE AMERICAN PHILOSOPHY OF EQUALITY. By T. V. SMITH. 339 pages, 12mo, cloth 3.00*

Equality, in its present vague status, has lost much of the meaning that the founders of this country attached to it. In his book, Mr. Smith has set out, in effect, to rescue from oblivion whatever truth the earlier doctrine contained. He has restated it in terms more applicable to the current situation.

THE AIMS, SCOPE, AND METHODS OF A UNIVERSITY COURSE IN PUBLIC-SCHOOL ADMINISTRATION. By FRANK E. SPAULDING, WILLIAM PAXTON BURRIS, and EDWARD C. ELLIOTT. 94 pages, 8vo, paper 50

THE MENTAL TRAITS OF SEX. By HELEN BRADFORD THOMPSON. 188 pages, 8vo, cloth. 1.25

ON THE GENESIS OF THE AESTHETIC CATEGORIES. By James Hayden Tufts. 12 pages, 4to, paper $0.25

PROBLEM EXERCISES FOR HIGH-SCHOOL TEACHERS. By Douglas Waples and Others. Cloth 1.00

This volume contains six tests based upon typical problems in junior and senior high school teaching. The tests, published separately, are collected for the convenience of instructors in general method, for administrators, and for high-school principals. The subjects covered are General Method, English Literature, English Composition, History and Other Social Studies, Mathematics, and Natural Science.

The following tests, which comprise the content of PROBLEM EXERCISES FOR HIGH-SCHOOL TEACHERS, are sold separately:

"EXPLICATION DE TEXTES" AND ITS ADAPTION TO THE TEACHING OF MODERN LANGUAGES. By PIERRE R. VIGNERON. $0.40

This manual deals with the problem of method in the study of French, English, and German literature. It enables the teacher to develop in the student a sound, critical sense, to put him into close contact with texts of literary importance, and to show him how to read and understand them properly. Explication de Textes is being used successfully in graduate courses in eastern and middlewestern universities.

THE LAWS OF SOCIAL PSYCHOLOGY. By FLORIAN ZNANIECKI. 320 pages, 8vo, cloth 3.00

He has applied the principles of the new historical relativism to the realm of human action, a field from which the traditional methodology has all but retired in defeat.

CULTURAL REALITY. By FLORIAN ZNANIECKI. 360 pages, 8vo, cloth 2.50

PROCEEDINGS OF THE SIXTEENTH EDUCATIONAL CONFERENCE OF THE ACADEMIES AND HIGH SCHOOLS AFFILIATING OR CO-OPERATING WITH THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO. 122 pages, royal 8vo, paper 25

LAWYERS AND LITIGANTS IN ANCIENT ATHENS. By ROBERT J. BONNER. 276 pages, 12mo, cloth 2.50*

Ever jealous of the expert, the Athenians tried to prevent the rise of a legal profession. But sycophants, speech-writers, and advocates plied their trade in spite of restrictions. With great understanding and appreciation Professor Bonner here records these early legal practices; and for the classicist there is available no clearer report of the Athenian judicial system or of Attic oratory.

A SKETCH OF THE LINGUISTIC CONDITIONS OF CHICAGO. By CARL DARLING BUCK. 20 pages, 4to, paper 25

SYNTAX OF THE MOODS AND TENSES IN NEW TESTAMENT GREEK. By ERNEST D. BURTON. 216 pages, 12mo, cloth . . . 1.75

THE SYNTAX OF HIGH-SCHOOL LATIN. By Lee Byrne. Second edition. 54 pages, 8vo, cloth $1.25

THE BUSINESS LIFE OF ANCIENT ATHENS. By George Calhoun. 175 pages, 12mo, cloth 2.00*

Many aspects of the life of the ancient Athenian have been made familiar, but we know very little of the busy docks and markets, of the financial districts where capital was mobilized and put to work. In short, for the first time the general reader may now learn the way in which business and finance were carried on in the fourth century B.C. Mr. Calhoun has chosen to emphasize the personal and ethical aspects of the subject rather than the technical processes or purely economic data.

THE SUBJUNCTIVE IN TACITUS. By Sister Winifred Mary Carmody. 185 pages, 12mo, cloth 2.00

In this book the author has directed her study toward two ends: to show to what extent the subjunctive had, by Tacitus' time, intruded into the sphere of the indicative; and to discover whether or not the evolution in Tacitus' modal syntax kept pace with the evolution in his style.

A STUDY OF THE ILIAD IN TRANSLATION. By Frank L. Clark. 354 pages, 8vo, cloth 3.00

A series of well-chosen selections from the entire work linked together by suitable comments and explanations to give the reader a clear idea of the whole story and an appreciation of its literary value.

THE GREEK THEATER AND ITS DRAMA (Third Revised Edition). By Roy C. Flickinger. Illustrated. 381 pages, royal 8vo, cloth . . 3.00*

A vigorous, animated history of Greek dramatic art. Ancient drama and its production, so frequently unrelated, are here marshaled under one co-ordinating principle. This new edition has sixteen additional pages of text, six new illustrations, and corrections have been made throughout.

SONGS FOR THE LATIN CLUB. By Roy C. Flickinger. 24 pages, small 12mo, paper 75

Latin songs ranging from such classics as Gaudeamus Igitur to Mica, Mica, Parva Stella are included in this new selection of songs for Latin classes and clubs. "The Star-Spangled Banner," "America," and others of our own well-known songs have been done into Latin, and there are a number of old familiar rounds. All of the songs are accompanied by musical scores.

THE MEANING OF ἐπὶ τῆς σκηνῆς IN WRITERS OF THE FOURTH CENTURY. By Roy C. Flickinger. 16 pages, 4to, paper 25

PLUTARCH AS A SOURCE OF INFORMATION ON THE GREEK THEATER. By Roy C. Flickinger. 64 pages, royal 8vo, paper . .75

A STICHOMETRIC SCHOLIUM TO THE MEDEA OF EURIPIDES, WITH REMARKS ON THE TEXT OF DIDYMUS. By Tenney Frank. 8 pages, 4to, paper. 25

NET

TEACHING HIGH-SCHOOL LATIN. (Revised Edition). By JOSIAH B. GAME. 151 pages, small 12mo, cloth $2.00

Fitted specifically to the needs of the high-school teacher, and revised and improved, this new edition will continue to be of service to all teachers of Latin. The material has been modified and modernized in the light of recent articles, reports, investigations, and the author's own long experience. New material has been interspersed throughout the book, and new reading lists have been added.

THE DEVELOPMENT OF VIRGIL'S ART. By HENRY W. PRESCOTT. 490 pages, 8vo, cloth $4.00

Virgil, the literary artist, is too frequently replaced by Virgil as a means of learning the Latin language. Here is a new interpretation of the great writer which indicates his position in the history of literature.

"The book will be read with profit by teachers of Virgil, and can claim a legitimate place on the shelves of intelligent readers of literature who occasionally range into the ancient field."—Saturday Review of Literature.

There is no other work in existence which contains such a mass of carefully selected and tabulated information upon China as the China Year Book. In spite of the administrative chaos of the past few years the Editor, Mr. H. G. W. Woodhead, has succeeded in compiling an authoritative work of reference.

The China Year Book, 1925-26, is sold in combination with the 1926–27 edition for 20.00*

THE CHINA YEAR BOOK, 1928. Edited by H. G. W. WOODHEAD. 1,439 pages, 8vo, cloth 12.50*

In this reference book Mr. Woodhead gives as impartially as possible a complete, fully documented record of the main political, social, and economic developments in China during 1927–28. Of considerable significance is a chapter devoted to "Who's Who" in China, which is a series of Chinese biographies.

This book brings to history-teaching a vastly improved new procedure designed to bring about genuine understanding of history rather than mere acquisition of facts. This method accomplishes its purpose through the organization of American history around six fundamental units upon which the historical material is focused in a way that brings understanding to the pupil.

VIRGINIA AND THE FRENCH AND INDIAN WAR. By HAYES BAKER-CROTHERS. 178 pages, 12mo, cloth 2.00*

Much has been written regarding the relations between England and the colonies during the French and Indian War—principally from the point of view of Great Britain. This study is written from the colonial point of view. The author sees his subject through the eyes of the people of Virginia and shows the reasons for their attitude toward the French and Indian War.

author, and possessor of many other accomplishments, this vigorous personality was still an active participant in the social, intellectual, and religious life of his city.

ROOSEVELT AND THE CARIBBEAN. By HOWARD C. HILL. 233 pages, 8vo, cloth $2.50*

To new material brought to light by the World War, voluminous correspondence, papers, and autobiographies of Roosevelt's contemporaries Mr. Hill has had unrestricted access. Of particular importance were the Roosevelt papers in the Library of Congress. These with other sources have enabled him to present new information upon the true course of Roosevelt's negotiations with Central American countries.

ELMER E. ELLSWORTH AND THE ZOUAVES OF '61. By CHARLES A. INGRAHAM. 167 pages, 8vo, paper 2.00*

Colonel Elmer E. Ellsworth was one of that patriotic triad of Civil War heroes and martyrs: John Brown, Ellsworth, and Abraham Lincoln. Lest his life-story be permitted to lapse from the memory of the American people, Mr. Ingraham introduces us to this remarkable figure in a biography based upon original sources and personal contacts with certain phases of the subject.

THE LIFE OF GEORGE ROGERS CLARK. By JAMES A. JAMES. 535 pages, 8vo, cloth 5.00*

The author here presents documentary evidence by which the chief phases of the Revolution in the West may be interpreted. His biography of Clark presents a sympathetic interpretation of the character of the man, his influence, and his personality. Clark's life is inevitably linked with the expansion of the frontier.

THE EVOLUTION OF EARLY CHRISTIANITY. By Shirley Jackson Case. 386 pages, 12mo, cloth 2.50*

The beginnings of the Christian movement are here studied from a wholly new point of view. By examining the actual religious situation in which the Christians of the first century lived, the author is able to shed fresh light on many parts of the New Testament.

THE HISTORICITY OF JESUS. By Shirley Jackson Case. 352 pages, 12mo, cloth 2.50*

Did Jesus ever live, or is he a mythical personage like the deities of Greece and Rome? The negative opinion has found supporters in America, England, Holland, France, and Germany. To present a complete and unprejudiced statement of the evidence for Jesus' actual existence is the aim of the author.

JESUS: A NEW BIOGRAPHY. By Shirley Jackson Case. 453 pages, 12mo, paper boards 3.00*

The constant flow of books treating Jesus unhistorically and sentimentally has created a demand for a refutation of this point of view. Dr. Case, in a scientific, scholarly way has written about Jesus as he actually appeared to the men of his own time—the real human Jesus of history.

This fresh translation from the official Massoretic text brings to English readers, with as little variation of meaning as is humanly possible, the real Old Testament. A better knowledge of Hebrew than was possible at the time of any earlier translation; a fuller appreciation of fundamental textual problems; a clearer recognition of poetic structures—these factors, in competent hands, all make this a more accurate, a more perfect translation. In the best tradition of modern English writing this version interprets the impressive, eloquent Hebrew of centuries ago.

A BIBLIOGRAPHY OF CRYSTAL STRUCTURE (Bulletin No. 1 of the Crystalographic Laboratory of the University of Chicago). By JARED K. MORSE 3.00

This book is divided into two parts: Part I is a discussion of spherical atoms and cubic atoms. The author shows in detail how simple polyhedrons, extended from these cubic atoms, can be built up into various types of observed cubi and hexagonal lattices, and how the lattice constants are geometrically related to the atomic radii. The second part is a bibliography which covers the entire field of crystal structure and which touches upon the related fields of atomic dimensions and molecular structure.

NEW METHODS IN EXTERIOR BALLISTICS. By FOREST RAY MOULTON. 257 pages, small 8vo, cloth 4.00

Professor Moulton deals with the ballistics problems raised by the changes in artillery practice necessitated by barrage fire, counter-battery fire, long-range fire, and anti-aircraft fire. Finding classical methods inadequate for the solution of these new problems, he has attacked the subject anew as a scientific problem.

No. 3. FIRST REPORT OF THE PREHISTORIC SURVEY EXPEDITION. By K. S. SANDFORD and W. J. ARKELL. 52 pages, royal 8vo, paper 1.00

This survey of the geology of the Nile Valley is the first attempt to rediscover those chapters of the history of man in Egypt which are missing from the written records. Dr. Sandford and Mr. Arkell have gone over the terraces cut by the Nile in its eons of existence and they have found implements and pottery which, because of their close resemblance to European discoveries, are of particular interest to archaeologists.

Oriental Institute Publications

Vol. I. ORIENTAL FORERUNNERS OF BYZANTINE PAINTING. By JAMES HENRY BREASTED. 105 pages, 23 plates and 58 text figures. 4to, boards 4.00

In the ancient stronghold of Dura-Sâlihîyah—the Nameless City, our archaeological predecessors called it—explorers found buried under the sands of the Syrian desert the only surviving forerunners of Byzantine painting. Professor James H. Breasted, who was able to penetrate with an armed escort to this frontier fortress, has examined these works of art, and has described and reproduced them in Oriental Forerunners of Byzantine Painting.

SPANISH GRAIL FRAGMENTS. Vols. I and II. By KARL PIETSCH. royal 8vo, paper boards 5.00
Volume I is concerned primarily with texts; Volume II with commentary on them. The texts included are three fragments of a Spanish Grail cycle entitled El Libro de Josep Abarimatia, La Estoria de Merlin, and Lançarote.

Volume I contains introductory and supplementary chapters. In these the author discusses the relation of the Fragments to the Portuguese Grail cycles, and argues for the priority of the former. Volume II contains the most extensive commentary that has yet been published on a single Old Spanish text. The notes are of a text-critical, grammatical, and lexicographic nature, and form a valuable contribution to our knowledge of Old Spanish.

THE LIFE AND CORRESPONDENCE OF LODOWICK BRYSKETT. By HENRY R. PLOMER and TOM PEETE CROSS. 89 pages, royal 8vo, paper boards 2.00

MILTON PAPERS. By DAVID H. STEVENS. 46 pages, royal 8vo, paper boards 2.00

The first papers and the Appendix of this book present the only deeds to property owned by the Milton family that have been found thus far, and this study adds important details. There are also fresh studies of materials long since known to Milton scholars but never studied intensively.

EL CUENTO DE TRISTAN DE LEONIS. By GEORGE T. NORTHUP. 278 pages, royal 8vo, paper boards 5.00

This book is one of the few remaining inedited texts of Old Spanish literature. Written in French prose, after having long been popular in verse, it was translated into all the dialects of Europe. The present volume, which is the first edition that has ever been made of Vatican Manuscript 6428, is of special interest linguistically—particularly that portion devoted to Aragonese.

THE THEME OF LANCELOT AND GUINEVERE. By WILLIAM A. NITZE and TOM PEETE CROSS

This is a careful analysis of the courtly elements in Chrétien de Troyes' Chevalier de la Charete, a historical account of the development of the plot from the earliest Irish forms down to Chrétien's romance.

MATERIALS FOR THE STUDY OF BUSINESS

SOCIAL CONTROL OF BUSINESS. By JOHN MAURICE CLARK. 483 pages, crown 8vo 4.00

Mr. Clark goes thoroughly into individualism, and compares with it the various other systems of social control: socialism, revolutionary communism, syndicalism (and its American equivalent, the I.W.W.), and anarchism.

THE WORKER IN MODERN ECONOMIC SOCIETY. By P. H. DOUGLAS, W. E. ATKINS, and C. N. HITCHCOCK. 929 pages, 8vo, cloth 4.50

STATISTICAL ACCOUNT OF THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENT INDUSTRY. By E. E. FERREBEE (In Preparation)

RISK AND RISK-BEARING. By CHARLES O. HARDY. 400 pages, royal 8vo, cloth 3.50

This book gives the student a connected treatment of the elements of uncertainty in business, subjects that have been customarily touched upon as unrelated topics in various courses.

READINGS IN RISK AND RISK-BEARING. By CHARLES O. HARDY. 368 pages, 8vo, cloth 3.50

The most flexible of textbook forms, the collection of readings, is here used to cover thoroughly the element of risk in business, as seen through the eyes, not of one man, but of many specialists.

THE MANAGER'S ADMINISTRATION OF FINANCE. By STUART P. MEECH 4.00

Not only for the student but for the actual financial executive, Mr. Meech analyzes such practical problems as capital requirements for new projects and extensions; seasonal problems and budget-making; and emergency financing.

PRINCIPLES OF ACCOUNTING. By ALBERT C. HODGE and J. O. MCKINSEY. 394 pages, 8vo, cloth 3.00

Covering the principles of money and banking in an elementary

RETAIL ACCOUNTING AND CONTROL. By ALBERT C. HODGE. 545 pages, crown 8vo 4.00

For students in courses in mercantile accounting and for those who have to do with the actual management of a retail business, Mr. Hodge has prepared this text, the only one to consider records, forms, and procedure in collecting information needed by the manager of a retail establishment.

COMMON AND PREFERRED STOCKS AS INVESTMENTS. By JAMES R. JACKSON. (In Preparation)

AN INTRODUCTION TO ECONOMIC GEOGRAPHY. Vol. I. By WELLINGTON D. JONES and DERWENT S. WHITTLESEY. 375 pages and 366 illustrations, 8vo, cloth 5.00

Volume I of this survey of world economic geography covers the several elements of the natural environment—climate, land forms, soil, minerals—as they affect human life, particularly economic life. Its basic organization is new in geography.

EDUCATION FOR BUSINESS. By LEVERETT S. LYON. 618 pages, crown 8vo, cloth 3.50

In this volume he has had two important objectives: first, to ascertain the function of business education, and second, to examine the various agencies of commercial training with the view to dividing among them the total task which education for business must accomplish.

MANAGERIAL ACCOUNTING. By J. O. MCKINSEY. Vol. I. 655 pages, crown 8vo, cloth 4.00

Writers on accounting have in general never addressed themselves directly to the manager; this is the first book to approach accounting from the managerial point of view. Volume II, which is in preparation, will deal with personnel administration and financial control.

WOMEN'S CLOTHING INDUSTRY. A STUDY OF THE LOCATION OF INDUSTRY. By MABEL A. MAGEE. (In Preparation)

READINGS IN INDUSTRIAL SOCIETY. By LEON C. MARSHALL. 1,082 pages, royal 8vo, cloth 4.50

Widely used as a text for introductory courses in economics, this volume furnishes the prerequisites to a formal theory course. It is a study in the structure and functioning of modern industrial society, made in terms of specific industries and institutions.

BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION. By LEON C. MARSHALL. 919 pages, royal 8vo, cloth 4.00

Business Administration, by the discussion method, with questions, problems, and cases, acquaints the student with the three broad problems of all business: the establishment of policies with the setting up of goals; the planning of an organization to carry out these policies.

FINANCIAL ORGANIZATION OF SOCIETY. By H. G. MOULTON. 789 pages, crown 8vo, cloth 4.00

NET

STATISTICAL ACCOUNTS OF THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE MEN'S CLOTHING INDUSTRY. By R. J. Myers (In Preparation)

ACCOUNTING METHOD. By C. Rufus Rorem. 528 pages, 8vo, cloth $4.50

Accounting is here dealt with as a complete unit—a method—rather than as a body of subject matter. The author presents very clearly the theory and practice of the subject without requiring undue attention to the specialized routine procedure. The text is accompanied by a complete instruction manual which gives suggestions for classroom procedure, answers to the questions, and solutions for the exercises.

TEACHER'S MANUAL FOR ACCOUNTING METHOD. By W. G. Graham 3.00

LAW AND BUSINESS. By William H. Spencer. Three volumes.

Vol. I. Introduction to Business Law, 611 pages, 8vo, cloth . . . 4.50

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO SOCIAL SERVICE SERIES

IMMIGRATION: SELECT DOCUMENTS AND CASE RECORDS. By EDITH ABBOTT. 810 pages, 8vo, cloth 4.50

"Stranded en route" is the perilous situation from which bewildered aliens have often to be rescued. Miss Abbott's selection of cases relating to the immigrant's admission, exclusion, or expulsion and attendant difficulties is as interesting a group of sources as has ever been published.

HISTORICAL ASPECTS OF THE IMMIGRATION PROBLEM. By EDITH ABBOTT. 881 pages, 8vo, cloth 4.50

This volume makes available a series of valuable public documents and books long out of print or otherwise inaccessible. The material relates to the history of American immigration during the period before 1882, the period of "old immigration."

FAMILY WELFARE WORK IN A METROPOLITAN COMMUNITY. By SOPHONISBA P. BRECKINRIDGE. 938 pages, 8vo, cloth 4.50

College students today looking for professional training in social work turn to the classroom for guidance and here the greatest difficulty has been the lack of suitable teaching material. Miss Breckinridge is fairly a pioneer in preparing such material, and her book is a distinct step in developing methods of case-work teaching for schools of social work.

PUBLIC WELFARE ADMINISTRATION. SELECT DOCUMENTS. By SOPHONISBA P. BRECKINRIDGE. 786 pages, 8vo, cloth 4.50

With legal documents, reports of social agencies, and government reports as her tools Professor Breckinridge has traced the structural growth of a nation-wide provision for the relief and treatment of poverty, feeble-mindedness, and other forms of human distress. Chronologically her materials fall into three periods: before 1863, when the first board of state charities was created; between 1863 and 1917, when the first department of public welfare was established; and from 1917 to the present. This is a remarkable collection of source materials which will be of profound interest both to students of political and social science and to social workers.

SOCIAL SERVICE MONOGRAPHS

In the "Social Service Monographs" the editorial board of the Social Service Review makes available significant studies in the field of the Review which supplement its work. Six monographs are now ready:

NET

1. THE BAIL SYSTEM IN CHICAGO. By ARTHUR L. BEELEY. 189 pages, 8vo, paper $2.00

This monograph assembles, describes, and analyzes for the first time the most important facts and problems pertaining to Chicago's bail system.

2. THE ILLINOIS ADOPTION LAW AND ITS ADMINISTRATION. By ELINOR NIMS. 122 pages, 8vo, paper 1.50

This study of the Illinois adoption act shows how adoption cases are now being handled by the courts and what changes should be recommended.

3. MEDICAL SOCIAL CASE RECORDS. With an Introduction by SOPHONISBA P. BRECKINRIDGE. 176 pages, 8vo, paper 1.50

There are five case histories in this volume selected from thirty-three submitted in competition for a prize offered in 1926–27 by the American Association of Hospital Social Workers. The case histories included are: "A Bohemian Tailor's Family," "An Italian Smelter's Helper," "A Drug Addict," "A Jewish Corset Worker," and "A Modern Galatea."

4. THE YOUNG CRIPPLE AND HIS JOB. By MARION HATHWAY. 130 pages, 8vo, paper 1.25

This informative study presents the difficulties faced by young crippled people in their attempts to find congenial employment, the facilities for vocational training and placement of these young people in the city of Chicago, and the results of certain experiments in a wider use of these facilities.

5. CITY PLANNING FOR GIRLS. By HENRIETTA ADDITON . . . 1.25

This is a survey of the work done with girls by the Social Service Agencies in Philadelphia. The purpose of the study is to gather further information as to the purposes and procedures of these agencies in the girl's field, and to organize the facts that they may serve as a basis for future plans and developments. The conclusions reached are invaluable to social service agencies all over the country.

JUNIOR

AN INTRODUCTION TO THE BIBLE FOR TEACHERS OF CHILDREN (Revised Edition). By GEORGIA L. CHAMBERLIN. A manual for teachers of children from nine to eleven years of age. 206 pages, 12mo, cloth 1.50

The Bible contains many interesting stories and presents inspiring characters which are, however, buried in the midst of much that would not interest children. To help them to find these heroic stories, thus making the Bible to them a living book, is the author's purpose here. The story method is employed throughout, with the Bible in the hands of the children.

THE BOOKS OF THE HOLY BIBLE. By GEORGIA L. CHAMBERLIN. A notebook to be used by the children in connection with An Introduction to the Bible for Teachers of Children. Illustrated. 100 pages, 8vo, paper 50

THE LIFE OF JESUS. By HERBERT W. GATES.

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL BIBLICAL COURSES

HEROES OF ISRAEL. By THEODORE G. SOARES.

Teacher's Manual, 240 pages, 12mo, cloth $1.50
Pupil's Textbook, 388 pages, 12mo, paper 1.00

This course is an excellent illustration of the process of conserving the religious values of the Old Testament as pupils advance in years. Each story contributes its ethical message. The pupil's text presents the biblical material, retells the hero stories, and raises questions for class discussion.

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL LIFE-SITUATION COURSES

PROBLEMS IN LIVING. By MAY K. COWLES.

Teacher's Manual, 82 pages, 12mo, paper 75
Pupil's Text, 130 pages, 12mo, paper 75

Character development is Miss Cowles's purpose. Through her book runs the thread of a story in which the same boy and girl appear in each situation from which a lesson is to be drawn. In this way the lessons are made quite concrete, but at the same time they are general enough to allow of individual filling in of details.

RIGHT LIVING: A DISCUSSION COURSE FOR BOYS AND GIRLS. SERIES I. By MAURICE J. NEUBERG.

Teacher's Manual, paper 75
Pupil's Text, paper 75

The author has gathered nearly a thousand problems or life-situations which early adolescents face. The most prominent and crucial of these are presented here to the boys and girls in a manner and vocabulary adapted to their interests and needs. Biblical studies, references to general literature, and games and other character-building activities for motivating the studies are suggested.

RIGHT LIVING. SERIES II. By MAURICE J. NEUBERG.

Teacher's Manual, 120 pages, 12mo, paper 75
Pupil's Text, 150 pages, 12mo, paper 75

Like Mr. Neuberg's previous volume, this is a discussion course for boys and girls. The book may be used as a first course, or as a second series to follow the first book. In any case it carries on the plan of developing in boys and girls a basis of judgment and action that will serve them as they grow older.

THE HEBREW PROPHETS, OR PATRIOTS AND LEADERS OF ISRAEL. By GEORGIA L. CHAMBERLIN. 238 pages, 8vo.
Cloth $2.00
Many people who are interested in the work of boys and girls of high-school age have come to believe that the problems which the Prophets faced, and their manner of meeting those problems, provide the best material through which to approach moral, civic, and social situations in our own day.

A SHORT HISTORY OF CHRISTIANITY IN THE APOSTOLIC AGE. By GEORGE H. GILBERT. 240 pages, 8vo.
Cloth 2.00
The story of the early days of Christianity may be remote and dull, or vitally interesting, according to the method of its presentation. The author of this book has chosen for emphasis living men rather than dead doctrines.

SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL ETHICAL COURSES

OUR CHURCH. By JOHN LESLIE LOBINGIER.
Teacher's Manual, 80 pages, 12mo, paper 75
Pupil's Text 121 pages, 12mo, paper 75
Here the vital elements of church membership are presented from the point of view of the life-interests of the high-school students themselves. The work of the church in all of its phases and its mission throughout the world are presented for discussion.

THE PROBLEMS OF BOYHOOD. By FRANKLIN W. JOHNSON. 130 pages, 12mo.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S PROJECTS. By ERWIN L. SHAVER. Ten projects, each 50
These projects comprise the best type of material now available with which to challenge young people to think through the problems of the Christian life.

NET

A Christian's Life-Work. 48 pages, 12mo, paper. A project plan suggesting how Christian young people of high-school and college age may be helped to find that form of life-work for which they are best equipped and to use that life-work as a means of co-operating in the building of a Christian world.

A Christian's Recreation. 54 pages, 12mo, paper. This is a project plan to guide young people of high-school age and older in the discovery and use of Christian types of recreation.

A Christian's Attitude toward the Press. 44 pages, 12mo, paper. The object of this project program is to develop among young people by group discussion and activity an intelligent and effective attitude on the Christian level toward the public press.

Christian World-Builders. 58 pages, 12mo, paper. The aim of the program of activities offered here is to help young people interpret and use the resources of the world in accordance with the Christian purpose. Valuable source material is included to aid the group in determining the right use of life's advantages.

Christian Young People and World-Friendship. 58 pages, 12mo, paper. The various portions of the program are designed to enlist young people in the knowledge of and participation in the missionary work of the world. A directed study-activity that will lead the way for an intelligent effort at world-peace.

Young People and the Church. 57 pages, 12mo, paper. A procedure is here suggested for a unified program of educative activities for young people with the aim of developing a more intelligent, devoted, and active loyalty to the church.

The Other Fellow's Religion. 54 pages, 12mo, paper. A plan for a project program which has as its aim the development of attitudes of Christian sympathy and appreciation of the viewpoint of others in matters of religious belief and practice.

Christianizing Our Community. 61 pages, 12mo, paper. A plan for setting young people to work on the problem of Christianizing their immediate community, and for developing in them the desire and capacity for making effective changes as they grow older. The program is intended to cover a period of approximately nine months.

A Christian's Education. 52 pages, 12mo, paper. A tentative plan offered for the guidance of young people's groups in discovering the principles and methods by which a young Christian should carry on his education.

A Christian's Patriotism. 58 pages, 12mo, paper. A suggested plan for a project program with the purpose of developing in young people a discriminating sense of a Christian patriot's duty, and of leading them to undertake the practice of that duty in their everyday relationships.

SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL SUPPLEMENTARY COURSES

STUDIES IN THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO MARK. By Ernest DeWitt Burton.

Pupil's Textbook, 248 pages, 12mo, cloth $1.25

NET

Pupil's Textbook, 248 pages, 12mo, paper $1.00

A careful study of the most graphic of the Gospels, aided by notes, questions for consideration, maps, pictures, and a dictionary. The principal object of this book is to show pupils how to master a biblical book.

PAUL: SON OF KISH. By LYMAN I. HENRY. 356 pages, crown 8vo.
Cloth 2.50*
Student's Edition 1.90

In this story imagination binds together isolated facts in a vivid historical restoration of the life of Paul, from his youth in Tarsus through his varied experiences to his martyrdom in Rome. This story assembles and faithfully blends with the Bible stories of the period the customs and historical incidents in relation to the personality of Paul.

ADULT GROUP

The biblical studies assigned to the high-school period are in most cases adaptable to adult classwork. There are other volumes, however, intended only for the adult group, which also includes the young people beyond the high-school age. Additional courses are in preparation; they will seek to interpret problems of modern life from the Christian point of view. The books now available are as follows:

THE LIFE OF CHRIST. (Revised edition.) By ERNEST DEWITT BURTON and SHAILER MATHEWS. 370 pages, 8vo, cloth . . . 2.00

This revised edition takes advantage of the findings of New Testament scholarship of the last quarter-century, clearing up the meaning of certain passages in the gospel narrative. Questions for class discussion are included to apply the teaching of Jesus to problems of modern life.

THE STUDENT'S GOSPELS. By SHAILER MATHEWS. 193 pages, small 16mo, cloth 1.00*

The text used is from the Goodspeed translation. Matthew, Mark, and Luke, broken up into sections with covering titles, are arranged in three parallel columns. John appears as a separate unit.

WHAT JESUS TAUGHT. By A. WAKEFIELD SLATEN. 194 pages, 12mo, cloth 1.50

After a swift survey of the material and spiritual environment of Jesus this book suggests outlines for discussions of his teaching on such topics as civilization, hate, war and non-resistance, democracy, religion, and similar topics.

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION IN THE FAMILY. By HENRY F. COPE. 296 pages, 12mo, cloth 1.50

An illuminating study of the possibilities of a normal religious development in the family life. Invaluable to parents and an ideal course for adult classes in the church school.

NET

GREAT MEN OF THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH. By WILLISTON WALKER. 378 pages, 12mo, cloth $2.00

Principles and Methods in Religious Education

THE CITY INSTITUTE FOR RELIGIOUS TEACHERS. By WALTER SCOTT ATHEARN. 152 pages, 16mo, cloth 1.00

A SURVEY OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATION IN THE LOCAL CHURCH. By WILLIAM C. BOWER. 178 pages, 16mo, cloth . . 1.25

THE JUNIOR: LIFE-SITUATIONS OF CHILDREN FROM NINE TO ELEVEN. By ERNEST J. CHAVE. 174 pages, 16mo, cloth 1.25

To control the child's environment and shape it to the best interests of the child, that is, to turn it to the building of character, is Mr. Chave's purpose in this book.

OUT OF DOORS WITH YOUTH. By J. W. F. DAVIES. 172 pages, 12mo, cloth 1.50

The value of this book as a guide will be readily appreciated by leaders of summer camps, whether held under the auspices of school, church, or Christian Association.

THE SUNDAY-SCHOOL BUILDING AND ITS EQUIPMENT. With 42 figures. By HERBERT F. EVANS. 116 pages, 16mo, cloth 1.00

RECREATION AND THE CHURCH. By HERBERT W. GATES. 186 pages, 16mo, cloth 1.25

THE CHURCH SCHOOL OF CITIZENSHIP. By ALLAN HOBEN. 178 pages, 16mo, cloth 1.25

GRADED SOCIAL SERVICE FOR THE SUNDAY SCHOOL. By WILLIAM N. HUTCHINS. 126 pages, 16mo, cloth 1.00

A SUMMER PROGRAM FOR THE CHURCH SCHOOL. By MILES H. KRUMBINE. 188 pages, 16mo, cloth 1.50*

Every director of a summer school of religion will want to see this practical program. It gives the daily program of a large but representative school—its plan of worship with its closely graded Bible stories; hymns of the church; dramatizations and prayers worked out and presented by the children.

WORLD-FRIENDSHIP THROUGH THE CHURCH SCHOOL. By JOHN LESLIE LOBINGIER. 92 pages, 16mo, cloth 1.25*

This is a teacher-training course and practical guide for the leader of a group engaged in developing a program of Christian friendliness and world-service in its own church. It points out clearly the goal of world-friendship to be attained through the educational program of the church.

PROJECTS IN WORLD-FRIENDSHIP. By JOHN LESLIE LOBINGIER. 177 pages, 16mo, cloth 1.25*

Indicates fully how the church school may use the project to give that appreciation of the customs, mode of life, culture, and needs of other social and racial groups, which is the necessary basis for an attitude of world-friendship.

THE DRAMATIZATION OF BIBLE STORIES. By ELIZABETH E. MILLER. 162 pages, 16mo, cloth $1.25*

This book gives the methods and results of an experiment that has been carried on by the author for several years, in adapting striking biblical stories for dramatic presentation by children.

DRAMATIZATION IN THE CHURCH SCHOOL. By ELIZABETH E. MILLER. 89 pages, 16mo, cloth 1.25*

The first teacher-training course to be published in the field of dramatization in the work of the church. The series of ten lessons here presented is not merely theoretical, but is the outcome of actual experience in teaching just such training courses.

CHURCH SCHOOL PROJECTS. By ERWIN L. SHAVER. 16 mo, paper 1.00*

THE PROJECT PRINCIPLE IN RELIGIOUS EDUCATION. By ERWIN L. SHAVER. 16mo.

Cloth 1.50*
Paper 1.00*

A volume of theory and practice setting forth the possibilities for project teaching in the field of religious education. Mr. Shaver proposes simply to present a sufficient background of educational theory and illustrations of practical use so that earnest and progressive teachers may find rich sources of inspiration and help.

A PROJECT CURRICULUM FOR YOUNG PEOPLE. By ERWIN L. SHAVER. 222 pages, 16mo, cloth 1.50*

Ten separate projects for young people have already been published. This manual will serve in part as an introduction to them, but it will be largely useful for any kind of project work.

HANDWORK IN RELIGIOUS EDUCATION. By ADDIE GRACE WARDLE. 142 pages, 16mo, cloth 1.25*

Handbooks of Ethics and Religion

THE RELIGIONS OF THE WORLD. By GEORGE A. BARTON. (Revised edition.) 406 pages, 12mo, cloth 2.50*

After dealing with the origin, history, and principal teachings of all the great religions, the author points out those characteristics of Christianity which make it, as he believes, destined to be the universal religion.

A SOURCE BOOK FOR THE STUDY OF THE TEACHING OF JESUS IN ITS HISTORICAL RELATIONSHIPS. By ERNEST D. BURTON. 277 pages, 12mo, cloth 2.00

The record of the life and teaching of Jesus that has been preserved in the Gospels of the New Testament was considered by Dr. Burton to be of particular value today for students of religon. To present this record in convenient form he prepared this book which gives Jesus' own teaching, as well as, for comparison, that of his contemporaries.

THE PSYCHOLOGY OF RELIGION. By GEORGE A. COE. 366 pages, 12mo, cloth 2.25*

structure and function is the basis of this handbook for the psychological study of religion. It is an extensive apparatus for the use of minister, student, and teacher.

PREACHING ON CHURCH AND COMMUNITY OCCASIONS. By Ozora S. Davis. About $2.50*

The minister who is called upon to preach Christmas, Thanksgiving, and other sermons for special occasions often finds himself perplexed as he seeks a fresh approach to an appropriate subject, or even a stimulating suggestion as to the best source of material. This book is a study of the principles of preaching, with suggestions for texts and brief outlines. It is designed to start the young minister on the pursuit of his own lines of further reflection and discussion.

PRINCIPLES OF PREACHING. By Ozora S. Davis. 270 pages, 12mo, cloth 2.50*

"Sermons of power" rather than those popularly called "great" have been used in this new text for the student of homiletics and the preacher who desires his sermons to gain in power, persuasiveness, and beauty of form.

THE ORIGIN AND GROWTH OF THE HEBREW RELIGION. By Henry T. Fowler. 190 pages, 12mo, cloth 1.50*

THE STORY OF THE NEW TESTAMENT. By Edgar J. Goodspeed.

Popular Edition 1.00*

Who wrote the New Testament and when and where and how? This book presents in a vivid and popular manner the situations out of which the New Testament books arose, the actual conditions of early Christian life which caused the writing of each book, and the manner in which each writer met the problem before him.

HOW THE BIBLE GREW. By Frank Grant Lewis. 240 pages, 12mo, cloth 1.50*

It presents in an interesting way the entire literary development of both Testaments and shows how they have been handled by translators in the production of the many versions.

THE SPREAD OF CHRISTIANITY IN THE MODERN WORLD. By Edward C. Moore. 358 pages, crown 8vo, cloth 2.25*

Attempting a survey of the history of missions since the beginning of the modern era, about 1757, the author depicts the missionary movement against the background of general history. He sets forth the relation of missionary endeavor to contemporary conditions, political and commercial, social and intellectual.

THE RISE OF CHRISTIANITY: A HISTORICAL STUDY OF THE ORIGIN OF THE CHRISTIAN RELIGION. By Frederick Owen Norton. 270 pages, 12mo, cloth 2.00*

A vivid description of the world out of which Christianity arose, and a strictly scientific, yet singularly clear and interesting interpretation of the original sources. The New Testament records are made especially plain, and Christianity's unique message is presented in terms of present-day life and thought.

NET

THE LIFE OF PAUL. (Revised edition.) By BENJAMIN W. ROBINSON. 250 pages, 12mo, cloth $2.00*

Sketched in close relation with the life of his time, this account of the life of Paul becomes a compact, lucid biography.

CURRENT CHRISTIAN THINKING. By GERALD B. SMITH. 209 pages, crown 8vo, cloth 2.00*

Modern forms of Christian belief are many and varied. Mr. Smith has taken account of the outstanding ones and shows in this book their relation to the whole progress of current Christian thinking.

PRINCIPLES OF CHRISTIAN LIVING. By GERALD B. SMITH. 212 pages, 12mo, cloth 2.00*

Ethics is not just a principle about which to theorize; it is one to be applied. This is the theme of Dr. Smith's book on Christian ethics. His aim is to indicate the motives which enter into Christian living as the individual finds himself a member of various groups in actual life.

THE MORAL LIFE OF THE HEBREWS. By J. M. POWIS SMITH. 337 pages, 12mo, cloth 2.25*

Morals and religion, ethics and theology, are shown to have been inseparable and to have advanced hand in hand. From love of the moral life for its rewards alone, to love of morality for its own sake is a long road, and it is Dr. Smith's belief that no people have ever traveled so far in so short a time.

THE PROPHETS AND THEIR TIMES. By J. M. POWIS SMITH. 277 pages, 12mo, cloth 2.25*

Spokesmen of the progressive idealism of their day, organs of a noble discontent with the established order, and heralds of a golden age—these were characteristic functions of the early Hebrew prophets.

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION. By THEODORE G. SOARES. 336 pages, 12mo, cloth 2.50*

This is a summary of the author's whole theory and philosophy of religious education. It is written for the general reader and for the student; it provides the latter with an excellent textbook for college and theological seminary courses in the fundamental principles of religious education.

THE TEACHING OF SCIENCE SERIES

THE TEACHING OF GENERAL SCIENCE. By W. L. EIKENBERRY. 169 pages, 12mo, cloth 2.00

An interpretation of the general-science movement. This book contains the subject matter of a general-science course, together with the objectives and principles of organization of general science.

TEACHING SCIENCE IN THE SCHOOLS. By ELLIOT R. DOWNING. 180 pages, cloth 2.00

EDUCATION and PSYCHOLOGY

Higher Education

Problems of College Education.

Studies in Administration, Student Personnel, Curriculum, and Instruction.
Edited by EARL HUDELSON, Professor of Education, University of Minnesota. xvii+ 449 pages. Octavo. Cloth. $3.00.

The University of Minnesota has been a pioneer in the field of scientific research into the problems of higher education. This volume presents in part the results of researches and experiments of its staff together with contributions from other educational leaders. The papers were prepared originally for the Institute on the Problems of College Education held at the University of Minnesota in July, 1927. Class size, student mortality and survival, the measurement of student ability, the prediction of student scholarship, the orientation of the college student, college marks, are among the investigations reported on. Other problems ranging from the reorganization of higher education to mental hygiene and extra-curricular activities are dealt with by specialists in each field. Although of primary concern to college administrators and faculties, high school principals and deans, parents of prospective college students, and others charged with their guidance will find this volume of more interest and value than many prepared with their needs more directly in view.

Listed below are volumes containing the complete reports of studies that could only be outlined in Problems of College Education.

Class Size at the College Level.

By EARL HUDELSON, Professor of Education, University of Minnesota. xxii+ 298 pages. Octavo. Cloth. $3.00.

This volume is the final report of an investigation of the relationship of class size to effective teaching, carried on during the past four years by the University of Minnesota as a part of its program of educational research. The findings are of the highest significance in determining a college's budget, staff, building program, and classroom methods. Detailed reports are given of class-size experiments carried on in 104 classes, under 21 instructors, in 11 departments in four colleges of the University of Minnesota—the experiments involving 6,059 students, 4,205 in large classes and 1,854 in small. A study of the effect of class size upon student marks, studies of the relation of various methods of teaching to student achievement in classes of various sizes, a study of class size and cost of instruction, a critical review of previous investigations of class size at every educational level, and a technique for class-size experimentation are also among the topics covered by Professor Hudelson.

The Teaching of Science at the College Level.

Reports of Investigations conducted by the University of Minnesota.

Edited by E. M. Freeman, Dean of the College of Agriculture, Forestry, and Home Economics, and Professor and Chief, Division of Plant Pathology and Botany.

"A program of investigation having in mind the improvement of instruction in science at the University of Minnesota" was prepared under Dean Freeman's direction as a part of the University program of educational research outlined in Problems of College Education above and constitutes Chapter XXIV of that volume. Two reports of projects carried out as parts of the science program are now ready for the press and will be published shortly.

The first, entitled Problems of Science Teaching at the College Level, by A. W. Hurd, Assistant Director of the Bureau of Educational Research, deals with studies made in the departments of Anatomy, Physiology, and Physics during the school years 1926-28. Evaluation of laboratory instruction, the grouping of students for laboratory work, factors determining achievement, phases of achievement, and techniques of experimentation in method are some of the problems considered.

Curricular Problems in Science at the College Level by Palmer O. Johnson is an account of studies made in the field of botany with particular attention directed to the value of elementary courses in botany as prerequisite to the more advanced courses in the College of Agriculture and Forestry.

Laboratory Instruction in the Field of Chemistry, a third report, is in preparation by Victor H. Noll.

Extra-Curricular Activities at the University of Minnesota.

By F. Stuart Chapin, Professor of Sociology, University of Minnesota. About 140 pages. Octavo. Cloth. $2.00.

This comprehensive survey, conducted under Professor Chapin's direction, supplies factual data in a field in which opinion is strong and conflicting. The report is based on the replies of 4,637 students, 408 alumni, and 156 campus organizations.

Of exceptional interest are studies of special groups such as 379 "prominent" students, 112 honor students, 904 officers of campus organizations; of the relation between the intensity of extra-curricular activity and scholastic achievement; of the time actually spent in extra-curricular activity; of the "death rate" of campus organizations; and of the extent to which alumni carry over in community life the activities of their college years. In Press.

Student Aptitude and Prediction of Student Scholarship.

By J. B. JOHNSTON, Dean of the College of Science, Literature, and the Arts, University of Minnesota. Report of the University of Minnesota Survey Commission No. 10. 20 pages. 15 tables. Small quarto. Paper. $0.50.

This survey report is based upon a study of the selection and progress of 3,900 students entering the University during a period of ten years. It presents criteria for the measurement of college aptitude and the prediction of student scholarship. The conclusions are of major importance for the guidance of prospective college students.

The Junior College.

By LEONARD V. KOOS, Ph.D., Professor of Secondary Education, University of Minnesota. Vol. I. xxxi+ 238 pages. 91 tables, 51 figures. Vol II. 682 pages. 231 tables, 100 figures, appendixes, index. Royal octavo. Paper. Two volumes. $5.00.

Professor Koos's comprehensive study of the junior college movement is the outcome of an investigation carried forward by the author under subventions from the Commonwealth Fund of New York City and from the University of Minnesota—an investigation which entailed personal visits to almost seventy junior colleges. "What has been essayed," writes Professor Koos, "is a comprehensive evaluation of the movement . . . and a marking out of what seem, in view of the results of the investigation, appropriate lines of future development." The scope of this report is indicated by the titles of the several parts: The Scope and Aspirations of the Movement, The Educational Functions of the Junior College, The Forces of Reorganization in Higher Education, Overlapping in High School and College, Instituting the Junior College Plan.

"It is not often that we have presented to us so adequate a study in education as Professor Koos's The Junior College. The junior-college movement is one of those social phenomena which have a meaning and significance far beyond what a mere count of numbers affected would indicate. The value of the present study rests largely in the fact that the author recognizes this principle and devotes the major part of his two volumes to a convincing exposition of the forces which are at work." —Henry C. Morrison in the School Review.

"It is seldom that a student of education has so favorable an opportunity to secure through a comprehensive study a broad view of any institution during the period of its rise. Professor Koos has amply justified the choice of the Commonwealth Committee by the comprehensiveness and adequacy of his investigation and the clarity of his report." Charles H. Judd in the Oberlin Alumni Magazine.

The University and the Commonwealth.

Addresses at the Inauguration of Lotus Delta Coffman, Ph.D., as Fifth President of the University of Minnesota May 13, 1921. 161 pages. Illustrated. Royal octavo. Paper. $2.50.

Addresses of the participants and delegates at the inaugural session and the educational conference and symposium which accompanied it make up the contents of the book. Contributors include President Emeritus William Watts Folwell, President Emeritus Cyrus Northrop, President Lotus Delta Coffman, and the Hon. Fred B. Snyder, President of the Board of Regents, all of the University of Minnesota; President Frank LeRond McVey, University of Kentucky; Dean James Earl Russell, Teachers College, Columbia University; President Henry Suzzallo, University of Washington; Mr. Vernon Kellogg, Secretary of the National Research Council; Dean James Edward Haggerty, Ohio State University; Dean Charles Phillips Emerson, Indiana University; Dean Charles Russ Richards, University of Illinois; Professor William Reynolds Vance, Yale University. A few copies only are available.

Research in Progress at the University of Minnesota, July, 1924-July, 1925.

Compiled by CLARENCE M. JACKSON, Director of the Department of Anatomy, University of Minnesota. Bibliographical Series No. 3. 306 pages. Octavo. Paper. $1.25.

An index of original research projects, both those completed and those still in progress in the several arts, sciences, and professions at the University of Minnesota during the year, July, 1924-July, 1925. Abstracts as well as titles of most of the studies are included.

Man in Nature and Society.

An Outline and Bibliography of an Orientation Course. 37 pages. Paper. $0.50.

This plan of reading has been worked out during a three-year period by the staff of the Orientation Course of the University of Minnesota. The material has been selected with the object of securing the best vehicle for arousing a spirit of inquiry and encouraging students to think for themselves and to work independently in the library and elsewhere. Adults interested in securing an organized and "humanized" survey of knowledge will find the suggested outline helpful in planning private reading.

The Public Schools

Studies in Public School Finance.

By Fletcher H. Swift, Ph.D., Professor of Education, University of California, and others. Vol. I. The West: California and Colorado. xiv+ 221 pages. 99 tables, bibliography. Royal octavo. Paper. $3.00. Vol. II. The East: Massachusetts, New York, New Jersey. xi+ 240 pages, 84 tables, 6 figures, bibliography. Royal octavo. Paper. $2.00. Vol. III. The Middle West: Illinois, Minnesota, South Dakota, with a supplement on Alaska. x+ 329 pages. 99 tables, 29 figures, bibliography. Royal octavo. Paper. $3.50. Vol. IV. The South: Arkansas, Oklahoma, Alabama, Tennessee. xiv+ 224 pages. 83 tables, 25 figures, bibliography. Royal octavo. Paper. $2.50. Price complete in four volumes, $10.00.

That "in the last analysis a large proportion of the educational difficulties existing in the majority of our states today are financial and are due fundamentally to antiquated systems of school finance" is the contention of Professor Swift. President Coffman of the University of Minnesota writes in the Preface of this series of monographs: "It is becoming increasingly clear that a thorough analysis of the principles underlying the sources of revenue for the support of public education is imperative. There was and is no one in this country, so far as I know, better qualified to make such a study and analysis than the author of this monograph."

"The most important university contribution to the study of public school finance made in this country."—Springfield Republican.

Survey Reports of Minnesota Schools.

By Fred Engelhardt, Professor of Educational Administration, University of Minnesota, and others. Minnesota Studies in Education Nos. 8, 9, 10, 11, 13, 14, 15, 16. For details and prices see pages 31 and 32.

These reports make available to other school systems intensive studies of type situations. A brief description of reports published since 1925 is given below.

A School Building Program for Robbinsdale, Minnesota.

This study presents a practical building plan for a public school district with an enrolment of 700. Professor Engelhardt includes a technique for the forecasting of school population, which will be found valuable in communities of all sizes.

Survey Report of the Public School System of Superior, Wisconsin.

An interesting and exhaustive evaluation of the organization, administration, finance, and building program of the public school system of a city of 40,000 population, with investigatory technique adaptable to communities of other sizes.

Survey Report of the Public Schools of Lake Crystal, Minnesota.

Organization, financial, and instructional problems in a school with relatively stationary enrolment of 350, scientifically analyzed. A special chapter deals with the problem of how large a school district should be.

Survey Report of the Public Schools of New Prague, Minnesota.

This study by Professor Engelhardt, based upon a school of 300, presents a comprehensive survey of problems peculiar to schools whose enrolments have shown recent decreases.

Survey Report of the Public Schools of Aurora, Minnesota.

An analytical study of the administration of a "model" school system of 1,000 enrolment in a most interesting educational section, Minnesota's iron range. Disbursement of the revenues of an unusually wealthy tax district to give maximum school efficiency is one of the special problems considered.

Survey Report of the Public Schools of Albert Lea, Minnesota.

A special study of conditions and problems of a school system of 1,800 enrolment in a rapidly growing school district of unusual size, one of the few in the state created by separate legislative charter.

Business Administration of the Public Schools of Ortonville, Minnesota.

The budget as an administrative control, studied in a school system of 475. The factor of large non-resident high school attendance is given consideration. The increasing complexity of the problems related to public school administration, the critical scrutiny of public service costs by the people, and the rapid development in the professional training of administrative and supervisory officers should make a case study of this kind a significant help to school authorities.

Building Program for the Public Schools of Austin, Minnesota.

It is a distinct advantage to a school district when plant needs can be projected and carefully planned for the future. This survey, made in a school system of 2,600, is a program adapted to local conditions to provide the greatest good for the greatest number, but will be found valuable in other similar situations.

Selecting Sites for School Buildings.

By FRED ENGELHARDT, Professor of Educational Administration, University of Minnesota; NEWTON H. HEGEL, Director of Administrative Research, and GEORGE F. WOMRATH, Business Superintendent, Minneapolis Public Schools. 20 pages, 9 maps and diagrams. Octavo. Paper. $0.50.

The technique outlined in this study is the result of an extensive search for some absolute basis for selecting school building sites. Although evolved with a particular city (Minneapolis) in mind, the principles underlying the technique are applicable to any growing city. In Minneapolis, the results of the new procedure were the removal of school site selection from the field of politics, opinionated discussions, and the pressure of special local interests. The financial authorities of the city, after studying the proposed projects, on their own initiative advanced approximately one million dollars beyond the regular assignments for site purchase.

The Junior High School.

A Study of Instructional Results in a Typical City System. By J. Orin Powers, Ph.D., Assistant Professor of Education, George Washington University. xii+ 125 pages. 91 tables, 16 figures, bibliography. Octavo. Paper. $1.75.

This study of one of the most significant movements in secondary education is based on an investigation of the Minneapolis public schools, conducted in cooperation with the officers and teachers of the system. Percentage of pupil retention, amount of time saved, improvement in scholastic performance, and recognition of individual differences in junior high schools in comparison with high schools organized on the old junior-senior plan are the topics given especial consideration. In addition there is a chapter on teaching load for different subjects and time expenditure of pupils per subject, one on the qualifications of junior high school teachers, and one on vocational guidance.

Professor Leonard V. Koos writes of this study: "It is easily the most comprehensive and substantial task of evaluation of the new unit to find its way into print." It performs two major services: (1) in pointing toward "the thoroughgoing reorganization that must come to be general," and (2) in demonstrating "methods or approaches in appraisal—methods adaptable to other situations and to other special purposes of the junior high school."

Teaching Aids for the Asking.

Selected by Homer J. Smith, Associate Professor of Industrial Education, University of Minnesota. 60 pages. Octavo. Paper. $0.50.

This list of 500 informational booklets, job sheets, and wall charts, offered free or at small cost by manufacturing and sales organizations, will be of very great service and convenience to teachers of industrial subjects, general science, and geography.

Prof. Smith has selected these items, from the hundreds submitted, on the basis of their educational value. His list is classified and annotated and accompanied by the names and addresses of the firms furnishing the material. The subjects included are: Trees and Woods; General Woodwork and Carpentry; Wood Finishing and Interior Decoration; Structural Materials; Drawing, Plan-Reading, and Estimating; Plumbing, Heating, and Ventilation; Brickwork, Masonry, and Concrete; Electricity; Sheet Metal; Metals and Metal Working; Abrasives and Grinding; Lubrication; Automobile Work; Printing; Miscellaneous.

Psychology

Minnesota Mechanical Ability Tests.

By DONALD G. PATERSON, Professor of Psychology, and RICHARD M. ELLIOTT, Professor and Chairman, Department of Psychology, University of Minnesota, directors of the investigation; L. DEWEY ANDERSON, chief investigator; HERBERT A. TOOPS, statistical consultant; and EDNA HEIDBREDER, editor of the report. About 500 pages of which approximately half are tables. Illustrations. Octavo. Cloth. Probable price, $5.00.

The Minnesota Mechanical Ability Tests are the product of four years of research investigation subsidized by grants from the Committee on Human Migrations of the National Research Council and conducted by the Department of Psychology at the University of Minnesota. The problems attacked were (1) the extent to which general mechanical ability may be said to exist and to be significant for successful adjustment and adaptation in our present social and economic organization; and (2) the effect of various specific factors in determining the several mechanical abilities and interests. These include heredity, early training, social and economic status, race, age, sex, and schooling, among others.

An account of the trials of existing tests, the elaboration and application of surviving tests, and the conclusions reached constitutes the body of the report. There is included in addition a mass of statistical data, which it is hoped will prove useful to other investigators in the field.

Child Welfare

The Kuhlman-Binet Tests for Children of Preschool Age. A Critical Study and Evaluation.

By FLORENCE L. GOODENOUGH, Ph.D., Research Assistant Professor, Institute of Child Welfare, University of Minnesota. Child Welfare Monograph Series No. 2. xii+ 146. 12 mo. Cloth. $2.00.

Dr. Goodenough presents in this monograph the results of what is probably the most intensive study of any form of the Binet tests ever made, based upon the largest group of preschool age children ever reported. It will prove indispensable to all workers in the field of mental tests and of interest and value to psychologists, sociologists, and educators. An intelligence scale based on this study is in preparation and will be available in the near future.

The Young Child and His Parents. A Study of One Hundred Cases.

By JOSEPHINE C. FOSTER, Ph.D., Assistant Professor, Institute of Child Welfare, and JOHN E. ANDERSON, Ph.D., Director, Institute of Child Welfare, University of Minnesota. Child Welfare Monograph Series No. 1. iv+ 190 pages. Octavo. Half-cloth. $1.50.

These brief case histories deal with the everyday behavior problems of normal children between the ages of two and six. Each history includes a brief characterization of the salient features of the case, a description of the home situation, a discussion of developmental history, a history of the adjustments of the child, and where possible, the treatment suggested and the later history of the case.

"A valuable contribution—should be most helpful to child-development teachers, leaders of child study groups, mothers, pediatrists, child psychologists, nurses, and other social workers. Very practical and simply written."—Child Health Bulletin.

Child Care and Training. A Reading Course for Parents.

Prepared by the INSTITUTE OF CHILD WELFARE, University of Minnesota. Octavo. Cloth. $1.00.

The best that psychologists, pediatricians, and hygienists have to offer in the field of child study is made available to all mothers and fathers in this attractive volume prepared by the staff of the Institute of Child Welfare.

"The value of this book is so great that we are departing from our usual custom and listing the titles of chapters in order to give in the briefest form the character of their contents: Importance of Early Years and Relation of Heredity to Environment; Physical Growth and Development of the Child; General Care, Including Diet and Clothing; Children's Diseases; Mental Growth of the Child; Learning; Emotional Habits; Eating Habits; Sleeping Habits; Eliminative and Other Early Habits; Constructive Discipline; Development of Curiosity and Questioning; Imagination, Truth, and Falsehood; Play; Books and Reading; The Family.

"We must add that at the end of each chapter are questions and special book lists for further study, and finally a complete bibliography including both textbook and pamphlet material."—Public Health Nurse.

"A boon among the pseudo-scientific books that have flooded the book market."—Minneapolis Star.

"A gospel for the thoughtful mother."—Jean Russell Anderson in the Minneapolis Tribune.

Parent Education.

Papers read before the Northwest Conference on Child Health and Parent Education.
Edited by Dr. Richard Olding Beard, Associate Professor of Physiology, Emeritus, University of Minnesota, Secretary to the Conference. x+ 215 pages. Illus. 12 mo. Cloth. $2.00.

Parents who realize that "instinct" is insufficient equipment for fulfilling their responsibilities toward their children, and all others interested in the welfare of children will find much valuable assistance in this collection of twenty-two papers. Among the contributors are such nationally known experts as Dr. Henry F. Helmholz, Mayo Clinic; Dr. George Draper, Columbia University; Prof. Lydia J. Roberts, University of Chicago; Dr. Bird T. Baldwin, University of Iowa; Dr. Smiley Blanton, Vassar College; and Dr. Max Seham, Dr. R. E. Scammon, and Dr. John E. Anderson, of the University of Minnesota.

"A significant and helpful symposium of the ideas of recognized authorities as to the application of science for the improvement of parental methods in child development."—Journal of Home Economics.

"Few books offer in so brief a space so much excellent opinion."—Bulletin, Horace Mann School, Teachers College, Columbia University.

SCIENCE

Development and Growth of the External Dimensions of the Human Body in the Fetal Period.

By Richard E. Scammon, Ph.D., Professor of Anatomy, University of Minnesota, and Leroy A. Calkins, Ph.D., M.D., Professor of Obstetrics and Gynecology, University of Virginia. About 224 pages. 180 tables, 73 figures, 70 graphs. Small quarto. Cloth. Probable price, $10.00.

This fundamental study of the growth of the human body in prenatal life and of its proportions and dimensions at birth is based on 35,000 observations by two of the world's leading anatomists. The authors have given especial emphasis to obstetric factors. The monograph is copiously illustrated and includes an extensive bibliography and a summary of previous studies on this subject. It will be of interest to anthropologists, pediatrists, obstetricians, anatomists, biologists, and students of child welfare.

In press.

Outlines of Pathology.

Edited by E. T. Bell, B.S., M.D., Professor of Pathology, University of Minnesota. x+ 586 pages. 12 mo. Cloth. $3.50.

A textbook based on lectures given in the courses in Pathology at the University of Minnesota by Dr. Bell, with chapters on Neuro-pathology, Hematology, and Parasitology by specialists in those fields.

Out of print.

Trees and Shrubs of Minnesota.

By C. O. ROSENDAHL, Professor of Botany, and F. K. BUTTERS, Associate Professor of Botany, University of Minnesota. About 320 pages, of which 100 are line drawings and half-tones. Royal octavo. Cloth. $4.00.

The interested amateur as well as the teacher and the professional botanist will find his needs met in this forthcoming volume. It is the most complete account ever made of the trees and shrubs of Minnesota, both native and introduced. And it will serve almost equally well for the surrounding area from the Great Lakes to the foothills of the Rocky Mountains. An earlier publication of the University of Minnesota bearing this title (see page 37) went through several editions and is now out of print—evidencing the interest and value of the work. This has been revised with the greatest possible thoroughness. Professor Rosendahl and Professor Butters have completely rewritten the volume from herbarium specimens and studied the distribution of the trees of the state. Technical and popular descriptions are accompanied by profuse illustrations, both line drawings and half-tones, of the more important or difficult species, thus aiding in identification. Keys to the families, genera, and species, and notes on the value and uses of the plants are included.

Ready in September

Myxophyceae of North America and Adjacent Regions, Including Central America, Greenland, Bermuda, the West Indies, and Hawaii. (Minnesota Algae, Vol. I.)

By JOSEPHINE TILDEN, Professor of Botany, University of Minnesota. Botanical Survey Series No. 8. 328 pages. 20 plates. 513 figures. Royal octavo. Cloth. $3.00.

An extraordinarily complete and useful classification of all varieties of blue-green algae known to exist in the North American region. The author has brought together specific descriptions, and practically all that is known relating to the geographical distribution and the recorded history of each plant in American localities. In addition there are figures, redrawn from photographs, illustrating many of the species. Very simple keys are furnished for the families, genera, and species, and a bibliography for each species. It is hoped that this volume may encourage interest on the part of general botanists, high school teachers, college students, physicians, and bacteriologists in these little plants, which are of late coming to be considered of importance even outside of botanical circles.

Minnesota Studies in Plant Science.

Papers by members of the PLANT SCIENCE GROUP of the University of Minnesota. Minnesota Studies in the Biological Sciences No. 6. 125 pages, 26 illustrations, 14 tables, bibliographies. Royal octavo. Paper. $2.00.

This number of Minnesota Studies in Plant Science contains the following papers: "Chromosome number in species of Hordeum," by Fred Griffee, Professor of Plant Breeding, Oklahoma Agricultural College; "Enzymic relations of pectin," by J. J. Willaman, Associate Professor of Agricultural Biochemistry, University of Minnesota; "On the elimination of symmetry as a source of spurious values of the field heterogeneity coefficient," by J. Arthur Harris, Professor of Botany, University of Minnesota; and "On the regression of soil properties and crop characters in associated plots of an experimental field," by J. Arthur Harris, I. L. Connors, Plant Pathologist, Dominion Experiment Farms, University of Manitoba, A. T. Elders, Manitoba Agricultural Station, University of Manitoba, and L. E. Kirk, Professor of Field Husbandry, University of Saskatchewan; "The course of pollen tube growth in the apple," by J. H. Beaumont, Assistant Professor of Horticulture, University of Minnesota; "A revision of the genus Sullivantia," by C. Otto Rosendahl, Professor of Botany, University of Minnesota; "Taxonomic studies in the genus Majanthemum," by Frederic K. Butters, Associate Professor of Botany, University of Minnesota. Prunes or Pancakes.

By ALFRED OWRE, D.M.D., M.D., C.M., B.A., Dean of the School of Dentistry, Columbia University. 124 pages. 16 mo. Heavy paper. $0.75.

Dean Owre writes in his introduction: "This book is not a scientific disquisition on diet. It is intended rather as a concrete and popular guide to the science of eating. I believe if there is any physical salvation for civilized man, it must lie in dietetic reform." "Of immense value."—Journal of the American Dental Association. "Invaluable book on dietetics."—Dominion Dental Journal.

The Loss of Human Teeth.

By PETER J. BREKHUS, Professor of Crown and Bridge Work and Oral Diagnosis and Chairman of the Division of Oral Diagnosis, College of Dentistry, University of Minnesota. 32 pages. 16 plates. Octavo. Paper. $0.50.

A report of a statistical investigation conducted in the Division of Oral Diagnosis of the College of Dentistry of the University of Minnesota to answer these questions: At what ratio are teeth lost? At what ages do the losses take place? Are there any sex differences in the matter of the loss of teeth? What is the percentage of edentulous mouths at the different periods of life? What percentage of patients come to the dental clinic for health reasons and not primarily for dental service? At what age do they come in greatest numbers, and is there a sex difference here?

The Geology and Magnetite Deposits of Northern St. Louis County, Minnesota.

By FRANK F. GROUT, Professor of Geology and Mineralogy, University of Minnesota. x+ 220 pages. 11 tables, 13 plates, 16 figures, 89 township maps. Octavo. Paper. $1.00.

Much of the area treated in this bulletin had not previously been surveyed in detail. The chief scientific results of the survey are the study of the intrusives related to the great batholiths that invaded the schists and greenstones in Algomian time.

A Guidebook to Minnesota Trunk Highway No. 1.

By G. M. SCHWARTZ, Ph.D. Minnesota Geological Survey Bulletin No. 20. ix+ 128. 12 plates, 11 figures, 13 route maps. Octavo. Paper. $0.50.

This guidebook should prove an invaluable aid to an enjoyable and profitable vacation, either for native Minnesotans or for visitors from outside the state. It contains a description of the chief geologic features that may be seen along Highway No. 1 of Minnesota. This scenic highway begins at the Iowa state line south of Albert Lea and passes northward through the Twin Cities to Duluth and thence extends along the north shore of Lake Superior to the Pigeon River near Port Arthur, Ontario. The book includes 13 maps, which show the locations of roads, towns, and villages, and most of the rocks and land forms that are described in the text. A section on trees and plants is supplied by Dr. C. O. Rosendahl and Dr. F. K. Butters of the University of Minnesota and one on fish and game by Mr. Thaddeus Surber.

LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE

Studies in English Philology. A Miscellany in Honor of Professor Frederick Klaeber.

Edited by KEMP MALONE, Professor of English, Johns Hopkins University, and MARTIN B. RUUD, Professor of English, University of Minnesota.

On October 1, 1928, Professor Frederick Klaeber will celebrate his sixty-fifth birthday and the completion of thirty-five years of service in the University of Minnesota. In these years Professor Klaeber has won his position as one of the great Old English scholars of his time. It is fitting, therefore, that the University of Minnesota, which he has served so well and so illustriously, should celebrate the anniversary in some notable way. Accordingly, the University will publish at the University Press, a volume of philological and literary studies in his honor. It will contain thirty-eight important studies in many fields of English language and literature and a bibliography of Professor Klaeber's writings. Every effort will be made by the Press to give the volume a form in keeping with the contents and the occasion. The contributors are: Samuel Moore, A. G. Kennedy, Morgan Callaway, J. R. Hulbert, Alois Brandl, G. T. Flom, Henning Larsen, A. H. Krappe, F. A. Wood, Kemp Malone, W. E. Leonard, S. B. Liljegren, A. S. Cook, W. W. Lawrence, L. L. Schucking, W. F. Bryan, Ernst Kock, Lorenz Morsbach, H. M. Ayres, Louise Pound, Carleton Brown, C. S. Northrup, Robert J. Menner, E. Prokosch, H. Logeman, Eilert Ekwall, Morris W. Croll, R. E. Zacchrisson, Samuel Kroesch, F. P. Magoun, Helen Buckhurst, Leonard Bloomfield, Aage Brusendorff, Max Förster, A. G. Van Hamel, Hardin Craig, R. W. Chambers, and J. F. Royster. The edition will be limited to 500 copies of which 425 will be for sale.

Thomas Chaucer.

By MARTIN B. RUUD, Ph.D., Professor of English, University of Minnesota. Minnesota Studies in Language and Literature No. 9. vi+ 134 pages. Eight appendixes, bibliography. Royal octavo. Paper. $1.50.

"Professor Ruud has performed a useful service in settling beyond further question a long-disputed detail of Chaucerian biography, a detail the implications of which make clearer the poet's social status, and contribute towards the interpretation of certain of his writings. Barring the discovery of new evidence—and the painstaking thoroughness of Mr. Ruud's researches makes such a discovery improbable—this monograph should be the final word on the subject. . . . But the value of Mr. Ruud's study goes beyond the establishment of this fact. He has gathered together, and has printed or summarized, every bit of information which has survived about the career of Thomas Chaucer; and this information, derived in large part from unprinted documents in the Public Record Office, should prove a great interest to students of the social and governmental history of fifteenth-century England."—Robert K. Root, in Modern Language Notes.

Thomas Hardy from Serial to Novel.

A Comparative Study of Serial and Book Versions of The Mayor of Casterbridge, Tess of the D'Urbervilles, and Jude the Obscure.

By Mary Ellen Chase, Ph.D., Associate Professor of English, Smith College. x+ 210 pages. 12 mo. Cloth. $2.50.

An indispensable Hardy "item" for libraries, collectors, and students of literature. Professor Joseph Warren Beach writes of this study: "With many readers of belles-lettres 'research' has a bad name. It is always gratifying to the professor to have evidence that the most conscientious technical study of literature may be made to throw light on fundamental aesthetic problems. Miss Chase's work is a case in point. Any one interested in Hardy will be interested—if not positively excited—to learn what compromises this great artist was ready to make with the views of editors—editors indifferent to considerations of artistic integrity and solely concerned not to give offense in the family circle. When all the bearings of the matter are taken, it is seen to amount to something more than a study in Hardy's literary methods. It is highly illuminating with regard to the professional ethics of editors and the general attitude of even late-Victorian England towards a consistent view of the truth."

Cyrus Northrop. A Memoir.

By Oscar W. Firkins, Professor of Comparative Literature, University of Minnesota. 635 pages, 6 illustrations. 7½ by 9¾. Cloth. $3.50.

Professor Firkins, the distinguished biographer of William Dean Howells and Ralph Waldo Emerson, was fittingly chosen by the Board of Regents to write this volume, commemorating the life of his friend, president of the University of Minnesota during a formative quarter of a century. "His outstanding success may be pointed out in the fact that he has caused a personality to live. . . . The biography is characterized by sympathy, humor, insight, and always by readability."—Yale Alumni Weekly. "The beauty of the author's prose, the color of his diction, the vigor of his figures of speech—these clothe with warmth, exactness, and dignity, the record of a noble character."—Carroll K. Michener, in the Minnesota Alumni Weekly. "A 635-page biography, which engrosses the reader's attention, and which justifies its length, as a study of a remarkable personality, a review of fifty years of certain aspects of university education, and a narrative with some surprisingly poignant elements. It is the extraordinary honesty of the volume which gives it interest and excellence."—Allan Nevins in the Saturday Review of Literature.

SOCIAL SCIENCES

The Foreign Policy of James G. Blaine.

By Alice Felt Tyler, Ph.D., Instructor in History, University of Minnesota. 411 pages. 12 mo. Cloth. $3.50.

"This is a straightforward, carefully organized, fully documented account of Blaine's influence upon our foreign relations during his two brief periods of service as Secretary of State. It brings together all sorts of scattered material, employs unpublished correspondence and papers from the archives of the State Department, and makes ample but not excessive use of quotations. The author's style is lucid and direct, her use of adjectives is cautious but not timid, and her effort at a sustained judicial attitude is admirably successful. The book is in no sense a eulogy nor is it an attack. It aims simply at historical truth as shown by the evidence, which, in these days of journalistic history and 'ironical' biography, is as refreshing as a cool breeze in July."—Theodore Clarke Smith in the American Historical Review.

The Day of the Cattleman. A Study of the Northern Range, 1845-1890.

By Ernest Staples Osgood, Ph.D., Instructor in History, University of Minnesota. About 300 pages. Maps, illustrations, and bibliography. Octavo. Cloth. Probable price, $4.00.

The story of the first effort to utilize the High Plains as a region where men could make a living, rather than merely cross as quickly as possible on the way to the mines in the mountains. What the cotton planter was to the South or the wheat and corn farmer was to the Middle West, the cattleman was to the High Plains. He laid the basis for the economic community that grew up there. He also developed a body of range customs and rights, extra-legal and often illegal but with all the force of law because of the organizations backing them. To these organizations the author has given much attention and has used manuscript and other materials hitherto inaccessible or little used, for example, the large and important collection in the office of the Wyoming Stock Growers' Association at Cheyenne. The passing of the cattleman's frontier is also dealt with at length with extensive use of the reports of railroads, boards of trade, corporations, and associations, local newspapers, and other contemporary material. A brilliant and frequently dramatic account of the economic and social origins of an important section of the Northwest.

Three Wise Men of the East and Other Lectures.

By ARTHUR J. TODD, Professor of Sociology, Northwestern University. x+ 240 pages. 12 mo. Cloth. $2.50.

Professor Todd's volume of informal lectures on present day social and industrial conditions in India, China, and Japan stands out from the mass of books on the Orient by virtue of the engaging qualities of his style, the extent, accuracy, and objectivity of his observations, and his sympathetic and discriminating interpretation of the facts. It has been enthusiastically received by American students of the Orient and by oriental leaders. The "three wise men" of the title lecture are Ghandi, Tagore, and Bose, considered as exemplifications of aspects of Indian civilization. "The Impact of Industry on the Orient" and "Educational Ferment in the East" are the other topics treated.

"Both fair and accurate."—Professor Radhakamal Mukerjee, Lucknow University, India.

"Objective, sober, reasoned, modestly related, and worthy of our reflections."—Books, New York Herald Tribune.

"It is doubtful if there exists anywhere a more useful brief resumé of oriental industrialism."—Harold S. Quigley in the Minneapolis Tribune.

"I am surprised at the mass of information gathered and impressed with the sympathetic and correct interpretation of the facts."—Fong F. Sec, English Editor, Commercial Press, Shanghai, China.

"A mine of accurate information."—Ching Chao Wu in the American Journal of Sociology.

"I do not know of a better or more irenic survey."—Russell Henry Stafford, Old South Church, Boston.

"A rare book."—Richard M. Elliott, author of The Sunny Side of Asia.

"The author is an able observer and records impartially his impressions of the East."—A. L. A. Booklist.

"Full of information, sober judgments, judicious comment on things oriental, and sympathetic reflections."—Victor S. Yarros, Chicago Daily News.

The Parliamentary Diary of Robert Bowyer, 1606 and 1607.

Edited by DAVID HARRIS WILLSON, Ph.D., Instructor in History, University of Minnesota. About 260 pages. Octavo. Cloth. $4.00.

Robert Bowyer was a lawyer, minor office-holder, and secretary to Lord Treasurer Dorset during the last years of Elizabeth and the first years of James I. His diary for the parliamentary sessions of 1606 and 1607, which is to be found in the Harleian manuscripts in the British Museum, has not hitherto been published and has been very little used by students of seventeenth century history. It covers debates in the House of Commons on such topics as popular grievances, grants to the King, and the Union with Scotland, and contains very important material bearing on the growth of parliamentary procedure and on the beginnings of the conflicts which led to the Civil War. For fall publication.

Australasian Preferential Tariffs and Imperial Free Trade.

By Cephas D. Allin, late Professor of Political Science, University of Minnesota. Minnesota Studies in the Social Sciences No. 19. About 192 pages. Octavo. Paper. $2.00.

"A Stage in the History of Fiscal Emancipation of the Colonies" is Professor Allin's explanatory subtitle of this monograph, the manuscript of which was completed only a few months before his death. That the subject is presented from a distinctly colonial point of view is made clear in the preface. Professor Allin writes: "Throughout the earlier period of the second British Empire it may be readily admitted that the Colonial Office was the dominant influence in overseas politics; but with the grant of colonial self-government this influence rapidly declined, and upon the revival of imperialist sentiment in the early eighties the situation was largely reversed. The colonies now began to take the lead in determining the intra-imperial policies of the Empire. The premiers of the dominions assumed the role of imperial statesmen and have played a leading part in the imperial conferences of Westminster and at international gatherings at Genoa and elsewhere. In view of these considerations, it is submitted that the time has come for a careful examination of the colonial aspects of many imperial problems which have been and now are, engaging the attention of students of imperial history." A History of the Tariff Relations of the Australian Colonies, Professor Allin's earlier monograph on a related subject, is Number 7 of this series and is listed on page 27.

From Versailles to Locarno.

A Sketch of the Recent Development of International Organization.

By Harold S. Quigley, B.A. (Oxon.), Ph.D., Professor of Political Science, University of Minnesota. 170 pages, bibliography, 9 documents, 2 illustrations. Octavo. Half-cloth. $2.00.

In four concise and readable chapters, entitled respectively "Locarno," "The Council and the Assembly," "The Secretariat and the Labor Office," and "The World Court," Professor Quigley sketches the present international situation and its background and shows the machinery of international cooperation at work. A carefully selected bibliography and the indispensable documents, brought together in one volume for the first time, increase its usefulness to students. It has been adopted for class use by a number of representative colleges.

"About the only book, large or small, which brings under one cover so complete a survey of current international organization."—American Oxonian.

"Vivid and stimulating."—Woman Citizen.

"A model of clear and scholarly presentation."—Lawrence D. Steefel in the Minnesota Law Review.

The First Century of Magna Carta. Why It Persisted as a Document.

By FAITH THOMPSON, Ph.D., Assistant Professor of History, University of Minnesota. Minnesota Studies in the Social Sciences No. 16. x+126. 3 appendixes, bibliography. Royal octavo. Paper. $1.50.

Although it has long been recognized that the true greatness of Magna Carta lies in its history after 1215, Dr. Thompson is the first to tell in detail the story of its first critical century, 1215-1307, when its right to survive and the grounds of its high fame were being determined. In doing so, she answers the questions: Why did it persist as a document? Why was so high a value set upon its confirmation and observance? Just what did the Charter mean in the everyday life of Englishmen of the century after Runnymede? "This modest and excellent contribution to our knowledge of the English constitution contains a first-rate sketch of the history of Magna Carta as a document during the thirteenth century with a special study of the problem why it became during that period the great charter of English liberty. . . . The amount of evidence bearing on these points which has been brought together by Dr. Thompson far exceeds anything adduced by previous commentators. . . . [Her] method of presentation is clear, logical, and agreeable. Her work is based upon a thorough study of the sources, and her evidence is handled in sound scholarly fashion."—Sydney K. Mitchell in the American Historical Review.

The European Powers and the Near East, 1875-1908.

By MASON WHITING TYLER, Ph.D., late Associate Professor of History, University of Minnesota. Minnesota Studies in the Social Sciences No. 17. viii+ 236 pages, bibliography. Royal octavo. Paper. $2.00.

"Professor Tyler defines his monograph as an introduction 'to the leading factors in this eternal problem (of the Near East) and some of the methods of dealing with it.' Viewed from this angle, he has succeeded in writing a study showing insight, human sympathy, and commendable moderation." . . . It contains "excellent characterizations of the principal actors in the drama. Bismarck, Disraeli, Gorchakov, Aehrenthal, and Salisbury appear shorn of halo or hatred. For the first time in any account of this character, Russia, which usually bears the brunt of the charges of imperialism and greed, is somewhat relieved of this role, and the policies of England, Austria, and Germany are subjected to the same standards as those used for Russia. . . . In a style admirable for its clarity and freshness, the author expresses many wholesome truths, fearlessly and justly."—Robert J. Kerner in the Slavonic Review. "A careful and very impartial study of the diplomatic history of the Eastern Question from the insurrection in the Herzegovina to the annexation of Bosnia and the Friedjung trial."—William Miller in the English Historical Review. "L'ouvrage se présente comme un bon manuel, a la fois simple et complet, de la politique européenne en Proche-Orient jusqu'a l'annexion de la Bosnie. Par la clarté de son exposition, l'abondance de sa documentation et l'esprit méthodique avec lequel il est composé, ce livre constituera un excellent intrument de travail pour les etudiants . . . Une bibliographie importante accompagne ce manuel."—Felix Debyser in Revue d'Histoire de la Guerre Mondiale. "An admirable study of the Near Eastern question."—London Times Literary Supplement.

The Development of the Twin Cities as a Metropolitan Market.

By Mildred Hartsough, Ph.D., Assistant Professor of Economics and Sociology, Smith College. Minnesota Studies in the Social Sciences No. 18. ix+228 pages. 1 map, 7 tables, bibliography. Royal octavo. Paper. $2.00.

"As the title indicates, this is a monograph developing in terms of one area the concept of metropolitan economy first presented by Professor N. S. B. Gras, in his Evolution of the English Corn Market, and more recently in his Introduction to Economic History. . . . It is indeed an excellent study, and nothing that could have been done would have served better to demonstrate the value of the concept."—John D. Black in Minnesota History. "As a whole, the study is distinctly worth while, interesting, and scholarly. . . . It is an excellent companion to Robinson's Early Economic Conditions and the Development of Agriculture in Minnesota, which forms No. 3 in the same series of studies."—R. H. Whitbeck in the American Historical Review.

The Marketing of Farm Products. Studies in the Organization of the Twin Cities Market.

Edited by H. BRUCE PRICE, Ph.D., Professor of Agricultural Economics, University of Minnesota. x+ 435 pages. Crown octavo. Cloth. $3.50.

Fourteen specialists, including Professor John D. Black of Harvard University, and Dr. Holbrook Working, economist of the Stanford University Food Research Institute cooperated in these studies under the editorship of Professor H. Bruce Price. The book is designed as a text for use in Smith-Hughes high schools and in college classes in agricultural economics and is equipped with references for reading, tables, charts, maps, and index. In addition to chapters describing the organization of the Minneapolis-St. Paul market for grain, hay, livestock, potatoes, dairy products, fruits, and vegetables, there are included discussions of the historical, geographical, and theoretical aspects of the subject. It will prove a valuable reference work also for business men, and producers and consumers of farm products in the Twin Cities market area —a territory extending west and north into Montana and Canada, and east and south into Wisconsin and Iowa.

"The editor has used rare judgment in his selection and arrangement of material, for the collection of separate articles blends into a harmonious picture. The book is a real contribution, not alone because of the material it contains, but particularly because it points a new and valuable method of approach to the study of marketing. We heartily endorse it by adopting it for textbook use in the School of Business Administration."—Roland S. Vaile, Professor of Marketing, University of Minnesota.

Attitudes of Mothers Toward Sex Education.

By HELEN L. WITMER, Ph.D., Executive Secretary, Joint Committee on Research in Social Hygiene, University of Minnesota. About 120 pages. Octavo. Paper. $1.00.

Given—an organization, part of whose program it is to instruct mothers in how to give their children a proper sex education. To find—to what extent it accomplishes this part of its program. This is a paraphrase of Dr. Witmer's statement of the fundamental problem of the research study to which this monograph is devoted. Other phases of the program of research will be dealt with in later reports. The Women's Cooperative Alliance of Minneapolis is an organization which has attracted national interest because of the unique method it has devised for parental education in social hygiene. To study and evaluate this method, a fund was given to the University of Minnesota by the Bureau of Social Hygiene of New York and its administration placed in the hands of a joint committee of the University and the Alliance under the chairmanship of Professor F. Stuart Chapin, Chairman of the Department of Sociology and Director of the Training Course for Social and Civic

Work of the University of Minnesota. Professor Chapin writes in the Introduction: "In publishing this report the Committee feels that it is presenting a first preliminary study of considerable interest to the social hygiene movement and at the same time is making available to social workers in general an account of one method of research which may have wide application in evaluating the work of similar educational and social agencies." In press.

Village Laws and Government in Minnesota.

By HARVEY WALKER, Staff Member, League of Minnesota Municipalities. Bureau for Research in Government Publication No. 6. 175 pages. Octavo. Paper, $1.50.

In this volume Mr. Walker outlines the development of village government in Minnesota from the early town charters down through the period of special village charters to the present general village laws. The book will be of especial interest to village officers and teachers of history and government in Minnesota, and to students of government wherever they may be.

Outline of County Government in Minnesota.

By WILLIAM ANDERSON, Director of the Bureau for Re-Director of the Bureau for Research in Government, University of Minnesota, and BRYCE E. LEHMAN, M.A. 174 pages. Octavo. Paper. $1.50.

To tell what the problem of county government is in Minnesota, how it has been met in the past, and what is being done to solve it at the present time is the purpose of this volume. The administrative tasks of the county, its legal status, its organization, its finances, and many other matters are dealt with, and much historical data tabulated.

A System of Classification for Political Science Collections.

By WILLIAM ANDERSON, Director of the Bureau for Research in Government, and SOPHIA HALL GLIDDEN, sometime Librarian of the Municipal Reference Bureau, University of Minnesota. 188 pages. Octavo. Paper. $2.50.

This system of classification, which has stood the test of six-years' use at the University of Minnesota, was worked out with special reference to the needs of municipal and governmental research libraries. It is intended to be broad enough to include all published materials that bear at all directly upon politics, government, and administration—national, state, and local—not only in this country but abroad. The 80-page subject index should be of value to librarians even where a different system of classification is in use.

Serial Publications

Numbers omitted from the following series are out of print. Each volume is paper bound unless otherwise indicated and will be mailed postpaid on receipt of price. Publications for free distribution issued by the University or any of its departments are not included in this list.

SOUL'S SECRET DOOR, (2nd Ed.)

Writing in free verse, a devout Hindu gives us a book of poems, "Soul's Secret Door", and it is interesting to note how essentially Christian is his Oriental faith.—Literary Digest.

The book sheds an almost tonic sense of peace and repose.—Evening Post, New York.

Here is the calm, exalted type of spirituality which is so distinctive of Hindu thought at its best and highest. A noble mysticism, expressed in lovely, simple, lucid English phrase, is present in all these verses as at once an atmosphere and an illumination.—John Haynes Holmes, Unity, Chicago.

Swami Paramananda, one of the best teachers of ancient Oriental wisdom in America, has written a book of poems which, for purity of expression, alone, comprise a refreshing contribution to contemporary poetry.—James M. Warnack, Los Angeles Times, California.

Like the Psalms of King David. They are marked by a fine spirituality and profound devotion. In vers libre, they have an unexpected lyrical quality.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

THE VIGIL, with Portrait of Author.

When Swami Paramananda's earlier volume, "Soul's Secret Door", was published, no one who read it failed to recognize its sincerity, its beauty, its surpassing calm. The present book, it seems to me, is even a higher accomplishment. It has carried the splendid growth of the earlier verse to a more splendid fruition. Swami Paramananda has a message! We are better for listening to it. What a great Christian he is, in spite of the fact that his religion is of the Orient; another surety that God is God, no matter what men of different races call Him or in what language prayers ascend!—John Wellington La Rue, Enquirer, Cincinnati, O.

An interesting collection of verse into which classic beauty and chasteness of thought have been so interwoven that they strike a high spiritual note and lift one out of the ordinary plane of material things. Mysticism in its truest form finds expression here, and a burning ardor for a more intimate knowledge of the Divine envelopes its pages. This young Hindu poet has struck fire in even the smallest fragment of verse with his limpid honesty of mind.—Buffalo Courier, Buffalo, N. Y.

As we read the poems, we were charmed with the simplicity of their form and the mystical grandeur of their content. All the poems seem to be the spontaneous outpourings of one who has attained communion in his soul with God—the Essence of life and creation.—Prabuddha Bharata, Calcutta, India.

RHYTHM OF LIFE.

As in his two earlier volumes, "Soul's Secret Door" and "The Vigil," here Swami Paramananda, founder and leader of the Vedanta Centre of Boston and the Ananda-Ashrama, in California, reveals himself as also a poet of authentic utterance, a master of simplicity and beauty. In him unite the practical idealism of the West and the supreme mysticism attained by India of old. A book of devotion, inspired and inspiring, of spiritual vision and divine communion, "Rhythm of Life" is an experience and a prayer.—Carleton Noyes in the Foreword.

In reading these offerings of Swami Paramananda's devout muse the feeling is gained that here is a human soul which has achieved that rhythmic attitude of life so desirable. There is a selflessness in these poems of worship suggestive of the songs of the Psalmist when he was closest to Divinity and with an utter forgetfulness of self poured out his soul's longings and his soul's tributes.—Sam T. Clover, Saturday Night, Los Angeles, California.

DEVOTIONAL AND PHILOSOPHICAL

THE PATH OF DEVOTION (6th Edition). Cloth $1.25. Paper, 85c. Postage 10 cts. Contents: I. Devotion. II. Purity. III. Steadfastness. IV. Fearlessness. V. Self-Surrender. VI. Sanskrit Prayers and Salutations with translation.

This is not a book of theory, but of practice. It gives wisdom for the life and its outer manifestations. Without doubt the book will have a wide reading.—Detroit Times.

The words are so alive that they seem rather spoken than written. No one can read the book without gaining a new impetus for the spiritual life in the world.—Indian Review.

The author breathes a spirit of deep Oriental religious fervor that has for its Occidental prototype nothing this side of the devotees of Medieval times. The style of the book is so simple that one scarcely realizes it comes from the pen of a man of the East.—San Francisco Chronicle.

A spirit of deep religious fervor and strength pervades in the whole book and reminds one of Brother Lawrence. It is a book to be read with profit.—Unity, Kansas City.

VEDANTA IN PRACTICE. (3rd Edition). Cloth binding $1.00. Paper, 85c. Postage 10 cts. Contents: I. Need of Spiritual Life. II. Right Discrimination. III. Building of Character. IV. Power of Concentration. V. Self-Realization. VI. Selections from the Upanishads and other Scriptures.

It is a thoughtful companion anywhere on the way of life. This makes a good first book for one who wishes to become acquainted with Oriental philosophy at its best. The book will aid in the cultivation of the habit of concentration.—Chicago Evening Post.

An attractive and useful little volume . . . The author aims to present the principles of Vedanta doctrine in so simple and practical a way that they can be applied in the daily lives of the disciples.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The breadth and tolerance exhibited by the Author in reference to other religions, commend themselves to fair-minded readers.—San Francisco Chronicle.

REINCARNATION AND IMMORTALITY. Cloth $1.00. Postage 10 cts. Contents: I. Life Hereafter. II. Karma and Fate. III. Harvest Field of Life, IV. Law of our Destiny. V. Overcoming Fear of Death. VI. Reincarnation and Immortality.

THE WAY OF PEACE AND BLESSEDNESS, (3rd Edition). Portrait of Author. Cloth binding $1.25. Paper 85c. Postage 10 cts. Contents: I. Worship of Truth. II. The Path of the Spirit. III. The Consecrated Life. IV. Trust in the Divine. V. Service of the Ideal. VI. Purity of Heart.

Writers of the East are finding an ever widening response among the men of the West, perhaps because they bring us something much needed in our hurrying life. For example, "The Way of Peace and Blessedness" by Swami Paramananda—a dainty little volume of meditations and prayers. Although by a Hindu, the English is lucid, strong, graceful, and at times highly poetic. Its teaching, too, could also as well be Christian as Hindu. Its noble catholicity is worthy of the peculiar beauty of its words.—Record-Herald, Chicago.

The book reminds us of the "Theologia Germanica" and the "Imitation of Christ." It is for all—Hindus and Moslems, Christians and Buddhists. We have read the book with delight and recommend it to our readers.—Modern Review, Calcutta.

"The Way of Peace and Blessedness" is a priceless little work on spiritual living. Full of devotion and consecration, each of the six chapters seems more potent than the other. We recommend this work especially for use in meditation, every chapter being opened by a prayer full of aspiration and of peace and by quotations from the Sacred Scriptures of India suited to the subject.—Oriental Esoteric Bulletin, Washington, D. C.

BOOK OF DAILY THOUGHTS AND PRAYERS (2nd Edition). 400 pages. Leather binding, $4.00. Flexible fabrikoid, $2.50. Postage 15 cents.

Each month of the year has a special subject and each day of the month has its special thought on this subject. These thoughts are arranged in cumulative sequence through the month, being amplified in a salient sentence to be held during waking hours, followed by some lines to memorize, a lesson and a prayer. At the end of the volume are some remarks on food and a grace for the daily meal. All the material used is from unpublished sources except the lines to memorize, which are aptly chosen from the Swami's three volumes of poems.

CLASSICS

English translations from the Sanskrit

BHAGAVAD-GITA (3rd Edition). Attractive pocket size. Flexible binding $1.50. Plain cloth $1.25. Postage 8 cts.

The Swami brought to his task a thorough knowledge of the two languages, a profound understanding of the thought and a realization of the thought through the life. No one can read the translation contained in the pages of this little book without feeling convinced that head, heart and soul have co-operated in the making of it. Its language is simple, fervent and spontaneous, and if it lacks the ornate imagery of William Q. Judge's translation for the Theosophists, it is probably a more accurate rendering of the original. From the simplest daily task to the most exalted state of spiritual consciousness, at every step of the soul's evolution, one may turn to this sacred book for strength and inspiration, even though one is not an actual believer in Hindu Philosophy.—Boston Evening Transcript.

The above translation was undertaken as a labor of love for a small group of earnest students in Florence. And this love shines through it in the earnestness and clearness of diction that are some of the special qualities of this author. No longer can anyone complain of the multiplication of Sanskrit terms without a sufficient explanation . . . The present translation will be a favorite one with all who appreciate the Swami's profound knowledge of his subject and the illumination of his life. —Oriental Esoteric Bulletin, Washington, D. C.

It is called "the Gita clarified" by many who have read it. Those who are familiar with other renderings of this wonderful Aryan Scripture cannot fail to gain new light from this translation.—Unity, Kansas City.

THE UPANISHADS—with commentary, Vol. I, (2nd Edition). Blue cloth, gold lettering $1.50. Plain cloth, $1.25. Postage 10 cts. Contents:

I. Isa-Upanishad—Oneness of the Soul and God, and the value of both faith and works as means of ultimate attainment are the leading themes of this Upanishad.
II. Katha-Upanishad—The most widely known of all the Upanishads. It presents a dialogue between an aspiring disciple and the Ruler of Death regarding the great Hereafter. Edwin Arnold popularized this story in "The Secret of Death" and Emerson gives it in brief in his essay on "Immortality."
III. Kena-Upanishad—This is one of the most analytical and metaphysical of the Upanishads, its purpose being to lead the mind from the gross to the subtle, from effect to cause.

The Upanishads contain the choicest gems of Indo-Aryan thought and culture, and are of equal value to the scholar and to the seeker of spiritual light. The present translation is remarkably lucid as well as faithful to the original, and the commentary makes plain what might otherwise be obscure to the Western mind. It is declared by those who have read it to be "a precious contribution not only to literature itself, but also to those forces that shall ultimately lead mankind out of darkness into Light."

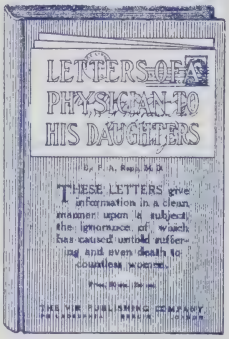
WRITE FOR DESCRIPTIVE CIRCULARS

Letters of a Physician to His Daughters

By F. A. Rupp, M.D.



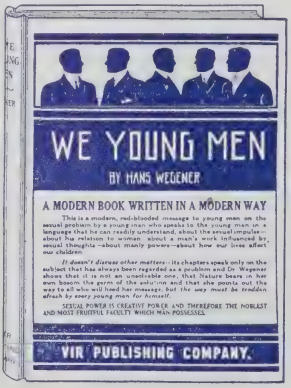
The only book on venereal dangers addressed to young women.

The author, a physician and a father of girls, shows why young men who have been impure cannot make the right kind of husbands, and in doing so he summons evidence which should be sufficient to make young girls exceedingly particular as to the character of the young men from whom they receive attention.

Boards, Price 75 Cents Net

We Young Men

By Hans Wegener



A Message that is clean, vibrant and strong.

As sexual power within every young man is a natural one, evident in its design, why should we longer permit men to speak of it as something of which a young man has reason to be ashamed? It is for young men who realize that even if this creative nature is a problem, it is not an unsolvable one.

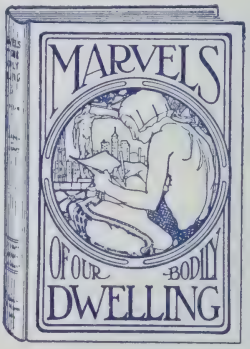
Marvels of Our Bodily Dwelling

By Mrs. Mary Wood-Allen, M.D.



It Teaches Physiology By Allegory

A Wonder-Book for Children and Those Who Are Older

Teaching by allegory is an interesting way to hold the attention of children, especially when you discuss physiology. The talented author writes a most fascinating book that makes very pleasant and informing reading not only for the boys and girls but also for the grown-ups.

It tells about this marvelous body of ours and every page of it carries helpful thoughts and suggestions conducive to good health. It will help the children to be more careful of their bodies and of their dress as well.

It is a magnificent piece of fascinating work and is unique among the numerous physiologies published in this country.

Cloth with cover in four colors, stamped in gold, with five half-tone pictures and 72 line drawings. 328 pages. Printed on superb paper.

With the Children on Sundays

By Sylvanus Stall, D.D.

Child Training in a Kindergarten Way

This Is a Day of Pictures—many educational institutions in their class rooms, have caught the idea from the movie picture houses and now their students are entertained and at the same time have their knowledge increased in many of the studies.

It is jam packed with pictures—there are nine full page four-color illustrations and one hundred and thirty-five line drawings, every picture except one being drawn especially for this book by the distinguished illustrator, Miss C. M. Burd, the exception was the one by the talented Miss Wuanita Smith, who painted the suggestive picture which illustrates the Play Idea.

The children are taught moral lessons by the ordinary things they see in the home—candles, ropes, traps, keys, nuts, their little savings bank, the frogs in the garden, snow, and the little red crab that is found in the oyster, all interest the children and teach lessons they will never forget.

It will train the children as speakers and develop some dormant talents, in the play church idea.

It is a book that will stimulate the children's imagination and help develop the mind to its highest possibilities.

Large quarto volume, size 9½x7, full cloth, 330 pages. 9 full-page four-color illustrations, 135 line drawings. Price $2.00 Net

Husband, Wife and Home

By Chas. Frederic Goss

The author was gifted with a sense of humor and he knew that a smile is more effective than a frown and that a laugh will do more good than tears.

Here's what the New York Christian Advocate wrote of it:

"Like some good people of whom he talks, Dr. Goss has a head that is screwed on right and a heart in the right place too. He writes for average men and women with a brave scorn of folly, meanness and selfishness, under whatever form it may masquerade."

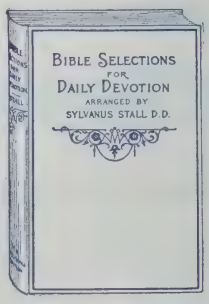
BIBLE SELECTIONS FOR DAILY DEVOTION

A Companion Book for God's Minute



At this time when an effort is being made to restore the family altar, this book is most opportune. Some are using it in connection with God's Minute because it brings to the family worship passages especially suited in character and length to such service. It removes the embarrassments which attend either a haphazard selection or successive readings.

The Selections are not only used for family worship but for chapel services in colleges and universities and by teachers in the opening services of schools. The Scriptures selected are from the book of Genesis to the end of Revelation.

Business Men

"It is much for 50 cents. When a man can get in one hour what a life has produced, he has made a wonderful investment."—S. P. Long, D.D., LL.D., Chicago.

"I heartily commend it to Bible Class teachers and students as something unique and reliable."—Wm. Carter, D.D., Brooklyn.

"It is a unique book and will give new interest in religion to any business man who will read it. It abounds in fruitful suggestions for subjects for sermons and addresses to Rotarians, Kiwanians, etc."—Geo. W. McDaniel, D.D., Richmond, Va.

"It is a splendid asset for any man and I shall take great pleasure in keeping it close at hand."—Lou E. Holland, President for three terms — Associated Advertising Clubs of the world.

"The compiler has shown great skill and industry in collecting these references in the Bible to many aspects of business life. It is really remarkable that there should be in the Scriptures so many statements and allusions that are applicable to business and work even in our own day."—E. C. Dargan, D.D., Nashville, Tenn.

"Read Me A Story" Books

The New 50c Series

OLD favorites retold, with new illustrations in full color. Each in a bright jacket.

BEARSKIN

A Grimm fairy tale; illustrated by Marie Honré Myers.

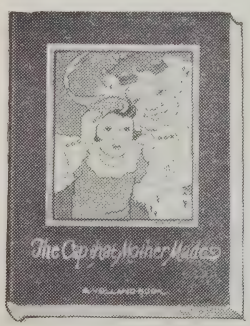
Three magical dresses and a fur coat, worn by a princess, help her to win the prince and live happily ever after.

The Real Princess. An Anderson fairy tale; illustrated by Alexander Key.

The story of the princess who was bruised by a pea through twenty mattresses and twenty eiderdowns. "The Constant Tin Soldier," who remained true to the little paper dancer, is also in this volume.

The Three Little Pigs. A folk tale illustrated by Pamela Mori Tighe.

This is a rhymed version, discovered in an old book; the volume also contains a long version of "The Three Little Kittens."



Little Ninny-Nonny. A southern folk tale; illustrated by Evelyn Foland.

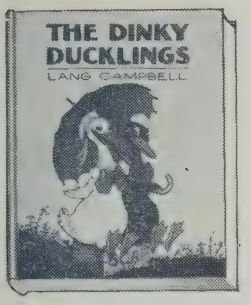
The story of Epaminondas and his Aunty.

The Cap That Mother Made. A Swedish folk tale; illustrated by Eleanore Hubbard.

The little boy refuses to trade his cap even for a king's crown.

Three Wise Old Couples. A nonsense rhyme; illustrated by Fletcher Ransom.

Famous Volland "Sunny Books"



Dinky Ducklings

Written and illustrated by Lang Campbell

THE ducklings go a-visiting; a smooth and foxy gentleman offers to help them on their way, but they escape, and arrive, safe at last, at Uncle Daffy's door. Lang Campbell is new as author-artist, but he is already dear to children's hearts as illustrator of the "Uncle Wiggley" books. Full color. Boxed. $.65.

Jeanne

by Theda Kenyon

JEANNE DARC! Saint, or Witch—or a girl like other girls?

Here is her love-story, founded on history; she moves among great people and great events, unconscious of them except as a background for her romance. History—yes; but more than history. It is a fearless portrayal of the struggle of a girl against the triple intrigues of State and Church and military parties, in an era when the worship of God and the Devil were at open odds.

The author maintains that it takes a woman to explain a woman and research among historical documents has given her the knowledge to reveal hitherto mysterious motives that shaped Jeanne's life and led her into a romance that proved the dominating influence of her career.

Who can say that this is not the true explanation of the enigma that has baffled men since that tragic day when the flames mounted about the slender form revered by the French and hated by the English? In any case, this is the absorbing love-story of one of the greatest characters in history. It is told beautifully and with a depth of feeling that carries conviction.

The Shadow

by Lillian Rogers

A MOVING and intense study of an unusual relationship between a girl and her father.

From her earliest childhood Anne Whitmore's life has been overcast by her father's inexplicable coldness. Without a mother's companionship and left to the care of an old nurse, she grows to womanhood in this chill atmosphere. The strange parental attitude and the effect it has on her character haunt every step she takes, so that all her efforts at making a life for herself are warped and darkened by it. The shadow even follows her into the world and threatens a beautiful and idyllic marriage with complete disaster.

Only when Anne finally finds, at the dramatic climax of the story, the true explanation for her father's conduct and treatment of her is the subtle psychological effect on her mind and character removed, leaving her free to her own fate.

Once again this author reveals her superb gift of characterization and purity of style.

A Light For His Pipe

by W. Townend

"COULD you oblige me with a light for me pipe, please, mister?"

This apparently innocent request from a simple sailor man ashore on leave sets moving a chain of circumstances that never halt until they have involved two entire ships' crews in as bloody and violent a feud as ever darkened the pages of sea history.

And not only are the men of the cargo boats Emerald Reef and Honda at each other's throats for the best of reasons, as they suppose, but the officers as well, until by the time both boats put out from port there's bitter enmity and black hatred on either side.

But the elements have a way of taming men's passions. In the ill-named Pacific they face a crisis that demands every ounce of courage and self-forgetfulness. How they meet it and how, in the end, the law of the sea prevails is left to the reader. Suffice it to say that W. Townend has again told a tale that rings true from start to finish and that stamps him anew as "the O. Henry of the sea."

Like a Man

by Jeremy Lane

HERE is a Western that moves with the speed of a pony express.

From the moment when a quick-witted card dealer gets shot up in a gambling joint in the Texas oil country to the day when, in gratitude to the man who saved his life and honor, he traps the rascally ranch superintendent and prevents a foolish marriage, there is no slowing of the action. Incidentally, you get a close-up of how fake oil promotion schemes are worked in the new Southwest and how the suckers are roped in much as cattle were in the good old days.

Everything changes, and the West has altered with the rest of the world, but the spirit of the great open spaces remains the same. If your blood does not run faster while reading this exciting tale of honesty fighting deceit, a clean love matched against unscrupulous greed, you are hard to please. The author tells his story with a gusto that sweeps you along to the last page.

Notre-Dame de Paris

by Victor Hugo

With illustrations in full color and black and white by Eric Pape and an introduction by Clayton Hamilton

For almost a hundred years the marvelous romance that centers about the famous Cathedral of Paris during the Middle Ages has thrilled and moved the hearts of thousands of readers the world over. It is as much alive today and as eagerly sought after by lovers of true literature as on the day when its immortal author, Victor Hugo, penned the last lines. What could be more fitting, then, than to anticipate this centennial anniversary by publishing a special one-volume edition in such style and format as to be worthy of the great story and of the man who conceived it?

Victor Hugo lived through almost the whole of the nineteenth century, when the French romantic school of literature was at its height, and for half that period he was the greatest literary force in France. But he was only twenty-nine when he wrote the masterpiece which he chose to call "Notre-Dame de Paris." Many authorities consider it his finest work of fiction and all praise it as a work of art. Algernon Swinburne said of it: "The greatest of all tragic romances has a Grecian perfection of structure, with a Gothic intensity of pathos. The style was a new revelation of the supreme capacities of human speech."

But a greater compliment than the praise of critics has been the steady and continued demand for it by the reading public, a demand that proves Victor Hugo struck a fundamental human note in his story to which the heart of the average man or woman responds strongly.

In order to visualize the characters and the plot for the present generation we have commissioned Eric Pape, the well known artist, to illustrate it throughout, and Clayton Hamilton, eminent man of letters, has written a new introduction to the timeless tale of Esmeralda, the beautiful gypsy; Quasimodo, bell-ringer of the Cathedral; and that crafty monarch, Louis the Eleventh.

Get Wise to Yourself!

by Anderson Collett and John O. Emerson

Do you know what character trait is revealed by a dimple in the chin? Do large ears really mean that the possessor is generous? What do red lips mean? Is your profile like President Coolidge's, or Helen Wills', or Babe Ruth's?

Reference to the twenty-four analysis charts in this book, with illustrations, will answer these questions and over two hundred more, telling you the things you should know about yourself—and others.

The subject of character analysis as revealed by physiognomy and gestures has been a matter of scientific study for generations. In "Get Wise to Yourself!" the authors have taken all the important technical data and made it readable and understandable in an interesting and amusing fashion.

Read the directions carefully in the introduction and after a little practice you will be able to plot out your own character and that of your friends. You will be surprised at the accuracy of the results, and after you have become accustomed to this simple method of checking character traits you will be able to size up the next man or woman you meet as never before. For instance, watch the gestures of your best girl an hour or so and you can probably learn enough about her to decide whether to propose, and, if so, when! Again: study the traffic cop as he approaches you with a ticket, and from his step you can tell whether you can "talk him out of it" or whether he's too hard-boiled to listen to reason.

Character shows itself in a hundred and one different ways—in our hands and feet, our walk, talk, and the gestures we use in our everyday activities. So, also, the face, eyes, nose, chin, mouth, ears, and the head reveal character according to their size, shape and prominence.

What could be more fun than to throw a party, and then, with the aid of this book, tell your friends all about themselves? You may find that the dark haired sheik across the room is another Valentino or that the pretty blonde is capable of flying the Atlantic. You yourself may be just the one to occupy the White House. Who knows? Try it and see!

Chronicles of a Countryman

by Walter A. Dyer

Illustrated by Thomas Fogarty

In the hustle of town life we are apt to take our opinions ready-made. But in the country, and especially on a farm, one has time, even while performing necessary tasks, for reflection. It is in such an environment that the author of these delightful papers has put down some of the thoughts and little adventures which have come to him in his rural retreat.

From the fact that he is somewhat removed from the mad rush of the urban population, the countryman often sees life more clearly and sees it whole. He has his own philosophy, although many times unable to express it. It is a pleasure, then, to find a man of education, though living by preference on a farm, with the courage and skill to state his convictions in terms as fair and winning as the countryside in which he takes such pride.

Walter A. Dyer is an author who has won a wide following by reason of his sanity, humor, and shrewd common sense. In this new book he has clothed his ideas in language that strikes a welcome note amid the din of a jazz age. The Fogarty illustrations harmonize perfectly with the spirit of the text.

The Perfect Ship

by Weston Martyr

There is more human interest and story-telling quality in this entertaining description of the building of a boat than in half the current novels. We'll wager that, once begun, you cannot stop reading it.

Says the author, a noted yachting authority: "Within my mind there had been slowly taking shape, for years and years, the Perfect Ship. . . . To be candid and frank, I will confess I never quite believed the time would ever really come when I should find myself building my ship. The iron hand of circumstance for long held me too firmly, and the project of which I dreamed would seem to me, at times, silly and absurd, and forever unattainable. But down at the bottom of my heart I think I always hoped—a little; and that little spark of hope was a comfort to me. But why enlarge on this; for you, who still can only build your ships in dreams, already understand me. But I can say this to you: Courage, my brothers. Courage—and hope on; and some day you may gain your heart's desire. For miracles do happen. One happened to me!"

The Luck of the Blue Macaw

by Kenneth Payson Kempton

HERE is a swift-moving, thrilling tale of the lobster fisheries off the Maine coast. Its hero is a young radio operator in the merchant marine service, home for the summer on leave. With him he brings a black giant deaf-mute from the South American jungles and a blue macaw.

On his arrival Jock finds trouble—lots of it—in the shape of a stolen pearl necklace, a hang-dog brother, a threatened homestead, and a soft-spoken bully named Duganne who aims at ruling the town. He finds, also, a boat and a chance to make money. How he grapples with the situation, saves his brother and the homestead, and at length brings Duganne to justice, is . . . well, read it, boys, just read it!

The author is already a favorite with young America and this colorful story, chock full of exciting incidents, is bound to increase his popularity.

Walt Henley Overseas

by Alfred F. Loomis

ONCE again we meet our old friend, Walt Henley, but this time it is Quartermaster Henley of the U. S. Submarine Chaser 012 bound for overseas duty in the Mediterranean during the late World War. Despite his eagerness for active service, Walter quickly finds that life aboard one of these terriers of the sea is no soft berth. They were built for one thing—speed—and crew and officers share alike in the discomfort of cramped quarters and perpetual motion. But are they downhearted? No! With humor and true Yankee grit they meet each emergency as it crops up, and there is enough excitement and thrills in this record of their adventures while hunting German "subs" in faraway waters to satisfy any boy.

Alfred Loomis was himself assigned to this line of duty in 1917 and he tells this story with a sureness of touch that will communicate his enthusiasm to many a youthful reader.

The Story of Law

by John M. Zane, LL.D., Litt.D.

Introduction by James M. Beck, formerly
Solicitor-General of the United States

AN OUTSTANDING work of permanent value that presents complete, in narrative style, the creation of law in its earliest forms, its development through the ages, and the stages through which it has come to play the prominent part it does in our lives today.

It is not only a narrative of absorbing interest, but a book of deep significance for its revelation of the foundation of modern society and government, and its explanation of the human motives, good and bad, that have found expression in modern law.

Such legal authorities as Dean John H. Wigmore of Northwestern University Law School, Chief Justice Wilson of the Supreme Judicial Court of Maine and James M. Beck, praise it from a professional standpoint; William Allen White, Thomas L. Masson and Arthur Train speak highly of its literary quality; and The New York Times, The New York World, The Philadelphia Public Ledger, The Forum, the Virginia Law Review and other papers too numerous to mention hail it as a unique achievement.

Ten - - And Out!

by Alexander Johnston

Foreword by Gene Tunney

THE only complete account of the rise of the prize ring in America. Mr. Johnston has gone to original sources for much of his material and has himself witnessed many of the bouts described. Illustrated with unusual action photographs and prints and written in accurate, but racy, style, it has quickly become a standard book on the subject.

The New York Sun says of it, "Ten—and Out! is an honest, carefully prepared and carefully written book" and the Philadelphia Public Ledger declares: "Alexander Johnston has produced a classic in the field of American prize-ring history. It is a liberal education in prize-fighting, prepared in a highly interesting manner."

Jim Tully in the New York Herald-Tribune says, "He has done a good job," and Herschell Brickell in the New York Evening Post writes, "It is readable, it covers all the various classes comprehensively, and there is a good index which makes it a handy volume to have around when someone begins to argue about whether Peter Jackson ever licked Jim Corbett."

STORIES FROM AN INDIAN CAVE By Carolyn Sherwin Bailey

Illustrated by Joseph Eugene Dash

The myths of the cave-building Cherokee Indians are less familiar than those of many other tribes of Red Men. They were told to our Government at Washington by John Ax, who heard them when he was a fire boy in the "lodge of the story-tellers."—Review from Baltimore Evening Sun.

Here are many of the cave stories that everybody will enjoy because they are new and have not been told in other books of Indian tales. They will take you out of doors into the pleasant land of Once-upon-a-time where wonderful and unexpected things happen.

The Bureau of Indian Affairs at Washington furnished the notes for these Cherokee myths. The stories are new in Indian folk lore and have a value for children in the lesson inculcated in addition to their content of interest. The many illustrations are vividly realistic.

Size 6x9; 224 pages; gold stamped cover, art box; reënforced binding. (Second printing.) Price $1.25.

JUVENILE

BOY RIDERS OF THE ROCKIES, OR CAMPING ON TOP OF THE WORLD. By Frank H. Cheley. 336 pp. Three-colored jacket. 14 full page illustrations of camp life. Price $2.00. (Published June 9th.)

A true picture of a boys' camp on the top of the Rockies,—their sports, their hikes on horseback and on foot through most interesting territory, their contact with the Indian settlers through which they acquire Indian history and lore. The story tells of the development of character through camp life and the making of lasting friendships. Mr. Cheley is President of the Father and Son League of America; for many years head of the boys' work of the International Y.M.C.A.; and the owner and director of one of the largest and most up-to-date camps of the West. He is the author of The Job of Being a Dad, Dad — Whose Boy Is Yours?, A Boy's Book of Camp Fires, Camp Fire Yarns, and The Mystery of Chimney Rock.

BOY SCOUTS OF THE GREEN MOUNTAIN TRAIL. By Walter Prichard Eaton. 320 pp. Three-colored jacket. Fully illustrated. $1.75.

This is an additional volume in the author's Boy Scout Series. The Trail over the Green Mountains is one of the most picturesque in the East, and the incidents cover experiences during the Flood Period when the Boy Scouts were so efficient in rendering aid.

THE SEARCH FOR THE LOST MAIL PLANE. By Lewis E. Theiss. 320 pp. Illustrated. Three-colored jacket. $1.75.

This is a companion volume to Piloting the U. S. Air Mail. The book describes the search for a lost mail plane. The material is based on actual facts and is full of action. It has the approval and recommendations of the Air Mail Officials.

GAME-LEGS. The Biography of a Horse with a Heart. By Arthur C. Bartlett. 320 pp. Three-colored jacket. $1.75.

The author of two stories about dogs — Spunk, Leader of the Dog Team and The Sea Dog — turns his talent to describing life on the farm where his love of horses was developed to a consuming degree. To those who lived in the age of horses, one does not need to be told of the glories of horse flesh, but to those who never had the opportunity to learn that horses have hearts this story will be convincing.

BY RAIL AND TRAIL. By Mae Foster Jay, author of Rag-House Tales. 150 pp. Illustrated. $1.50.

The natural beauties and geological periods of our country's development are simply portrayed by the author through the medium of travel. Through the ages those beauty spots and wonders have been created, and the author in simple language pictures their causes and results.

LITTLE STORIES OF WELL-KNOWN AMERICANS. By Laura Antoinette Large. 200 pp. 14 illustrations from photographs. $1.50.

These biographical sketches are varied and are selected as being those most interesting to children and representative of leading Americans in their fields of activity. Among the more familiar characters are Walter Damrosch, James Whitcomb Riley, Mark Twain, The Wright Brothers, Charles A. Lindbergh, Booker T. Washington, etc.

RELIGIOUS

THINK ON THESE THINGS. Daily Meditations for a Year. By Amos R. Wells, editor of Peloubet's Select Notes. 256 pp. Cloth. $1.25.

Spiritually helpful, lending strength for each day, this little book gives a daily Bible passage, with a selected verse and meditation upon it; closing with a short prayer. Interwoven with the daily meditations are many rich sentiments and paragraphs from leading writers, inspirational bits of poetry, and a large number of illustrated anecdotes so arranged as to give help and encouragement for the day's tasks.

HUMAN NATURE IN CHRISTIAN WORK. A Manual for Ministers, Directors of Religious Education, Church School Workers and Social Organizers. By A. H. McKinney, D.D. Author of A Top Notch Teacher. 256 pp. $1.50.

A book that every business man, every social and religious worker will find of inestimable help, for it contains the basic principles of success through the study of the best methods of approach. Especially adapted for those who are interested in Christian development.

KNOW YOUR BIBLE? By Amos R. Wells. (Revised edition. 25th Thousand.) Attractive jacket. 136 pp. Cloth. Price $1.00. Containing 1500 questions and answers and 21 quizzes.

This is one of the most popular religious publications recently issued.
Educational — in that it is a study book for those who wish to search the Scriptures.
Entertaining — in that it may be used by the individual or easily adapted for social gatherings.
The 1500 questions and answers cover the main facts of the whole Bible.

EVERYDAY RELIGION. By Dr. John Timothy Stone, Pastor of the Fourth Presbyterian Church, Chicago. (Published December, 1927.)

Doctor Stone sees life in a big way. The everyday experiences furnish broad avenues by which happiness and joy may be obtained. It is a treasure house of thoughtful observations beautifully expressed, — a veritable mine of happiness, and a key to everyday joy. 268 pages. Price $1.50.

A YEARLY CALENDAR OF INCOMPLETE BIBLE QUOTATIONS FOR DAILY HELP AND STUDY.

Price 10c each.

Prepared for those who enjoy and find comfort in daily Scriptural reading. For each day in each month an incomplete Bible quotation is given calling for research to complete it with its location in the Bible. The quotations for each month are all based on the same theme. For January the quotations are all based on the Love of God; February, Faith, and so on. These subjects, with Hope, Strength, Patience, Cheerfulness, Service, Power, Wisdom, Guidance and Peace are all covered in the 12 months' research. A key for locating these quotations is also given. Valuable and intensely interesting to those wishing to get in daily touch with Biblical thought.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PUBLICATIONS

PELOUBET'S SELECT NOTES FOR 1929. By Amos R. Wells. 55th annual volume. A commentary on the Sunday School Lessons. 384 pp. Cloth. $1.90. Postpaid $2.00.

For 54 years this volume has met the severest test, and is acknowledged the leading commentary. It is for teachers of all grades and contains the greatest possible wealth of practical help, so compiled and tabulated that it can be effectively used. It is unlimited in its possibilities for helpfulness. Its clear and convincing explanation of the text itself, its broad range of quotations, illuminating thoughts, are all tuned to the greatest spiritual interpretation. Beautiful and instructive pictures, maps, chronological charts, and comprehensive index make it complete in every respect.

A DAILY DIGEST OF THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSONS FOR 1929. By Amos R. Wells, editor of Peloubet's Select Notes. It is of vest pocket size, bound in silk cloth. 160 pp. 35c. Leather 50c.

This handy little volume is especially made for the use of Bible Classes, students and teachers. It is compact in its treatment, intensely practical in its summary of the application of the lesson, and indispensable to the busy student or teacher who wishes to secure in a nutshell the basic thought of the lesson. This little volume also has chronological charts and maps, making it complete.

Arthur C. Bartlett

SPUNK, LEADER OF THE DOG TEAM. Illustrated. 320 pp. $1.75.

Spunk — strong, masterful, intelligent Spunk won his place in the heart of his master and as leader of the dog team through weeks and months of training. He acquired his name because he refused to whimper when broken limbs had to be set and he justified his name when on the ice fields of Mount Washington he refused to yield an inch when yielding would mean certain death and destruction to all. And when the winning team of the great Derby of dog racing, "mushed" in with Spunk in the lead, he verified all the confidence his master had in him when he christened him "Spunk".

It's a great story of a great dog and other dogs, too, and of a boy who might never have been what he became had it not been for Spunk.

All prices are NET

THE SEA DOG. Author of "Spunk, Leader of the Dog Team". 320 pp. Price $1.75.

On land or sea, the faithful dog, whether high bred or simply mongrel, can teach lessons of faithfulness and intelligence. "Pieface," the sea dog, loved his calling, and his master learned from him what he probably never would have acquired had he not received "Pieface" as his only legacy, when left to face the world alone.

Amy E. Blanchard

A GIRL OF '76. 331 pp. Cloth. $1.75.

A fascinating story of girlhood in Boston during the Revolutionary period, when history was being made daily.

BECKY. A Story. Illustrated with colored jacket and cover. 320 pp. Cloth, $1.75.

What a strong, wholesome, natural girl Becky is! Every reader will love her for what she truly is. Deprived of her great desire to complete her college course, yet she does not become unnatural in her disappointment, but in spite of it, turns her thoughts and energies in the direction where they are most needed. It is a strong story of happy home life.

JUNE DUNCAN. A story by Amy E. Blanchard. Illustrated. 320 pp. $1.75.

Country life was forced upon June Duncan, as it has been on many others. She, with her mother and sister, moved from the city, where living costs seem to forever increase, into an ancestral home in a nearby suburb. Here means were found to increase the family income and although the town promised few excitements at first, June found plenty as she became a part of the town's life, helping to restore a broken romance and finally becoming the heroine of one herself.

Caroline Benedict Burrell

OUR GIRLS AND OUR TIMES. (Adult) 160 pp. Cloth bound. Price $1.25.

This is a frank discussion of the problems confronting our growing girls and their parents. It is optimistic throughout, with emphasis on early training, frank respect for God's laws in dealing with sex problems, and emphasis on wholesome family life, all vital factors in a girl's sane living and development. Written by an expert and well known contributor to magazine columns.

Frank H. Cheley

CAMP-FIRE YARNS. Or Famous Stories Told Around the Camp-Fire. By Frank H. Cheley, editor of the "Father and Son Magazine". Illustrated with colored jacket and cover. 264 pp. Cloth, $1.50.

Frank H. Cheley — Continued.

No boy or man has ever forgotten those evenings he spent before the camp-fire. The very atmosphere lent itself to the charm of being in the open. And no one will ever forget the stories which were told. How the imagination let loose and how the very picture of the scenes and events as told by the story teller have lived. Mr. Cheley is an old camper and his stories as told before the camp-fires are the choicest selections which have ever been issued. Boys and their fathers, too, will revel in them.

THE JOB OF BEING A DAD. (Adult.) Author of "The Adventures of the Prodigal Father." Beautifully illustrated. 352 pp. Cloth. $1.75.

A book for every Dad. There is no bigger job in the whole world than that of being a real Dad to a real boy! What would a man take in exchange for his boy's confidence, esteem and fellowship? Like all good things, these must be bought and the price paid, but what wonderful dividends in fellowship and mutual understanding and a right start in life can be obtained from such an investment! Here is a story which every father should take the time to read and will prize, for it is written right from the shoulder by a man who knows — Frank H. Cheley.

DAD—WHOSE BOY IS YOURS? By Frank H. Cheley. 160 pages (pocket size with limp leather covers) $1.25.

How close are you to your boy; does he turn to you for advice in preference to another; does he confide in you his hopes, aspirations and troubles?
Every good red-blooded father wants to be a real Dad. His boy expects it of him and he wants to live up to his boy's ideal.
A real Dad — what is he and how can he truly become one?
It's the biggest prize in the world, the greatest dividend producer ever put on the market.
Let Frank Cheley, executive head of the Father and Son League of America, guide and suggest.

THE MYSTERY OF CHIMNEY ROCK. Being a story of the search for gold in the land of the Ute Indians in the days of '49. Illustrated with colored jacket and frontispiece. 320 pp. Cloth. $1.75.

A fascinating story of the opening up of the great western part of this country. Through the experiences of his characters, Mr. Cheley shows just what this country was before the craze for gold lured thousands of easterners to trek westward. Many portions were inhabited by Indians who looked upon their coming as an invasion of their rights. This added to the settlers' hardships and with the natural privations which they suffered, their quest for gold and adventure proved a serious undertaking and in many cases, disastrous. The story of this wonderful period in our country's history should interest every boy.

THE BOYS' BOOK OF CAMP-FIRES. By Frank H. Cheley. Illustrated with many line-cuts and 12 full page plates. 400 pp. Cloth. $2.50.

The average boy, to a very large degree, has lost much of the real appreciation of wide open spaces, of the wilderness, the desert and mighty mountain stretches. It is because of this alarming condition that the well conducted summer camp for boys renders so fundamental a contribution to his best unfoldment. It will make him a bigger, finer spirited, more capable man, able to live more abundantly, possessed with rich treasures of character that can not be cashed, that have nothing to do with making a living, but that have everything to do with helping to live sane and wholesome and vigorous lives.
This book is offered to your boy to stir, if by chance it may, his inherent savagery into constructive action out of doors.

Ellen Douglas Deland

MALVERN. A neighborhood story. Illustrated. 341 pp. Cloth. $1.75.

The neighborhood in question is in New Jersey, and furnishes a queer assortment of boys and girls, whose plans and activities form the material for this entertaining story. Miss Deland understands boy and girl nature, and also how to tell a story. A visit to the World's Fair forms a considerable part of the book, recalling pleasantly many features of the Unique White City whose like probably will not be seen again.

A SUCCESSFUL VENTURE. 340 pp. Cloth. $1.75.

Four girls, with a brother, left destitute by the death of their father, find that they must make their own way in the world. They scandalize their dignified aunt by deciding to earn their own living. They are refreshingly honest and natural, and their plans, as conceived and carried out, make an exceptionally fine story.
The author has displayed ability in planning the course of action of her agreeable young people and in working out her plot effectively. Its blending of good sense and entertainment will be appreciated.

THE FRIENDSHIP OF ANNE. A story. Illustrated. 332 pp. Cloth. $1.75.

"The Friendship of Anne" is founded on boarding school life that is full of activity. The author apparently knows girls well, their weaknesses, hopes and aims. Every girl will enjoy the enthusiasm which runs throughout the story, and as for the characters, one cannot but sympathize when sympathy would be appreciated, and rejoice with them in their triumphs.

KATRINA. Illustrated. 340 pp. Cloth. $1.75.

The background of the story of "Katrina" is a New England village, with its quaint, oldtime people, the old Perkins home being the central point of interest. Katrina was reared there by an old aunt, cold and stern as the climate, but at heart devoted to the young girl.

THE BEACH PATROL. A story of the life-saving service. 318 pp. Cloth.

THE YOUNG SUPERCARGO. A story of the merchant marine. 352 pp. Cloth. $1.75.

"The Brain and Brawn Series" of books for boys, by William Drysdale, which the New York Sun called "the very best stories for young people we have ever seen," are four in number — "The Young Reporter," a story of Printing House Square; "The Fast Mail," a story of the railroad; "The Beach Patrol," a story of the life-saving service; and "The Young Supercargo," a story of the merchant marine.

"The Brain and Brawn Series" are of a higher moral tone and character than almost any books for young people we have read, and we hope they will be introduced freely into home circles and in all libraries.

CADET STANDISH OF THE ST. LOUIS. A story of our naval campaign in Cuban waters. 354 pp. Cloth. $1.75.

"Cadet Standish" is a story of our naval campaign in Cuban waters the hero being a young cadet of the St. Louis, who was detailed for perilous work on shore. The author has been well acquainted with Cuba and Cuban customs, and with this knowledge and his skill as a writer he has produced a war story true to life, full of stirring adventure and that will be thoroughly relished by boys.

THE TREASURY CLUB. A Story of the United States Treasury Department. 330 pp. Cloth. $1.75.

The purpose of this volume is to give in story form a complete account of the present workings of our Treasury Department. But it hardly needs the aid of fiction to lend interest or novelty to the subjects.

THE BOY SCOUTS IN THE DISMAL SWAMP. Colored frontispiece. 310 pp. Cloth. $1.75.

The Dismal Swamp of today is not what it was fifty years ago or the band of scouts would not have come out as well as they did. While in it, they saw sights enough to verify the name, but much strange beauty of vegetation, much geological development of unfamiliar kind. The adventures with the law and the lawless add spice to the story which keeps up the standard of the other books of the series.

BOY SCOUTS IN THE WHITE MOUNTAINS. The story of a hike over the Franconia and Presidential Ranges. Colored frontispiece. 320 pp. Cloth. $1.75.

Intimate knowledge of the country as well as of the basic principles of Boy Scouting characterizes this new volume by Mr. Eaton. It is the third of the series and is interesting to all Boy Scouts, as well as those who contemplate becoming Boy Scouts, or who have not even thought of it yet.

BOY SCOUTS OF THE WILDCAT PATROL. Colored Frontispiece. 315 pp. Cloth. $1.75.

This story is a continuation of the history of Peanut and the other characters which appeared in previous volumes by this author. Some of the former characters have developed into Scout Masters themselves and the story shows what they have learned in the way of Boy Scouting and how they passed it along to others.

PEANUT—CUB REPORTER. A Boy Scout's life and adventures on a newspaper. Colored illustration by Frank T. Merrill. 320 pp. $1.75.

A rattling newspaper story with Peanut as the central character—he who has figured so prominently in the author's four Boy Scout books. The organization and management of a modern newspaper is carefully portrayed, developing the principles of loyalty and service which animates the best reporters, and Peanut, applying the principles learned in his Boy Scout work, shows his mettle.

BOY SCOUTS IN GLACIER PARK. 336 pp. $1.75.

This is an accurate story of the life of two scouts in Glacier Park, with all the adventure which goes with a summer's outing in the mountains. There is no portion of the Rocky Mountains which offers any more beautiful scenery and opportunities for out-of-door life and tramping tours, than does Glacier Park. The volume gives an accurate and descriptive picture of this Park, and might well be used as a guide book. This book is illustrated by wonderful photographs.

ON THE EDGE OF THE WILDERNESS. Tales of our Wild Animal Neighbors. Illustrated from originals by Charles Livingston Bull. 320 pp. $1.75.

RAG-HOUSE TALES. 14 original photographs by the author. Price $1.50.

Few children can enjoy the privilege of truly living for years right out in the open in a rag-house home far from the busy world, with only the native animals and birds for playmates. Such was the life of our little heroine while her engineer father blazed the trails through southern California, Arizona and Mexico, opening up hitherto untrod soil. The author's own original photographs lend interest.

Laura Antoinette Large

LITTLE PEOPLE WHO BECAME GREAT. Stories of the lives of those of whom every child should know. Fully illustrated by photographs. 200 pp. $1.50.

These titles are of unusual value — fine authorship, attractively illustrated, well bound and popularly priced.

GIRLS' BOOKS

Amy E. Blanchard

THE HOUSE THAT JACK BUILT
LUCKY PENNY OF THISTLE TROOP
FROM TENDERFOOT TO GOLDEN EAGLET
AN EVERYDAY GIRL
THE AWAKENING OF MARTHA
IN CAMP WITH THE MUSCODAY CAMPFIRE GIRLS
A LITTLE MAID OF PICARDY
A GENTLE PIONEER
A FRONTIER KNIGHT

These are bright, catchy stories based on some of the activities which the modern girl is most interested in to-day. The author holds a commanding place in the hearts of girl readers the country over.

Jane Haxton

FOLLOWING THE TRAILS AT CAMP ALGONQUIN

Marion Ames Taggart

SIX GIRLS AND BOB
BETH OF OLD CHILTON

As a picture of happy home life these books can scarcely be excelled. They have a wholesome tone which should make them welcome in every family.

Deristhe L. Hoyt

BARBARA'S HERITAGE

Young Americans among the old Italian Masters.

NATURE STORIES

Jean M. Thompson

DOLLAR BOOKSHELF — FALL 1927

HANDIWORK BOOKS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS

Edna A. Foster

SOMETHING TO DO, — BOYS
SOMETHING TO DO, — GIRLS

Each volume contains over a hundred and fifty illustrations. Here is the answer to the question, which every parent hears more or less from his children — "What can I do?". These two volumes offer suggestions, covering every type of children's activities, and give definite instructions as to how they may be carried out.

BOYS' BOOKS

William E. Barton

THE PRAIRIE SCHOONER
WHEN BOSTON BRAVED THE KING

Com. Thomas D. Parker, U. S. N.

DOLLAR BOOKSHELF — FALL 1927

Hugh C. Weir
THE YOUNG TELEPHONE INVENTOR

J. Phelps Whitmarsh
THE GOLDEN TALISMAN

Each of the above titles is a red-blooded boy's book, full of interesting information and exciting experiences. Together they cover a wide field of practical knowledge and give a fund of useful facts.

Joseph T. Kesiel
THE ADVENTURES OF DAL HAMILTON — PROSPECTOR

Kirk Munroe
IN THE HEART OF THE EVERGLADES

ADULT

Edward Elwell Whiting
CALVIN COOLIDGE — HIS IDEALS OF CITIZENSHIP

Walter P. Eaton
PENGUIN PERSONS AND PEPPERMINTS — A VOLUME OF ESSAYS

FIFTY CENT LIST

Nellie M. Pairpoint
JACINTH AND HER FAIRY FRIENDS
NOEL AND THE LITTLE PEOPLE OF THE WOODS

Molly Elliot Seawell
LAURIE VANE

This is an intensely interesting fairy story — just the kind children enjoy and the illustrations are exceptionally good.

TWENTY-FIVE CENT LIST

Adelaide S. Baylor
ADVENTURES OF MISS TABBY GRAY

Children read and re-read this story of Tabby Gray and her parties for the other neighborhood Tabbies. Miss Josephine Bruce, the noted children's illustrator, has completely filled the text with her happy pictures.

Unless otherwise noted the prices given in this list cover delivery, postpaid, from London. Books can be delivered to libraries by mail from London, at the equivalent of the English prices, because there is no duty to pay, and the cost of packing, freight and rehandling of an edition is saved. Some of the books can be delivered from either New York or London, postpaid in each case. Where a book is delivered from New York only, the price is followed by the symbol (N.Y.).

Winston Books and Bibles are found wherever books are sold in all parts of the world

1884 The John C. Winston Company had its origin in the year 1884, in the second story front room of a typical old Philadelphia dwelling house at 1009 Arch Street, directly opposite to where now stands the prominent Winston Building covering 135,000 square feet of floor space.

For the first few years the publication and sale of one book engrossed the attention of the new publisher. This book proved very successful, and other equally fortunate publications followed which very quickly gave the firm a creditable reputation in the publishing world.

1900 In this year the business was incorporated, and about the same time the Company entered the field of Bible publication by seizing a favorable opportunity to purchase the entire stock, plant, and good-will of the "International" Series of Bibles—the largest line of Self-Pronouncing Bibles in the world.

1904 The business continued to grow so rapidly that in 1904 the Winston Building, which occupies nearly half an acre of ground in the heart of the city, was erected to meet the special requirements of the publishing business. The building and business represent an investment of over $1,500,000. Every facility for the rapid handling of the business of the Company has been incorporated, including not only the latest but also much specially built machinery.

1905 Scarcely a year had elapsed after the occupation of the new building, when another large addition was acquired by the purchase of the publishing business of Messrs. Henry T. Coates & Company, successors to Porter & Coates, and a notable pedigree of publishers. This acquisition included a large line of Standard Books, Juvenile Books and other meritorious publications, which have been augmented from year to year by the issue of many new volumes.

1914 The John C. Winston Company, who some years ago erected an eight-story building with a frontage on Arch Street of 100 feet and a depth of 150 feet, is now building an inclosed bridge to span the street in the rear, connecting them with the Harrison Building, thus securing six additional floors.—The Publishers' Weekly, July, 1914.

1918 The John C. Winston Company will enter the school-book field on the first of January. The Winston Company, which in thirty years' experience has acquired a long list of publications, among which are many notable titles, has entered the educational field with a sincere effort to make a distinct contribution to text-book literature. —The Progressive Teacher.

1928 The John C. Winston Company is now a factor in every market where books and Bibles are sold. Its text-books are now in use in every state in the Union. The whole United States, Canada, Great Britain and Australia are its principal territory, while to Europe, Africa, India, China, Japan, Mexico, South America and our Island Possessions — wherever the English language is spoken throughout the world—its publications find their way.

FAMOUS DETECTIVE MYSTERIES

This is an entirely new book by this well-known writer of detective stories. The stories in this volume are from actual life. Each one is complete in itself, but they supplement one another in illustrating the methods of the police in all countries and all ages. It includes notable cases within the experience of the American, English and French official police. These stories reflect the wonderful advance that has been made in the detection of crime in the last few decades. Bound in Cloth, with colored stamping. 256 pages. Illustrated. 12mo. Price..Net 75 cents

ADVENTURES OF THE WORLD'S GREATEST DETECTIVES

A few of the famous cases that are to be found in the history of the world's greatest detectives are contained in this volume. The stories speak for themselves. Most of the narratives are literally true and all are based on established facts. With the exception of necessary liberties in construction these stories may be accepted as a series of real human documents. Cloth, with attractive stamping. 252 pages. Illustrated. 12mo.

CHALK TALKS

The greatest task that every generation faces is that of teaching its children the truth. An increasing number of teachers are interested in reaching the mind and heart of the child through the eye of the child. This book presents a series of fifty interesting stories and gives easily made drawings, mostly in four phases, which will hold the attention of the child and which illustrates a salient point of the story. Each of these stories is followed by a helpful application to conduct and spiritual growth. Illustrated jacket cover. Bound in Cloth, 105 pages. Price.....Net $1.25

Bryan, William Jennings, and his wife, Mary Baird Bryan

THE MEMOIRS OF WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN

Mr. Bryan began his autobiography and in his will directed that his wife should complete the work. It contains much heretofore unwritten history. It was not possible to give to the world during Mr. Bryan's life the real facts concerning many of his activities, but in justice to her husband, Mrs. Bryan feels that the time has now come when the truth should be told. Starting with a masterly analysis of Mr. Bryan's character, she lifts the curtain on certain events that aroused the interest of two continents in the days when history was being made. In the preparation of the work Mrs. Bryan was guided by her diary, a diary of keen discernment and wit, supported by Mr. Bryan's private correspondence and official documents. There is an appendix to the work containing Mr. Bryan's outstanding addresses and his undelivered speech on the Dayton trial. Octavo. Cloth. 560 pages. Illustrated. Price.....Net $2.75

JOHN BUNYAN: HIS LIFE AND TIMES

History alone reveals the greatness of the character of John Bunyan. The year 1928 marks the three hundredth anniversary of his birth. It is only now we are learning why Pilgrim's Progress is a world classic. In a stimulating manner the author has written a volume that will stir the reader as he pictures the eventful life of one of the world's early Christian martyrs. Bound in Cloth, 160 pages. Price.....Net $1.25

Bunyan, John

THE PILGRIM'S PROGRESS (Tercentenary Edition. Printed from Large Type—With Four Colored Illustrations

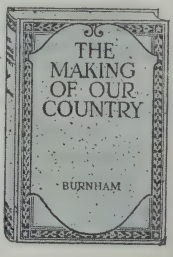
This edition of The Pilgrim's Progress contains the text of the eleventh edition as it stood when Bunyan's death removed all possibility of further authoritative revision.

It is well known that in the second and third editions Bunyan made large additions to the story and many important corrections. For example, Mr. Worldly Wiseman first makes his appearance in the second edition published in 1678, the year already made famous by the publication of the first edition. In the third edition issued in 1679, Bunyan added the characteristic portrait of Mr. By-ends. In all during Bunyan's lifetime eleven editions of the great book were published. The last appeared in 1688, the year of his death.

The proofs of the present edition were carefully compared with the copies of the first, second, third and eleventh editions of Part I in the Library of the British Museum. The eleventh edition doubtless contains Bunyan's latest corrections. Bound in Fine Cloth, with four colored illustrations. Price.....$1.00

Burnham, Smith, A.M.

THE MAKING OF OUR COUNTRY



Looking backward from the reconstruction days following the World War, Smith Burnham has pictured the growth of our country from the discovery of the continent, through the Colonial period, through the great days of expansion, through the terrible days of the war between the States, through the Great War that took two million of our boys to Europe, and on up to the present moment, with America in the forefront of all the nations on the planet. Seldom is a book published so crowded with illustrations. Included are reproductions (in color) of the famous historical paintings by J. L. G. Ferris. Cloth. Over 600 pages, nearly 400 illustrations. Price.....Net $3.00

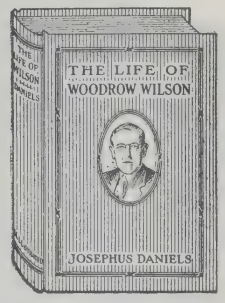
Burr, Agnes Rush. (The Authorized Biography)

RUSSELL H. CONWELL AND HIS WORK
(Including "Acres of Diamonds")

This volume is the complete story of Dr. Conwell's life written by his appointed biographer, Agnes Rush Burr. It is the record of his rise from a penniless boy to a man who achieved noble success. His was a life of service. Contains his world famous inspirational lecture "Acres of Diamonds"; no other lecture by any other man has been given to so many people or so often. More than six thousand times Dr. Conwell delivered his renowned lecture to "seen audiences" and in recent years broadcasted it to "invisible listeners in." His lecture breathes a message of perpetual inspiration which should be cherished in every home. 438 pages. Illustrated. Price.....Net $1.50

Daniels, Josephus

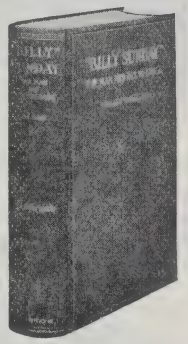
THE LIFE OF WOODROW WILSON. A Remarkable Biography of a Remarkable Man.



Hon. Josephus Daniels says: This book will be a life of Wilson, the man, as I saw him and knew him. I am familiar with the life of the former President. Besides the eight years I was under him as Secretary of the Navy, I was also associated with him when he was in Paris as the world's greatest figure. There are and will be many more lives of the war President written, all from different viewpoints. It is my aim to present the life, the whole life, of the man—not a book merely for politicians. I shall deal with his character, surroundings, environment—what he embodied. I want to lay bare the true Woodrow Wilson as man, politician, teacher, father, President, to the world. Cloth. Illustrated. Price.....Net $2.50

Ellis, Wm. T., LL.D.

"BILLY" SUNDAY: THE MAN AND HIS MESSAGE



Authorized by Mr. Sunday. Over 300,000 sold. The only book that explains "Billy" Sunday; as readable as fiction. It not only tells the story of Mr. Sunday's eventful life, and gives a keen analysis of his manner and methods, but it also contains the heart of his message, which has changed the lives of a quarter of a million. It reproduces his picturesque, heart-stirring phrases and sayings, and retains all of the wonderful appeal of his platform utterances. It will give any minister, teacher or other worker new ideas, new inspiration, new energy. For the great body of church members it provides a stimulus and vitality unequaled by anything else in current literature, while to the world at large it carries the same remarkable message with which Mr. Sunday has aroused the conscience of whole communities. Cloth. 450 pages. Profusely illustrated. Price..Net $1.50

Fox, John

FOX'S BOOK OF MARTYRS (New Large Type Edition)

An entirely new edition, giving a history of the lives, suffering, and triumphant deaths of the primitive Protestant martyrs from the introduction of Christianity to the latest periods of pagan, popish and infidel persecution, embracing the persecutions in the cantons of Switzerland; and the persecutions of the Methodist and Baptist missionaries in the West India Islands. Fox was a vivid, powerful, truly interesting writer with a style whose simplicity covers elements both of tenderness and indignation; and some of his narratives are among the finest in the English language. The reader, therefore, is about to come into contact not only with a historic Protestant document but with one of the great classics of the Elizabethan period. Cloth. Price.....$2.00

GREAT SERMONS BY GREAT PREACHERS

EDITED BY REV. JESSE LYMAN HURLBUT, D.D.

NEW EDITION with sermons by Clarence E. Macartney, Daniel A. Poling, Joseph Fort Newton, Harry Emerson Fosdick, Charles W. Gilkey and George A. Gordon.

The editor has selected the fifty-two most famous preachers of the world from the leading Christian churches throughout the world from the days of St. Augustine and Chrysostom, who lived 350 years after Christ, down to and including John Bunyan, John Wesley, Whitefield, Henry Ward Beecher and William Ellery Channing, and a few of the great preachers of the present day.

THE HOME CHRISTIAN who does not have an opportunity to attend church will have the privilege in this volume of entertaining and benefiting himself at home by reading the most celebrated sermon from one of the most celebrated preachers of the world.

MINISTERS AND BIBLE STUDENTS will find the book especially grand in its eloquence and full of food for thought and inspiration for their work. Every sermon is intensely evangelical in its character.

The biography, or life sketch, of each of the great preachers is placed just before his sermon, and they are designed to exhibit the personality of the preacher and set forth his special labors for mankind. The book has a copious index in which is given an analysis of each sermon, together with an alphabetical arrangement of the leading thoughts, thus affording means of easy reference to its varied contents.

Garrett, Erwin Clarkson

IO TRIUMPHE AND OTHER VERSES

This is not simply a book of poems: it is a valuable compendium on the art of writing poetry. You will find here, something that is rarely found in any volume, specimens of every one of the beautiful French forms of verse, in addition to the customary quatrains and sonnets. Mr. Garrett has a lightness of touch in these rondeaux and triolets and villanelles that captures the imagination. He has a fine sense of the fitness of the English words, and lofty thought and happy word go hand in hand in the making of his general poems. He has also included a number of war poems, done in dialect; these have the stamp of realism, for they had their birth in the very midst of the conflict, where Mr. Garrett himself experienced the blood and filth of the trenches. The book is unique in many ways, and deserves a place with the best there is in literature. Bound in Attractive Cloth, 12mo. Price Net $2.50

JENGHIZ KHAN AND OTHER VERSES

This delightful book of poetry gets its tale from the first poem, namely "Jenghiz Khan." This poem tells of the wars of that ruthless Mongol monarch of central Asia who, in the early part of the Thirteenth Century conquered and ravaged the larger part of the then known world. Besides this poem there are many others equally as interesting. In Part II Mr. Garrett has shown marked ability as a writer of sonnets of which there are one hundred and twenty-eight. Bound in Cloth. 250 pages. Price.....Net $2.00

TRENCH BALLADS AND OTHER VERSES

This book has been divided into three distinct parts: Trench Ballads consisting of forty American soldier Poems—Pre-War Poems consisting of three sets of verses written just before the active entering of America in the World War—other poems containing those of a general and non-military character. These poems, with few exceptions were all written in France; in fact many were scribbled on odd pieces of paper by the author while in the trenches. Bound in Attractive Cloth, 12mo. Price.....Net $1.40

ARMY BALLADS AND OTHER VERSES

In this volume are presented the complete military verses of a soldier-poet expressing the traditions of the service and the spirit of the army. Through them sound the bugle, the camp-song, the wind in the palm trees, and the stern note of war. The sincerity of the work appeals as well as its dramatic and original quality, its picturesqueness, rhythm and good ballad swing. 282 pages. Cloth. Gilt top. Price.....Net $1.40

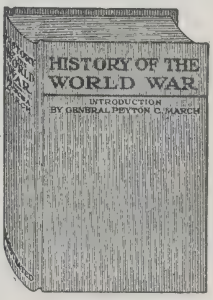
March, Francis A., Ph.D., with an introduction by General Peyton C. March, Chief of Staff, U. S. Army, during the World War.

HISTORY OF THE WORLD WAR—PEACE EDITION



A complete and authentic narrative, illustrated with official war pictures of the American, Canadian, British, French and Italian Governments. Including the Treaty of Peace and League of Nations Covenant.

In the foreword of this book the Author says: "Two ideals have been before us in the preparation of this necessary work. These are simplicity and thoroughness." It is of no avail to describe the greatest of human events if the description is so confused that the reader loses interest. Thoroughness is an historical essential beyond price. So it is that official documents prepared in many instances upon the field of battle and others taken from the files of the governments at war, are the basis of this work. Maps and photographs of unusual clearness and high authenticity illuminate the text. The book comprises 800 octavo pages (size 6⅞ x 9½ inches), over 200 illustrations, including portraits, maps, etc. Handsomely Bound in Cloth with Title Stamped on Side and back in Gold. Price.....Net $2.50

THE MOSAIC LAW from a Scientific Angle

No scientist for a hundred years has been more viciously attacked than Moses, the Israelitish lawgiver. No other scientist, however, has ever more fully vanquished his foes and advanced his position. After years of investigation and the testing of his writings by sound, modern science, the author of this work is convinced not only that Moses was a true scientist, according to the modern acceptance of this term, but a scientist of the most comprehensive order. 190 pages. EDGAR ALLAN POE: THE MAN (Two Volumes)

The appearance of this work marks the publication of a standard, final biography of America's preeminent writer. It is important that the readers who form an opinion of Poe have all the facts of his life. The general reader will find in this biography for the first time a complete, illustrated story of The Man. It is and is aimed to be a biography intended for the librarian, the student, and the general reader or book-lover. This work, with its completeness or authentic facts, indispensable illustrations, and artistic format, provides a permanent, true record of a great poet, a great writer of short stories, and an inventor of literary method, yet withal, a man of mystery. Two Volumes. Cloth Bound. Size 6 x 8⅝ inches. 1649 pages. Containing more than 500 illustrations. Price ..... Net $10.00

THE ONE BOOK

The Bible is the most wonderful book in the world. There are at least forty different authors. It took about 1500 years to complete the writing of the Bible. But it is a complete unity. This book is an intelligent study of the Bible. The searchlight of investigation will reveal a richness that cannot be comprehended unless a discriminate study is made of the Scriptures.

This is the story of the most largely sold book, but the least understood book in the world. It gives the reader facts on the formation of the Bible which hitherto have been available only to scholars. It tells the reader many things he wants to know. It shows how the various books were selected, why some were chosen and others left out. It is a most valuable source book for those who read the Bible either for devotional or literary purposes. Cloth. Illustrated. Price ..... Net $2.50

Robinson, Louis N.

PENOLOGY IN THE UNITED STATES

An important subject dealt with by a recognized authority. Dr. Robinson was for three and one-half years Chief Probation officer of the Municipal Court of Philadelphia; formerly head of the Department of Economics in Swarthmore College; has served on state penal investigating commissions and is now chairman of Division 2, Delinquents and Corrections, of the National Conference of Social Work. The book deals with the "Human" side of the Criminal Problem and will appeal strongly to Professors of Criminology, Judges, Wardens, Lawyers, Penal Boards, Social Workers and Reformers in general. Bound in Cloth, 340 pages. Price ..... Net $3.00

Russell, Elbert

JESUS OF NAZARETH IN THE LIGHT OF TODAY

In his effort to show Jesus in His saving truth and power to those who may be alienated from the Christ of past generations, the author with exquisite charm leads step by step through this matchless life until there is revealed that He is the same, yesterday, today and forever. Cloth. Price ..... Net $1.25

THE PARABLES OF JESUS

The purpose of the book is to introduce students to the teachings of Jesus as given in His recorded parables. It is intended not to take the place of the study of the parables themselves, but to aid in the study of them and to suggest some practical results in teaching. A valuable study book for Sunday School classes, Y. M. C. A. and other students in Bible subjects. Bound in Cloth, 180 pages. Price ..... Net $1.00

Shatford, Allan P., M.A., D.C.L.

SIX MARKS OF A CHRISTIAN

This presentation of practical Christianity is distinctive. It emphasizes in a plain, straightforward manner, that will be found by vigorous men and women, stimulating and refreshing, these cardinal virtues of Loyalty, Courage, Patience, Humility, Freedom and Generosity. These give the impress of the true Christian today, as they were the outstanding marks in the lives of the Saviour and His Disciples. Cloth. 128 pages. Price ..... Net $1.00

Sinclair, Upton

DAMAGED GOODS

From the great play by Brieux, novelized by Upton Sinclair with Brieux's approval. The one work which all authorities agree chastely and adequately warns the new generation of the terrible penalty of sexual immorality. Highly indorsed everywhere. Rev. Newell Dwight Hillis, pastor of Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, says: "At last, thank God, this conspiracy of silence is ended." The New York Times pronounces it "epoch making." Illustrated with photographs from Richard Bennett's presentation of the play. 194 pages. Cloth. Price ..... Net 75 cents

Starritt, Stuart

LIVINGSTONE THE PIONEER

The thrilling story of a great explorer whose life and work for Africa will ring down through the ages to come. No greater missionary came out of that country than David Livingstone. He is the outstanding figure in that field for the past century. The author with a sympathetic feeling for the great man has spent much time in careful research in order to give to the book an interest that will appeal to all readers.

Wylie, Martha

FROM PILLAR TO POST

A story of unusual interest to those who like romance, mystery, adventure and love. The combination makes a volume that will keep the reader's attention from beginning to end. The story centers around Elizabeth Welton and John Webster. The original scene is laid in New York, but by various stages it shifts across the Pacific into China, where the heroine meets tragedy. After many vicissitudes the story ends in the calm evening of a happy marriage.

Mrs. Wylie is the wife of Dr. David G. Wylie, the nationally known Churchman and President of the Lord's Day Alliance of the United States. Cloth. Price.....Net $2.00

REASON AND EVOLUTION

This is a plea for refusal to accept the statements of biologists without proof. It is not Fundamentalism versus Evolution. It is, what its title is: Reason applied to the Theory of Evolution. The author quotes liberally. He has read an enormous number of books by the earliest exponents of the theory as well as the very latest. He shows how what one modern Evolutionist presents as a "proof" is denied by another, who in turn presents other "proofs" which are denied by still others. And so on. One may not agree with all the author says, but we need a book like this if for no other reason than to counterbalance the positive position of the dogmatic Evolutionists. Cloth. 188 pages. Price.....Net $1.50

THE HANDY BOOK WITH THE BIG MAPS
All the Peace Maps and New Boundaries

Winston's New and Complete ATLAS OF THE WORLD

WITH LATEST CENSUS

With New Maps of Europe; of Canada and its Provinces; of the United States, its Forty-eight States, its Territories and Insular Possessions and Maps of the Whole World with Boundaries as Established by the Treaties of Peace following the World War :: :: :: :: ::

THE WORLD RE-MAPPED

When the Treaties of Peace were signed following the World War, a new world figuratively was created as far as an Atlas is concerned. Marked changes have been made in three continents—in the Islands of the Pacific, millions of square miles of territory have changed hands; new nations have been born; boundary lines have been redrawn; and even in our own country, names of towns have also been changed. It will, therefore, be seen that any Atlas previously published is practically obsolete now, and that a new Atlas containing changes in the maps of every portion of the globe is absolutely necessary.

This New Atlas, the Handy Book with the Big Maps, shows Every Country of the World with Boundaries as Established by the Provisions of the Treaties of Peace following the World War :: ::

The Last Word in Map Making

With New Maps of France, Africa, Poland, Czechoslovakia, and all other countries affected by the War, as well as complete maps of our own country.

The maps embody the very latest idea in map-making. Their accuracy is fully established by the fact that they were engraved under the personal supervision of L. L. POATES, whose reputation as cartographer is known to educators the world over and whose services are sought by leading technical institutions and societies and by the Government in the making of maps in which clear definition and accuracy of detail are essential.

This Complete Atlas, size 7 x 9½ inches, comprises 350 pages, 192 pages of which are maps printed in five and six colors. It is printed on sturdy super-calendered paper and bound in the following styles:

Cloth, ink stamping.....Net $2.50

Flexible Morocco Grained Kraft, round corners, red edges...Net $3.50

FEATURES THAT MAKE THIS ATLAS INDISPENSABLE IN HOME, SCHOOL, AND OFFICE

192 Pages of Maps are comprised in this Atlas. Besides new maps of the nations of Europe and other countries of the world, it contains a map of Canada, separate maps of the Provinces, map of the United States, separate maps of each state, territory, and insular possession.

The Maps are Printed in Five and Six Colors of Ink instead of three colors—yellow, red, and blue—as ordinarily employed.

The Locations of Towns, Rivers, Mountains, and Boundaries are clearly defined instead of the confused form of other Atlases.

Railroads are represented by a thin line of Red Ink, thereby clearly defining them. In other Atlases, railroads are printed in black ink which makes it difficult to distinguish them from river and boundary lines.

Mountain Ranges are shown in Brown Ink, making it easier to distinguish the towns in the mountain regions than if printed in black.

The Maps are 8½ x 10¾ inches in size.

The handy size of the volume fits it for a bookcase and the library table; it may be carried in a grip which opens a wide use for an Atlas for business men and travelers. The Atlas closed measures only 7 x 9½ inches. A full size map, such as is found in an Atlas that measures twice the size, is presented in the open book which measures 14 x 9½ inches.

A Gazetteer of the countries, of leading cities of the world, with their locations on the maps.

THE COMPLETE BOOK OF ETIQUETTE

The Complete Book of Etiquette may be distinguished from other books of a like nature by its angle of approach. The scope of the book includes the entire lifetime of the individual, whether it be passed in the simpler activities of the country or in the more exacting complexities of the great city. This book contains everything that is contained in any other book on the subject. Many subjects will be found treated of in The Complete Book of Etiquette to which other compendiums of social behavior give scant attention, if any. Among these might be cited, The Business Woman as an Executive; The Independent Business Woman; The "Teen-Age" Boy or Girl; Life in a Hotel; Maid Service for the Business Couple; Jewish and Catholic Wedding Customs; and a host of others. This book is handsomely bound in Blue Cloth, with gold stamping. The illustrations are from photographs arranged especially for this book by Gabrielle Rosiere. Contains 568 pages. Size 6 x 9 inches. This book is more complete and less expensive than any other book of a like nature. Price.....Net $2.50

INTERNATIONAL HANDBOOKS OF PRACTICAL INFORMATION

SUCCESS today comes first to those who are best prepared to take advantage of all opportunities as they offer, and to those who have the best practical education. To keep up with the race of events, we must possess the necessary means of progress, and of those means the best are books—books of reference, of information, of ways and means, of facts and figures.

THE INTERNATIONAL HANDBOOKS OF PRACTICAL INFORMATION supply this need. They are veritable encyclopedias of the subjects of which they treat. They offer to every man one or more books of invaluable assistance in connection with his own work and are a constant source of reliable and useful information on subjects in which he is interested. Their use in the home, office and shop will save many a dollar.

MODERN SCHOLARSHIP HAS MADE THIS THE ONE DICTIONARY BEST FITTED FOR PRESENT DAY USE IN

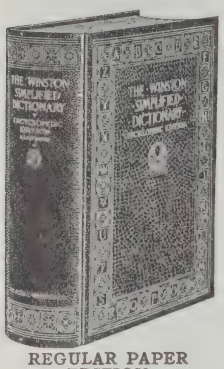
HOME, SCHOOL AND OFFICE

THE WINSTON SIMPLIFIED DICTIONARY



REGULAR PAPER EDITION

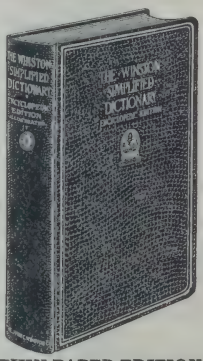
ENCYCLOPEDIC EDITION

DEFINES EVERY WORD SO THAT ITS USE AND MEANING CAN BE INSTANTLY UNDERSTOOD

——Edited by——

WILLIAM DODGE LEWIS, Pd.D., Litt.D., HENRY SEIDEL CANBY, Ph.D., and THOMAS KITE BROWN, Jr., Ph.D.

The objectives in this new work have been ease of reference, simplicity, completeness, and accuracy of definitions, and the highest scholarship. It will substantiate its claims to the following features:



THIN PAPER EDITION

A COMPLETE and THOROUGHLY MODERN WORD LIST

The word or phrase you want is in the book

LARGE, CLEAR TYPE FOR EACH VOCABULARY ENTRY

The word is strikingly easy to find on the page

SIMPLICITY OF DEFINITION

When the word is found, its meaning is immediately clear

DEFINITIONS OF SCHOLARLY ACCURACY

The meanings as given are correct and authoritative. Accuracy is not sacrificed for simplicity

DIRECTNESS OF PRESENTATION: ONE REFERENCE ENOUGH

The information you want is given where you look for it. If you look up kalsomine you find a definition—not merely a reference to calcimine, the preferred form

ETYMOLOGICAL INFORMATION FOR EVERY WORD

If the etymology is known, it is given; if it is unknown, this fact is stated. No etymology is ignored

LITERARY, BIBLICAL, AND MYTHOLOGICAL REFERENCES

FREQUENT LISTS OF SYNONYMS AND ANTONYMS

THREE THOUSAND TEXT ILLUSTRATIONS

EIGHT FULL-PAGE ILLUSTRATIONS IN COLOR

In brief, a reference work which in itself is a compelling argument for the establishment and maintenance of the dictionary habit as a means of continuous education and self-culture.

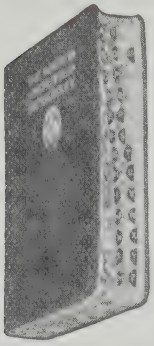
A Modern Work — Comprehensive in Its Scope

THE WINSTON SIMPLIFIED DICTIONARY

COMPREHENSIVE EDITION



FLEXIBLE LEATHER
STYLE No. 25

Including ALL THE WORDS IN COMMON USE

Defined so that they can be Easily Understood

Edited by WILLIAM DODGE LEWIS, A.M., Pd.D.
Formerly Deputy Superintendent of Public Instruction, State of Pennsylvania, and EDGAR A. SINGER, Ph.D.
Professor of Philosophy, University of Pennsylvania
Assisted by a Corps of Experienced Teachers

WITH OVER 900 ILLUSTRATIONS IN THE TEXT AND EIGHT FULL-PAGE COLOR PLATES

Clear and Easily Understood Definitions

THE WINSTON SIMPLIFIED DICTIONARY makes every entry clear, and explains every word in such simple language that only a single reference will be needed. Even in closely related words like the noun "transmission," and the verb "transmit," each definition is complete in itself. No word is defined in terms of itself.

Represents Careful Scholarship

An extraordinary amount of the most careful and original work has been given to this book by experienced scholars and experts. New kinds of material have been introduced; new methods of clarifying meanings discovered; and the entire book harmonized. THE WINSTON SIMPLIFIED DICTIONARY represents CAREFUL SCHOLARSHIP AND WIDE EXPERIENCE, such as has not been given to any dictionary of like purpose previously published.

A Large and Carefully Selected Vocabulary of Over 50,000 Words

Each set out in bold type to catch the untrained eye, and each defined in terms easy to understand. It will be found useful in home, school and office.

A Contribution to Shakespeariana that is

A DISTINCTIVE MECHANICAL and SCHOLARLY ACHIEVEMENT

THE "LOSEY" EDITION OF THE DRAMATIC AND POETIC WORKS OF Shakespeare

COMPLETE IN ONE VOLUME

With Introduction, Biography, Glossary and Index to Characters, and an Interpretation to Each Play

By FREDERICK D. LOSEY, A.M. (Harvard)

Shakespearean Scholar and Lecturer

Formerly Professor of Rhetoric and Public Speaking, Syracuse University

The problems we are facing today are essentially the same that Shakespeare saw and incorporated in the structure of his plays—problems of peace and war, of national sovereignty and ethics, of education and authority, of the frankness of youth. In many instances, new light has been thrown on the plays, sometimes to the point of changing their entire significance by the new emphasis which new conditions have thrown on old problems.

THE "LOSEY" EDITION

It is the only edition that presents before each play a complete new interpretation.

The basic text has been selected from Delius which in the opinion of Sir Sidney Lee is "formed on sound critical principles and is to be trusted thoroughly."

All the plays, poems and sonnets are included in this one handy size volume.

The Losey Edition has been prepared in the belief that world events of the past ten years have rendered almost imperative a re-valuation of Shakespeare's plays.

Professor Losey is a leading Shakespearean scholar, and his interpretations can be regarded as authoritative.

The "Losey" Edition has been compiled with such care that it will be found the most suitable edition for School and the Home, for Dramatic and Literary Societies, as a Gift for the Holidays, Commencements, Birthdays or other occasions. The several styles of handsome bindings permit a wide choice for every purpose.

The complete volume measures 5½ x 8 inches, and contains 1332 pages, with Frontispiece in Colors from the famous "Chandos" Portrait.

SCHOLARSHIP

The tens of thousands of people who have heard Losey's interpretation of Shakespeare's plays will need no further evidence of his pre-eminent qualifications as editor of the world's greatest drama.

In his interpretations to Shakespeare's Plays and Poems in this volume, Professor Losey has condensed as thorough a knowledge of the subject as is possessed by any living man. He makes Shakespeare an interpreter of life today and holds the mirror of the world's greatest mind up to our human follies, foibles and problems. In this reflection we see how little life has changed from the days of Queen Elizabeth to those of Calvin Coolidge.

RUBAIYAT OF OMAR KHAYYAM

EDWARD FITZGERALD

The Most Valuable and Beautiful Edition of this Famous Classic Published.

Rendered into English. Containing the first and fourth editions, and an essay "Omar Khayyam, the Astronomer Poet of Persia" by the translator. While the first and fourth editions of Fitzgerald's Rubaiyat are universally conceded by Students of Oriental Literature to be the best, there are additional features which will recommend this edition to the reader. These are Talcott Williams' "Omar—Foreword and Fore-plea." (Mr. Williams was formerly director of the School of Journalism, Columbia University.) Biographical Preface, by Michael Kearney, "Omar Khayyam's Grave," by William Simpson, and "A Rose from Omar's Tomb," by Edmund Gosse. This edition is illustrated with photogravures and decorative title page. Printed in antique type on deckle-edge laid paper. Square 16mo.

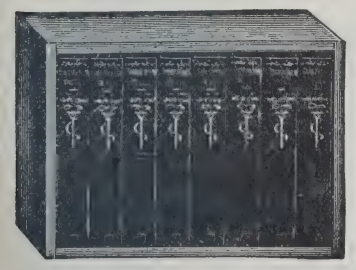
SHAKESPEARE'S COMPLETE WORKS



FALSTAFF EDITION—ILLUSTRATED

Edited by GEORGE LONG DUYCKINCK, with a full and comprehensive Life of Shakespeare by J. PAYNE COLLIER, A.M. Illustrated with 32 portraits of famous actors and actresses whose names are linked with Shakespearean productions

This set of Shakespeare combines neatness with serviceability. The books are small, but stoutly as well as handsomely bound.

As well as the plays and poems of Shakespeare, there is an entertaining history of the English stage and drama to the time of the master playwright; a backward glance revealing simplicity of stage settings without any of the mechanical facilities that mean so much to the modern stage manager. Also there is a vivid word-picture of the life of Shakespeare himself.

Grace Before Meals

William Nyce and Hubert Bunyea

Brief prayers for every day in the year collected from many sources and arranged. Additional forms for national feast days, so that the monotony of repetition of a single form of grace each day is happily avoided. It also provides a method by which the several members of the family, including the children, can alternate in saying grace by reading the prayer for the day. The book is printed from handsome black type, is attractive in appearance, and will appeal to all persons who customarily say grace before meals, as well as to those who do not make a practice of saying grace, and it is hoped to many who have not been accustomed to this beautiful and simple form of devotion. 16mo. in size.

MARY FRANCES STORY-INSTRUCTION BOOKS

FOR TEACHING CHILDREN USEFUL THINGS IN AN ENTERTAINING WAY

By Jane Eayre Fryer

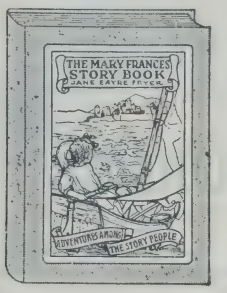
1 THE MARY FRANCES COOK BOOK

This winsome book tells in story form how Mary Frances learned to cook. It gives the recipes in the simplest, plainest words. It describes every operation clearly—just what she did, the mistakes she made (mistakes other little girls are apt to make at first) and how she learned to overcome them. Size 7 x 9½ inches; 175 pages. Bound in Cloth, with attractive cover design, colored frontispiece and colored decorations on every page. Price.....Net $1.00

2 THE MARY FRANCES SEWING BOOK

The story of how the Thimble People taught Mary Frances to sew is as quaint and delightful a story as ever appealed to a child's imagination. It leads the reader irresistibly on to learn what Mary Frances learned, and to find out all the amusing experiences which she had with these comical little elves. Size 7 x 9½ inches; 320 pages. Bound in Cloth, with attractive cover design, colored frontispiece, and colored decorations on every page. Price.....Net $1.50

3 THE MARY FRANCES STORY BOOK



The Mary Frances Story Book is all story, including stories of humor and fun, of courage and perseverance, of kindness and generosity, of service and reward, of fair play and good manners, of home and country. Profusely illustrated, including many full-page plates in colors. Size 7 x 9½ inches; 320 pages. Bound in Cloth, with attractive cover design.
Price.....Net $2.00

4 THE MARY FRANCES HOUSEKEEPER

In the most skilful manner, the story takes advantage of the natural childish instinct to "play house," through the medium of the delightful story of Mary Frances' experience in teaching her dolls to keep house. Size 7 x 9½ inches, 280 pages. Bound in Cloth, with attractive cover design, colored frontispiece, and colored decoration on every page.
Price.....Net $2.00

5 THE MARY FRANCES KNITTING AND CROCHETING BOOK

Here is the fascinating story of how little Mary Frances took her first lesson in crocheting and knitting, and from this advanced to deserve recognition as an expert. The first steps were making things for dollies, but after a girl has learned to crochet and knit for the dollies it is "as easy as A-B-C" to crochet and knit for real people. Size 7 x 9½ inches; 270 pages. Bound in Cloth, with attractive cover design.
Price.....Net $2.00

6 THE MARY FRANCES GARDEN BOOK

The Mary Frances Garden Book actually teaches children how to grow all their favorite flowers and vegetables—how to prepare the soil, how to plant the seeds, how to plant bulbs, how to guard against insect enemies, how to care for growing plants, etc. Size 7 x 9½ inches; 378 pages. Bound in Cloth, with attractive cover design. Price, Net $2.00

7 THE MARY FRANCES FIRST AID BOOK

The Mary Frances First Aid Book aims to interest children in story form what to do in case of accident or sudden illness, and teaches the value of presence of mind in accidents or emergencies in and outside the home. Bound in Cloth; attractive and practically illustrated.

NOTE—THE WINGS OF THE MORNING, by Louis Tracy, is an important addition to this remarkable series. It is a special edition with twelve illustrations by Mead Schaeffer, end papers and illuminated title page. Over 500,000 copies of this famous book have been sold. William Lyons Phelps in "As I like it" in Scribner's Magazine says; "I have often been asked this question: What is the most exciting story you have ever read? The answer is not difficult. I have been thrilled by 'The Three Musketeers,' and 'Treasure Island,' but the most exciting story I have ever read is 'The Wings of the Morning,' by Louis Tracy. It opens with a shipwreck, and from the first word on the first chapter to the last word on the book's last page it never lags or sags."

Bound in Fine Cloth, with attractive cover design stamped in gold, and with a beautiful colored inlay. Price per volume.....$1.75

THE BOY'S BOOK OF COURAGE

By HERMANN HAGEDORN

This is a book of adventures stranger than fiction—life stories of men and women who in various ages of the world's history have faced fearful odds, demanding the highest type of courage.

FROM SOCRATES TO LINDBERGH

From the far past are stories of the courage of Socrates and Hannibal and Savonarola. Coming to the pioneer days of America, there are stories of Daniel Boone and others. The statesmen and soldiers have their places—Lincoln and Lee and Roosevelt and General Gordon, and hosts of others. The book is carried down to those modern heroes, Lawrence of Arabia and the unmatchable Lindbergh. The one quality that a boy admires more than any other is the quality of courage. Here are inspiring examples of high courage, told with fine narrative power.

FIVE GOING ON SIX

By ABRAM B. ROSS

A book of rhymes for the child of today. Here is the same real spirit of childhood that you find in the nursery rhymes of olden times. But here they fit the modern child, for this boy of FIVE—GOING ON SIX rides in automobiles and does lots of things that were never dreamed of in the Mother Goose days. This little fellow sings his way in the most delightful fashion. There is a captivating quality about the verses that you can't resist. They are the kind that any mother can make a song for, without the least trouble. Here is one:

Hey! Mister Bob o'Link,
You look very happy,
Sitting on a weed stalk,
Swinging all around.

It almost sings itself. Then there are pictures—many, many of them; and they are so attractive that the children will spend hours with them.

FAIRY TALE AND FOLK LORE SERIES

In new dress, and with pictures that are a delight to the eye, this series of Fairy Tales and Folk Lore contains many of the older and more familiar tales, and some of equal interest but not so widely known. The East is the LAND OF MYSTERY, and there is a wealth of mystery in the Folk Tales from the Far East (No. 5 of the Series), as well as in the Wonder Book of Myths and Legends (No. 6), and Fairy Tales of Many Lands (No. 7). As long as the child spirit survives, the Mother Goose rhymes will abide; the same may be said of Grimm and Andersen and the many stories included in the volume of Favorite Fairy Tales. It is a complete library for little folks.

TREASURE ISLAND AND KIDNAPPED

By ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON

Size 7 x 9½ inches

COMPLETE IN ONE VOLUME

These two great tales by Robert Louis Stevenson are his masterpieces of adventure. Of all his works these are by far the most popular and have, therefore, been included in one volume that will be eagerly read.

TREASURE ISLAND Probably no book ever written by Stevenson has had the widespread popularity of "TREASURE ISLAND." It is a thrilling tale of pirates, written in the finest English and a story that you cannot leave until you finish. This story has maintained its popularity and proved itself an inspiration and a delight to hundreds of thousands of boys and girls.

KIDNAPPED In his own opinion this was Stevenson's best work; and it is generally regarded as one of his finest performances in romantic story-telling. It tells of the adventures of Robert Balfour; how he was kidnapped and castaway; his sufferings on a desert isle; his journey in the wild highlands; and many other happenings that grip the attention of the reader.

EIGHT COLORED ILLUSTRATIONS

This volume is printed on extra quality, smooth finish paper from larger, clearer type than any edition of Stevenson published. The volume comprises 652 pages and eight (8) colored plates and twenty (20) black and white illustrations drawn by Frank Godwin.
The cover is beautifully stamped in gold, with an attractive colored inlay. Octavo. Extra Cloth. 652 pages. Illustrated. Boxed. PRICE ..... Net $2.50

MOTHER GOOSE COMPLETE

AND ALL THE

FAVORITE FAIRY TALES

500 PAGES AND 400 PICTURES
SIXTEEN PLATES IN COLORS

This beautiful big book will delight every child. It has all the favorite old fairy tales, told in simple language, with numerous pictures, and all the old nursery rhymes, as they are told today, with a picture on every page. It is really two big books in one large handsome volume.

PART ONE, MOTHER GOOSE, contains all the favorite rhymes. Many otherwise attractive editions give unfamiliar versions of these old favorites or present them in a form altered at the fancy of the editor. A sincere effort has been made in this book to give the best known and most popular form of each verse.

PART TWO, FAVORITE FAIRY TALES, contains the fairy stories that children love best, told in simple language and lavishly illustrated. It contains probably more illustrations than any other similar book for young folks.

The complete volume is 7 x 9½ inches in size, contains 512 octavo pages, sixteen colored plates, 400 text illustrations. Price.. ..... Net $2.00

AN INSPIRING BOOK FOR YOUNG AND OLD

THE TEN DREAMS OF ZACH PETERS

and How They Led Him Through the Constitution of the United States

By HERMANN HAGEDORN

Author of "Boy's Life of Theodore Roosevelt," "You Are the Hope of the World," etc.

Here is a book for boys and girls, but so appealing that grown-ups who read one dream can't resist reading the entire ten. It's interesting, impelling, and illuminating. Just imagine a boy and his dog taking active parts at the signing of the Magna Charta, then, Zach, himself, taking the oath of President—well, briefly—anyone who reads this book really understands the supreme law of the land. Wood's Popular Natural History

By REV. J. G. WOOD

Widely known for his popular lectures on natural history, Dr. Wood prepared a number of books on zoology which have been accepted as the most informative of their kind. He wrote this POPULAR NATURAL HISTORY mainly for young people, but it will be found full of interest for people of all ages. It is comprehensive, easily understood, and free from certain conventional errors which have been handed down from one author to another. In addition, there are hundreds of illustrations of animals, birds, fishes and insects. A book to be prized by young and old. Bound in Fine Cloth, Illustrated, with attractive cover design. Price, Net $2.00

WINSTON'S CLEAR-TYPE POPULAR CLASSICS

IDEAL FOR LIBRARY AND SCHOOL USE

CAREFULLY EDITED

This series comprises titles mainly juvenile, the reading of which are almost a necessary part of everyone's education in literature.

The volumes have been carefully edited and in some of the books where it is necessary to preserve the original text, explanatory notes are given to make the meaning clear.

TYPE AND ILLUSTRATIONS

Two features make this series stand forth in comparison with any other editions and make the books especially attractive to young readers:

1 Clear, Easily Read Type. The type is large in size and of an open character that makes for easy reading.

2 Illustrations. Original illustrations in color and black and white have been drawn by well-known artists to interpret the text. Their attractiveness will create a desire to know and read the stories.

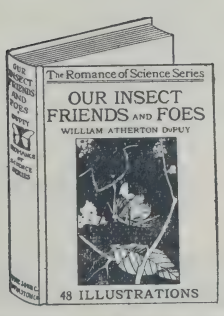
THE ROMANCE OF SCIENCE SERIES

By WILLIAM ATHERTON DuPUY



DO YOU KNOW

That male mosquitoes do not bite?
What is the best known bird in the world?
That the ancestor of the horse lived in trees?

EACH STORY A ROMANCE

Each chapter is a complete story of an insect, bird, or animal. In OUR INSECT FRIENDS AND FOES there are twenty-three chapters which tell about such insects as the grasshopper, the milkweed butterfly, the praying mantis, the silkworm, and the mosquito. The second book, OUR BIRD FRIENDS AND FOES, contains twenty-four chapters, and tells about the mocking bird, the nighthawk, the American robin, the crow, the woodpecker, and many other feathered friends and foes. OUR ANIMAL FRIENDS AND FOES is also a collection of unusual stories. The author writes about the shark, the cow, the whale, the opossum, the elephant, in all, twenty animals, and has dealt with them in relation to the world community. These stories are all scientifically accurate, having been checked by authorities on the subjects and against government statistics.

ORIGINAL ILLUSTRATIONS—Each volume contains over forty black and white illustrations made especially for this series and there is at least one full-page illustration in color in each book. Printed in large, clear type. Size 5⅝ x 7½ inches. Durably bound in Cloth.

1 OUR INSECT FRIENDS AND FOES

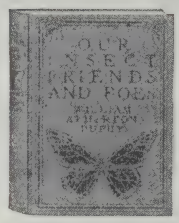
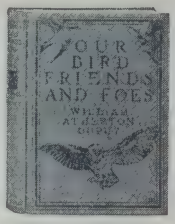
These immortal classics were prepared as supplementary readers because teachers everywhere expressed a wish for books with a continuous story or containing stories with the same theme throughout.

Each book is printed in large, clear type, is beautifully illustrated in color and has an attractive and durable binding. None of these books resembles a textbook. The prices of these books are very low — a factor of importance made possible by unexcelled manufacturing facilities. In addition to their use as supplementary readers, these books are widely used for school Libraries, Reading Circles, and wherever there is a desire to instil a love for good literature.



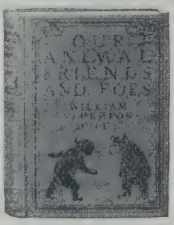


ROMANCE OF SCIENCE SERIES
William Atherton DuPuy.

Our Insect Friends and Foes $0.80
23 stories, 48 illustrations.

Our Bird Friends and Foes ..... .80
24 stories, 48 illustrations.

Our Animal Friends and Foes ..... .80
20 stories, 38 illustrations.
For grades five to nine.

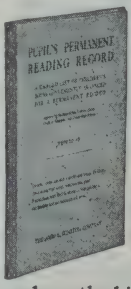


The acceptance of these supplementary readers was immediate. The books are not meant to be scientific treatises but rather are fascinating stories which show the relationship that exists between insects, birds, and animals and man. Each chapter in each book is a complete story of an insect, bird or animal—an enthralling romance of some member of the animal kingdom. The accuracy of all stories has been verified by the most prominent authorities.

There are many illustrations in black and white and each book has a frontispiece in color.

PUPIL'S PERMANENT READING RECORD $0.36

Ellen F. Chamberlayne, Librarian, Binghamton High School.
Inez M. Ahles, Director of English, Binghamton, N. Y.



A graded list of children's books conveniently arranged for a permanent record. It is an invaluable aid to teachers and parents in the intelligent selection of suitable books for each child.

This Permanent Reading Record not only stimulates the child to read but induces him to read worthwhile books, thus laying the foundation for an appreciation of good literature.

CIVICS

OUR COMMUNITY $0.90
Upper grammar school, Junior High School or first year High School.
Samuel H. Ziegler, East End High School, Cleveland, Ohio.
Helen Jaquette, Frankford High School, Philadelphia.

This book deals with problems of life in the daily experiences of boys and girls in cities and towns. It aims to develop a spirit of coöperation in the community life and a keener realization of the privilege and dignity of citizenship. The subject matter is interesting and is combined with instructive illustrations. Questions for discussion and investigation are given at the end of each chapter.

OUR NEIGHBORHOOD..... $0.90

John F. Smith, Professor of Social Science, Berea College Academy, Berea, Kentucky.

The author of this book has dealt with problems of country life for many years. He has prepared this text as a handbook on citizens' duties for the children in the country.

OUR COMMUNITY LIFE..... $1.48

Clyde L. King, Professor of Political Science, University of Pennsylvania, sometime Secretary of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

J. Lynn Barnard, Director of Social Studies, Department of Public Instruction, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

A new book for Junior High School grades and the first year of the four-year Senior High School that is a departure from the traditional "civil government." Its goal is doing and not simply knowing. It maintains that information is valuable in matters that pertain to civic affairs only in so far as it incites to active good citizenship. Suggestions for committee and class activities, and class discussions, accomplish this end.

CITIZENSHIP IN PHILADELPHIA (Revised)..... $1.20

J. Lynn Barnard, Ph.D., Director of Social Studies, Department of Public Instruction, State of Pennsylvania.

Jessie C. Evans, A.M., William Penn High School, Philadelphia.

CITIZENSHIP IN BOSTON..... $1.28

Joseph B. Egan, Leonard M. Patton, and Paul Cloues.

THE TEN DREAMS OF ZACH PETERS. $0.88

Hermann Hagedorn, Editor collected works of Theodore Roosevelt, Author "Roosevelt in the Bad Lands," "The Boy's Life of Theodore Roosevelt," "You Are the Hope of the World," etc.

Zach Peters, like many other boys and girls, read the Constitution but did not understand it. Then he and his bull pup went through a series of exciting and amazing dream experiences. Then even the pup understood. A civics reader that will appeal to every pupil.

ENGLISH LANGUAGE AND GRAMMAR

ENGLISH FOR USE

John H. Beveridge, A.M., Pd.D., Superintendent of Schools, Omaha, Nebraska.

Book II—Fifth and sixth grades.....	.80
Book III—Seventh and eighth grades.....	.88

Six-Book Edition—

Book I—Part 1..	$0.52	Book II—Part 2.	$0.56
Book I—Part 2..	.52	Book III—Part 1	.60
Book II—Part 1.	.56	Book III—Part 2	.60

A practical, unique series which aims to fulfil its title in every respect.

It establishes the "sentence sense" which English teachers agree is the key to the English problem. It emphasizes practical usage with a large amount of drill.

The material appeals to children through subjects that interest them—biography, history, boy and girl scouting, health games, and so on. No other books pay so much attention to correct pronunciation and clear-cut enunciation. They offer more oral work, systematically arranged, than any other textbooks in language.

Among the methods used are completion tests, true and false tests, dictionary drills, and the socialized recitation.

BETTER ENGLISH FOR SPEAKING AND WRITING

Sarah E. Simons, Clem Irwin Orr, and Mary Ella Given, of Washington, D. C.

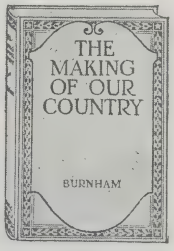
A series of three books.

Book I—Third and fourth grades.....	$0.76
Book II—Fifth and sixth grades.....	.80
Book III—Seventh and eighth grades.....	.88

The aim of this series is expressed in the title. It teaches grammar by means of interesting subject material and the formation of correct habits of speech through actual, continued practice.

It insures the acquisition of an adequate and effective vocabulary, and pupils are taught to know and intelligently use words of differently shaded meanings.

HISTORY



THE BURNHAM HISTORY SERIES

A series of three books.

By Smith Burnham, Head of Department of History, Western State Normal School, Kalamazoo, Michigan.

Hero Tales from History..... $0.90
Fourth and fifth grades.

Hero Tales from History meets the requirements of modern courses of study which provide that the pupil in the fourth or fifth grade shall be made acquainted with the heroic lives and valiant deeds of the greatest men of all time. The stories are told in clear and simple language and form a splendid approach for the later and more formal study of history.

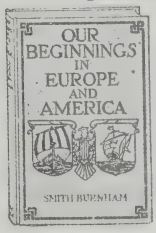
Our Beginnings in Europe and America... $0.96
Sixth grade.



This text prepares the child for an intelligent study of the history of our own country by showing him how our civilization developed in the Old World and how it spread to the New. The book is in harmony with modern courses of study, and fulfils the recommendations of the Committee of Eight.

The Making of Our Country $1.68
Seventh and eighth grades.

Two-Part Edition—
Part I..... 1.00
Part II..... 1.00

The Making of Our Country is a history of the United States from the new point of view gained by our greater participation in world affairs. It is illustrated with reproductions in color of historical paintings by J. L. G. Ferris. The Making of Our Country treats all sections of our country adequately and by its logical arrangement, the pupil is given a clear impression of the continuous growth and progress of the nation. Especial emphasis has been placed on the development of the United States during the last sixty years.

History of the United States for Schools.. $1.68
Seventh and eighth grades.

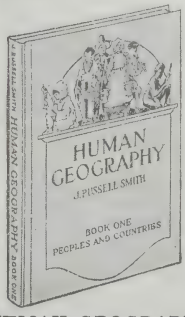
By Smith Burnham and William K. Boyd, A.M., Ph.D., Professor of History, Duke College, Durham, North Carolina.

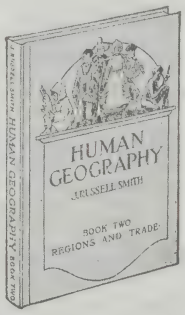
GEOGRAPHY

HOME FOLKS..... $1.16

J. Russell Smith, Ph.D., Professor of Economic Geography, Columbia University.

This book presents a new way to begin the study of geography. It is written in delightful story form but is a real introduction to the more formal study of geography. Many teachers may be interested in beginning with home geography. Those who wish to do so can use this book as the means of studying the home locality. Home Folks is a book of visual education. It contains more illustrations than any other book of similar purpose.





HUMAN GEOGRAPHY

J. Russell Smith, Ph.D., Professor of Economic Geography, Columbia University.

Book I. Peoples and Countries..... $1.36
Fourth, fifth and sixth grades.

Two-part Edition of Book I—

Second Part..... 1.04
Teacher's Manual, Book II..... .40

State Supplements: Colorado, Illinois, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, New York, Book I, New York, Book II, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, South and North Dakota, Washington, Wisconsin. Each..... .20

Human Geography differs from the older textbooks in that the various phases of the study are centered around man. It tells about physiography as it affects man; about zoölogy as animals are serviceable or dangerous to man; about botany as plants are of importance to man, and so on. Industry and commerce are treated as part of the study of the life of man as he interprets his environment upon the earth which is his home. Interest is the key-note. The pupil is interested, is shown cause and effect, and retains what he reads.

The style in which the books are written is easy and natural. The maps set a new high standard for geography textbooks. The illustrations, many of which were photographed and drawn especially for this series, are of immense teaching value.

Reference Books and Supplementary Readings..... $0.60

Prepared by the Youngstown Public Library.

A geography bibliography based on Human Geography and arranged according to chapter sequence. Specific references are made to author, title and page.

SPELLING

THE SPELL-TO-WRITE SPELLING BOOKS

Ambrose L. Suhrie, Ph.D., Professor of Normal School Education, School of Education, New York University.
Robert Philip Koehler, A.B.

Book I—First and second grades..... $0.40
Book II—Third and fourth grades..... .40
Book III—Fifth and sixth grades..... .40
Book IV—Seventh and eighth grades..... .40

Two-Book Edition—
Books I-II, years 1 to 4..... .60
Books III-IV, years 5 to 8..... .60
Manual..... 1.00

In The Spell-to-Write Spelling Books the aim is to teach the words commonly used in writing. Every pupil is trained in a method of learning to spell additional words which he comes to need in writing, either while in school or after leaving school.

It is the only spelling series which fully meets the standard set up by the American Child Hygiene Association for size of type; which has a comprehensive plan for the coördination of picture illustration with the development of the writing vocabulary; which provides a "spelling pocket" for the individual review of misspelled words.

The Manual for Teachers presents (1) a simple statement of the principles of teaching which may be applied in preventing and in correcting faulty spelling; (2) a method for teaching spelling in the several grades, and (3) definite help in the teaching of words which present special difficulties.

VOCATIONAL GUIDANCE

CHOOSING AN OCCUPATION..... $1.20

Samuel H. Ziegler, East End High School, Cleveland, Ohio.
Helen Jaquette, Frankford High School, Philadelphia.

Vocational guidance is now a part of the curriculum in all progressive schools. This book meets the demand for a general survey of occupations.

The discussions of the various occupations give sufficient detail to arouse the interest of the pupil and thus stimulate him to further reading about occupations which appeal to his particular proclivities.

HIGH SCHOOL ENGLISH

THE MASTERY OF ENGLISH

Robert F. Allen, Master, Head of English Department, East Boston High School, Boston, Mass.
Emma Bates Harvey, Master's Assistant, English, U. S. Grant School, Boston, Mass.

Book I..... $1.48
Book II..... 1.48
Teacher's Manual, Book I..... .20

This series offers a rare combination of fresh, interesting material and original method. The authors have shown a keen knowledge of the students to be dealt with. They have solved the problem of motivation by offering novelty in method and activity to stimulate interest.

This series is the first to cover the requirements of both the Junior and Senior High School, in which each of the books has been suitably adapted to grades for which it is designed. There is no sameness about Books I and II in tone, in content, or in treatment. Book I leads the pupil sympathetically on. Book II puts the problem squarely up to him. The contrast is sharp and stimulating.

There are illustrations in color in each book.

GRAMMAR TO USE..... $0.72

William D. Lewis, Pd.D., formerly Deputy Superintendent of Public Instruction, State of Pennsylvania.

Helen Lynch, Teacher of English, William Penn High School, Philadelphia.

Grammar to Use presents the fundamental principles of English grammar with a simplicity of explanation hitherto unknown. It makes the pupil realize that he is dealing with sensible classifications which he can intelligently use in his daily writing and speaking. It actually makes grammar interesting to him. Grammar for use in expression rather than for mere theoretical knowledge is the aim of this text.

Idylls of the King..... $0.72

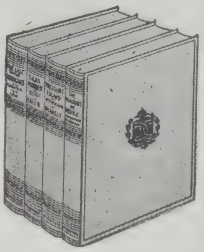
Edited by Robert F. Allen, Master, East Boston H. S., Boston, Mass.



The Winston Companion Classics set a new standard for English classics to be read in the High School course. A noteworthy feature of each is the Introduction which deals with motives, settings, characters, plot and such other details as will truly prepare the pupil to read with understanding and to appreciate the art which has made these books classics.

Not only are they unusually well edited, but they are beautiful in appearance and a delight to handle. Their size is that of the customary pocket edition.

SHAKESPEARE'S COMPLETE WORKS $2.40

Single volume edition.

With Interpretations by Frederick D. Losey, A.M., Shakespearean Lecturer and formerly Professor of Rhetoric and Public Speaking at Syracuse University.

The complete dramatic and poetic works of William Shakespeare. Professor Losey has written masterful interpretations which precede the plays. In many instances a new light has been thrown on a play by Professor Losey's skillful, authoritative interpretation of it.

This edition offers larger, clearer, more easily read type, in a smaller book, than any other single volume complete edition of Shakespeare.

many of them in color to conform with the standard forms in regular use, and many self-teaching pictures; a summary of each chapter by questions, problems and topics for investigation; noteworthy appendixes devoted to Business Arithmetic, abbreviations used in business, and an extensive busines vocabulary.

The Business Forms used with the text contain the material for business practice, enabling the pupil to gain knowledge of and skill in handling the standard forms used in business today.

BUSINESS FORMS AND CUSTOMS FOR EVERYDAY USE..... $1.20

BUDGET OF EXERCISES AND REVIEW QUESTIONS..... .40

L. H. Cadwallader, Ph.D., Head of Department of Commerce, South Philadelphia High School for Girls.

For both Academic and Commercial courses.

A textbook on the elements of business, containing information on general business customs and practices. This is business information every pupil should have regardless of the course in which he is specializing.

It includes chapters on personality, correspondence, filing, banking, shipping, insurance, and so on, and is illustrated with the most modern business forms.

PRACTICAL EXERCISES IN FILING.. $1.68

L. H. Cadwallader, Ph.D.

This set provides the concrete material necessary for teaching and developing a knowledge of elementary filing. The material consists of two hundred 3 x 5 cards for filing and three sets of guide cards. A filing box is included.

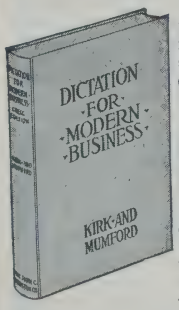
DICTATION FOR MODERN BUSINESS

Three Editions—

Benn Pitman..... $1.40
Isaac Pitman..... 1.40
Gregg..... 1.40
Teacher's Edition..... .40

John G. Kirk, Ph.B., M.C.S., Director of Commercial Education, Philadelphia.

George E. Mumford, B.S., Head of Commercial Department, Frankford Evening High School.



A new book built on a new plan. Contains up-to-date material and develops a strictly modern business vocabulary.

It has ninety-two articles which are taken from many sources which are all new and inspirational. There are over seven hundred letters which have been selected not only to reproduce actual business conditions, but also to provide the student with the very best models for study and imitation. They supply the most approved style illustrations and provide a much needed drill in punctuation and arrangement. The Appendixes comprise a most valuable handbook for reference in an emergency.

MATHEMATICS

FIRST COURSE IN ALGEBRA..... $1.36

Fred Engelhardt, Ph.D., Professor of Education, University of Minnesota. Formerly of the State Department of Education of New York and the State Department of Public Instruction of Pennsylvania.

Leonard D. Haertter, M.A., Head of the Mathematics Department, John Burroughs School, St. Louis, Missouri. Formerly Head of the Mathematics Department, University High School, University of Minnesota.

A new book which meets all the recommendations of the National Committee on the Reorganization of Mathematics.

The work set forth in this text has been organized about the problems to be solved. Due emphasis is placed upon the relative importance of skill, speed, and accuracy in the mastery of the mathematical technique. Many of the topics are introduced by new and novel methods. Instead of the conventional pictures of mathematicians usually found in Algebra textbooks, the authors have selected pictures of the more important calculating devices that have been developed from mathematical principles, and their uses are described.

PLANE GEOMETRY..... $1.40

William W. Strader and Lawrence D. Rhoads of the Dickinson High School, Jersey City, N. J.

This text follows the new requirements of leading syllabi. The treatment is simple, clear, and rigorous; it is conservative and yet modern. A minimum course is clearly outlined. Teaching helps abound. Over 1100 geometric figures facilitate progress. The exercises are classified for sight work, special drill, diagnostic and remedial purposes, and reviews. The Oral Exercises compel thought and arouse interest. Supplementary Exercises are included for the better pupils. Other features are: real, practical applications; flexibility of course; 43 unusual illustrations; examples of the New Type of Geometry Examination. No effort or expense has been spared to make it the best of its kind.

LATIN

ELEMENTA PRIMA (Revised Edition).. $1.52

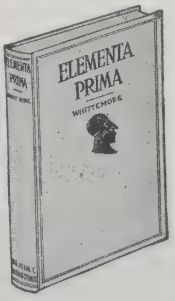
L. D. Whittemore, A.M., Litt.D., Washburn College, Topeka, Kansas.

Teacher's Manual..... .32



The most important results of the Classical Investigation are in the radical changes recommended for the teaching of elementary Latin during the first three terms. Here an entirely new order of teaching prevails, requiring the longer introductory period, more varied materials for instruction, and stronger incentives for study.

Elementa Prima is of this new order. It has the greatest wealth of material of any beginners' book now published. It meets the recommendations of the Classical Investigation in the spirit as in the letter. It is entirely adequate for the first three terms' work and requires no supplementary reader. It is Roman from beginning to end, and rich in cultural value.

MODERN LANGUAGES

THE WINSTON MODERN LANGUAGE SERIES

This series is edited by E. B. de Sauzé, A.M., Ph.D., Director of Foreign Languages, Cleveland, Ohio.

Cours Pratique de Français Pour Commençants $1.60

Cours Pratique de Français Pour Commençants Avec Transcriptions Phonétiques 1.60

E. B. de Sauzé, A.M., Ph.D.

Junior and Senior High School and first year College.

This book has the advantage of both the direct and the grammatical methods of teaching French, and avoids the weak points of each method. It presents the fundamentals of French Grammar and enough reading material is given to insure mastery of each point before jumping to the next. A French vocabulary is given that closely corresponds to the English vocabulary in common use by the pupils.

The Cleveland Plan for the Teaching of Modern Languages

(Teacher's Manual for Cours Pratique de Français) $0.40

E. B. de Sauzé, A.M., Ph.D.

Verbes Irreguliers $0.60

This is the appendix of Cours Pratique de Français, bound separately for use as an exercise book, containing twelve special lessons on the irregular verbs.

Grammaire Française $1.50

E. B. de Sauzé, A.M., Ph.D., and Harriet M. True, A.M., West Philadelphia High School for Girls.

A second year grammar to follow Cours Pratique de Français or any direct method book.

Grammaire Française contains every point of French grammar of importance to English speaking students. All the rules are formulated in such concise and precise wording that the pupil is able to grasp them at once. Two ample vocabularies, one English-French and the other French-English, help to make the book practicable.

Contes Gais $0.88

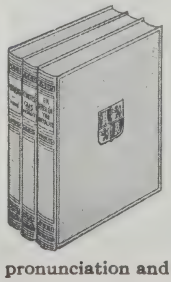
Edited by E. B. de Sauzé, A.M., Ph.D.



An interesting collection of short stories in French for elementary classes. The stories are from the original French sources, of real literary merit, and with one or two exceptions, have not previously been published in this country.

The exercises which accompany the stories provide a complete teaching equipment of questions for conversation, review of grammar, drill on pronunciation and idioms, and sentences in English for translation into French. The stories lend themselves to dramatization, and the exercises include interesting suggestions for their use in this way.

Le Voyage de M. Perrichon $0.76

Edited by Robert Fouré, Assistant Professor of French, and Helene Fouré, Instructor of French. Both of the French Department of Ohio State University.

A new and attractive edition of this popular play.

This masterpiece of Labiche can hardly be surpassed as an elementary text for classroom reading. It contains a great wealth of idiomatic French expressions which the editors have emphasized by special exercises. There are fifty pages of exercises at the end of the book which completely review the scenes of the play, the composition and transposition, and "exercises de style."

The appearance and convenient size of this book will delight the pupil, and the carefully elaborated exercises will appeal to the teacher.

Hector Malot's Romain Kalbris $0.90

Edited by George O. Lory, Professor of Romance Languages, Central High School, Detroit Junior College, Detroit, Michigan.

A first and second year French reader.

The text matter is new and interesting, containing a varied vocabulary and the choicest French idioms. The book contains a series of direct method exercises and drills which aid the pupil in gaining a real working knowledge of French.

Curso Práctico de Español Para Principiantes $1.60

G. Cherubini, A.M., Head of the Department of French and Spanish, East Technical High School, Cleveland, Ohio.

Junior and Senior High Schools and College.

The principles are the same as those underlying Cours Pratique de Français.

España y la América Española $1.40

Giovanni Terzano, A.M., Ohio University.

A first and second year Spanish reader.

The material is taken from the best Spanish literature, selected to give the student a knowledge of the spirit and ideals of Spanish-speaking countries. The selections are carefully graded and provide composition exercises and a thorough review of Spanish grammar. There is a concise biographical sketch of each author represented, written in Spanish.

Un Servilón y un Liberalito $1.00

By Fernan Caballero.

Edited by Nina L. Weisinger, Adjunct Professor, Romance Languages, University of Texas.

Second or third year High School or second year College.

An interesting, spirited, and wholesome story in Spanish, with direct-method exercises to meet the most exacting requirements.

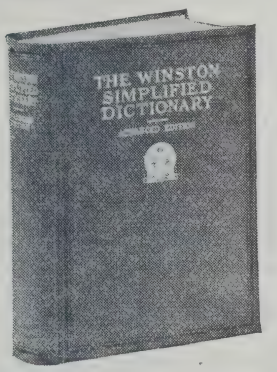
DICTIONARIES

THE WINSTON SIMPLIFIED DICTIONARIES



The Winston Simplified Dictionary is published in three editions: the Advanced, the Intermediate, and the Primary. No edition is an abridgment of another, but each is a new and original work designed especially for school or college use. The Advanced Edition is edited by William Dodge Lewis, A.M., Pd.D., formerly Deputy Superintendent of Public Instruction, State of Pennsylvania, Henry Seidel Canby, Ph.D., Department of English, Yale University, and Editor of The Saturday Review of Literature, and Thomas Kite Brown, Jr., Ph.D., philologist and lexicographer. The Intermediate and Primary Editions are edited by Dr. Lewis and Edgar A. Singer, Ph.D., Professor of Philosophy, University of Pennsylvania. The principles on which the three editions of The Winston Simplified Dictionary have been built are essentially the same for each edition. The Advanced Edition contains more words than either of the other editions, it is more fully illustrated, and has features required of a dictionary for high school or college use. In all essential respects the Primary Edition is similar to the Intermediate Edition, but is condensed to meet the demand for a lower priced book with smaller vocabulary for younger pupils. Each edition, however, has certain cardinal principles which are exclusive with The Winston Simplified Dictionary, such features as large, clear type, complete, simple definitions, pictorial and verbal illustrations, phonetic respelling and diacritical markings for pronunciation, and so on.

The Winston Simplified Dictionary

Advanced Edition..... $2.64
With Patent Thumb Index..... 2.88

Exhaustive vocabulary, 3000 black and white illustrations, 24 full-page illustrations in color, of which 16 are maps.

The Winston Simplified Dictionary

own strength: so will we sing and praise thy power.

PSALM 22.

1 David prays in great distress: 21 he promises public thanksgiving and praise.

To the chief Musician upon Ăi'e-lĕth Shā'hăr, A Psalm of Dā'vid.

MY God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me? why art thou so far from helping me, and from the words of my roaring?

2 O my God, I cry in the daytime, but thou hearest not; and in the night season, and am not silent.

3 But thou art holy, O thou that inhabitest the praises of Is'ra-el.

4 Our fathers trusted in thee: they trusted, and thou didst deliver them.

5 They cried unto thee, and were delivered: they trusted in thee, and were not confounded.

6 But I am a worm, and no man; a reproach of men, and despised of the people.

7 All they that see me laugh me to scorn: they shoot out the lip, they shake the head, saying,

8 He trusted on the LORD that he would deliver him: let him deliver him, seeing he delighted in him.

9 But thou art he that took me out of the womb: thou didst make me hope when I was upon my mother's breasts.

10 I was cast upon thee from the womb: thou art my God from my mother's belly.

11 Be not far from me; for trouble is near; for there is none to help.

12 Many bulls have compassed me: strong bulls of Bā'shăn have beset me round.

13 They gaped upon me with their mouths, as a ravening and a roaring lion.

14 I am poured out like water, and all my bones are out of joint: my heart is like wax; it is melted in the midst of my bowels.

15 My strength is dried up like a potsherd; and my tongue cleaveth to my jaws; and thou hast brought me into the dust of death.

16 For dogs have compassed me: the assembly of the wicked have inclosed me: they pierced my hands and my feet.

17 I may tell all my bones: they look and stare upon me.

18 They part my garments among them, and cast lots upon my vesture.

19 But be not thou far from me, O LORD: O my strength, haste thee to help me.

20 Deliver my soul from the sword; my darling from the power of the dog.

21 Save me from the lion's mouth: for thou hast heard me from the horns of the unicorns.

22 I will declare thy name unto my brethren: in the midst of the congregation will I praise thee.

23 Ye that fear the LORD, praise him; all ye the seed of Jā'cob, glorify him; and fear him, all ye the seed of Is'ra-el.

24 For he hath not despised nor abhorred the affliction of the afflicted; neither hath he hid his face from him; but when he cried unto him, he heard.

25 My praise shall be of thee in the great congregation: I will pay my vows before them that fear him.

26 The meek shall eat and be satisfied: they shall praise the LORD that seek him: your heart shall live for ever.

27 All the ends of the world shall remember and turn unto the LORD: and all the kindreds of the nations shall worship before thee.

28 For the kingdom is the LORD'S: and he is the governor among the nations.

29 All they that be fat upon earth shall eat and worship: all they that go down to the dust shall bow before him: and none can keep alive his own soul.

30 A seed shall serve him; it shall be accounted to the Lord for a generation.

31 They shall come, and shall declare his righteousness unto a people that shall be born, that he hath done this.

PSALM 23.

David's confidence in God's grace.

A Psalm of Dā'vid.

THE LORD is my shepherd; I shall not want.

2 He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: he leadeth me beside the still waters.

3 He restoreth my soul: he leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake.

4 Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.

5 Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over.

6 Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the LORD for ever.

PSALM 24.

1 God's lordship over the world: 3 citizens of his spiritual kingdom. 7 The Lord's solemn entrance into his sanctuary.

A Psalm of Dā'vid.

THE earth is the LORD'S, and the fulness thereof; the world, and they that dwell therein.

CHAPTER 1.

1 The genealogy of Jesus Christ: 18 Mary's miraculous conception: Jesus is born: 21, 23 his names.

THE book of the generation of Jē'sus Christ, the son of Dā'vid, the son of Ā'bra-hām.
2 Ā'bra-hām begat Ī'saac; and Ī'saac begat Jā'cob; and Jā'cob begat Jū'das and his brethren;
3 And Jū'das begat Phā'rēs and Zā'ra of Thā'mär; and Phā'rēs begat Ĕs'rom; and Ĕs'rom begat Ā'rām;
4 And Ā'rām begat Ă-mĭn'a-dăb; and Ă-mĭn'a-dăb begat Nā'as-son; and Nā'as-son begat Săl'mŏn;
5 And Săl'mŏn begat Bŏ'ŏz of Rā'chăb; and Bŏ'ŏz begat Ō'bed of Ruth; and Ō'bed begat Jĕs'se;
6 And Jĕs'se begat Dā'vid the king; and Dā'vid the king begat Sŏl'o-mon was on this wise: When as his mother Mā'rў was espoused to Jō'seph, before they came together, she was found with child of the Hō'lў Ghŏst.
19 Then Jō'seph her husband, being a just man, and not willing to make her a publick example, was minded to put her away privily.
20 But while he thought on these things, behold, the angel of the Lord appeared unto him in a dream, saying, Jō'seph, thou son of Dā'vid, fear not to take unto thee Mā'rў thy wife: for that which is conceived in her is of the Hō'lў Ghŏst.
21 And she shall bring forth a son, and thou shalt call his name JĒ'SUS: for he shall save his people from their sins.
22 Now all this was done, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken me, and I will make you fishers of men.

20 And they straightway left their nets, and followed him.
21 And going on from thence, he saw other two brethren, James the son of Zeb'e-dee, and John his brother, in a ship with Zeb'e-dee their father, mending their nets; and he called them.
22 And they immediately left the ship and their father, and followed him.
23 ¶And Je'sus went about all Gal'i-lee, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing all manner of sickness and all manner of disease among the people.
24 And his fame went throughout all Syr'i-a: and they brought unto him all sick people that were taken with divers diseases and torments, and those which were possessed with devils, and those which were lunatick, and those that had the palsy; and he healed them.
25 And there followed him great multitudes of people from Gal'i-lee, and from De-cap'o-lis, and from Je-ru'sa-lem, and from Ju-dæ'a, and from beyond Jor'dan.

CHAPTER 5.

3 Who are blessed. 13 The disciples called the salt of the earth, and light of the world: Christ urgeth on them a good example, etc.

AND seeing the multitudes, he went up into a mountain: and when he was set, his disciples came unto him:
2 And he opened his mouth, and taught them, saying,
3 Blessed are the poor in spirit: for their's is the kingdom of heaven.
4 Blessed are they that mourn: for they shall be comforted.
5 Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth.
6 Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled.
7 Blessed are the merciful: for they shall obtain mercy.
8 Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God.
9 Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called the children of God.
10 Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness' sake: for their's is the kingdom of heaven.
11 Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake.
12 Rejoice, and be exceeding glad: for great is your reward in heaven: for so persecuted they the prophets which were before you.
13 ¶Ye are the salt of the earth: but if the salt have lost his savour, wherewith shall it be salted? it is thenceforth good for nothing, but to be cast out, and to be trodden under foot of men.
14 Ye are the light of the world. A city that is set on an hill cannot be hid.
15 Neither do men light a candle, and put it under a bushel, but on a candlestick; and it giveth light unto all that are in the house.
16 Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven.
17 ¶Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets: I am not come to destroy, but to fulfil.
18 For verily I say unto you, Till heaven and earth pass, one jot or one tittle shall in no wise pass from the law, till all be fulfilled.
19 Whosoever therefore shall break one of these least commandments, and shall teach men so, he shall be called the least in the kingdom of heaven: but whosoever shall do and teach them, the same shall be called great in the kingdom of heaven.
20 For I say unto you, That except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the scribes and Phar'i-sees, ye shall in no case enter into the kingdom of heaven.
21 ¶Ye have heard that it was said by them of old time, Thou shalt not kill; and whosoever shall kill shall be in danger of the judgment:
22 But I say unto you, That whosoever is angry with his brother without a cause shall be in danger of the judgment: and whosoever shall say to his brother, Ra'ca, shall be in danger of the council: but whosoever shall say, Thou fool, shall be in danger of hell fire.
23 Therefore if thou bring thy gift to the altar, and there rememberest that thy brother hath ought against thee;

SPECIAL LOW-PRICED EDITION

YOUNG FOLK'S ILLUSTRATED BIBLE

Containing the King James or Authorized Version of the Old and New Testaments

WITH SIXTEEN COLORED ILLUSTRATIONS

This new series of low-priced Illustrated Bibles, together with those described on page 68, have been made to meet the demands of Sunday Schools and Sunday School teachers who give Bibles as rewards for attendance. For this purpose, Bibles are usually purchased in quantity, and in most instances the price is a very important consideration. These Bibles will also appeal to individuals who are looking for a low-priced Bible as a gift to a child.

6 CHAPTER 6

1 Sermon on the mount continued. 24 Serving God and mammon. 25 Exhortation to care little for worldly things. 33 Seeking the kingdom of God.

TAKE heed that ye do not your alms before men, to be seen of them: otherwise ye have no reward of your Father which is in heaven.

2 Therefore when thou doest thine alms, do not sound a trumpet before thee, as the hypocrites do in the synagogues and in the streets, that they may have glory of men. Verily I say unto you, They have their reward.

3 But when thou doest alms, let not thy left hand know what thy right hand doeth:

4 That thine alms may be in secret: and thy Father which seeth in secret himself shall reward thee openly.

5 ¶ And when thou prayest, thou shalt not be as the hypocrites are: for they love to pray standing in the synagogues and in the corners of the streets, that they may be seen of men. Verily I say unto you, They have their reward.

6 But thou, when thou prayest, enter into thy closet, and when thou hast shut thy door, pray to thy Father which is in secret; and thy Father which seeth in secret shall reward thee openly.

7 But when ye pray, use not vain repetitions, as the heathen do: for they think that they shall be heard for their much speaking.

8 Be not ye therefore like unto them: for your Father knoweth what things ye have need of, before ye ask him.

9 After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name.

10 Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven.

11 Give us this day our daily bread.

12 And forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors.

13 And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil: For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, for ever. A-mĕn'.

14 For if ye forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly Father will also forgive you:

15 But if ye forgive not men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses.

16 ¶ Moreover when ye fast, be not, as the hypocrites, of a sad countenance: for they disfigure their faces, that they may appear unto men to fast. Verily I say unto you, They have their reward.

17 But thou, when thou fastest, anoint thine head, and wash thy face;

18 That thou appear not unto men to fast, but unto thy Father which is in secret: and thy Father, which seeth in secret, shall reward thee openly.

19 ¶ Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal:

20 But lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal:

21 For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also.

22 The light of the body is the eye: if therefore thine eye be single, thy whole body shall be full of light.

23 But if thine eye be evil, thy whole body shall be full of darkness. If therefore the light that is in thee be darkness, how great is that darkness!

24 ¶ No man can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon.

25 Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink; nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more than meat, and the body than raiment?

26 Behold the fowls of the air: for they sow not, neither do they reap, nor gather into barns; yet your heavenly Father feedeth them. Are ye not much better than they?

27 Which of you by taking thought can add one cubit unto his stature?

28 And why take ye thought for raiment? Consider the lilies of LORD'S: and he is the governor among the nations.

29 All they that be fat upon earth shall eat and worship: all they that go down to the dust shall bow before him: and none can keep alive his own soul.

30 A seed shall serve him; it shall be accounted to the LORD for a generation.

31 They shall come, and shall declare his righteousness unto a people that shall be born, that he hath done this.

501 PSALM 23

David's confidence in the grace of God.

A Psalm of David.

THE LORD is my shepherd; I shall not want.

2 He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: he leadeth me beside the still waters.

3 He restoreth my soul: he leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake.

4 Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.

5 Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over.

6 Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the LORD for ever.

502 PSALM 24

The citizens of God's spiritual kingdom.

A Psalm of David.

THE earth is the LORD'S, and the fulness thereof; the world, and they that dwell therein.

2 For he hath founded it upon the seas, and established it upon the floods.

3 Who shall ascend into the hill of the LORD? or who shall stand in his holy place?

4 He that hath clean hands, and a pure heart; who hath not lifted up his soul unto vanity, nor sworn deceitfully.

5 He shall receive the blessing from the LORD, and righteousness from the God of his salvation.

6 This is the generation of them that seek him, that seek thy face, O Jā'cob. Sē'lah.

7 Lift up your heads, O ye gates; and be ye lift up, ye everlasting doors; and the King of glory shall come in.

8 Who is this King of glory? The LORD strong and mighty, the LORD mighty in battle.

9 Lift up your heads, O ye gates; even lift them up, ye everlasting doors; and the King of glory shall come in.

10 Who is this King of glory? The LORD of hosts, he is the King of glory. Sē'lah.

PSALM 25 503

1 David's trust in prayer. 7 Prayer for remission of sins.

A Psalm of David.

UNTO thee, O LORD, do I lift up my soul.

2 O my God, I trust in thee: let me not be ashamed, let not mine enemies triumph over me.

3 Yea, let none that wait on thee be ashamed: let them be ashamed which transgress without cause.

4 Shew me thy ways, O LORD; teach me thy paths.

5 Lead me in thy truth, and teach me: for thou art the God of my salvation; on thee do I wait all the day.

6 Remember, O LORD, thy tender mercies and thy loving-kindnesses; for they have been ever of old.

7 Remember not the sins of my youth, nor my transgressions: according to thy mercy remember thou me for thy goodness' sake, O LORD.

8 Good and upright is the LORD: therefore will he teach sinners in the way.

9 The meek will he guide in judgment: and the meek will he teach his way.

light in the Almighty, and shalt lift up thy face unto God.
27 Thou shalt make thy prayer unto him, and he shall hear thee, and thou shalt pay thy vows.
28 Thou shalt also decree a thing, and it shall be established unto thee: and the light shall shine upon thy ways.
29 When men are cast down, then thou shalt say, There is lifting up; and he shall save the humble person.
30 He shall deliver the island of the innocent: and it is delivered by the pureness of thine hands.

459 CHAPTER 23.

THEN Jŏb answered and said,
2 Even to day is my complaint bitter: my stroke is heavier than my groaning.
3 Oh that I knew where I might find him! that I might come even to his seat!
4 I would order my cause before him, and fill my mouth with arguments.
5 I would know the words which he would answer me, and understand what he would say unto me.
6 Will he plead against me with his great power? No; but he would put strength in me.
7 There the righteous might dispute with him; so should I be delivered for ever from my judge.
8 Behold, I go forward, but he is not there; and backward, but I cannnot perceive him:
9 On the left hand, where he doth work, but I cannot behold him: he hideth himself on the right hand, that I cannot see him:
10 But he knoweth the way that I take: when he hath tried me, I shall come forth as gold.
11 My foot hath held his steps, his way have I kept, and not declined.
12 Neither have I gone back from the commandment of his lips; I have esteemed the words of his mouth more than my necessary food.
13 But he is in one mind, and who can turn him? and what his soul desireth, even that he doeth.
14 For he performeth the thing that is appointed for me: and many such things are with him.
15 Therefore am I troubled at his presence: when I consider, I am afraid of him.
16 For God maketh my heart soft, and the Almighty troubleth me:
17 Because I was not cut off before the darkness, neither hath he covered the darkness from my face.

460 CHAPTER 24.

WHY, seeing times are not hidden from the Almighty, do they that know him not see his days?
2 Some remove the landmarks; they violently take away flocks, and feed thereof.
3 They drive away the ass of the fatherless, they take the widow's ox for a pledge.
4 They turn the needy out of the way: the poor of the earth hide themselves together.

5 Behold, as wild asses in the desert, go they forth to their work; rising betimes for a prey: the wilderness yieldeth food for them and for their children,
6 They reap every one his corn in the field: and they gather the vintage of the wicked.
7 They cause the naked to lodge without clothing, that they have no covering in the cold.
8 They are wet with the showers of the mountains, and embrace the rock for want of a shelter.
9 They pluck the fatherless from the breast, and take a pledge of the poor.
10 They cause him to go naked without clothing, and they take away the sheaf from the hungry;
11 Which make oil within their walls, and tread their winepresses, and suffer thirst.
12 Men groan from out of the city, and the soul of the wounded crieth out: yet God layeth not folly to them.
13 They are of those that rebel against the light; they know not the ways thereof, nor abide in the paths thereof.
14 The murderer rising with the light killeth the poor and needy, and in the night is as a thief.
15 The eye also of the adulterer waiteth for the twilight, saying, No eye shall see me: and disguiseth his face.
16 In the dark they dig through houses, which they had marked for themselves in the daytime: they know not the light.
17 For the morning is to them even as the shadow of death: if one know them, they are in the terrors of the shadow of death.
18 He is swift as the waters; their portion is cursed in the earth: he beholdeth not the way of the vineyards.
19 Drought and heat consume the snow waters; so doth the grave those which have sinned.
20 The womb shall forget him; the worm shall feed sweetly on him; he shall be no more remembered; and wickedness shall be broken as a tree.
21 He evil entreateth the barren that beareth not, and doeth not good to the widow.
22 He draweth also the mighty with his power: he riseth up, and no man is sure of life.
23 Though it be given him to be in safety, whereon he resteth; yet his eyes are upon their ways.
24 They are exalted for a little while, but are gone and brought low; they are taken out of the way as all other, and cut off as the tops of the ears of corn.
25 And if it be not so now, who will make me a liar, and make my speech nothing worth?

CHAPTER 25. 461

THEN answered Bĭl'dăd the Shu'hīte, and said,
2 Dominion and fear are with him: he maketh peace in his high places.
3 Is there any number of his armies? and upon whom doth not his light arise?

9 And the LORD was angry with Sŏl'o-mon, because his heart was turned from the LORD God of Ĭs'ra-el, which had appeared unto him twice,

10 And had commanded him concerning this thing, that he should not go after other gods: but he kept not that which the LORD commanded.

11 Wherefore the LORD said unto Sŏl'o-mon, Forasmuch as this is done of thee, and thou hast not kept my covenant and my statutes, which I have commanded thee, I will surely rend the kingdom from thee, and will give it to thy servant.

25 And he was an adversary to Ĭs'ra-el all the days of Sŏl'o-mon, beside the mischief that Hā'dăd did: and he abhorred Ĭs'ra-el, and reigned over Sўr'ĭ-a.

31 It hath been said, Whosoever shall put away his wife, let him give her a writing of divorcement:
32 But I say unto you, That whosoever shall put away his wife, saving for the cause of fornication, causeth her to commit adultery: and whosoever shall marry her that is divorced committeth adultery.
33 ¶ Again, ye have heard that it hath been said by them of old time, Thou shalt not forswear thyself, but shalt perform unto the Lord thine oaths:
34 But I say unto you, Swear not at all; neither by heaven; for it is God's throne:
35 Nor by the earth; for it is his footstool: neither by Jĕ-ru'să-lĕm; for it is the city of the great King.
36 Neither shalt thou swear by thy head, because thou canst not make one hair white or black.
37 But let your communication be, Yea, yea; Nay, nay: for whatsoever is more than these cometh of evil.
38 ¶ Ye have heard that it hath been said, An eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth:
39 But I say unto you, That ye resist not evil: but whosoever shall smite thee on thy right cheek, turn to him the other also.
40 And if any man will sue thee at the law, and take away thy coat, let him have thy cloke also.
41 And whosoever shall compel thee to go a mile, go with him twain.
42 Give to him that asketh thee, and from him that would borrow of thee turn not thou away.
43 ¶ Ye have heard that it hath been said, Thou shalt love thy neighbour, and hate thine enemy.
44 But I say unto you, Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you, and persecute you;
45 That ye may be the children of your Father which is in heaven: for he maketh his sun to rise on the evil and on the good, and sendeth rain on the just and on the unjust.
46 For if ye love them which love you, what reward have ye? do not even the publicans the same?
47 And if ye salute your brethren only, what do ye more than others? do not even the publicans so?
48 Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect.

CHAPTER 6. 6

1 Sermon on the mount continued. 24 Serving God and mammon. 25 Exhortation to care little for worldly things. 33 Seeking the kingdom of God.

TAKE heed that ye do not your alms before men, to be seen of them: otherwise ye have no reward of your Father which is in heaven.
2 Therefore when thou doest thine alms, do not sound a trumpet before thee, as the hypocrites do in the synagogues and in the streets, that they may have glory of men. Verily I say unto you, They have their reward.
3 But when thou doest alms, let not thy left hand know what thy right hand doeth:
4 That thine alms may be in secret: and thy Father which seeth in secret himself shall reward thee openly.
5 ¶ And when thou prayest, thou shalt not be as the hypocrites are: for they love to pray standing in the synagogues and in the corners of the streets, that they may be seen of men. Verily I say unto you, They have their reward.
6 But thou, when thou prayest, enter into thy closet, and when thou hast shut thy door, pray to thy Father which is in secret; and thy Father which seeth in secret shall reward thee openly.
7 But when ye pray, use not vain repetitions, as the heathen do: for they think that they shall be heard for their much speaking.
8 Be not ye therefore like unto them: for your Father knoweth what things ye have need of, before ye ask him.
9 After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name.
10 Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven.
11 Give us this day our daily bread.
12 And forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors.
13 And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil: For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, for ever. Ā-mĕn'.
14 For if ye forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly Father will also forgive you:
15 But if ye forgive not men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses.
16 ¶ Moreover when ye fast, be not, as the hypocrites, of a sad countenance: for they disfigure their

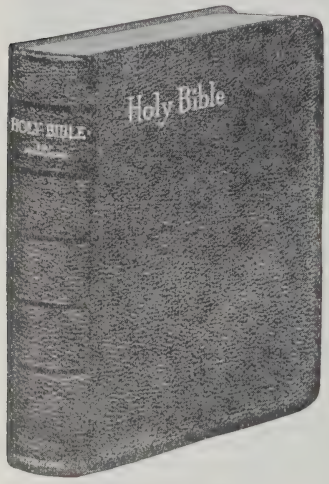
A HAND BIBLE, WITH THE LARGE, CLEAR, EASILY READ TYPE OF A PULPIT BIBLE



LIMP STYLE

"What beautiful type" is the expression that is heard when you open the Perfection Type Bible. It is a surprise to Bible readers because it reveals to them what they have long sought and never before found—larger, clearer, blacker face type in a smaller, thinner, lighter weight self-pronouncing Bible than has heretofore been published.

THE HIGHEST ACHIEVEMENT IN BIBLE-MAKING

While type is the first consideration in the making of this Bible and the first consideration of the Bible user in the selection of a Bible, other features have been incorporated in the Perfection Type Bible to make it more readable and more usable.

1 The text is Self-Pronouncing. All proper words throughout the Old and New Testaments are divided into syllables and accented to make pronunciation easy.

2 Names of the Books of the Bible on outside margins. This facilitates the finding of the Books of the Bible by merely flirting the corners of the book.

3 Chapters Numbered in Arabic and also Numbered Consecutively. The numbering of chapters in Arabic numerals is much preferred today to the old-fashioned form of printing the chapter heads in Roman numerals.

FOR PULPIT AND LECTERN, FOR SCHOOL READING DESK AND LODGE ALTAR. The small light weight Bible with its large type specially adapts the Perfection Type Bible to every use where a large, clear type is desirable. Also issued in styles specially fitted for every use.

FOR THE HOME, FOR AGED PERSONS OR THOSE WITH IMPAIRED EYESIGHT. The Perfection Type Bible is especially adapted for home devotional reading. See also HOME DEVOTIONAL EDITION described on page 84.

A TRIUMPH OF THE GRAPHIC ARTS

The selection of type and the size of the type page for the PERFECTION TYPE BIBLE was made after a careful study by leading typographical experts. Certain changes in type forms were suggested and the necessary special casting matrices were made to carry out these suggestions. The type was molded and set in the Winston plant, where the subsequent processes of manufacture, including the printing and binding, were also completed. Special paper of light weight and unusual opacity was made especially for the Bible and even special ink was manufactured and used to produce a sharp, clear, black impression on the page without the ink striking through.

BEAUTIFUL BINDINGS

The Bible is issued in the superior flexible bindings for which Winston "International" Bibles are well known, and also in other bindings to best fit the many purposes for which the Bible will be used.

THE FIRST BOOK OF MOSES, CALLED GENESIS

CHAPTER 1

1 The creation of heaven and earth. 26 Man is made in the image of God.

IN the beginning God created the heaven and the earth.

2 And the earth was without form, and void; and darkness was upon the face of the deep. And the Spirit of God moved upon the face of the waters.

3 ¶ And God said, Let there be light: and there was light.

4 And God saw the light, that it was good: and God divided the light from the darkness.

5 And God called the light Day, and the darkness he called Night. And the evening and the morning were the first day.

6 ¶ And God said, Let there be a firmament in the midst of the waters, and let it divide the waters from the waters.

7 And God made the firmament, and divided the waters which were under the firmament from the waters which were above the firmament: and it was so.

8 And God called the firmament Heaven. And the evening and the morning were the second day.

9 ¶ And God said, Let the waters under the heaven be gathered together unto one place, and let the dry land appear: and it was so.

10 And God called the dry land Earth; and the gathering together of the waters called he Seas: and God saw that it was good.

11 And God said, Let the earth bring forth grass, the herb yielding seed, and the fruit tree yielding fruit after his kind, whose seed is in itself, upon the earth: and it was so.

12 And the earth brought forth grass, and herb yielding seed after his kind, and the tree yielding fruit, whose seed was in itself, after his kind: and God saw that it was good.

13 And the evening and the morning were the third day.

14 ¶ And God said, Let there be lights in the firmament of the heaven to divide the day from the night; and let them be for signs, and for seasons, and for days, and years:

15 And let them be for lights in the firmament of the heaven to give light upon the earth: and it was so.

16 And God made two great lights; the greater light to rule the day, and the lesser light to rule the night: he made the stars also.

17 And God set them in the firmament of the heaven to give light upon the earth.

18 And to rule over the day and

DESIGNED FOR THE HOME

For many years there has been an increasing interest in the Study of the Bible, due largely to the well organized efforts of all Christian denominations in practically every hamlet, village, and city of the land. A generation of Bible readers is constantly coming forward, which is the reason why the Bible easily outsells every other book.

THE HOME DEVOTIONAL BIBLE is prepared to meet the demand that has existed for many years for a Bible with large clear type that can be easily read, and yet of such size that the book can be handled with convenience. Heretofore it has been a matter of selecting between a comparatively small type Bible in an average size book, or a large type Bible in a book so big as to make it inconvenient to handle.

BEAUTIFULLY PRINTED AND BOUND

While THE HOME DEVOTIONAL BIBLE comprises about 1900 pages, it does not make a thick book, due to the extra quality of thin light-weight paper used in this work. In length and width it resembles the average Teacher's Bible, and is as easily handled as any other book in the home. From the standpoint of manufacture every detail has been given careful attention. This Bible is printed on extra quality of paper, while the colored plates are works of art. Care has been given to the selection of suitable paper for the marriage certificate and family record, and in securing durable and very attractive bindings. It represents a very high development in modern book making.

FULL CONTENTS

THE HOME DEVOTIONAL BIBLE contains the King James or Authorized Version of both the Old and New Testaments. It has the Self-Pronouncing Text, all the proper words being accented and divided into syllables for quick and easy pronunciation. This feature is of inestimable value to all Bible readers and students. A Series of Helps to the Study of the Bible, including Bible Answers to Forty Difficult Questions pertaining to Daily Living and Christian Life. Calendar for the Daily Reading of the Scriptures, whereby the Bible may be systematically read through in a year. Maps of Bible Lands Printed in Colors compiled from authoritative sources. A Superb Family Record. Thirty-two Beautiful Colored Illustrations by World-Famed Artists, depicting scenes and incidents of Bible History.

THE BOOK LOVERS' BIBLE

CONTAINING THE KING JAMES OR AUTHORIZED VERSION OF THE OLD AND NEW TESTAMENTS

This edition of the Bible, designed for the library, is bound in the form of a regular book and in a rich style that will harmonize with the binding of the finest books. Few books are referred to as often as the Bible and no edition of the Bible serves so well as a reference work as the Book Lovers' edition. To have this work in its attractive and convenient form in the library book case, where it is always conveniently at hand, its use and value should make it the most important book in the library.

AN AUTHORITATIVE WORK OF REFERENCE—The Book Lovers' Bible contains the King James or Authorized Version of the Old and New Testaments, with 60,000 References in center column.

The text is self-pronouncing, every proper word being accented and divided into syllables to facilitate pronunciation.

It also contains a complete index in the form of a Bible Encyclopedia and Concordance under one alphabetical arrangement printed in large readable type, which gives information on every conceivable topic connected with the Scriptures, and enables the reader to locate passages and subjects with amazingly little effort.

LAW LIBRARY BIBLE

CONTAINING THE KING JAMES OR AUTHORIZED VERSION OF THE OLD AND NEW TESTAMENTS

WITH A COMPLETE BIBLE ENCYCLOPEDIA AND CONCORDANCE

Self-Pronouncing Text Complete Red Letter Feature

Size 6¼ x 8½ inches

The Old Testament is the basis of all law, and the New Testament is the foundation of all modern principles of social justice which are closely connected with present-day legislation; yet few lawyers possess a volume of The Law in their libraries. The new "International" Law Library Bible has been prepared particularly to supply this deficiency.

BOUND IN LAW LIBRARY BUCKRAM—It is bound in Law Library Buckram, sheep style, with leather labels, to conform with the usual appearance of a law book. It indicates by the use of red ink all the types and prophecies in the Old Testament pointing to Christ, all the references in the center column of the Old Testament referring to the words uttered by Christ, all the passages in the Old Testament quoted by Christ, and all the words of Christ in the New Testament. It contains the Handy Bible Encyclopedia and Concordance, under one alphabetical arrangement, printed in bold face type and seventeen maps of the Bible lands.

and in thy name done many wonderful works?

23 And then will I profess unto them, I never knew you: depart from me, ye that work iniquity.

24 ¶ Therefore whosoever heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them, I will liken him unto a wise man, which built his house upon a rock:

25 And the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell not: for it was founded upon a rock.

26 And every one that heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them not, shall be likened unto a foolish man, which built his house upon the sand:

27 And the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell: and great was the fall of it.

28 And it came to pass, when Jē'şus had ended these sayings, the people were astonished at his doctrine:

29 For he taught them as one having authority, and not as the scribes.

8 CHAPTER 8

1 The leper. 5 The centurion. 23 Calming of the winds. 28 Devils possess two men. 31 Leaving the men, they are suffered to go into the swine.

WHEN he was come down from the mountain, great multitudes followed him.

2 And, behold, there came a leper and worshipped him, saying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me clean.

3 And Jē'şus put forth his hand, and touched him, saying, I will; be thou clean. And immediately his leprosy was cleansed.

4 And Jē'şus saith unto him, See thou tell no man; but go thy way, shew thyself to the priest, and offer the gift that Mō'şes commanded, for a testimony unto them.

5 ¶ And when Jē'şus was entered into Că-pēr'na-ŭm, there came unto him a centurion, beseeching him,

6 And saying, Lord, my servant lieth at home sick of the palsy, grievously tormented.

7 And Jē'şus saith unto him, I will come and heal him.

8 The centurion answered and said, Lord, I am not worthy that thou shouldest come under my roof: but speak the word only, and my servant shall be healed.

9 For I am a man under authority, having soldiers under me: and I say to this man, Go, and he goeth; and to another, Come, and he cometh; and to my servant, Do this, and he doeth it.

10 When Jē'şus heard it, he marvelled, and said to them that followed, Verily I say unto you, I have not found so great faith, no, not in Ĭs'ra-el.

11 And I say unto you, That many shall come from the east and west, and shall sit down with Ā'bră-hăm, and Ī'şaac, and Jā'cob, in the kingdom of heaven.

12 But the children of the kingdom shall be cast out into outer darkness: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

13 And Jē'şus said unto the centurion, Go thy way; and as thou hast believed, so be it done unto thee. And his servant was healed in the selfsame hour.

14 ¶ And when Jē'şus was come into Pē'tēr's house, he saw his wife's mother laid, and sick of a fever.

15 And he touched her hand, and the fever left her: and she arose, and ministered unto them.

16 ¶ When the even was come, they brought unto him many that were possessed with devils: and he cast out the spirits with his word, and healed all that were sick:

17 That it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Ē-şā'ias the prophet, saying, Himself took

A BIBLE THAT EMPHASIZES CHRIST

The Old Testament, in types and prophecies, prefigured and foretold His coming. Christ, himself, endorsed and set His seal upon the Old Testament by continually referring to it and quoting from it. And he commanded us to "Search the Scriptures," for He said, "they testify of me." But how hard it is for the average reader to take the Bible and read it and know what refers to Christ. To such a reader the Red Letter Bible is a great help and benefit.

In this Red Letter Bible eminent scholars have carefully gone through and marked all those passages that point to Christ and all those passages that Jesus himself quoted. In this volume all those passages and all the words of Jesus are prinsed in red ink.

and gave to them, and said, Take, eat: this is my body.
23 And he took the cup, and when he had given thanks, he gave it to them: and they all drank of it.
24 And he said unto them, This is [m]my blood of the new testament, which is shed for many.
25 Verily I say unto you, I will drink no more of the fruit of the vine, until that day that I drink it new in the kingdom of God.
26 ¶ [n]And when they had sung an [3]hymn, they went out into the mount of Ŏl'ives.
27 [n]And Jē'şus saith unto them, All ye shall be offended because of me this night: for it is written, [o]I will smite the shepherd, and the sheep shall be scattered.
28 But [p]after that I am risen, I will go before you into Galilee.
29 But [q]Pē'tēr said unto him, Although all shall be offended, yet will not I.
30 And Jē'şus said unto him, Verily I say unto thee, That this day, even in this night, before the cock crow twice, thou shalt deny me thrice.
31 But he spake the more vehemently, If I should die with thee, I will not deny thee in any wise. Likewise also said they all.
32 [r]And they came to a place which was named Gĕth-sā'mane: and he saith to his disciples, Sit ye here, while [s]I shall pray.
33 And he taketh with him Pē'tēr and Jāmes and John, and began to be sore amazed, and very heavy;
34 And saith unto them, My soul is exceeding sorrowful unto death: tarry ye here, and watch.
35 And he went forward a little, and fell on the ground, and prayed that, if it were possible, the hour might pass from him.
36 And he said, Abba, Father, all things are possible unto thee; take away this cup from me: [u]nevertheless not what I will, but what thou wilt.
37 And he cometh, and findeth them sleeping, and saith unto Pē'tēr, Sī'mon, sleepest thou? couldest not thou watch one hour?
38 Watch ye and pray, lest ye enter into temptation. [v]The spirit truly is ready, but the flesh is weak.
39 And again he went away, and prayed, and spake the same words.
40 And when he returned, he found them asleep again, (for their eyes were heavy,) neither wist they what to answer him.
41 And he cometh the third time, and saith unto them, Sleep on now, and take your rest: it is enough, [w]the hour is come; behold, the Son of man is betrayed into the hands of sinners.

43 ¶ [a]And immediately, while he yet spake, cometh Jū'das, one of the twelve, and with him a great multitude with swords and staves, from the chief priests and the scribes and the elders.
44 And he that betrayed him had given them a token, saying, Whomsoever I shall kiss, that same is he; take him, and lead him away safely.
45 And as soon as he was come, he goeth straightway to him, and saith, [4b]Master, master; and [c]kissed him.
46 ¶ And they laid their hands on him, and took him.
47 And one of them that stood by drew a sword, and smote a servant of the high priest, and cut off his ear.
48 And Jē'şus answered and said unto them, Are ye come out, as against a thief, with swords and with 49 I was daily with you in the temple teaching, and ye took me not: but the scriptures must be fulfilled.
50 And they all forsook him, and fled.
51 And there followed him a certain young man, having a linen cloth cast about his naked body; and the young men laid hold on him:
52 And he left the linen cloth, and fled from them naked.
53 And they led Jē'şus away to the high priest: and with him were assembled all the chief priests and the elders and the scribes.
54 And Pē'tēr followed him afar off, even into the palace of the high priest: and he sat with the servants, and warmed himself at the fire.
55 Now the chief priests and all the council sought for witness against Jē'şus to put him to death; and found none.
56 For many bare false witness against him, but their witness agreed not together.
57 And there arose certain, and bare false witness against him, saying,
58 We heard him say, [k]I will destroy this temple that is made with hands, and within three days I will build another made without hands.
59 But neither so did their witness agree together.
60 [l]And the high priest stood up in the midst, and asked Jē'şus, saying, Answerest thou nothing? what is it which these witness against thee?
61 But [m]he held his peace, and answered nothing. [n]Again the high priest asked him, and said unto him, Art thou the Chrīst, the Son of the Blessed?
62 And Jē'şus said, I am: [o]and ye shall see the Son of man sitting on the right hand of power, and coming in the clouds of heaven.

30 Let both grow together until the harvest: and in the time of harvest I will say to the reapers, Gather ye together first the tares, and bind them in bundles to burn them: but gather [u]the wheat into my barn.

31 ¶Another parable put he forth unto them, saying, [v]The kingdom of heaven is like to a grain of mustard seed, which a man took, and sowed in his field:

32 Which indeed is the least of all seeds: but when it is grown, it is the greatest among herbs, and becometh a tree, so that the birds of the air come and lodge in the branches thereof.

33 ¶Another [w]parable spake he unto them; The kingdom of heaven is like unto leaven, which a woman took, and hid in three [1]measures of meal, till the whole was leavened.

34 All these things spake Jē'sus unto the multitude in parables; and without a parable spake he not unto them:

35 That it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophet, saying, [x]I will open my mouth in parables; [y]I will utter things which have been kept secret from the foundation of the world.

36 ¶Then Jē'sus sent the multitude away, and went into the house: and his disciples came unto him, saying, Declare unto us the parable of the tares of the field.

37 He answered and said unto them, He that [z]soweth the good seed is the Son of man;

38 The [a]field is the world; the good seed are the children of the kingdom; but the tares are [b]the children of the wicked one;

39 The enemy that sowed them is the devil; [c]the harvest is the end of the world; and the reapers are the angels.

40 As therefore the tares are gathered and burned in the fire; so shall it be in the end of this world.

41 The Son of man shall send forth his angels, [d]and they shall gather out of his kingdom all [2]things that offend, and them which do iniquity;

42 And [e]shall cast them into a furnace of fire: there shall be wailing and gnashing of teeth.

43 Then [f]shall the righteous shine forth as the sun in the kingdom of their Father. Who hath ears to hear, let him hear.

44 Again, the kingdom of heaven is like unto treasure hid in a field; the which when a man hath found, he hideth, and for joy thereof goeth and [g]selleth all that he hath, and [h]buyeth that field.

45 Again, the kingdom of heaven is like unto a merchant man, seeking goodly pearls:

46 Who, when he had found [i]one pearl of great price, went and sold all that he had, and bought it.

47 Again, the kingdom of heaven is like unto a net, that was cast into the sea, and gathered [j]of every kind:

48 Which, when it was full, they drew to shore, and sat down, and gathered the good into vessels, but cast the bad away.

49 So shall it be at the end of the world: the angels shall come forth, and sever the wicked from among the just,

50 And shall cast them into the furnace of fire: there shall be wailing and gnashing of teeth.

51 Jē'sus saith unto them, Have ye understood all these things? They say unto him, Yea, Lord.

52 Then said he unto them, Therefore every scribe which is instructed unto the kingdom of heaven is like unto a man that is an householder, which bringeth forth out of his treasure [k]things new and old.

53 ¶And it came to pass, that when Jē'sus had finished these parables, he departed thence.

54 And [l]when he was come into his own country, he taught them in their synagogue, insomuch that they were astonished, and said, Whence hath this man this wisdom, and these mighty works?

55 Is [m]not this the carpenter's son? is not his mother called Mā'rў? and his [n]brethren, [o]Jāmes, and Jō'sēs, and Sī'mon, and Jū'das?

56 And his sisters, are they not all with us? Whence then hath this man all these things?

57 And they [p]were offended in him. But Jē'sus said unto them, A [q]prophet is not without honour, save in his own country, and in his own house.

58 And [r]he did not many mighty works there because of their unbelief.

SELF-PRONOUNCING LOOSE-LEAF BIBLE

PROTECTED BY UNITED STATES AND CANADIAN PATENT RIGHTS

COMPRISING THE KING JAMES OR AUTHORIZED VERSION OF THE BIBLE IN LOOSE-LEAF FORM

AND

OVER 250 LOOSE-LEAF PAGES FOR PERSONAL NOTES THAT CAN BE INSERTED IN ANY NUMBER OF PAGES, BETWEEN ANY PAGES OF THE BIBLE

A PRACTICAL BIBLE FOR NOTES

Stronger than a regular bound Bible and more flexible, too, for the Loose-Leaf Bible can be rolled without injury to binding and without danger of loosening the pages

The granting of final patents by the United States Government on August 27, 1918, and on June 24, 1919, by the Canadian Government on this Invisible Loose-Leaf binder, solved the problem for a Bible in which pages containing notes can be inserted ANYWHERE in ANY NUMBER.

Years ago the wide margin Bible was made to meet this demand, but failed because it made too bulky a volume and gave too little writing space.

This was followed by the interleaved Bible with a page of writing paper between every other page, which was equally unsatisfactory.

The event of India Paper made possible an interleaved Bible with a page of writing paper between every page of the Bible, but even this thin paper made a thick, unhandy volume and added useless blank pages where they would never be used and only one page where several pages were wanted, and the blank pages being placed between every page of the Bible broke the continuity of the printed text of the Bible. All these disadvantages are overcome in the "International" Loose-Leaf Bible.

Looks exactly like a regular divinity circuit bound Bible. It has no outside metal parts to mar the desk or table. Neither has it any rings or springs to get out of order. The binding device is invisible

Isa. 8. 10. z Josh. 2. 12. 1 Sam. 24. 21	4 Then on the third day A'bră-hăm lifted up his eyes, and saw the place afar off. 5 And A'bră-hăm said unto his young men, Abide ye here with the ass; and I and the lad will go yonder and worship, and come again to you.

ELASTICITY

Add pages anywhere In any number

With the "International" Loose-Leaf Bible, pages containing your notes can be added in any number anywhere in the Bible. Included with the Bible are more than 250 pages of faintly ruled writing paper which can be used to write on the lines or without regard to the lines and can be inserted right with the passage in the Bible to which your notes refer.

LOOSE-LEAF ADVANTAGES

The writing pages can be separated from the volume, thereby making it more convenient to write upon than if bound with the volume. For those who use a typewriter, this system will also be found a great convenience.

These pages with your notes can be inserted right with the passage to which the notes refer and more than one leaf can be inserted. Many students add notes at the beginning of the books of the Bible and by the Loose-Leaf method, which provides elasticity, any number of pages can be inserted in such portions of the Bible. In fact, its flexibility fits it for any individual use.

THE SIMPLICITY OF THE MECHANISM GUARANTEES ITS PERFECT ACTION

It is only a matter of a few seconds to insert blank pages or written pages containing your notes in any number of pages—anywhere in the Bible.

The Bible can be opened anywhere and new pages added without any danger of the leaves scattering.

Every page is held as tight as the pages in a regular sewed book; in fact it is much stronger than a regular sewed book.

There are no unsightly outside metal parts to mar the desk or table. No rings or springs to get out of order.

FORM OF THE VOLUME NOT CHANGED BY ADDING PAGES

Pages in addition to those furnished with the Bible can also be supplied. These pages are punched ready for insertion and have red under gold edges, so as to conform with the edges of the pages of the Bible and with the blank pages furnished with the Bible. The binder expands automatically to include extra pages and this expansion does not change the form of the Bible as the binding device is invisible. Additional Writing Paper, in packages of 100 pages (50 sheets) with red under gold edges and punched ready for use are supplied at 50 cents per package.

ONLY ONE INCH THICK

The "International" Loose-Leaf Bible is printed from black face type on India Paper so thin that a thousand pages measure only five-eighths of an inch thick. The complete Loose-Leaf Bible including the more than 250 pages of writing paper make the complete volume only one inch thick. The volume measures 6 x 7-⅞ thick.

All the New Testament story, its wonderful teachings and marvelous interest center around the living Words of Jesus. It is therefore of the greatest importance to have these beautiful life-giving Words to stand out in bold relief, and to give them the prominence which they, above all other passages of the Bible, demand. These words printed in red, catch the eye, and carry the words of Jesus to the heart of every reader.

THE name "THE WOMANS PRESS" is used to designate both the book publishing house of the National Young Women's Christian Association and the national monthly magazine of the Association. The name and device were formally adopted for the publications department in January 1918, at which time the magazine, then called The Association Monthly began its twelfth volume in a new and enlarged form. Later on, in order to indicate the widening of its scope into more general realms of women's interests, the magazine also adopted the name THE WOMANS PRESS.

The chief purpose of THE WOMANS PRESS is to help women to think intelligently on questions of the day in which they have a vital concern—of economics, education, religion, sociology, international events, business, professional life and homemaking. To this end it makes use of many forms of expression: technical material, program material, fiction, essays, and poetry. It believes that in the development of publishing in America there is a place for the Young Women's Christian Association to make a fine contribution from the viewpoint of the Christian woman movement.

The colophon of THE WOMANS PRESS is the sacred chalice radiating light against the background of a book.

The catalogue is divided into three main sections: General Publications, Plays and Pageants, Departmental Publications and Supplies. An alphabetical list of all material will be found on pages 4 to 8.

ALL NIGHT WITH THE STARS

By Louise Brown 30 cents

A tiny book to take on overnight hikes. It weighs nothing and slips easily into a pocket or camp kit and adds still another joy to sleeping out of doors.

AMERICAN INDIANS AND THEIR MUSIC, THE

By Frances Densmore $2.50

"The very best portrayal of the subject written for the layman that has ever appeared."—F. W. Hodge—Museum of the American Indian—Heye Foundation.

"It is a veritable encyclopedia of information on Indian subjects and an excellent reference work for musicians, historians or anyone interested in American Indian lore. We follow easily through the chapters on children's songs, love songs, etc., to the more technical ones, even though we are not musicians."—Saturday Review of Literature.

AND WHO IS MY NEIGHBOR? See page 56

ASCENDING LIFE, THE

By Richard Roberts 75 cents

"The secret of Dr. Roberts' translucent style is that he has something new to say and passionately desires to communicate it. To the many recent interpretations of the last period of Jesus' life he has added one in which those moments are singled out that have most significance for the present day."—The Survey.

ASSOCIATION HYMNAL, THE

Single copies, paper 75 cents; cloth 90 cents. In lots of 25 or more, 50 cents in paper; 65 cents in cloth.

A new collection of those hymns that have proved most helpful and inspiring. A clergyman at one of the summer conferences pronounced this the best small hymnal he had ever seen.

BESIDE OUR CAMP-FIRES

By Suzanne Weddell $1.25

A book written especially for girls and advisers of girls. Each week's camp-fire service centers around one outstanding woman and each evening's talk sets forth those qualities which gave her life special significance.

CAFETERIA RECIPES

By Mabel E. Schadt $2.50

Recipes in three proportions for cafeterias, schools and institutions.

A new departure in a usable cook book for cafeteria directors. With each book comes a pad of duplicate pages ready to be taken out as the director desires and given to the cook. Additional pads can also be purchased. Saves hours of time in copying recipes.

"A welcome and exceedingly valuable addition to the extremely limited literature of quantity cookery."—Restaurant and Tea Room Journal.

"Looking at the book from its organization standpoint, I immediately appreciated the three-proportion arrangement and the duplicate pad material. I hope the time will come when all cook books will be set up in this form. Miss Schadt has made a distinct contribution along this line."—Office of Research in Household Art Education, Teachers College.

CEREMONIALS OF COMMON DAYS

By Abbie Graham $1.50

"It is indeed delightful—a book of most delicious whimsy and of common sense—full of the pleasures of recognition and the pleasures of surprise. I think it wonderfully well sustained on its unique note; so that those readers who like the least of it will like it throughout."
—Jean Kenyon Mackenzie.

CHARM BY CHOICE

By Ruth F. Wadsworth, M.D. $1.00

Can charm be acquired?—a doctor says it can. "Charm is no longer a matter merely of physical beauty—but a quality that can result from thought, self-analysis and constant care. Dr. Wadsworth defines the charming person as one who is good to look upon. She has the good looks that result from good health, good physical care and careful dressing—she is interested in other people—she is very much alive, full of energy and 'game.'"—N. Y. Evening Post.

"All the work and will power expended in the effort to remain physically charming has been wasted if a woman lets her mind stay immature or age prematurely." So says Dr. Ruth F. Wadsworth, author of "Charm by Choice."—N. Y. Evening Telegram.

CHRISTIAN CITIZENSHIP FOR GIRLS

By Helen Thoburn 50 cents

A girl in her home, her work, her worship, her recreation, with her friends. A book for individual reading or group discussion—for girls who care about being good members of "the kingdom of friendly citizens."

Suggestions to Leaders is an outline which the leader of the group will find suggestive in bringing out the value of the lessons. 10 cents.

CHRIST IN THE POETRY OF TODAY

Compiled and reassembled by Elvira Slack — $2.50

Here, in exceedingly attractive format, is the third revision of the anthology originated ten years ago by Martha Foote Crow. The preface states: "The choice differs from the former volumes in that the range of verse has been widened to include not only poetry directly inspired by the biblical record of events, but verse that represents indirectly the influence of the ideals and nature of Jesus on this generation. . . . We must look into more than the verse that is woven out of the ancient gospel pattern of events. Our own response in action to his ways of viewing life should contain an even more delicate portraiture of Him."

The Religious Book Club has acclaimed this volume as one of the best recent religious publications, and has commended it enthusiastically to the public.

Copies of the former edition may still be obtained by those who wish them, at the regular price of $2.00.

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR SONGS

Reprinted from FOLK SONGS OF MANY PEOPLES — 75 cents

In its gay cover of holly and gold this delightful collection makes a charming Christmas gift. Songs for the Christmas season which are new to most of us, though in the countries of their birth they have been loved and sung for generations.

CHRISTMAS PREPARATORY SERVICES See page 67

COMMONPLACE BOOKS, THE — each $1.00

Gaily-bound and glorified blank books, ready to receive any sort of personal impressions, from poetry to household recipes and even accounts. They provide a common place for the filing and preservation of all those loose clippings which clutter our pocketbooks, our bureau drawers and the corners of our desks.

COURAGE

By Jeannette Marks $1.00

Here is a little book full of mental hygiene by Jeannette Marks to whose work eminent critics, not only in the literary world but also in the field of medicine, have given high praise.

CREATIVE DISCUSSION See page 56

CRUCIFIERS, THE

By Lyman Abbott 75 cents

Six brief chapters in a small book with gray-blue binding—and Dr. Abbott, the well-beloved, talking to us in his own informal, friendly, meditative fashion on such subjects as "The Institutions of Irreligion," "The Wordly Minded Church Member," "The Ambitious Ecclesiastic," all of whom, he says, were concerned in the crucifixion, and who, he adds, are still active today.

DIRECTORY OF THE Y.W.C.A.'S IN THE U. S. A.

Each 10 cents; 50 for $3.50; 100 for $6.00

A complete list, with addresses, of all Associations in the cities, towns and counties of the United States, with dormitory and camp accommodations indicated. This is a thin little pocket-size pamphlet which will add security to your traveling, accuracy to your letter writing, concreteness to your thinking!

DO'S AND DON'TS FOR BUSINESS WOMEN

By Jean Rich (Helen Thompson) $1.00

A compact little handbook for the girl who wishes to "arrive." Full of hints as to the best way to make one's language, one's manner, one's attitude and one's clothes, all point the way to success.

ENGLISH-CLASS PLAYS FOR NEW AMERICANS

By Emily M. Gibson $1.50

"This book bristles with suggestions. . . . These plays and the text that precedes them are built on one fundamental principle of education, that learning is fruitful as it contributes to the more efficient adjustments of the learner to the world about him and to the people in it."—Albert Shiels Teachers College, Columbia University.

"In my six years of experience as state supervisor in immigrant education, I have found nothing more fitted to use with those who are learning the language of the country."—Elizabeth Ash Woodward.

EVERY GIRL'S HEALTH—No. I

By Jane Bellows — 75 cents

Health education suggestions which include a health movie, a health show, a health carnival, health week suggestions as they have been worked out in a number of cities, a general health trip and other features that can be put to immediate and perennial use.

EVERY GIRL'S HEALTH—No. II

By Jane Bellows — 75 cents

So great was the success of the first section of Every Girl's Health that the author has published this second section.

A health week program	Health songs
An opening night program	Health projects for club work
A group examination	Health playlets
A health carnival	A health parable
A health pageant	The health way in play
Health verses	Radio talks

Budgeting your time

EXERCISES FOR BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL WOMEN

Ten in a set, 10 cents; 100 sets, $8.00

Ten simple health-giving exercises recommended for daily practice, morning and night.

EXPLORERS

By Marion Dudley — 50 cents

A framework for camp programs based upon the theme of the title. Included are suggestions for services of worship, discussion courses, and camp-fires.

FACING STUDENT PROBLEMS See page 59

FAITHS OF MANKIND

By Edmund D. Soper — 50 cents

A view of the great religions of the world as a reaching after that relation with God which will satisfy the human soul.

FEET AND SHOES

By Jane Bellows — 75 cents

A book which gives good advice on a subject which many people think little about—and pay the penalty of their thoughtlessness. This is no list of "sensible shoes," nor advice to wear them—unless they fit!

FELLOWSHIP PRAYERS — $1.00

A new and revised edition, printed on thin paper, so that it is easily carried in one's pocket or pocketbook. Many of the well-beloved prayers have been retained, and many new and beautiful ones have taken the place of those omitted because they seemed to duplicate others or can be found in many other collections. The division into sections makes it easy to find the prayers appropriate to any occasion, and a contents-index of first lines helps to locate a prayer half-recalled.

FIFTY YEARS OF ASSOCIATION WORK AMONG YOUNG WOMEN

By Elizabeth Wilson $1.50

The history of the Young Women's Christian Association in the United States of America from 1866 to 1916.

FLORENCE SIMMS

By Richard Roberts $1.50

"Florence Simms," says the author, "was and remains significant because she was the manifest embodiment of a contemporary spirit. A movement was incarnate in her, and to her friends she still lives as their symbol of the most important development of the thought and feeling of the last half century, a sign and portent of a better day."

FOLK FESTIVALS AND THE FOREIGN COMMUNITY

By Dorothy Gladys Spicer $1.00

The author speaks from study of and experience with the people themselves, in their own countries of Europe and in their nationality settlements in this country. She gives the methods which she has used and found successful in building up folk festivals, and then works out four such festivals, one for each season.

"A good handbook in the hand of any instructor and worker among Americans. For it is a fact that our Americans do not know how to play as the peasants of Europe do."—Syracuse Post Standard.

FOLK SONGS OF MANY PEOPLES In Two Volumes

Compiled by Florence Hudson Botsford

Vol. I—Baltic, Balkan and Slavic folk songs. Paper, $1.50; cloth, $2.50

Vol. II—Songs of Western Europe, the Near and Far East and the Americas. Paper, $2.50; cloth, $3.50.

Special combination offer, Volumes I and II, paper, $3.50; cloth, $5.00

This unique collection of folk music includes for each song, the music, the words in the original language, and an English translation by such well-known poets as Edna St. Vincent Millay, Angela Morgan, Padraic Colum, Edwin Markham, Anna Hempstead Branch and many others.

Invaluable for group and community singing, for concerts, for use in plays, pageants and folk festivals, and for schools.

It contains a delightful collection of our own folk music—Indian songs, Negro songs, and songs from the Kentucky mountains.

In addition to the national songs and love songs of each country there are songs that lend themselves to dramatization, dance songs, and a few game songs.

FOLK SONGS OF POLAND

Reprinted from FOLK SONGS OF MANY PEOPLES 75 cents

"The glory of Poland is in its music. It is just as necessary to the daily life of the pedlar, the goose girl, the wandering violinist, the tailor, the blacksmith, and the children as is the bread they eat. Civilization may in time do away with the simpler arts of men, but the spirit of these songs will live on."—From the foreword by Eric P. Kelly.

See also Russian Folk Songs on page 25 and Christmas and New Year Songs on page 11.

FOOD CHARTS—12 in set $1.00

Twelve delightful posters 10" by 14" in color.

There is, to begin with, a picture of the food family. Brother Protein, looking strangely like an amiable egg, heads the list. Big Brother Fat sticks his head out of a pound of butter and the Carbohydrate Twins—Potato and Striped Stick-Candy—hang together. They are given first place, as is due the old settlers, but all the others are fully recognized. Another chart is entitled "Keeping Your House in Order." Cheese the Carpenter, Life-Saver Lettuce, Furnace Stoker Fat, Spinach the Plumber, Water the Superintendent, and the Athletic Potato all cooperate to do the body's work.

FOOD FOR THE BODY AND FOOD FOR THOUGHT

By Lucy Marvin Adams 75 cents

Capital for the physical director in teaching ideas of intelligent eating. Dr. Josephine Kenyon says, "For so short a book it is the most accurate and practical that I have seen."

This by no means aims to be a technical treatise. It is that much rarer thing, a practical, stimulating little outline that the physical director or any individual can use in the selection of a well-balanced diet. Popularly written, with amusing illustrations it gets over its point with ease.

"I am giving health instruction to my teachers and find your book most valuable in preparing my work. It is the best book of the kind I have seen, and I have looked over many."—Louise C. Wright, Assistant Supervisor of Physical Education, Board of Education, Cleveland, Ohio.

FOOT POSTERS $1.00

A set of five posters showing right and wrong kinds of feet and shoes.

FUN BOOK, THE

By Edna Geister $1.25

By a past master in the art of play. Each chapter is devoted to appropriate games and party stunts for one month in the year. The introduction contains suggestions for the hostess or recreation leader.

Particularly helpful are the games and special events for picnics and for camp-fire night.

FUNDAMENTALS FOR DAILY LIVING

By Robert Seneca Smith Paper, $1.00; cloth, $1.50

Its object is altogether practical—to point out the relation between faith and life. "Life," says the author, "is a living reality, an individual achievement." Hence his object is never to define or limit the religious thinking of his readers but to help each find for himself certain convictions which are fundamental.

The book is arranged for use in personal daily Bible study and may also be used for group study and discussion.

FUNDS AND FRIENDS

By Tolman Lee $1.50

A reviewer says that this book "should be read by the man who has the wherewithal to give, by him who gives of his time, by the one actually directing the work and by those whose duty it is to raise funds."

"While directed primarily towards the needs of canvassers, committee and organizing leaders in social work, the book could be used advantageously by leaders of religious work, particularly in the pastorate. The first half contains much material for the actual canvasser. The chapters on meeting objections are also good for campaign committees."

—R. P. Stouffer, United Church of Canada.

GIRL'S EVERY DAY BOOK, THE $1.25

One of the most successful books The Womans Press has ever published. It is readable, it is quotable, and girls of every age enjoy it. There are 365 "readings," and one special 366th, for leap year, but they are not "arranged." If you start with the new year, for instance, you will have to begin with the very last section of the book, "Special Days and Seasons." And some of the sections read almost like stories. Here are some of them:

The Search for God
Making Ourselves
Ideals
First Things
Carlotta's Diary
Owning and Spending

GIRLS' YEAR BOOK, THE 75 cents

Daily prayers and Bible readings for personal use or for the opening devotions at club or committee meetings.

A cycle of reading which is divided as follows:

To Know Him—Oolooah Burner
Follow Me—Rhoda E. McCulloch
I Have Sent Them—Helen M. A. Taylor
An Out-of-Door Interlude—Jane Taylor Wolfe
The Ways of Prayer—Elizabeth Clark
The Gift of Life—Mary Alice Finney
Work and Play—Alice Brown
Being Friends—Margaret E. Burton
A Christmas Interlude—Mary S. Edgar

GRACE H. DODGE: A WOMAN OF CREATIVE FAITH 25 cents

Among Miss Dodge's many philanthropic interests were: the Consumers' League, the Kitchen Garden, the Travelers' Aid Society, Working Girls' Clubs, and the Y. W. C. A., of which she was the first national president.

GRACE H. DODGE: MERCHANT OF DREAMS

By Abbie Graham $2.00

The life of "one of the greatest least-known women" written in Miss Graham's delightful way. The author has written with insight and sympathy of this remarkable woman, of whom it was said by no less a judge of business than the late J. Pierpont Morgan that "she had the finest business brain in the United States, not excepting that of any man."

"Possibly the most interesting and significant phase of Miss Graham's biography is her account of how young Grace Dodge tackled this problem of finding work that would be of consequence, and how she grew as the tasks developed or she found new ones until she became, as the title so aptly describes her, 'a merchant of dreams,' visioning and putting through to success one big enterprise after another."—New York Times.

HALL WITH DOORS, THE

By Louise S. Hasbrouck $1.00

A vocational story for girls. Six connected stories about a club of high school girls who decide to consider vocations seriously, the plan they follow and the results. A book for teachers and mothers to give to girls.

HEALTH INVENTORY, A 15 cents

A health questionnaire, of value not only for investigation but for inculcating in the individual ideas of health betterment. Every person should own a copy of this, to check up her own development.

HEALTH SILHOUETTES 50 cents

Silhouette figures on a cardboard sheet to cut out for making a "health theatre." These acrobatic figures are excellent for the physical director who is trying to put over the health idea, interest people in health ideas and ideals.

HISTORY OF GROWTH OF WORK WITH YOUNGER GIRLS

HOW TO USE THE BIBLE

By L. Wendell Fifield 75 cents

Interesting and helpful suggestions of some different ways of studying the Bible which will make it mean something more vital in our living. Some of the chapter headings indicate new angles from which this very human document may be studied: Modern Attitudes Toward the Bible, The Great Verses and Chapters, Book by Book in the Bible, Significant Sections, Fundamental Topics. Each chapter has questions for opening up study and discussion.

ICE BREAKERS and THE ICE BREAKER HERSELF

By Edna Geister $1.35

The book of all others for the hostess who entertains and the club which has social evenings. There are get-acquainted games to break the ice. There are lively games and quiet games. There are stunts to set the company laughing.

IDEA THAT GREW

By Genevieve Fox 25 cents

IT IS TO LAUGH

By Edna Geister $1.25

A book of games and stunts. In it there are games for large groups and small; games for the family; for dinner parties; for church social events; for community affairs; games and stunts for almost any kind of social gathering, with one whole chapter devoted to picnic programs.

JESUS' TEACHINGS ABOUT LIFE

By Sarah S. Kirk 35 cents

This simple study course will help the individual girl to relate her Bible reading more closely to her everyday living. Beginning with the idea of God as our Father pictured in the New Testament, the author goes on to consider what influence this will have on the girl's daily life. What will be her response in loyalty? What will her prayers mean? How will she work for the new order of the Kingdom?

JESUS' WAY WITH PEOPLE

By Alexander C. Purdy $1.50

"Religion can no longer operate in restricted areas," says the author. "It must be geared with life in all of its larger relationships. When worship calls us away from life it is a form of emotional luxury which our world cannot permanently tolerate. There ought to be a ministry of comfort in our religion but it is easy to cross the line from comfort to anæsthetics. Our religious life must be geared to the world of our time."

JOBS AND MARRIAGE?

By Grace L. Coyle $1.00

An outline for discussion of the burning question of the married woman in business. Can she do it, should she do it, what about her home, her husband, her children—these and other topics are brought up, and many quotations from present-day writers, pro and con, are given as reference material. The only book of its kind so far as we know.

KNOWING JESUS AS A FRIEND

By Bertha Eckert 35 cents

Plans for a series of ten meetings in the study of Jesus as a Friend, for use with school girls. Very careful details for each meeting and an introductory chapter of hints for making interesting stimulating meetings.

LAD AND OTHER STORY PLAYS

By Bertha Palmer Lane $2.00

"Altogether fascinating, graceful and practicable are these seven plays designed for presentation either out of doors or in the house. They were written for the children of Boxford, Massachusetts, and have met with general acceptation. An appendix gives hints as to costumes and music."—The Boston Transcript.

LALAH OF THE MOUNTAIN

By Hazel Gewinner — 50 cents

Lalah was a mountaineer's daughter whose heart's desire was to be a member of the Girl Reserve Triangle in the town in the valley. The book tells of how this came true, and of the good times that this group of Girl Reserves had during a year.

LIFE AND I

By Oolooah Burner — 75 cents

A well planned course in eight sections, each of which has sufficient material for several discussions. There is a section for the leader outlining the plan of the course, and suggesting such practical matters as what to discuss, how to go about it, and what the leader's share should be in the discussion.

Then follow the discussions themselves, on Fun and Good Times, Work, Clothes—and other interesting topics.

LIFE THAT IS LIFE INDEED

By Harold C. Phillips — $1.00

Series of morning addresses given at the 1928 National Convention at Sacramento.

LITTLE ROBIN STAY-BEHIND

By Katharine Lee Bates — $1.50

Twelve plays in verse for children, one for each month of the year, celebrating a special appropriate event.

"Dancing delights await the fortunate children, from seven to seventy, who enter fairy-land through the portals of Katharine Lee Bates' volume of plays, Little Robin Stay-Behind. Into a blithe world she leads us, and the best is that it is the old world we know after all. Not that allegory is here to pester; but modern meanings play through the dainty verse, and in the midst of our chuckles comes a sudden catch of the breath. The Reformed Fourth, a hundred-per-cent-American drama, ends its jolly fooling with a very solemn appeal. Not only public affairs echo through these tripping melodies, but the small actors of the little plays will gain a wholesome intimacy with folk-lore, astronomy, what you will, and better still, they will gain a new intimacy with the joy of mere living."—Vida D. Scudder, The Christian Century.

MAGIC CASEMENTS

By Ruth Perkins — $1.50

An enchanting guide book through the mazes of program making. It calls itself a chronicle rather than a handbook, written as it is out of many a counselor's experience in working out a program which shall open magic casements in the experience of every girl.

It takes its title from an article by E. Merrill Root who urges the need of the adventurous in life. Man, he feels, "has a quaint passion for dragons; he feels a divine despair for unicorns; he longs for 'magic casements opening on the foam.'"

And in this chronicle of camp programs we find three or four full programs described in detail which one camp has wrought out of just these subconscious desires for the poetry and picturesqueness of life.

MANNERS

By Helen Hathaway $3.00

Published by E. P. Dutton and Company

Distributed by The Womans Press

Not just another book on etiquette!—for the author has put into it all her knowledge of what it is that everyday people want to know about social usage. It is built out of answers to countless questions asked in her classes and in letters by all types of people who have heard her lecture or read her articles in papers and magazines. It is written to meet the everyday needs of the sort of people who take occasional trips, entertain their friends, make week-end visits, become engaged and marry—and who are anxious to "do it right." One can turn to it confidently and ask it any question from what to order for dinner at a restaurant, to what to give an engaged friend and the answer will be simple, concise and to the point.

PHRASE BOOK OF MODERN ECONOMIC AND INDUSTRIAL TERMS 15 cents

A convenient little book with real explanations of many of our current industrial terms. Everyone interested in social problems should have a copy handy. Teachers will find it invaluable in economics classes.

PILGRIM SHIP, THE

By Katharine Lee Bates $2.50

This volume of verse, written out of Miss Bates' travels in Egypt and Palestine, contains lyrics and dramatic incidents of the life of Christ, descriptive bits that form a background of hill and sea and mountain, and playlets that mirror the lives and thoughts of those with whom He came in contact.

"It is a fine vessel with a rich cargo. Here are the treasures of a very simple faith in Christ and a very happy love for humanity, and very beautiful pictures of the land that we call Holy. Here also is the innate sense of the music of words which has been given to the author of 'America the Beautiful.' I hope that thousands will share the joy of reading this book."—Dr. Henry van Dyke.

"Through it all there is that sense of restfulness, of long acquaintance with those regions in which the spirit finds, or at least for centuries has found, its peace."—Gamaliel Bradford.

POTTERS AND PIPERS

By Oolooah Burner $1.00

For those in whom such questions as the following awaken interest and a desire for an answer:

How can I learn to be charming?
How much do I believe in my work?
Has arithmetic anything to do with religion?
Is there any place left in the world for the church?
Why should I vote in elections?

Outlines for discussions that will prove interesting and vital and which will ultimately lead somewhere. Recreation, Women and Men, We Who Work, For Peace or War, Dress, are a few of the subjects discussed.

PRACTICAL PARTIES

By Ella Shannon Bowles — $1.00

Everyone, regardless of age, loves a party. In this little volume, the author sets out to tell of various very practical parties for old and young which have proved successful in the small community where she lives.

PRESENT DAY DEFINITION OF CHRISTIANITY, A

By Laura H. Wild — 50 cents

For those who do not wish to throw away old values, but do wish to speak in modern terms. The younger generation is tempted to be revolutionary because it does not know the meaning of the old phraseology. The older generation blocks a sympathetic understanding of youth because it does not speak its language. This booklet offers a few suggestions as to "how to get together."

PRESENT TRENDS IN THE CLERICAL OCCUPATIONS

By Grace L. Coyle — 75 cents

The office job is changing. Salary scales, the mechanizing of the work itself, the question of what satisfactions, if any, remain in the clerical worker's job are here discussed in a way that will keenly interest those who are at all concerned with the increasing number of young business women.

PRIMER OF PARLIAMENTARY LAW — 10 cents

SAINTS AND LADIES

By Clarissa H. Spencer $1.50

That which gives the book its charm is the joyous humor with which she has infused her narrative, the evident pleasure which she takes in the human qualities of these old-time saints and ladies—who were to her ladies first and saints rather as symbols of something perpetually characteristic of womankind at its best.

"Saints and Ladies is finely done. It is the record of the women who have been the friends of Jesus from the first century to this. It avoids, for the most part, sweeping generalities and gives us, in concise form, moving accounts of such women as Monica, among the 'Saints and Martyrs'; Hilda, among the 'Statesmen and Mystics'; Katie von Bora (Luther's wife), Elizabeth Fry, and Sara Pierrepont (wife of Jonathan Edwards), among the 'Wives and Preachers.' SKY: SPRING AND SUMMER NIGHTS, THE

By Louise Brown 50 cents

A booklet written for those who wish to be able to recognize the stars of spring and summer evenings, and to learn something of the behavior of each during these seasons.

The ten main constellations are so described with charts and directions for finding them in the sky as to be readily recognizable. The last chapters follow the changes of the stars through the night hours, teach how to use Nature's time piece to tell the time, and describe the twenty brightest stars.

SKY: WINTER NIGHTS, THE

By Louise Brown 50 cents

A companion piece to the preceding booklet. This follows the stars through the winter nights.

SLAVIC FOLK DANCES

By Marjorie Crane Geary — $1.25

Music, descriptive matter, and photographs showing the costumes and figures of eighteen old folk dances. Delightful for entertainments, for use in pageants, for community recreation.

SOCIAL ASPECTS OF OUR CLOTHES

A study course of interest to girls of almost any age—showing with what far corners of the earth we are connected by even so small a thing as a pair of silk stockings.

SOCIAL MESSAGE OF THE BOOK OF REVELATION, THE

By Raymond Calkins — 75 cents

For those who wish to do a piece of worthwhile Bible study. This study course will answer three questions: Why is this book in the New Testament at all? What if anything does it mean? Has it any message for me?

"Popular in its intention and achievement, clear, helpful, inspiring and consistent."—The Congregationalist.

"No student of the New Testament can afford to be without this book."—Heloise Hersey.

SONG BOOK OF THE Y. W. C. A., THE — $1.50

Compiled by Imogene Ireland and the Music Committee

A book which gathers up the songs of the Association, its camps and its conferences, and adds to them folk songs, singing games, rounds and responses, together with a section of part songs for women's voices, in order to put within the reach of the whole membership a collection which they will use and enjoy and through the use of which they may become indeed a singing membership.

It is arranged as follows:

General Association Songs
Stunt and Nonsense Songs
Responses, Blessings
Songs of Greeting
Folk Songs, Old American Songs
Unison and Part Songs

STAR-PROMISE, THE

By Margaret E. Burton — $1.50

Some of the best thinking that others have done on the unending worthwhileness of life woven together with the author's own thoughts. She takes her title from a suggestive sentence of Sidney Lovett: "There shines . . . the star-promise of God, bright with the assurance that human life shall not long be halted or ever concluded in the desert of despair . . . but must move . . . to the revelation of all that is hid."

Beautifully bound in black and gold.

STREET OF PRECIOUS PEARLS, THE

By Nora Waln — 75 cents

The Street of Precious Pearls is in Peking. In a little shop on this dark side street, Yen Kuei Ping's honorable grandmother bargains for the wedding pearls of her much-beloved granddaughter. Not since "The Lady of the Decoration" has there been a more charming story than this tale of the freedom-loving Kuei Ping and her noble husband Fuh Tang.

STRING OF CHINESE PEARLS, A

By Welthy Honsinger Fisher $1.00

Stories of Chinese girls both in the old days and in these modern times. "These 'pearls' range from the dowager empress, ruling from the throne of the Manchus with a firm and reactionary hand, to little Orchid patiently knotting hairnets with her tiny five-year-old fingers. The ten tales, each of them true and sympathetically told, make certain phases of Chinese life graphic to the reader. Mrs. Fisher's previous books on China have established her reputation as a convincing and very agreeable writer."—The Continent.

SUPREME GOSPEL, THE. A Study of the Epistle to the Hebrews

By Hugh T. Kerr Paper, 25 cents; cloth, 50 cents

A study course in the Epistle to the Hebrews either for individual use or for group study and discussion. It is so arranged that it can be readily used for a series of meetings. A Bible class might well take this for its textbook.

The theme of the study is Paul's thought of Christianity as a religion, not a theology, an experience in living the better life, a following of Him who is the supreme Leader and Teacher, a fellowship of those who accept the supreme challenge of loyalty to Him.

TAJAR TALES

By Jane Shaw Ward $1.25

Do you know what a Tajar is? Well, you had better hurry up and find out. Tajar is as delightful an animal as the Elephant's Child that was spanked for "his 'satiable curtiosity." Read how Tajar got his tucks and taught the Witch's teacups to do death-defying leaps among the treetops.

Everyone enjoys these tales, especially around the camp-fire or open fireplace. When your copy arrives turn to the back of the book and observe Tajar when invisible.

TAMA

Compiled by Florence Wells 50 cents

The diary of a Japanese schoolgirl—compiled from real diaries written by real girls in a real school in Japan. The broken English is quaint and very amusing. "I must to write journal called dialy, it is too hardly for me," says Tama. There is a thread of narrative running through the book which hints at a romance between Tama and Sate San.

TWO FEET OF HAPPINESS AND TWO FEET OF UNHAPPINESS — 75 cents

Thirteen posters tell graphically the story of how two feet escaped the cramping conditions of life in the modern shoe.

Two feet of feminine ownership cast longing eyes at the comfortable covering of two masculine feet. After much picturesque conversation the feminine feet become wedded for life to a pair of comfortable, modern, sensible, up-to-date, approved shoes.

UNTRIED DOOR, THE

By Richard Roberts, $1.00

If men had the courage to live the life written of in the gospels, the world of our dreams would come of itself. As the author says: "Not one stone of that City shall we lay upon another until the City be building in our own souls."—From the book.

VAIN POMP AND GLORY

By Abbie Graham $1.50

Whimsical sketches of incidents in the life of a Methodist circuit minister's daughter. At the age of eight, she joined her father's church and renounced the Vain Pomp and Glory of the World, which consisted of articles in the Montgomery Ward catalogue and premiums in the Youth's Companion. "But," she says, "the world was not yet done with me." The secularizing influence of Montgomery Ward's counteracted the ascetic tendencies of early youth. Those who have enjoyed the humor, wisdom and penetrating common sense of "Ceremonials of Common Days" will want this book also.

WAY OF CHRIST, THE. Studies in Discipleship

By Alexander C. Purdy 65 cents

Lessons in citizenship in that Kingdom on earth which Christ came to found. Beginning with a study of the "set of a life," taking as an ideal the boyhood of Christ, the study course follows the beginning of the establishment of the Kingdom, the idea of the Founder, the conditions of entrance, the ideal citizen, the laws, and the way in which the citizen must live with his fellows. For individual or group study.

WAYS OF A BUSINESS WOMAN, THE

By Norris and Clapp 75 cents

Twelve lessons from life today, followed by twelve lessons from other days, timely, welcome, sound. Designed to bring to Christian business women, throughout the land, a perception of every woman's need—an understanding of the elements of success. A simple and practical book which goes to the heart of things.

Each chapter brings out an outstanding phase of character, such as tact, and through a story illustrates its value in the life of a business girl. The chapter following connects this story of a modern business girl with one similar in its ultimate meaning, in the life of some Bible heroine.

WHY AND HOW OF LEISURE-TIME ACTIVITIES AMONG YOUNGER EMPLOYED GIRLS, THE

By Zelah Heinbaugh — 75 cents

A study into facts which will guide one in directing the leisure-time activities of the younger employed girl.

After a general survey of accumulating experience as background, this pamphlet takes up in the first section the question of how to begin such a study, how to follow it through.

The second section studies first the program—what it is, where it comes from, what makes it satisfactory; and second, the "watch for development" method of working out the program. Specific illustrations make the study illuminating and helpful.

WOMEN AT THE WORLD'S CROSS ROADS

By A. Maude Royden — $1.00

Miss Royden is supremely interested in the opportunity for women in the changing order, when the old generation and the new generation are critical, one of the other. The power of her message is based on the conviction that women, whose experiences have taught them to look on the world as a home, God as Father, men as brothers, can make love triumphant in the world's affairs.

WOMEN IN INDUSTRY IN THE ORIENT — $1.50

A reference library in 221 pages on women in industry in India, China and Japan. It contains the material necessary for an understanding of the problems and events of today, whether one's interest is industrial, commercial, a study of social problems, or interracial questions.

It covers a wide range of subjects of which a few are suggested here:

What China Wants — The Caste System
Mission Industries — Vocational Education
Home Rule and Homespun — Labor Unions in Japan
The Attitude of Employers, Governments, and Organized Labor
The Historical Background

It contains a set of charts showing the economic interdependence of countries in this interlocking world. Best of all it is supplied with a topical index which makes every bit of material in it instantly available.

YELENKA THE WISE

By Anne Charlotte Darlington $2.00

A book of dramatized folk tales. Woven into plays and operettas. No production royalty. Eleven old tales from Russian, Serbian, Roumanian, Hungarian, Polish, Italian and Greek sources. Dramatic and not difficult to produce, they will be eagerly welcomed by all groups interested in plays as well as those whose interest is the customs and lore of other races.

"They are so well done as to make entertaining reading for anyone who likes quaint old stories in dialogue. They have been kept simple but the prose is excellent, the action lively, and the peculiar charm of each nationality has been well guarded. Old folk songs and dances have been woven in with such skill that one cannot detect the patches."—Saturday Review of Literature.

"The best collection of usable plays I have yet found."—A Y.W.C.A. secretary.

YOUNG EMPLOYED GIRL, THE

Adventure in Friendship, An

By Barbara Abel — 50 cents

6 principal characters and as many club girls and Girl Reserves as desired. Time: About 30 minutes. Setting: A girl's room.

An entertaining one-act play about a girl who learned that she could not forget the girls of other countries and about what happened when she learned it. An unusual presentation of world fellowship.

Alice in Wonderland

By May E. Phipps and Marjorie Van Horn — $1.00

Royalty $1.00 for each performance. 10 principal characters, and groups of children for flowers, dances, etc. Time: One to one and a half hours. One outdoor setting is used throughout.

This operetta is the best dramatization of Lewis Carroll's extravaganza that we know. Full costuming and producing directions are given; music is included. Although this is intended primarily for children, grown-ups will re-experience all the fresh delight of their first youthful plunge through the rabbit hole.

Among the Fairies

By Adele M. Allmann — 50 cents

32 or more children. Time: 45 minutes. Setting: A garden in which huge artificial flowers grow. Indoor stage preferable.

An attractive, simple operetta for younger children, introducing dancing, a few speaking parts, and pretty costumes. Fairies, elves and mortals take part.

Amos

Written and produced by students in the University of Oklahoma under the direction of Mary DeBardeleben — 50 cents

9 men, 2 women, people for the mob, etc. Time: About 35 minutes. Outdoor settings.

The fiery hero of the Old Testament, Amos, is made to live vividly before us through an incident that gives a brief yet dramatic glimpse into one of the times of tense national struggle within the Hebrew nation.

And Who Can This Spirit Be?

By Emma Mauritz Larson — 50 cents

Royalty $1.00 for each performance. 3 principal characters and 40 or more girls. Time: Plays a full evening. Setting: Easily improvised.

This presentation of the scope and spirit of the Y.W.C.A. introduces Negro, Indian, immigrant, foreign, college, industrial, and country girls, the mysterious Spirit, and Two Curious Folk. Recommended for annual meetings, college budget weeks and such occasions.

At the Sign of the Boar's Head

By Vida R. Sutton — 50 cents

11 principal characters, guards and soldiers. Time: 1 hour. Setting: A room in a Revolutionary mansion, shifted to represent the interior of an inn.

A charming tale of love, loyalty and adventure, told in an enchanted hour when the great-great-grandfathers and grandmothers step out of their portraits into their stirring youth again. Spies, ghosts and witches add more interest to a costume play.

See "Spirit of America" Plays, page 49

Belle and Beau

By Constance Smedley Armfield — 50 cents

Royalty $5.00. 1 man, 1 woman. Time: About 30 minutes. Setting: A garden.

A little dance-play in rhymed verse about an heiress who has refused offers of comfort, wealth and beauty. Care must be given to making the details perfect or the effect of a quaintly formal dialogue of Dresden china figurines will be lost. Popular for Saint Valentine's Day.

Brightness of His Rising, The

By Margaret Lynch Conger — 50 cents

About 21 characters. Prologue, 3 episodes. Time: About 45 minutes. Settings: A dusty roadside; heaven; a field in Judea; interior of the stable.

The historical setting into which Christ came is portrayed in a dramatic prologue. The first of the three episodes which follow gives the plea of Truth, Justice, and other spirits for relief for the Children of Men; the second episode shows Earth's preparation; and the last is the familiar nativity scene in the stable at Bethlehem.

Brown Bull of Norway, The

By Margaret Lynch Conger — 50 cents

16 principal characters, attendants, heralds, servants, townspeople. Time: About 1 hour. Settings: The King's court; the Bull's palace; a heath upon which a hut stands; a town market-place in Norway.

This is a dramatization of an old Norse legend of an enchanted prince and a courageous princess who marries him in order to save her people.

Budget Ghost, The See page 67

Canton Pearls

By Jean Grigsby Paxton — 50 cents

7 characters. 3 acts. Settings: A room in a Chinese home; a girl's room at True Light School; a garden.

Fung Yan goes from her aristocratic Chinese home to the True Light School in Canton. She distrusts western civilization, and particularly the Christian religion. Time and association with the "foreign devils" change her opinion and she finally becomes a Christian. The contest of the old with the new is sympathetically portrayed.

Cat Fear

By Marion Norris Gleason — 50 cents

Royalty $5.00; to Association groups, $2.50. 2 women, 2 men, dancing maidens. Setting: A garden.

A fanciful Japanese comedy in pantomime with music. Not difficult to produce although it needs careful directing and rehearsing. Delightful to vary or lighten a program or as a curtain raiser.

Chalice and the Cup, The

By Mary S. Edgar — 50 cents

2 principal characters; any number of girls; a choir. Time: About 30 minutes. Setting: A stage with dark hangings.

An Easter service suitable for any time during the Easter season. The church with her message of Christ's death and resurrection gives inspiration and responsibility to Association Spirit, who in turn passes it on to the girls of many lands. Any organization may use it by substituting another name for Association Spirit and making a few minor changes.

Christ Is Born at Bethlehem

By Vida R. Sutton — 50 cents

16 characters and an angel chorus. 3 scenes. Settings: A stage with dark blue hangings, which, by raising and lowering the lights, may be made to represent a Judean hillside and a setting for the manger cradle.

A very beautiful nativity play introducing prophets, angels, shepherds and kings, with a chorus singing the familiar Christmas carols.

Christmas Book, A

By May E. Phipps and Marjorie Van Horn — 50 cents

17 principal characters; children for the bell dance and elf dance; fairies, toys, jumping-jacks, snowflakes, garland dancers, minuet dancers. Time: 1 hour. Setting: A living room the night before Christmas.

The Christmas book opens to the children, and for their delight, Santa Claus, the elves, the toys, Jack Frost and the snowflakes, troop out. Dancing, drills and songs are used. Good for school use.

Christmas Story, The

By Jane T. Miller — 50 cents

50 characters. 6 tableaus. Time: About an hour and a half. Settings: The wise men's desert camp; before the inn at Bethlehem; a hillside in Judea; the Sanhedrim; in Herod's court; in the stable at Bethlehem.

The text and description of Lew Wallace's Ben Hur have been used as the background for six tableaus which beautifully present the story of Christ's birth and the events immediately preceding and following it. The music of the old, well-known Christmas carols is well fitted to the text and atmosphere of the story.

Christmas Tree Bluebird, The

By Mary S. Edgar — 50 cents

Royalty $1.00. 3 principal characters, club members, brownies, tenement children. Settings: A sitting room with a fireplace; a workshop; a shabby room.

The story of Tyltyl and Mytyl inspires eight girls to hunt for the bluebird themselves. May be used with slight changes at any time during the year.

Circus, A

By Helen Durham — 75 cents

A large cast, varying with available material. Time: An entire evening. Settings: 11 "big acts" made up of numerous stunts.

Efficient management and cooperation will produce an unusually entertaining performance. This has frequently been given by groups as a money-raising entertainment.

Conspiracy of Spring, The

By Mary S. Edgar — 50 cents

Royalty $2.00. 18 little girls. Time: 45 minutes. Setting: Out of doors.

Appropriate for May Day or any spring festival. The Nature Sprites—robin, butterfly, rivulet, blue sky, and dawn—and all the daisies, violets and roses struggle to win the Earth Mortal's homage to Spring. Not difficult.

Crowning of Spring, The

By Sara Kingsbury — 50 cents

8 principal characters. 3 acts. Time: Dependent upon length of dances. Settings: A lawn; a court before Winter's palace.

A pretty, imaginative spring pantomime. A fairly large cast is needed to show the elaborate costuming to advantage and for the group dances. Spring and Winter vie for supremacy, the former winning after lesser defeats. Well adapted to school use.

Curious Herbal, The

By Constance Smedley Armfield — 50 cents

3 characters—2 men and 1 woman. Time: About 30 minutes. Setting: An old Chelsea garden.

Clever Mrs. Blackwell visits an old Chelsea garden and persuades crotchety old Dr. Miller to do as she wishes and aid her husband. A fanciful piece in the rhymed verse of the 18th century stage.

Darkness and Dawn

By Frederica Le F. Bellamy — 50 cents

16 characters. 3 episodes. Time: 1 hour. Setting: A hillside near Joseph's garden.

A mystery play for Easter, dealing with the thoughts and feelings of children and simple folk during the darkness of the crucifixion, the night of the entombment, and the dawn of Easter morning. In the first episode the children have lost their way in the darkness and talk together of what they have learned of this Jesus. The second episode is a meeting between two sentries of the Roman guard. The last episode brings the children to the garden, where they learn of the empty tomb and the risen Christ.

Drama of Esther, The — 50 cents

About 30 characters. 3 acts, 8 scenes. Time: 50 minutes. Settings: Interior of an oriental house throne room of the King's palace; before the King's gate; Esther's apartments; another room of the palace.

A dramatization of the Bible narrative which brings out the human interest strongly and gives the oriental setting and culture with unusual accuracy.

Enchanted Urn, The

By Hazel MacKaye — 50 cents

Royalty $5.00; $2.50 to Associations. A pantomime with 3 principal characters and 10 nymphs of the urn. 3 acts. Time: 45 minutes. Setting: Courtyard of a Grecian house.

A passionate love of music and poetry has been inherited by Lesbia from her poet father. Eunice, her mother, fearful lest Lesbia become too absorbed by her musical gifts, tells her they must be kept sacred to the name of the departed poet, whose ashes rest in the great urn in the courtyard. But Lesbia cannot resist her harp. Her music awakens the nymphs who support the urn and after a brief moment of dancing and play with them, Lesbia finds herself under the spell, compelled to join the circle about the urn. Eunice's great love, together with her wisdom, restores her daughter to life.

Every Girl

By Mary S. Edgar — 50 cents

14 principal characters; club girls, campers, children. 3 scenes. Time: A full evening. Settings: Out of doors; a club room; a girls' camp.

Every Girl meets her old, old friends—Health, Dreams and Beauty—and goes with them in search of the Land of Heart's Desire. Through several joyous adventures, with Association Spirit as her guide, she arrives at her destination.

Fairy Comedy, A

See The Little Man in the Moon See page 42

Fashion Review—Down Petticoat Lane

By Helen Durham 50 cents

Royalty $5.00. 19 or more characters. 2 parts. Setting: A garden on Petticoat Lane.

All the ladies of fashion—from the time of Pocahontas down to the present—pass before us in pageant in the first part. Various fads and fancies of today make up part 2. Pantomime with song is used throughout.

Festival of Days, The

By Lucy South Proudfoot 50 cents

40 to 100 characters.

The Festival of Days is planned to provide a pageant in which the members of all the dancing classes may take part. The dances vary in difficulty from very simple to fairly advanced work.

Full costuming suggestions are given, and there are directions for finding music and dances suitable to the most outstanding of the days. But all the days are there—birthday, circus day, longest day, even pay day, in a costume lavishly bedight with dollars. A very effective entertainment.

Festival of Proserpina, The

By Margaret Lynch Conger 50 cents

7 main characters; attendants, flowers, insects. 8 episodes, 3 scenes. Settings: A meadow; before Pluto's palace; on Mount Olympus.

A charming celebration of the return of spring, using the old Greek myth. Written with a nice sense of humor, in delightful modern English, and giving opportunity for some unusual dance effects, this has been used successfully by schools, clubs, and groups of girls, or girls and boys.

Festival of the Harvest Moon, The

By Sue Ann Wilson 50 cents

17 principal characters, 21 groups. 6 episodes. Time: An entire evening. Setting: A large hall.

A whole community can join in this colorful Thanksgiving entertainment. Song, dance, history and literature all find expression here.

Festival of Yankee Doodle, The

By Sue Ann Wilson 50 cents

10 principal characters, 17 groups of 2 or more. 5 episodes. Setting: A large field or hall, with seating space on three sides. A raised dais in the center.

The idea of the festival is a community get-together, combining pageant and recreational features with community singing. Suited to Fourth of July production. The episodes can be separately worked up, and arranged so that the audience as well as the performers may have a part.

First Nowell, The

By Claudine E. Clements — 50 cents

Prologue, epilogue and three episodes. Settings: The kitchen of an inn; the yard of an inn; an open field; the interior of the stable-cave—all at Bethlehem.

Christmas Eve in Old England finds Mistress Winston preparing "cheer" for the guests of the inn. A chair-mender, a lavender-seller and a weary woman with a little child receive warm welcome and shelter. As she falls asleep she talks in a dream with the Mender of Souls and the Seller of Dreams, who are journeying toward Bethlehem. The scene then shifts to Bethlehem and in three episodes the nativity story is told. The weaving of Mistress Winston's own experience and thought into the dream is cleverly done, and combined with the old English carols and the festive atmosphere of the inn, it makes this play unusually vivid.

Fools and the Fairies, The

Arranged by Percy A. Scholes. Music by Martin Shaw

$1.00

30 or more characters. 6 scenes. Settings: Interior of a house; a wood; the Duke's palace.

A musical play for schools or similar organizations, containing every bit of Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream" save the "love making and love marring." It is complete in itself, requiring no previous knowledge on the part of the audience. There are opportunities for music and dances, both solo and chorus. Words, music and dances, are included.

Friendly Kingdom, The

By Tracy D. Mygatt — 50 cents

7 principal characters; Faith, Hope, Service, Stars, and several groups of girls. Time: Plays an entire evening. Setting: A forest.

Immigrant Girl and Foreign Girl are aided in their unhappy struggle against the Goblin of Loneliness by the Spirit of the Blue Triangle and her American friends. Suitable for high school Girl Reserves.

Gate of Montsalvat, The

By Mary McKittrick — 50 cents

4 men, 1 woman; all parts may be taken by girls. Time: About 45 minutes. Setting: A dark mountain-top, outside the castle of the Holy Grail.

A presentation—it is hardly a pageant or a play—of the search for the Grail. First produced at Vassar College, it has been given also in schools and camps.

Gilded Wreath, The

By Constance Smedley Armfield — 50 cents

3 characters—1 woman, 2 men. Setting: The ante-room of a concert hall.

A philosopher in the guise of the piano-man at Concert Hall reads a lecture to two ambitious young musicians about the gilded wreath of fame. For skillful players.

Glory of the Task, The

By Laura Scherer Copenhaver and Eleanor Copenhaver — 50 cents

75-100 in the cast. Time: 1 hour. Setting: An empty stage with dark hangings.

The Girl of Today and the Spirit of Service watch the courageous women workers of all ages pass in review, and the Girl of Today realizes more fully than ever the glory of her task. Written originally for industrial groups, it is suitable for any who wish to portray this phase of women's progress.

Golden Leaves, The

By A. Lewis Colwell — 50 cents

8 principal characters and 2 choruses. 3 acts. Outdoor or simple indoor settings.

Verse, Polish folk songs and dancing are woven together into the pattern of The Golden Leaves. This was written for a Girl Reserve group in Boston, and was given by them with great success.

A little goat girl and her lover are separated; there is a fairy who knows that the spirit of play transforms ordinary daily things into golden treasure; there is dancing and merrymaking. And there is, at the last, a joyful wedding festival for the reunited lovers.

Goodwill

By Margaret MacNamara — $1.00

7 principal characters, a Reader, and groups to represent the tribes. May be given on a stage or out of doors.

This is a delightfully informal little pageant, given in pantomime, suitable for production on Goodwill Day, May 18, or at any other time. Children will enjoy interpreting the Reader's story of the Stone Age, when the Browns and the Greys, neighbor tribes, first began to covet each other's possessions, and first learned the meaning of the words greed, war, famine, and finally, goodwill.

Go Ye Into All the World

By Frederica Le F. Bellamy — 50 cents

20 characters. Introduction, conclusion, and 4 episodes. Time: A full evening. Setting: A rector's study or garden.

A new presentation of home and foreign missions particularly suitable for church and Sunday school groups.

Growth of a Nation, The

By Florence M. Eldridge — 50 cents

6 principal characters; 17 national and class groups. 4 episodes; 11 tableaus. Time: 1 hour. Setting: A large stage with a few properties.

The Spirit of a National Ideal chooses newly discovered America as a fitting place for the birth and development of a great nation. The newcomers found a community of liberty and goodness, but all too soon jealousy, prejudice and greed seize the people and darken the hopes of the Spirit. At length she calls in Understanding and Love, to make possible a more peaceful living together.

Guiding Light, The

A nativity play by Ivy Bolton, author of the delightful "King of Sherwood." 50 cents

22 characters—to be increased if wished. Settings: A hill; a desert; the court of the Temple; the inn at Bethlehem. All may be easily arranged against one dark background.

While using the Bible story as the frame of her narrative, the author has put unusual content into the brief scenes and has made a Christmas play of beauty, dignity and spiritual significance. Both churches and lay groups will find this a desirable new Christmas resource.

Gym and Jerry

By Barbara Abel 50 cents

9 principal characters; any number of gym girls. Time: 30 minutes. Setting: A girl's room.

A rollicking health play with common sense mixed with the humor, showing how Jerry decided to "go in for health."

Health City and Other Health Plays, The

By Marion Shepard, M.D. 50 cents

A health play and two pantomimes. The play uses 3 principal characters and a group of girls. Setting: Outside a city wall.

A simple play "getting over" several fundamental rules of health. Good for schools and colleges as well as for Associations.

In 1864

By Vida R. Sutton 50 cents

9 characters. Time: 25 minutes. Setting: Sitting room of a New England home.

An effective picture of the "waiting for news" of Civil War days. Simple to produce, yet giving the "feel" of the times and lightened by touches of humor.

In Safety

By Margaret MacNamara 50 cents

Royalty by arrangement with Norman Swartout, Summit, N. J. 9 principal characters; Indians; Quakers. 40 minutes. Setting: Outside a Friends' Meeting House in early days.

This tensely dramatic play of the Quakers, the early colonists, and the Indians in pre-Revolutionary days tells the old story of gaining peace and safety through goodwill rather than by the sword. For advanced groups.

In the Forest of Domremy

By Vida R. Sutton 50 cents

18 characters; townspeople. 3 acts. Setting: A forest.

The stirring story of the Maid of Orleans is dramatized simply and effectively. Through the people of Domremy one comes to know the girl who saw visions and heard voices in the forest. The same people tell of her tragic fate.

Any amateur group should enjoy producing this. Good for production on May 30, anniversary of Joan of Arc's martyrdom.

Jongleur's Story, The

By Frederica Le F. Bellamy — 50 cents

About 35 characters. 10 tableaus. Setting: Either indoors or out of doors. Careful lighting arrangements.

The Jongleur, after the manner of his profession in the Middle Ages, tells his story. To make his tale more vivid he brings magic pictures before his audience. Ruth and Naomi, Joseph sold into slavery, the Nativity, the sorrowing Marys, Marigold, the timid Bunny, and the Mother Spirit make up his entertainment. Well suited to church use.

King of Sherwood, The

By Ivy Bolton — 50 cents

9 men, 2 women. Setting: A forest.

Robin Hood and the merry men of Sherwood interfere to save Ellen from marriage with Sir Stephen so that she may become the bride of the strolling poet, Allan-a-Dale. The gallantry and amusing knavery of the King of Sherwood are accompanied by the wit of the jester, Laughing Lips. Quaint, obsolete English forms of speech give the right tone to the play. Delightful for school use.

Lad and Other Story Plays See page 19

Lady Joanna, The

By Anne Charlotte Darlington — 50 cents

Three one-act plays. The first, which gives its name to the collection, has a cast of three women and a man; the second, By the Roadside, 5 women; the third, The Nine, 10 men and 3 women—more women if desired. Settings for all three very simple, or very elaborate, as one pleases. Time, for each: About 20 minutes.

Three episodes connected indirectly with the life and teachings of Christ. "This is a gem!" was the comment made by a reader upon one of the plays, and "This one I could use tomorrow—very dramatic—could be simply done—clearly written—no waste of words" was pencilled upon another. The title play, while written for no particular time or season, could well be chosen as an Easter play.

Land of Right Side Out, The

By Josephine Thorp — 50 cents

Royalty $1.00. 4 speaking characters, 8 bad fairies, 9 good fairies, and children. Setting: A platform set to give the effect of a terrace.

The Fairy Godmother allows the children to select their fairy playmates, and the children, eager for play, choose the firstcomers, who are the bad fairies. The bad fairies play several tricks on Nation, Justice, and Liberty, and things are put to rights only when the good fairies come and find the children. Easy to produce.

Least of These, The

By Emma Wilson and Anna Field — 50 cents

10 characters. Time: About 45 minutes. Setting: A bare room.

Martin, an old cobbler, learns that God may be found in his own poor shop when he opens its doors to those who need shelter. An unusual Christmas play, based upon Tolstoi's story, "Where Love Is, God Is."

Legend of Old Manhattan, A

See "Spirit of America" Plays, page 49

Legend of the Laurel, The

By Evelyn B. Brownell — 50 cents

A legend of Apollo, Pan, and Daphne, giving an authentic and lovely presentation of Greek mythology. Singing, dancing, pantomime. Written and first produced at Leland-Stanford University. Very good for a commencement play.

Light, The

By Katharine C. Bryan — 50 cents

About 22 characters. Time: About an hour. Setting: One neutral background with varying properties.

A child, through disobedience, wanders into darkness, but learns how to find the light again; a boy and a girl dance the "Adoration of the Fire"; three slaves of the Roman period discern that they must have more knowledge, more light. The nativity scene shows how all people, as well as the wise men and the shepherds, may find an unfading light beside a manger-cradle. A beautiful and effective play-pageant for Christmas programs. May be used to introduce a "White Christmas" festival.

Light of the Women, The See page 67

Little Man in the Moon, The Music and words by Mary S. Jacob — 50 cents

About 15 little boys and girls. All parts may be taken by girls. Setting: A room decorated for a Christmas festival. A decorated tree is in one corner.

The Little Man in the Moon appeals in distress to the fairies, because twelve o'clock has struck and Father Christmas is nowhere to be found. The Fairy Queen surmises that Mrs. Cloud is the cause of the trouble, and with Mother Goose's assistance she plots Mrs. Cloud's downfall and the deliverance of the Yule saint. The scheme succeeds and Father Christmas arrives in time to fill the children's stockings and load the trees.

Action songs, simple dances and easy speaking parts make this a delightful play for younger children. Music and directions included.

Little Patriot, The, and Barbara Frietchie

By Margaret Getchell Parsons — 50 cents

Two short plays by the author of "Red Letter Day Plays."

The Little Patriot is a play founded upon a supposedly true incident in the life of George Washington. The entire play takes place in the dining room of a colonial house. Four men, one of whom is of course General Washington, and a little girl (or boy, if all boys want to give the play) compose the cast.

In Barbara Frietchie the play takes place in the parlor of Barbara's house. Two young girls and Mandy Lee, a little colored girl, are the characters, but off-stage someone must impersonate General Jackson, and his soldiers must make themselves heard.

Both these plays are simple to produce but have good dramatic quality. We recommend them for any teen-age group.

Little Princess Who Traveled Far to Worship the King, The

By Dorothy R. Schenck — 50 cents

3 shepherds, 3 kings, a princess, and the shepherd's daughter. Time: 30-40 minutes. Setting: A hillside.

This is the Bethlehem story, but told in a new and lovely way. Particularly good for churches because the music is by unseen voices or instruments, and can be worked up separately.

Little Robin Stay-Behind See page 20

Maiden Over the Wall

By Bertram Bloch — 50 cents

Royalty $5.00. 5 principal characters: elves, ghosts, and maidens. Time: One hour or more. Additional dances may prolong it if the producer so desires. Setting: A garden.

When an American youth wanders into an enchanted garden and faces elves, a dragon, and an enchanted princess, the situation is unique and amusing. Actors with a sense of humor and an appreciation of the fanciful should play it. Either a mixed or an all-girl cast may be used.

Marenka

By Era Betzner — $1.00

Royalty $5.00. 4 principals. 3 acts, 7 scenes. Time: One hour. Settings: A square in a Czecho-Slovak village; a May-pole green.

An operetta in which the themes of love and springtime are woven together, using folk customs and folk songs. Honza and Marenka are in love with each other, but on the eve of the May-day festivities their parents interfere and forbid the match. The lovers are very unhappy. In a dream Marenka's mother sees and feels the joy of spring's triumph over winter, she relents and the lovers and all the villagers rejoice.

Masque of the Seventeenth Century, A

By Vida R. Sutton — 50 cents

100 or more characters. 3 parts. Setting: A stage with dark hangings.

Knowledge enthroned is greeted by an unseen chorus of seventeenth century women who beg release from their restrictions. At her bidding, dancers, singers, and figures from Molière's "Les Femmes Savantes" appear. Ladies of learning from all corners of the world gather to vindicate the ladies of learning Molière has satirized, but they are appeased by an apology from the Frenchman.

May Festival, A See page 67

Midsummer Day's Frolic, A

By Dorothy Powell — 50 cents

4 speaking characters, with any number of fairies, clowns, children, etc. Setting: A woodland.

A child finds fairyland, and for the delight of her new playfellows, calls in Mother Goose folk, peasant children, clowns, etc. The play really serves as a framework upon which to hang any number of dances. It is particularly appropriate for summer.

Morning, Noon and Night

Words by Violet I. Orde. Music by W. Orde — 50 cents

Characters: Haymakers, cowherds, dairymaids, fairies. Setting: A stage with lighting arrangements to give dawn, midday, and returning night.

A miniature operetta easily gotten up and very effective. The fairies dance just as the mortals are waking to their tasks of milking and haymaking. The day of work, play, and song passes, and the workers come home to rest. The dialogue may be omitted if the producers wish.

Mother Nature's Carnival

By Mildred Olive Honors — 50 cents

30 girls and 5 boys; more if desired. 1 act or 2 acts as desired. Time: About one and one half hours. Setting: A garden. Simple music and dancing.

Two little "earth children" attend Mother Nature's spring carnival. Their experiences with the other guests—the flowers, bumblebees, butterflies, grasshoppers, and many more—are woven into a story of distinct dramatic appeal. A wicked witch almost keeps Prince Sunshine away from the party, but he eventually arrives, and the May-pole dance is celebrated with Frances, one of the "earth children," as queen.

Mystic Flower, The

By Era Betzner, author of Marenka — $1.00

Royalty $5.00. 8 principal characters, with gypsies, villagers, witches, wood nymphs. 3 acts. Settings: Before a peasant cottage; a deep forest. The cast must be quite large to be effective.

This should prove even more popular than "Marenka," for it has more dramatic action and more variety of plot and character. The music may be found in well-known collections. The dances may be most simple or made into a feature of the operetta, since there is a chance for all types—folk, fancy, interpretative, grotesque, solo and ensemble.

Nativity of the Manger, The

By Helen Durham — 50 cents

11 principal characters, singers. Prologue and 3 tableaus. Time: One hour. Setting: Before a church, or in a large space, in or out of doors, on a platform hung with dark draperies.

This beautiful and dignified Christmas program includes tableaus of the wise-men, the shepherds, and the nativity. Passages from the King James version of the New Testament and old music are used throughout.

Night and Morning

By Margaret Lynch Conger — 50 cents

10 principal characters; soldiers. 2 episodes. Time: 45 minutes. Settings: A room in Pilate's house; in the garden of Joseph of Arimathæa.

A simple, dramatic presentation of the story of Easter eve and Easter morning. The high priests interview Pilate and the tomb is sealed, but in a crash of thunder the stone is rolled away and the Christ rises.

One Father of All

By Pearl Forsyth and Martha Race — 50 cents

26 characters. 2 parts. Time: 1 hour. Setting: A stage with plain draperies.

A visual presentation of world fellowship, suited to the use of any group or organization. Simple in setting, portraying the ways of worship of different religions and ending with an interpretation of the Lord's Prayer.

Open Highway, The

By Ethel R. Jasspon and Beatrice Becker — 50 cents

11 principal characters. 2 scenes. Settings: Easily improvised.

Amusing presentation of international relations and interdependence. Uncle Sam, annoyed by his people's lack of understanding of the economic ties which bind men together, imposes an embargo with amusing but eminently satisfactory results.

Out of the Dark

By Dorothy Guinn — 50 cents

About 30 characters. Prologue, 4 episodes, epilogue. Time: An entire evening. Settings: Easily improvised.

From the freedom of Africa, through the misery of slavery, and into the struggle of the present, the history of the Negro race is traced. Dances, tableaus, songs, and dramatic sketches tell the story.

Pageant of Loyalty, A

By Dorothy Powell — 50 cents

85-100 characters. 6 episodes. Settings: A woodland clearing; a ship's deck; the merry greenwood; a May-pole green; an empty room.

The urge to freedom among men and women is traced by dramatic sketch, tableau, and pantomime, showing poachers, pirates, Robin Hood, old English folk, the signers of the Declaration of Independence and modern citizens. The whole is effectively drawn together at the close by the beautiful Athenian oath of loyalty.

Pageant of the Church, A

By Eleanor B. Forman and Mabel E. Stone — 50 cents

A large cast. Prologue, epilogue, 7 episodes, and 4 interludes. Time: A full evening. Settings: Easily improvised.

The episodes trace the historic development of the church and show the contribution of each epoch to our modern church life. Costuming is elaborate, but few rehearsals are required. Especially useful to the young people's societies of the churches.

Pageant of the Fifteenth Century, A

By Vida R. Sutton — 50 cents

Royalty $5.00. 80-100 in the cast. Prologue, epilogue, 4 episodes. Settings: A Map-pole green; a forest; an artist's studio; a king's court.

A choral procession followed by episodes which present the culture and history of the fifteenth century. The first episode is an English May-day festival, the second the story of Joan of Arc, the third shows the studio of Leonardo da Vinci, and the fourth is the return of Columbus to the court of Ferdinand and Isabella.

Written for and given by a private school in New York City, this and the following pageant as well as the "Masque of the Sevententh Century" (page 43) are particularly recommended to schools and colleges.

Pageant of the Sixteenth Century, A

By Vida R. Sutton — 50 cents

90 or more characters. 11 episodes. Setting: A stage with a frame at the back, lighted to represent the frame of an old masterpiece.

This is the second of this series of period pageants and portrays the life and culture of the time it represents. Women of Italy, France, Persia, England, China, India, Japan, and the land of the Aztecs pass before us. Dramatic sketch, pantomime, song, and dance carry the pageant forward.

Parable of the Wise and Foolish Virgins See page 68

Pedlar, The

Arranged by Percy A. Scholes. Music by Martin Shaw — $1.00

11 characters; shepherds, shepherdesses, and satyrs. 2 scenes. Time: 30 minutes. Settings: An English country lane; an old English farm-house.

The Autolycus Scene from Shakespeare's "Winter's Tale." Includes six delightful songs and two dances full of jollity. The cast may be entirely boys.

Prodigal Son, The, and The Beginning of the Church

By Ava Knowles — 50 cents

The Prodigal Son; 10 characters. 3 episodes. Settings: A field; a room in an oriental house; a roadside.

A simple dramatization of the parable of the prodigal son.

The Beginning of the Church; 20 principal characters; buyers, children, people of Jerusalem. Settings: A street in Jerusalem; a market-place; a home; a schoolroom.

In a series of dramatic sketches the activities of the apostles are presented. The influence of the gospel message is seen at Pentecost, in a market place, in a home, and in a school. Finally one place where the people may gather is appointed and the church is founded.

Rameses Dreams

By Marion Norris Gleason and Harold Gleason 50 cents

Royalty $5.00; to Association groups $2.50. 4 principal characters; Egyptians, soldiers, dancing girls, courtiers and figures of the frieze. Setting: Interior of the tomb of Rameses.

A unique and amusing pantomime in which the mummified Rameses dreams that one of the figures on the frieze of his tomb comes to life. A love story is rudely interrupted by the gong which sounds a moment too soon and the figures are startled back into the frieze.

With careful training for exactness of movement and detail this is really very effective.

Rescue and Sea Sand

By Lucy South Proudfoot 50 cents

Two water pageants.

The Rescue. 2 principal characters. 10 or 12 good swimmers. Any number of children to play in the pool.

A gay little water comedy in which the usual life-saving emphasis is reversed, and the heroine effects a skillful rescue of her lover.

Sea Sand. 6 principal characters. Members of the crew, mermaids, butterflies.

This water pantomime tells the story of a father who promised to bring to his youngest daughter a bit of sand from the bluest sea he crossed. What happened when he forgot—and what happened later, after he remembered—is cleverly, artistically enacted. This is excellent for older camp groups.

Resurrection of Our Lord, The

By May Pashley Harris 50 cents

9 principal characters; soldiers and an angel. Settings: Grounds of Pilate's palace; before Joseph's tomb.

This is a fragment of an old Sixteenth Century Protestant miracle play, one of the few Protestant miracle plays in existence, found by Mrs. Harris among the publications of the Malone Society and adapted by her for present-day use. Mrs. Harris has succeeded in keeping the quaintness of the old dialogue and yet making it intelligible to modern ears. The play is a presentation of the Easter story, simple, direct and beautiful. It is easily put on and can hardly fail of effectiveness.

Saint Francis of Assisi

By Margaret Lynch Conger — 50 cents

35 characters. Time: About 40 minutes. Setting: A winter wood. The animals hold court in the woods but their peace is broken by quarreling. St. Francis' kindly spirit quiets them and they flock to him just as the Christmas mummers enter and give their presentation of the story of the Christ-child.

The Christmas spirit is caught in this unique story of the Saint of Assisi, and a touch of the present-day rounds out the effectiveness of the play.

Scarlet Knight, The

By Mary S. Edgar — 50 cents

10 characters. Time: 30 minutes. Setting: Out of doors.

A charming pageant which tells of the passing of summer and the coming of autumn, the Scarlet Knight. Little preparation required, but much color, carefully combined, should be worked into the costuming and decorations. Suitable for children.

Shining Goddess, The

By Clara E. Sackett — 50 cents

44 characters. Settings: A stage with an outer and an inner curtain; an elevated throne at the back.

Portrays, by means of speaking, singing and dancing, the search of a girl for perfect health and freedom from mortal ills. Gradually she is led to forsake her old companions, Vanity, Ignorance, Self-Indulgence and Indifference, for new friends, Grace, Knowledge, Service, and Zeal, and through them she reaches the goal she desires. Can be made a colorful and charming production, getting over its "moral" without any undue emphasis.

Silent Voice, The

By Olive C. Jones — 50 cents

15 principal characters with groups of children for the flowers, birds and rabbits. 1 act. Indoor or out-of-door production. Time: About an hour and a quarter. Settings: Winter's palace; Spring's garden; the garden behind the Moon.

A pageant-play for spring and summer production out of doors. With an indoor stage it may be put on any time during the year.

Each earth creature has a voice with which he sings his own story of life. The Caterpillar, standing as an example of one of the voices which goes unheard by earthly ears, is rejected by its prouder fellow creatures. June comes and perfects the living thing inside the cocoon until it emerges in beauty as a Moth, to be chosen as the bride of the Moon. Then the hearts of the nature people are at last opened to all the silent voices about them.

Snow Queen, The

By Elizabeth Grimball — 50 cents

2 acts. Time: About an hour. Settings: A cave; an enchanted wood; a village street; the Snow Queen's palace.

A little boy, under the enchantment of the Bad Goblin, goes to live with the Snow Queen in her sparkling palace. Gerda, the boy's playmate, goes in search of him and with the aid of the wise old crow finds the Queen's palace. In her distress at the boy's coldness, she weeps, thus breaking the spell. The Snow Queen at once becomes Spring and the boy is restored.

Somersault to Love, A

By Lyon Sharman — 50 cents

Published by The Macmillan Co., Ltd., Toronto.

Distributed in the United States by THE WOMANS PRESS.

6 women, 4 men, and a small boy (who may be omitted). Time: About 30 minutes. Setting: A Chinese courtyard.

A comedy of changing manners in China. Clever and delightful. As a curtain raiser for the evening's program of a Little Theatre, or as a program for a world fellowship club it would prove equally good.

"Spirit of America" Plays

By Georgia Stenger — each 50 cents; $1.25 for the set

Three plays that have independence—the spirit of America—for their motive. All have been successfully given by schools and groups—Girl Reserve, Camp Fire, Scouts, etc. Chronologically, the three plays stand:

At the Turn of Tide. 7 girls, 8 boys and a little boy for the speaking parts, and Indians, women, etc., for the extras. 3 acts. Setting: The Common House of the Pilgrims. Time: About 35 minutes.

Marks the close of the era of distress and sickness of the Pilgrims. Colonial New England.

A Legend of Old Manhattan. 9 speaking parts which may be taken by all girls or all boys. Time: About 30 minutes—longer if desired. 3 acts. Settings: A room in an old Dutch house; an Indian village; Bowling Green in old New York.

In the days of Peter Stuyvesant, the wooden-legged governor of New Amsterdam. Colonial New York. The romance of a young Dutch girl carried off by Indians; her return; her love for and final reunion with the young Indian chief with whom she was brought up.

Above All Else, Liberty! 3 girls, 7 boys, and supernumeraries. 3 scenes and an interlude.

Unites the great speeches of Patrick Henry into a romantic incident. Colonial Virginia. Both settings and costumes give opportunity for charming effects, and there is a chance for some good oratorical ability to display itself in the speeches of Patrick Henry (although these are sufficiently curtailed not to break the continuity of the play).

Spirit of Christmas, The

By Grace E. Craig — 50 cents

Royalty $2.00. 9 adults, 7 children. Time: 30 minutes. Settings: Any room or hall with a curtained stage.

When the Christmas Spirit appears, boys and girls learn the real meaning of a story they have heard many times. Tableaus of the wise men, the shepherds and the nativity. A less formal presentation of the nativity and in favor with Sunday schools for that reason.

Spring, Queen of Youth

By Edith Roeder Jacobs — 50 cents

100 or more characters. Setting: Indoor or outdoor, where there is space for the dances.

A dance pantomime showing the various seasons in review before Youth, who finally chooses Spring as queen. Careful directions for dances and costumes are given.

Thirteen Colonies, The

By Magdelene C. Radke — 50 cents

30 characters: Indians, Pilgrims and dancers. Prologue and 14 episodes. Settings: Easily improvised.

A patriotic theme, giving in song, dance, dramatic sketch and pantomime the growth of the thirteen original colonies. The final tableau shows the colonies united into a nation. An unusual presentation.

There Is a Lad Here

By Belle MacDiarmid Ritchey — 50 cents

5 principal characters; people in the market-place, children. Settings: A market-place in Jerusalem; interior of a poor Jewish home; interior of a prosperous Jewish home.

We see the lad with the loaves and fishes on the day when Christ used his little offering. Then, after the momentous day, we see reflected in his life and in that of his family the influence of the Messiah. An exceptionally well done Bible play and well suited to older groups.

Three Christmas Wishes

By Caroline de F. Penniman — 50 cents

7 main characters; fairies. 3 acts, 3 scenes. Settings: A living room; a children's bedroom; a dining room.

A little girl makes a selfish Christmas wish, but the Christmas fairies come to her in a dream—a most unusual dream of dancing and other delightful surprises (for the audience). Christmas morning finds her making a new unselfish wish and helping it to come true.

Three Pantomimes

By Era Betzner — 50 cents

The Fortune Teller. A boy and a girl. Setting: A garden.

A dainty and charming pantomime of a gypsy boy and a prim little girl, who quarrel and dance and make love in a garden.

The Awakening of Spring. 10 characters; more dancers may be added. Settings: A darkened stage with a throne.

Gray King Winter, drowsing upon his throne, is aroused by the frolicking Breezes and Sunshine. Angrily he charges upon them, but in the tussle Sunshine is able to snatch his cloak off and show him to be Spring.

Celestial Love. 7 characters. Setting: Imaginary.

A tragi-comic pantomime featuring the property-man, who is characteristic of all Chinese drama. The tragedy of the fate of the unhappy lovers, who are slain by an irate father, is relieved by the matter-of-fact ways of the property-man.

Transfiguration of the Gifts, The

By Frances Cavanah — 50 cents

8 adults, 5 children, a choir. Time: 30 minutes. Setting: Interior of the stable at Bethlehem.

A play for Christmas time which may precede or conclude a Christmas entertainment or may be given independently. An imaginative interpretation of the Christmas story, where the humble gifts of little children are turned to beauty because of their love for the Christ-child.

Tree of Life, The

By Esther Willard Bates — 50 cents

Royalty $5.00. About 18 principal characters, singers, hidden voices, etc. Setting: The platform of a church. Lighting arrangements should lend themselves to raising and lowering of the illumination.

An Easter pageant of unusual and moving beauty which permits of a cast that can be increased at will by enlarging groups and choruses. In the final episode the bare cross becomes a green and living tree as the palm branches carried by the characters are placed on it.

Two Indian Legends

By Frances Densmore — 50 cents

The Race of the Ants. 5 girls, 9 boys, and groups of children. Setting: A field.

The chief of the ants announces a great race. Hail, Cloud, Wind, Mouse, Cat, the Wood, the House, and the Farmer are all called in.

How the Turtles Went to War. 16 or 18 little boys and girls. Setting: Easily improvised.

The animals want revenge on the Indian who stole Mrs. Rabbit's babies, but they are all too timid to lead the attack. The Snapping Turtle finally gets up a war party, and the play shows what happened then. Both these simple dramatizations are based upon tales of an Arizona Indian story teller, and are unusually delightful.

Two Water Pageants

By Lucy South Proudfoot — 50 cents

A Fairy Water Play. 4 principal characters, wood and water nymphs. 2 acts. Setting: A lake with a woods.

A picturesque and colorful water pageant with wood nymphs, satyrs, water nymphs, and a frog.

The Giant's Garden.

This fairy tale is suited for dramatization in an indoor pool, and combines dancing and pantomime with swimming. Fancy diving and swimming are called for.

Two Weeks with Pay

By Barbara Abel — 50 cents

About 30 girls, 10 principal characters. Setting: A barren roadside.

A dramatic skit on the vacation theme. This might well be used by club groups in the spring to awaken interest in the summer camp and vacations that really refresh. It is also usable for money raising.

Venus

By Edith Roeder Jacobs — 50 cents

Thirteen main characters, groups of water nymphs, sea waves, fairies, graces, attendants.

A dance pantomime in three episodes, depicting the story of the Goddess of Beauty.

Victory of Light, The

By Helen Willcox — 50 cents

4 principal characters; a company of dancers for spirits of night and day.

A beautiful masque, showing in symbolic figures the victory of light over darkness. In its interpretation, verse, use of dances, color and light, this is far above the average. Capital for commencement and camp.

Waif, The

By Elizabeth Grimball — 50 cents

8 principal characters. 3 minor characters. Setting: A narrow street.

The Christmas Spirit, in the guise of a forlorn waif, seeks the Golden Star. In weariness and confusion, he loses his way, and begs the passers-by—Vanity, Greed, Sorrow and Pleasure—to help him. They will not stop, but Faith joins him in his search. Service comes to their aid and guides them to the light.

Wayside Piper, The

By Mary S. Edgar — 50 cents

21 characters. 6 scenes. Settings: A wayside; an arbor; a workshop; out of doors.

Into the Piper's flute, Faith, Hope and Love have breathed the essence of themselves to produce a clear, beautiful melody. With this the Piper goes forth into the wayside places of life, awakening a responsiveness from those who hear him.

Which Way Out?

By Florence Wells — 50 cents

7 men, 3 women. Time: 45 minutes. Setting: A prosperous Chinese home.

A clever comedy, full of dramatic possibilities and consequently easily played. A Chinese girl returns home from school determined to become a physician. How, with the aid of a school friend, she escapes the marriage arranged for her by her father, but escapes in such a way that her father does not "lose face," is the story of the play.

Wooings and Witches

By Vida R. Sutton — 50 cents

15 characters. Settings: A wood; an improvised balcony; a street; a room simply furnished; a luxurious interior—a set of hangings and a few properties.

The Jester introduces Titania and Bottom, Romeo and Juliet, Henry V and Katherine, Petruchio and Katharine the Shrew, Richard II and Anne. They give their love scenes. The witches mix a brew and confuse the lovers. Wrongly paired, each answers the speeches of the other with mirth-provoking results, until released.

Yelenka the Wise See page 31

Yuletide Wakes, Yuletide Breaks

By Dorothy Gladys Spicer 50 cents

A Christmas revel in which eleven nationalities are represented. This is designed to afford a full evening's entertainment, and is useful particularly for International Institutes. Other organizations having work with the foreign-born as a part of their program will find this revel valuable. In addition to the episodes dealing directly with the individual nationality groups, there is a well worked out program of games appropriate to the occasion. Then there are sketches and descriptions of the costumes, and careful directions for the decorations, stage setting, music—even for the refreshments!

The program is very flexible, and can be easily adapted to suit a greater or lesser number of nationality groups, or to suit groups other than those described.

ENGLISH IMPORTATIONS

BLESSED JOAN OF ARC
By A. Maude Royden $1.00

A brief history, in 136 small pages, of her whom Miss Royden calls "of all the saints . . . one of the easiest to know," and whom, she might have added, to know is to love. Miss Royden has added an "Epilogue"—a little sermon of her own to us of the present day. Joan, so the old chronicles say, acted "with power." So may we today, with that same power, "mould the civilization of the future and build the city of God."

BOOK OF PRAYERS FOR STUDENTS $1.20

Not confined to students in its usefulness. To all who wish such help for private use or for public, for formal or informal meetings, this will be welcome. The slim format makes it easy to carry as well as to use.

BOOK OF PRAYERS FOR USE IN AN INDIAN COLLEGE
By J. S. Hayland 75 cents

Written to express "the searchings after God" of men belonging to differing religious systems. The petitions and thanksgivings from the little things of everyday living to the great crises of life.

CAN WE SET THE WORLD IN ORDER
By A. Maude Royden 35 cents

In this series of four talks Miss Royden expresses the need for a spiritual awakening, not merely an emotional awakening, but an awakening of the mind in its search for the truth about this universe and its relation to God.

CLARISSA HALE SPENCER Probable price 50 cents

The biography of a woman who lived almost equally in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries, a fact symbolic of her attitude toward old and new. Miss Spencer was a secretary of the Y.W.C.A. for twenty-five years, being general secretary of the World's Y.W.C.A. from 1904 to 1920; in that capacity her life touched the people of many nations.

EQUALITY IN THE SPIRITUAL WORLD
By A. Maude Royden 25 cents

A definition of what the phrase means and a search not only into its truth, but into the implications of that truth for women and for the church.

LATER TE DEUMS, THE
By John Oxenham 15 cents

A successor to the Little Te Deums, this contains among others, A Silent Te Deum, A Te Deum of Womanhood and A Te Deum for God's Own Self.

LITTLE TE DEUM OF THE COMMONPLACE, A
By John Oxenham — 15 cents
A tiny leaflet of thanks for the common things of life.

LITANY OF REMEMBRANCE, A
By Rt. Rev. George Riddings — 15 cents
A short litany for lay meetings and services, originally written for the quiet days but usable by all groups.

MINISTRY OF WOMEN, THE
By A. Maude Royden — 10 cents
An explanation of the reason for the difficulty in admitting the spiritual equality of the sexes.

MORAL STANDARDS OF THE RISING GENERATION
By A. Maude Royden — 25 cents
Here is not the usual criticism, but a plea for a better teaching and recognition of the importance of sex relationships, to the end that young people may understand the implications of morality.

PERSON OF JESUS CHRIST, THE
By H. R. Mackintosh — 60 cents
Dr. Mackintosh is of the New College, Edinburgh, and these are his address delivered at the student conference in Swanwick. Because of the demand for them, they were rewritten and reissued in the present booklet form. The title well explains the subject matter.

PRAYER
By Evelyn Underhill. — 20 cents
A tiny booklet written to help us "improve our capacity for communion with God."

SEA WALL, THE
By Lyon Sharman — $1.50
Published by The Macmillan Company of Toronto
Distributed in the United States by THE WOMANS PRESS

ALIEN REGISTRATION 30 cents

The present keen interest in the immigration question will make of especial value this discussion of the proposed bill for compulsory registration of aliens.

It plans to have the group face squarely the situation as it is, the interests which seem in favor and those which are against the bill, and the practical issues involved. It offers a chance for the private citizen to understand something of the way legislation works, to find out where he stands and why, and to discover ways of putting the group conclusions into some sort of practical concrete action—a chance to do real law-making.

ALL COLORS $1.00

A group of intelligent women, anxious to be honest with themselves and with others, look into the matter of race friction, of jealousies between Americans of diverse national origins, of difficulties that different groups have in understanding each other. This study outline had its origin in a number of such discussions—among college girls, among women in professions and in business, among mothers and teachers. It attempts to get back from the broader scientific and ethical aspects of the matter to the concrete difficulties in personal behavior and in neighborhood life.

AND WHO IS MY NEIGHBOR? $1.00

For discussion groups studying interracial questions. Written not to find solutions, but to set forth the problems for discussion, to the end that some of the consequences of different social arrangements and actions may be more clearly understood.

COOPERATIVE TECHNIQUE FOR CONFLICT, A 20 cents

Of the greatest possible help to clubs and classes interested in discussion of present-day problems. It lights up the whole question of what results one should expect from a discussion and how to ensure that any decisions shall be really group decisions.

CREATIVE DISCUSSION Each 50 cents; 12 for $5.00

Many leaders ask how to keep group discussion from deteriorating into aimless talk. Here is a clear, untechnical guide to help you "get somewhere." This pamphlet puts the leader and group members at the heart of learning as a democratic process. It shows in sharp outline the principles by which any average group can open up an issue in ways to assure an orderly and searching procedure.

GEARING IN FOR COMMON TASKS 20 cents

In many communities, especially where questions arise about the Community Chest, leaders in social work have awaited a clean-cut, cooperative analysis of the task before the social agencies. Here is a plan by which leaders of social agencies can sit down together and quietly think out methods of cooperation, preserving what each has to give and searching out new resources for the work each is best fitted to do. When every cog is geared in, the social machinery of the community moves smoothly.

INTERNATIONAL PROBLEMS AND THE CHRISTIAN WAY OF LIFE 30 cents

A syllabus of discussion questions to promote serious study and full discussion of international problems in the light of the spirit and teachings of Jesus. It is divided into four parts—International Problems and the Individual Citizen, Certain Moral Issues in International Relations, International Organization and World Progress, Christianity and the Solution of International Problems and Establishing a Christian World Order. Perhaps the most interesting part of the pamphlet is the section of Selected Readings from books and articles bearing on the subject.

MISSIONS AND WORLD PROBLEMS

75 cents, paper; $1.00, cloth

Each chapter consists of a set of questions intended to stimulate thought and discussion of the main aspects of the problems dealt with, and also quotations from books and magazines giving suggestions and comments. It is to be used as a syllabus in discussion groups.

QUESTION OF RECOGNIZING THE UNION, THE 30 cents

It is so important in these days of labor unions to know just why one really thinks as one does on this whole question—to find out what reasonable basis, if any, one has for one's position.

QUESTION OF THE RIGHT TO STRIKE, THE 30 cents

A very timely discussion course for all whose work or whose interests touch industrial questions and the present-day problems of industrial workers.

WHAT MAKES UP MY MIND ON INTERNATIONAL QUESTIONS 75 cents

This takes international affairs out of the list of rather dry subjects to be studied as a matter of duty and brings them home to everyday folk. Instead of talking in terms that only an expert can understand, it asks one to think of the part played in "making up one's mind" by the history studied in public school, by the foreign-born people in one's own community, by the yarns heard during the war, by the newspaper read every morning.

With the aid of many concrete examples it helps a person to discover how he really got his present opinions.

WHY THE CHURCH? 60 cents

"To encourage Christians to honest thinking about the church. It does not raise problems. Rather does it formulate questions already in people's minds and challenge them to an intelligent answer, so that they can give a reason for their faith. Its purpose is to intensify religious conviction."—Rt. Rev. Charles H. Brent.

WORKER AND HIS JOB, THE

By Grace Coyle

75 cents

How to discuss everyday problems in the workshop. Samples of discussion which suggest ways to talk over the things that matter to industrial workers so that the discussion gets somewhere. The introduction is as good as a personal training course for leaders of groups.

CHRISTIANITY AND ART

By Percy Dearmer — 85 cents

A short historical sketch of the development of Art from the early Christian time to the modern period, written in a simple, non-technical manner.

CHRISTIANITY AND THE RACE PROBLEM

By J. H. Oldham — $1.00

More and more are such books as these seeking to have people face honestly such present problems as the race question, in the light of those Christian ideals which they hold. Very usable book for study groups, particularly for students.

CHRISTIAN PRINCIPLES AND RACE RELATIONS — 35 cents

A discussion course especially for students on the application of the principles of Jesus to present-day human situations. Beginning with a careful study of the nature and scope of the problem and the principles laid down in the gospels which bear directly on this, the discussions go on to study the race situation in the South from the angles of background, education, economics and citizenship.

CHRISTIAN PRINCIPLES AND THE PROBLEMS OF THE PACIFIC — 50 cents

A discussion outline for college groups.

A most timely study in view of the conditions in China at present. The six chapters cover the problems of population and migration, the industrialization of the Orient, the problems of China and the Philippines and an effort to understand Japan. The concluding chapter discusses what students can do and gives an excellent suggestive bibliography.

FACING STUDENT PROBLEMS

By Bruce Curry — $1.00

A book for leaders of discussion groups. Invaluable for use in leaders' training classes. The aim of these discussions is to gather facts as a basis and so to interpret them as to find out together what to think and what to do. The studies cover such simple, vital subjects as, Where Do We Need New Standards? How Is a Christian Different? Campus Traditions, War, How to Treat Other Races.

IN QUEST OF LIFE'S MEANING

By Henry P. Van Dusen — $1.00

A Christian philosophy of life for students. The book is divided into two significant sections—the meaning of life and the living of life. There is an introductory chapter on "Why Religion?" and then follow the conditions of the quest into life's meaning. The second section discusses the starting point for the living of life and the three sources of power for life.

MEN, WOMEN AND GOD

By Herbert Gray — 60 cents

A special edition of this well-known book designed for students.

OUR FAR EASTERN ASSIGNMENT

By Felix Morley — $1.25

The work of a newspaper man with a taste for and some training in the study of politics and economics. Written out of a desire for a better understanding of China and Japan. An effort to give a truer picture than can be gained from either the romanticist or the propagandist. Mr. Morganthau in his introduction says, "I find he (Mr. Morley) shows wonderful powers of penetration."

TEN STUDIES IN THE SERMON ON THE MOUNT

By Henry P. Van Dusen — 25 cents

Outlines for a study of the thought of Jesus as revealed in the Sermon on the Mount. Especially for the student who wishes to dig deeply into its meaning.

The relevancy of the Sermon to our life today is largely kept in the background and the main purpose is to rediscover "the mind of Christ." The studies are meant to be largely suggestive.

Arranged in ten outlines with a bibliography.

WHITHER BOUND IN MISSIONS?

PROGRAM SERIES Each .30

What its name implies—resources for the Association program.

Adventures of Ella Cinders, The
This is yet another presentation of Y.W.C.A. work, from a different angle this time. It ends in a strictly up-to-date scene with Ella, the leading lady, in an airship (the top of a stepladder concealed by foliage) making the World Tour.

Beloved Community, The, and The Quest of the Understanding Heart
The first suggests in dramatic form some things to study and use which will help to build a Beloved Community. The theme of the second is the search for an understanding of other races.

PROGRAM SERIES. (cont.)

Bringers of Gifts
A Christmas pageant of giving of gifts.

Budget Ghost, The
How thrift helps to lay the ghost of an empty pocketbook.

Candles That Burn
A candle ceremony presenting the Girl Reserve Code.

Christmas Preparatory Services
Three little services of worship for the days before Christmas.

Cryptomeria Tree, The
A sketch of some Japanese girls after the earthquake.

Education and Group Consciousness
A plain introduction to a difficult and often misunderstood subject. These discussions present the idea of group consciousness as a sense of oneness and loyalty to one's fellow workers—not antagonism to others.

Evolution of the Industrial Program of the Y.W.C.A., The Three study courses for all groups interested in industrial questions—an outline of the development of the industrial program of the Y.W.C.A., an outline of industrial history and an outline on industry and the life of women.

Four Services for Associations. By Abbie Graham
Written by Miss Graham at the request of the City Department, these are now in print for the first time. There is a service for the dedication of a new building, one for the initial meeting of a board of directors, one for the recognition of new members, and finally, a candle ceremony for a camp.

General Health
Survey, songs, playlets and posters for popularizing health.

Health Project, A
For Girl Reserves to plan and carry through.

Here, There, and Everywhere
Association work here and abroad. Especially adapted for rural presentation.

How He Won Her
And four other finance stunts especially adapted for student Associations.

Legislation at Home and Abroad
Prepared for the Industrial Assembly and invaluable for follow up. Maps, poetry and tableaus lighten up the discussion of a rather heavy subject and make it live and interesting and vital.

Light of the Women, The
A pageant of Negro women—The Spirit of Service summons all women leaders who during slave days and since, have given themselves to the service of their race.

May Festival, A
A ceremonial of the Crowning of the May Queen, given by the Portsmouth, Virginia Association.

PROGRAM SERIES (cont.)

Neighbors-Not-So-Far
Two Plays, Two Pantomimes, A Story
The Price of Silk.
The Sincere Women's Club.
A Pantomime of India.
A Painted Doll or a Good Sport?
What the Freight Decided.

Parable of the Wise and Foolish Virgins
A dramatization of this well known parable, simple to produce and effective.

Peterkin Family, The
Introducing the family of the Association.

Play Institute, A
Plan for a presentation, covering several days, of the meaning, value and theory of play.

Program Help on International Relationships
Vivid program material for use in reaching a clearer understanding of international questions. Simple discussion outlines and a dramatic presentation of the League of Nations.

Ride a Hobby
To suggest new avenues of exploration to open up the subject of hobbies, to start individual "questioning." It begins with a skit, "Life Has Loveliness to Sell," followed by a discussion on the Why, How and What of Hobbies.

Service of Commemoration and Dedication for Armistice Day, A
A service of commemoration and dedication for Armistice Day which can also be used with slight changes for Decoration Day.

Service for Grace Dodge Day, A
This is a program for the commemoration of Grace Dodge Day.

Spirit of Labor, The
An industrial pageant, calling the girls of the world to "taste the cup of the brotherhood through the fellowship of labor."

Study in Personality, A
What about myself, anyway? How did I get to be what I am, and how am I going to be what I want to be? A study course that the adolescent girl will enjoy as well as profit by.

Tapestry Weavers, The
An unusual pageant written for and given by the Girl Reserves of Detroit. Into their lives the Girl Reserves weave threads of friendship, fellowship, service; of music and books and beautiful thoughts and feelings. With very slight changes any group of girls can use this.

Tell it to Venus
A humorous—and perhaps a bit slangy—stunt presenting the work of the health education department in a popular fashion.

Ten Commandments in the Twentieth Century, The Material for group meetings, to show the present-day applications.

Testing a High School Girl's Belief
Outline for a study course to develop a sense of companionship with God which shall color all a girl's relationships.

Three Services for Industrial Groups.
A Recognition Service for Industrial Federations; Break Down Barriers, an interpretation of the gifts of the colored girls; an International Service of Worship.

Three Vesper Services
The Lord's Prayer.
"I Am Come That They Might Have Life."
The Road of Friendship.

Triangle of Stories for Younger Girls, A
The Palace Beautiful.
The Patch of Blue.
The Orchard.

Twelve Services for Use by Y.W.C.A.'s
Installation and membership services.

United We Stand
A patriotic pageant illustrating the need of adding the gifts of our foreign-born group to the gifts of Americans to build the true rich fabric of the nation.

Way of Jesus with His Friends, The
An attempt to furnish the background and color for pictures which make Jesus stand out as a real person among his friends. It shows Him strong, alive, loved by his friends, busy in healing, helping, understanding, carrying people into joy and strength.

What Every Member Should Know About the Y.W.C.A.
Questions and answers. What is my Association and my responsibility to it? Good for annual and membership meetings.

Why Phyllis Wheatley?
A dramatic presentation of the work and opportunity of the Colored Branch.

Widening Our Reach
Dewey Lake student-industrial play. The oneness of girls who work, and the need for our understanding and cooperation.

Within the Four Seas, and A St. John's Eve Celebration
A dramatization of the international work of the Y.W.C.A. based on Confucius' words: "Within the four seas all men are brothers."

Women in the Workshop of the World
Study course for high school girls dealing with the historical development of the work of women.

Word to the Y's, A
A "stunt" for annual meetings, banquets and membership nights to present the work of the Association.

World Circle, The and The Wide Open Windows
Plays showing younger girls' response to the Association work and aims.

Yuletide in Other Lands and The Hanging of the Greens
Two ceremonies for Christmas time. The first one is a series of tableaus bringing in customs of many countries, with carols and hymns in which the congregation or audience may join. The second one is a ceremony to celebrate the hanging of the Christmas greens.

Y.W.C.A. Treasure Chest, The
Here is another way of presenting the work of the Association informally. The Interpreter, a Pirate, the Spirit of the Association, and the girls of the Y.W.C.A. themselves, all unite to illustrate what their Association is and for what it stands.

REPRINT SERIES

Interesting points of view on subjects of general concern. They furnish to those who are trying to think their way into the tangled relationships of our day, the experiences of one person and another—to be used for what they are worth.

Is Worship a Lost Art?
By Mary Ely Lyman — 15 cents
"If we are called to fellowship with a God whose enterprises we can share, worship takes on a new and creative thinking about how to make use of the new freedom so that we shall be actually achieving this fellowship."

Meaning of the Evolutionary Process, The
By Edmund B. Chaffee — 25 cents
The divine problem as seen by a Christian theist. An effort to answer the old question as to the ultimate meaning of life in the light of our present knowledge.

Romance of the Industrial Worker's Job, The
By A. J. Muste — 15 cents
"Here is the industrial worker's job—in the challenge of the bigness, the complexity, the evils, the possibilities of modern industry. To plan how to mould these vast, complex, sometimes harsh realities nearer to our hearts' desire and then to work together to make the dream real, therein lies the possibility of the deepest joy, the wildest fun, the profoundest satisfaction for us."

WORKSHOP SERIES

As implied by the name of the series, these are not finished products. They are material in the making. Some are statements of where the Y.W.C.A. or a department is now in its thinking upon a certain subject; others are discussion courses upon matters of interest to all, and upon which everyone is trying to get more light.

NOTICE TO PURCHASERS

Suggestions for Ordering. To insure receiving the book you want, and to expedite your order, please give exact full title, including name of author. Kindly specify, if possible, how you wish books to be shipped: by mail, express, or freight; also it is advisable to give name of express or freight office. In the absence of special instructions, we will ship according to our judgment. Books sent as ordered are not subject to return. The code words may be used in ordering by telegraph.

Prices and Terms. See page ii for prices and terms. Single copies of any publication, except those marked net, will be sent postpaid upon receipt of the price. Prices are subject to change without notice. Special rates to schools for exchange on introduction will be quoted upon request.

Remittances. To avoid delay, please send the full amount of the purchase with all small orders, unless you already have an account with us. We advise the use of money order or check in making remittances.

Where to Write. You may address orders and inquiries to any of our offices listed below. Correspondence about any of our publications is cordially invited.

The Yale Shield on a Book

What the Yale Shield means on a Book

means more than a publisher's imprint; it means that that book has been approved by a competent editor; it means that it has been carefully considered and found worthy by the Council's Committee on Publications of Yale University.

In Content and in Mechanical Excellence

It means that it has been printed from specially selected type on high grade paper, and bound with distinction.

It means that it is a book of more than ordinary importance, unique in its field, and of lasting value, a book that the discriminating reader, the student, and the library may purchase with complete assurance as to its worth.

Where Yale Books may be Purchased

The editorial and business offices of the Yale University Press are at the Earl Trumbull Williams Memorial, New Haven, Connecticut.

The New York offices are at 522 Fifth Avenue, where the visitor will find a complete library of Press publications.

In Great Britain the Oxford University Press is the authorized agent of the Yale University Press.

Yale University Press books are available at all good bookstores in the United States and Great Britain.
